PROCEEDINGS of the
Merger Convention
California Labor Council on Political Education

December 9, 1958

The merger convention of the California Labor Council on Political Education convened in the Civic Auditorium, San Francisco, California, at 8:30 p.m., pursuant to call; Peter M. McGavin, assistant to President George Meany of the AFL-CIO, presiding.

Following the call to order, the delegates rose and recited the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag.

Invocation

Chairman McGavin then introduced the Reverend Roy Nichols, Pastor of Downs Memorial Methodist Church in Berkeley, who delivered the invocation:

"Our Father, we thank Thee for the unity of purpose that has brought us to this hour.

"Grant that no trivial consideration may obscure from our minds the importance of our unfolding workmanship in the history of free men.

"Give to each of us a sense of our stewardship in the great Union of the Human Family over which Thou art the Eternal Presiding Officer.

"Give wisdom now to all the words we speak and all the actions we promote. May they each be in accordance with Thy will and purpose.

"This we ask in the name of Christ and for His sake. Amen."

"(5) The Convention Call applicable to this convention reads as follows:

MERGER CONVENTION

California Labor League for Political Education - California CIO Council on Political Education

Convention Call

San Francisco, California
October 8, 1958

GREETINGS:

After the Joint California Labor COPE Merger Committee approved an agreement for the merger of the California Labor League for Political Education and the California CIO Council on Political Education, this agreement was approved by the Executive Council of the California Labor League for Political Education and the General Board of the California CIO Council on Political Education.

A proposed constitution for the merged state labor political organization, which shall be known as the California Labor Council on Political Education, or California Labor COPE, as well as convention rules and order of business, have also been approved by the executive bodies of the respective organizations.

These bodies will recommend the three merger documents . . . the agreement to merge, the proposed constitution and the convention rules and order of business . . . for approval by separate conventions of the CLLPE and the California CIO COPE, which will convene for this purpose in San Francisco on December 8, 1958.

You are therefore advised that the initial convention of California Labor COPE will convene at 8:00 p.m. on the evening of the first day of the merger convention of the California Labor Federation, AFL-CIO, in the Civic Auditorium in San Francisco.

The business of this initial convention shall be to transact such business as may be necessary and appropriate to the new organization.

The calling and conduct of the initial convention of California Labor COPE are provided for in the agreement to merge.

Effective Date

The merger agreement provides that "the proposed constitution and convention rules and order of business of California Labor COPE shall govern the initial convention, except as otherwise provided" in the agreement.

Delegates and Voting Strength

All delegates who have been duly accredited to the separate conventions of the CLLPE and the California CIO COPE which approved the constitution and other merger documents of the new state labor political organization will be accredited to the initial convention of California Labor COPE.

The new constitution provides that local unions are entitled to two delegates for the first 500 members or less; one delegate for the next succeeding 250 members or major fraction thereof; and one delegate for each succeeding 500 members or major fraction thereof, not to exceed ten delegates from any one local union. In those cases — and only in those cases — where an organization is entitled to a greater number of delegates under the new constitution, additional delegates will be accredited up to such number. In such cases, please advise the Secretary of the number of additional credentials that will be needed for this purpose.

State and local central bodies and local political organizations are entitled to two delegates. Each delegate is entitled to one vote.

The merger constitution provides that no delegate shall be permitted to represent more than one organization, but a delegate from a central labor body or other similar body or council eligible for affiliation may also represent the affiliated local union in which he holds membership in good standing, if he has credentials from such local union; provided further, a delegate may represent up to three affiliated local unions, affiliated with the same National or International Union, with a combined vote of not more than 1,200, if the delegate is a member in good standing in at least one of such locals from which he has received credentials.

At this initial convention, local unions will be entitled to a total number of per capita votes based upon the membership represented by such delegation at the separate conventions of the CLLPE and the California CIO COPE approving the merger documents.

Credentials

Credentials will be mailed as soon as the computation of the per capita membership and voting strength of each local union has been completed.

Resolutions

When the separate conventions of the CLLPE and the California CIO COPE have both approved the merger documents, all resolutions submitted to each convention shall be referred for disposal to the initial convention of California Labor COPE.

Convention headquarters will be at the Fairmont Hotel, California and Mason Streets, San Francisco.

Any further information regarding this convention will be communicated directly to the affiliated local unions and councils of the merging organizations.

For the Joint California Labor COPE Merger Committee:

THOMAS L. PITTS, President, California Labor League for Political Education.

MANUEL DIAS, President, California CIO COPE.

C. J. HAGGERTY, Secretary-Treasurer, California Labor League for Political Education.

JOHN A. DESPOL, Secretary-Treasurer, California CIO COPE.

General Vice President Dias then concluded:

"I wish to thank the temporary Chairman and the delegates for the opportunity of bringing this report."

Upon the suggestion of Chairman McGavin, the delegates gave a rising vote of thanks to the members of the Joint Merger Committee for the long, hard hours that had gone into the framing of the merger documents and the realizing of the newly merged political organization.

Thomas L. Pitts

President, California Labor COPE

Chairman McGavin thereupon introduced the presiding officer of this convention of the California Labor Council on Political Education, President Thomas L. Pitts, who addressed the delegates, as follows:

"I will be brief and proceed as soon as possible to the business at hand. But I must say a few words pointing out that we have now created and put together the new political arm of the labor movement in California. This new political arm, I think, can look forward to probably more and greater progress than was made by the previous political arms of the labor organizations in California. Yes, we can look back and say we have had a reasonable measure of success. Along with that success, however, comes a great measure of responsibility, responsibility not only to our own people but responsibility to all of the people in California.

"There are those in this state and in this nation who will rant and rave and complain loudly about the fact that labor has devised the machinery with which to educate its members politically. Certainly that is all that it amounts to: we have created an organization through which we can provide our people with information, intelligent analysis of issues, intelligent reports on the actions of the elected representatives of the people; and, based upon those reports and analyses, they will make their own judgment.

"We have not devised anything, all that we have done is to make available to our people the opportunity to educate themselves so that when they go to the polling places in their precincts and districts, they will have had the opportunity to know what they vote for and why they vote for it.

"Much has been said by those who oppose us concerning the money that is spent by labor in this process of education. Little has been said by them about all of the years and years and years that they have had their own associations, such as the National Association of Manufacturers and the United States Chamber of Commerce and all their affiliates throughout the nation, which, by their control of the daily press in our nation, have sought to influence the votes of the people.

"I daresay that, by going back and looking through the columns of those newspapers and reading the editorials, we could readily see the influence that has been passed on from the people in those associations and organizations. Recognizing their ability to develop that kind of press and taking into consideration their control of the advertising that exists throughout the nation's communications system, we will find there the answer to the hundreds of thousands, the millions of dollars that have been applied to molding the minds of the people. The very people who have spent these huge sums are the same ones who today are criticizing the people in labor for being able to convince their members that they should contribute a dollar here and there in their own interests, for developing proper analysis of issues, proper records of candidates and public officeholders. Through this system, we are creating, I believe, the finest bulwark there is to protect the democratic way of life, the one we best understand. At the same time, we are giving our people a feeling of confidence, for when they go out in the field of politics and when they cast their votes on election days in the municipal, county, state and national elections, they know that they are at least basing their vote upon intelligent programs submitted to them by virtue of actions which they themselves have had a part in directing.

"There is not in our labor movement a small few-in-number group that can be termed 'kingmakers.' We in the labor movement do not operate in the fashion that many other interests in this nation have designed for themselves. We are here as chosen delegates from the organizations, here to speak and hear the record made for the members themselves to gaze upon and for the public-at-large to gaze upon. We do not have to sit in dark, smoke-filled rooms to devise the policies, to devise the strategy, or to devise any of the ways and means that are necessary to carry on the campaigns that we seek to conduct. We devise them openly in meetings such as this for everyone to take a good clean look at. And I am sure that out of it all will come complete satisfaction, as complete a satisfaction as has been evidenced by the returns of the recent election in our state, an election in which it was clear that people have begun to understand the issues, have begun to understand what people do, what they stand for, what they represent, how they are going to vote on these issues that are so important to the great mass of people in this state, who are the working people. Yes, now, I believe, we will make more progress by far than we have been able to make in days gone by. This, I am confident, will be an outstanding unit of political education in the nation as a whole.

"I know that you who are here this evening, just by virtue of your being delegates, have been active in campaigns gone by, particularly in the recent one. You have a keen sense of understanding of the problems. You have within you the ability to return from a convention of this kind and impart to your members the information that they should have. And when you impart it, you do it in gatherings such as this, gatherings that are not behind closed doors, not in smoke-filled rooms, not using the kind of strategy that our enemies would develop, but gatherings which are free and open for everybody in the world to take a good clear look at.

"It will bear fruit. It will bring bountiful benefits to the people that we are privileged to represent.

"Yes, by the evidence of what occurred on November 4th, a great confidence has been placed in those of us who are charged with this responsibility. The people of this state voted, knowing full well what they were doing, not being misguided by those enemies who would propagandize them to the nth degree. As a result of their vote, we are obligated here tonight and henceforward to measure up to the full responsibility and trust that was placed in us on election day. In my mind, that will occur.

"People in labor are honorable. They are not the kind who run out upon a trust. They are the kind who accept their full responsibility, not just to their members, but to every other human being with whom they find themselves associated. We accept that responsibility to industry in the development of the finest kind of resolutions. But we will say to those in industry who would try to deny us our right to exercise the privilege of education among our ranks and among the general public, that if they should choose that route, we will accept the challenge and follow through to give to our people every single, solitary right to which they are entitled.

"This is a momentous occasion, one I am happy to see. And I trust that though this convention will be of relatively short duration, we will leave upon adjournment with the idea in mind that we have not just met here and put together a body and that we are going to let its purpose be lost from sight, beginning tomorrow morning or the next day. The purpose of this convention is great. If we keep in mind its purpose and keep in mind the necessary work down through each and every day from here on out, and if we work at it daily, weekly, monthly and annually, we will find greater success. And that greater success we owe to the membership of the organized labor movement in California and to the citizens of California."

President Pitts then declared the first convention of the California Labor Council on Political Education open for the business that might legally come before it.

Report of Committee on Credentials

Co-Chairman Anthony Scardaci of the Committee on Credentials reported for the committee, reading the several deletions and additions to the already accredited roll of delegates. On motion by the chairman, those delegates were seated by the convention. (The complete roll of delegates will be found beginning on page 17.)

Co-Chairman James Blackburn of the Committee on Credentials, on behalf of Co-Chairman Scardaci and himself, thanked the delegates for their patience and understanding of the committee's difficulties in handling the procedures involved in the two political conventions.

President Pitts thereupon discharged the committee with the thanks and appreciation of the convention.

Referral of Resolutions

President Pitts announced the referral to the appropriate committees of the resolutions printed in the document in each delegate's possession.

Adoption of Merger Documents Reaffirmed

General Vice President Dias made the following motion:

"In the name of labor unity in the state of California, I move that we reaffirm the action of the separate conventions of the California Labor League for Political Education and the California CIO Council on Political Education in adopting the Merger Agreement, the Constitution, and the Convention Rules and Order of Business of the California Labor Council on Political Education."

This motion was duly seconded and adopted.

Report of Committee on Resolutions

Co-Chairman Bocker of the Committee on Resolutions reported for the committee, as follows:

Resolution No. 1—"Women's Political Activities."

The committee report:

"Your committee concurs in the intent of the resolution, recommends that the resolution be filed, and further recommends that the subject be referred to the incoming executive council for action."

The committee's recommendation was adopted.

Resolution No. 2—"Rules for Local COPEs."

The committee report:

"The committee recommends that Resolution No. 2 be filed and that the subject matter of the resolution be referred to the first meeting of the executive council of the California Labor COPE."

Discussion followed:

Delegate Lloyd Dayton, Steelworkers No. 4155, Fontana: "This resolution has been referred to the executive council. After much discussion amongst the committee, a good deal of misunderstanding as to the intent of this particular resolution was obvious. But this resolution, if you will read it carefully, will indicate to you that there is here an attempt to reach some (let me use the term) 'solidarity', so that we will have unity and a trip down the same road rather than finding different locals, different Internationals, going in different directions. That was the spirit, that was the intent, of this resolution.

"I hope and I trust and I pray that the executive council will be able to report back to the next convention of this combined organization a set of rules and directions that will not be in opposition to local autonomy or to autonomy for International unions, but that when these two organizations got together and decided to do a job, that they were going to do it together and going to do it solidly and not split their effect or split their effort in the political field. How many times have we seen in the last few years how important it was that we unite solidly together in the political field and do our members the proper service that we are able to do. We proved it in the last election, and we can do it in the future. But we are not going to do it if we fail to adopt or if we fail to establish some guides and some proper procedures that we all can be expected to follow. This does not mean that you are going to be denied your own particular rights insofar as your own locals are concerned or insofar as your own International unions are concerned. It will merely mean that when you affiliate with COPE, then you accept the rules of COPE just the same as you would if you joined any other organization; and in a democratic fashion, when the majority speaks, that you will follow the decision of the majority.

"We have seen in the labor movement too many times when one organization says, 'Well, to hell with the rest, we are going to do what we feel like doing,' that this detracts from, this destroys and reduces the overall effect of the labor movement in the political field.

"I say just once more: I support the motion, I am in favor of it, because I think with the skill and the knowledge and the wisdom that the executive council has, they will come back to our next convention with a set of rules and terms whereby the labor movement can all go down the same road together and not go down a lot of different roads.

"I am sorry there are not more delegates here, all of them who were here today. It is too bad that they are not back here tonight, because this political field that we have to operate in is far more important than our members really appreciate.

"I repeat that I hope and pray that the executive council will come back with a set of rules that will be a guide, a directive to all of our unions in the state, so that we may be unified and operate together."

Delegate George Johns, San Francisco Labor Council: "It was my original intent to rise in opposition to Resolution No. 2. However, in view of the statement just made by the secretary of the committee, which is a very sound statement, in my opinion, I have changed from the 'Against' mike back to the 'For' mike. But in doing so I have to make the record very clear because, you see, in San Francisco much earlier this year we accomplished a merger between our labor council and the former CIO council, and this was done under the auspices of a personal representative of President Meany, Brother R. J. Thomas, formerly, I understand, with the Auto Workers. At that time we were plagued with Proposition 18, and we asked him if he would lay off of having us revise our constitution in accordance with his requirements until after we had completed the fight against Proposition 13. He was good enough to accede to this. But we made certain commitments.

"One of the commitments was that in setting up COPE, we would do it in compliance with this little green book I hold in my hand, which certainly all organizations have received and seen. This book is called 'Suggested By-Laws For Setting Up COPEs'. We are attempting right now, since election day has passed and we now have the time to do it, to redraft our COPE organization in San Francisco and we are trying to do it in compliance with the suggested procedures that are listed in these books that have come out from our national office.

"We felt that this was sound procedure because, even as the secretary of your committee has said, we feel that the national pattern as well as the state pattern and the local pattern should provide for a coordinated organization whereby we can march into the future with the best possible coordination in defeating the enemies that have been mentioned in this convention. So we have this commitment that we are going to do the best we can on the basis of what exists in San Francisco in living up to these suggested rules. This, of course, causes me not to be able to say wholeheartedly and completely that we are in accordance with Resolution No. 2 here. However, within that framework, I now change from 'Against' to 'For' because of the remarks of the secretary of the committee. This was my commitment, and in San Francisco we live up to our commitments."

Delegate Nick Cordil, Lumber and Sawmill Workers Local 2288, Los Angeles: "I would also like to rise in support of the recommendation of the committee. I think there is one thing that needs to be said about this, and it is basically this... that in this resolution the idea that the local leagues would have no say, in the first paragraph of this resolution, as to the local endorsements, I think, needs a lot of looking-at. I think that every one of you ought to read this first paragraph and realize just exactly what is involved with it. And I hope that the executive board will take full consideration of that when they are dealing with it."

Delegate John Donovan, Western Conference of Specialty Unions, San Francisco: "I, too, wish to support the recommendation of the committee. But I think we should be perfectly clear that we are not endorsing the position of Local 887 of the United Automobile Workers when we do adopt this report, because if ever there was an illogical, contradictory, undemocratic resolution presented, this Resolution No. 2 on local COPEs is such an illogical, irrational, undemocratic, contradictory resolution. We should read it, because as we can see if we read it carefully, it would destroy not only local autonomy, but national autonomy."

Delegate Richard Wright, Auto Workers No. 887: "I rise to speak in favor of referral; but I certainly rise also to speak in resentment against the remarks of the previous speaker. I would say this, that what we are doing here is merely suggesting that some kind of a set of rules should be recommended to local COPE councils so that we don't get out on this constant limb of one group going for one candidate and another group going for another candidate and splitting our forces, as we have done many, many times in the past.

"This is the form of a recommendation. The secretary of the committee, I think, covered it very well when he said that there was no attempt or no intent in this resolution to interfere in any way with the autonomy of the local COPEs. It is merely a guide, a set of rules. The secretary of the Central Labor Council of San Francisco said that you have such a set of rules and guides from the national organization. Certainly, I hope we in Los Angeles, when we merge, will be guided by that national set of rules. And that is what we are proposing here. I think there is nothing undemocratic about it. However, we will go along with the recommendation of the committee that it be referred to the council for action."

A motion for the previous question by Delegate Eugene R. Edwards, Sheet Metal Workers No. 108, Los Angeles, was adopted.

The committee report on Resolution No. 2 was thereupon adopted.

William J. McSorley

Assistant to the Director, Committee on Political Education, AFL-CIO

President Pitts introduced William J. McSorley, assistant to the director of the AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education, who addressed the convention, as follows:

"I want first of all to say it has been a sincere pleasure to have had the opportunity to be here and take part in your merger meetings. And I want to congratulate you on the constitution that has been drawn up under which you will be operating your political education program. I think it is a solid constitution and should make for a real operation in your political program.

"I also want to congratulate you on the timeliness of holding this particular phase of the over-all merger negotiation, as well as on the wonderful victory you had here on November 4th. You are getting a new Senator, a new Governor, additional Congressmen, additional members of your state legislature. We think, and I know it is agreed all throughout the country, that you did a terrific job. Most of all, however, I think congratulations are in order for the job that was done on Proposition 18. There is an example of a wonderful program of planning, a wonderful program of organizing and coordinating your efforts and, of course, the results speak for themselves. It shows not only to you here in the labor movement in California, but all throughout the country, what can be done when organized labor and the members of organized labor are aroused on a particular issue. Your victory here against the so-called 'right to work,' along with the victories in Idaho and Colorado and Ohio and Washington, certainly took the steam out of that anti-labor machine that had been generated and was running throughout this campaign and which was contemplated to be running right on through '60, and so on.

"I certainly would have liked to have seen the faces of the members of the Republican National Policy Committee while they were watching those returns. You know, that was the committee that met early in the campaign to decide just exactly what issues they would use during the campaign. That was the committee that decided they could not use Korea, because they were about to send troops into the Middle East. They decided they couldn't use corruption, because the papers were full of Bernard Goldfine and Sherman Adams. They decided they couldn't use economy in government, because about that time it was announced they were going to have close to a $5 million deficit this year. They decided they could not use cost-of-living because the cost-of-living each month since they have been in power went to a new high. So they decided they would use labor as the campaign issue. They went so far as to write a 218-page booklet on how to use labor in that campaign. They used it from Maine to Alaska.

"You know how effective it was in Maine and how effective it was in Alaska. It was ineffective in almost every place where we were concerned. I think it is important to point out here, too, that even the Eskimos in Alaska did not listen to 'Tricky-Dick'.

"They used a well-organized, professionally handled smear campaign all throughout this 1958 electioneering. They attempted to smear labor's participation in the campaign and they attempted to smear our candidates. In some places, when labor as a campaign smear issue ran out, then they picked up religious bigotry as an issue.

"Despite that, we won. We won in almost every campaign that we participated in. We won because we had good candidates. We won where our candidates took the real issues. We won because we in organized labor and our candidates were talking to the American people about real issues. We did not tell any lies in our part of the campaign. We did not attempt to smear the opposition candidates. Instead, we brought to our people an understanding of the issues. When we talked about unemployment we talked about real facts. In city after city during the campaign . . . in one city in particular, with 75 thousand people unemployed . . . the daily newspapers daily were running articles pointing out to the readers that the recession was over and everything was fine. In one city with as many as 250 thousand people out of work, the daily newspapers were doing the same thing.

"When we talked about the need for school construction, we did not cloud it with all kinds of other issues. We talked about the shortage of classrooms. We talked about the shortage of teachers.

"When we talked about social security, we did not cloud that with other issues. We talked about the need for bringing medical and hospital and doctor benefits to those people who are covered by social security and need—need—that kind of assistance.

"When we talked about taxes, we talked about facts, and we brought the real facts to the people and they understood them and they responded on election day.

"All over the country we have had tremendous success with our Committee on Political Education program. But at the National COPE level, we are not resting on this victory. We realize that this is just one election. Already the national COPE has had a conference of all the various state organization leaders, which was held in Washington on December 1st, planning on how we can best consolidate our efforts, how best we can continue our program right through until 1960.

"Earlier I congratulated you on the timeliness of this meeting. I don't think this evening is one moment too early for you people in the trade union movement in the state of California to begin your COPE efforts directed towards a successful conclusion in the campaign of 1960. I don't think I have to tell your leaders or any of your delegates that the state of California will be a key state for sure in 1960. We have to take in this state and all the other states the organizations that were built up during this last campaign and we have to build on them, expand them, bring them closer to perfection, if you please. We have to build a COPE in every central labor union jurisdiction. We have to continue the program of registrations. We have to continue a program of constantly, periodically, right through every month of the year, bringing an understanding of these important legislative issues to our people, to our members, their families and their friends. We have to continue to bring to those members and their families and their friends an indication of how their legislators are voting in the national Congress and in the state legislatures. We have to continue to build a women's program so that we can get more and more women into our political program.

"We have to analyze the errors that we made in this campaign. We have to analyze the errors that we made, say, on election day in getting out our people to vote.

"I spent the last 2½ weeks of the campaign in Alaska. Already in our office in Washington they have filed a complete review of the program, what they did, what errors they thought they made. How methodical they are up there! In this election, they had 55 cars in Anchorage alone, and had the foresight to have two automobile wreckers and two mechanics in readiness so that if any of our cars got stuck in the snow they would be able to pull them out. But in the report they sent to Washington, they said that in 1960 they would equip all of their precinct workers with flashlights, because it got pretty dark around 5:00, 5:30, 6:00 o'clock, and it slowed down their operation of bringing out that late vote. That is the kind of thinking that we need in our operations. That is the kind of planning that we need. Those are things that make for success on election day.

"To do those things, we need cooperation. We need the cooperation of the local union officers. We need the cooperation of the central body officers and delegates. And we need the cooperation of the members.

"I am sure, after what happened in California in this last campaign, we will have that kind of cooperation here. I am sure all throughout the country, in this coming year, in 1960's campaign, we are going to have more cooperation than we ever had before, because our officers are realizing more and more how vital this cooperation is. They are realizing that we cannot win one campaign and then sit back. That always happens.

"There is no business agent or no officer of any local union that can honestly in his heart believe that we are a collective bargaining outfit only. There is no business agent or officer that can believe that his duty to his members lies only in collective bargaining. Certainly, from the experience in this state and in the other states, every single one must realize that no matter how successful they are in collective bargaining, no matter what kind of benefits they are able to get for their members, all of that can be written off at the stroke of a pen. I don't think anyone can stand up and say that trade union business is collective bargaining only. We are in politics because we were forced into politics to protect our trade unions that brought about the wages and the working conditions and the way of living that we have today. We are in politics not to dominate any party, not to form a third party, but for only one reason: To elect individuals to the national Congress and to the state legislatures who will consider the interests of all of the people when they are considering legislation that so vitally affects the lives of all of the people.

"In closing, I would just like to read a section of our constitution, article II, section 1:

The purposes of this organization shall be to encourage workers without regard to race, creed, color, national origin, or ancestry to register and vote, to exercise their full rights and responsibilities of citizenship, and to perform their rightful part in the political life of the local, state and national communities.

"I think that is certainly an honorable purpose and intent. I think it is something that would be good for the entire country. If those people that your Governor-elect referred to this afternoon as 'the Radical Right' want to attempt to smear us for setting that kind of a goal for ourselves, if they want to use their kept press to smear us for that type of a goal, if they want to go to the trouble of printing a 218-page book to distribute to their candidates and their precinct workers on how to smear us for that type of a goal, then let them do it. We have nothing to be ashamed of. We have stood and fought for all progressive, good legislation that has been enacted in the history of this country. Now we are in sight of receiving some more good legislation, only because there are men down in Washington today, as a result of our efforts, who have foresight to see a future for this country instead of trying to turn things backward.

"I think we ought to pick up that phrase that your Governor-elect used: 'If we say we believe in social security, they call us radicals. If we say we believe in better schools for our children, they say we are radicals.'

"I think we ought to turn it around. I think that the people who don't believe in decent schools ought to be called the radicals. I think that people who don't believe in social security ought to be called the radicals. We are the people who believe in going forward, forward to a better way of life for all of the people in this country.

"I know, as a result of your victory here and as a result of the intense interest that was put into this campaign, you will have the nucleus of a real political organization so that you can continue to send good people to your state legislature and good people to the national Congress.

"In closing, I want to extend to you the sincere wishes of Director Jim McDevitt and our staff for every possible success in your endeavors. We will certainly do everything possible to help to bring about a successful political educational program."

There being no further business, the merger convention of the California Labor Council on Political Education was adjourned at 9:50 p.m., December 9, 1958.

Resolutions

Women's Political Activities

Resolution No. 1—Submitted by Greater Los Angeles CIO Council, Albert T. Luncford, Secretary-Treasurer.

Whereas, One of the major factors in the political life of our nation today is the interest and activity of women in politics. To a constantly increasing degree they are participating in every phase of our union political action, such as education, checking registration, getting out the vote and informing themselves and their neighbors on the issues which concern the welfare of their families; and

Whereas, The devotion and interest they have shown in the cause of good citizenship and the contribution they have made to the effective functioning of our democratic system deserves the commendation of every citizen interested in free government; and

Whereas, The defeat of Proposition No. 18 and the election of a high percentage of liberal labor-endorsed candidates in California was due in no small measure to the enlightened and determined efforts of women—both working women and the women of union families; and

Whereas, Woman-power can be extremely effective in insuring good government through careful study of the issues and the candidates and by providing the volunteer work, the organization and the enthusiasm so necessary for victory at the polls; therefore be it

Resolved, That we commend the women volunteers of the Committee on Political Education and express our thanks for their services to the cause of democracy; and be it further

Resolved, That we authorize and direct the Committee on Political Education to continue its program of enlisting the aid of women volunteers and that it continue to integrate such programs into the framework of our local and state Committees on Political Education; and be it further

Resolved, That steps be taken to increase and strengthen their political efforts through a systematic, full time, year-round program designed to fully utilize their skill and to give recognition to their effort.

Section 8. Raise funds for political campaign and political educational purposes.

Section 9. Merger Documents

AGREEMENT TO MERGE

California Labor League for Political Education - California CIO Council on Political Education

The California Labor League for Political Education and the California CIO Council on Political Education agree to create a single political educational organization in California through the process of merger. They further agree upon the following principles, procedures and structure to accomplish this end.

I

Principles of Merger

(1) The California Labor League for Political Education (hereinafter referred to as "California LLPE") and the California CIO Council on Political Education (hereinafter referred to as "California CIO COPE") shall effectuate the merger through the organic consolidation of these two organizations into a single organization. Said merger shall be effectuated through agreement on the attached Constitution for the merged state political organization.

(2) The merged political organization shall be known as California Labor Council on Political Education, hereinafter referred to as "California Labor COPE."

(3) Said merger establishing California Labor COPE shall be completed and consummated concurrently with the merger of the California State Federation of Labor and the California Industrial Union Council.

(4) It is recognized and agreed that said merger is freely and voluntarily negotiated.

II

Government and Structure of California Labor COPE

Except as otherwise provided in this Agreement, the powers and duties of officers, selection of officers, the affiliation and structure of California Labor COPE shall be determined by the attached proposed Constitution of California Labor COPE.

III

Affiliations

Any organization presently affiliated with either California LLPE or California CIO COPE shall be deemed an affiliate of the California Labor COPE, if currently affiliated with AFL-CIO.

IV

Finances and Obligations of California Labor COPE

(1) The merged California Labor COPE shall succeed to all the assets of the CLLPE and shall assume all of its liabilities and contractual obligations. The merged California Labor COPE shall succeed to all of the assets of the California CIO COPE and shall assume all of its liabilities and contractual obligations.

(2) On the effective date of the merger, all the property, real and personal and mixed, and all right, title and interest either legal or equitable in any monies, funds or property, tangible and intangible of the CLLPE and California CIO COPE and all debts due to each of them, and all rights, privileges and powers and every other interest of each of them, of whatever nature, shall, by virtue of the merger of the CLLPE and California CIO COPE, be transferred to and vested in the California Labor Council on Political Education, and all such rights and properties shall thereafter be as effectually the property of the California Labor Council on Political Education, as they were of the CLLPE and California CIO COPE. Title to any property, real, personal or mixed, legally vested in the CLLPE or California CIO COPE, shall not be in any way impaired by reasons of the combination but shall in all respects be vested in the merged organization by virtue of the combination.

(3) The respective organizations agree, by escrow instructions or otherwise, to execute the appropriate documents transferring the property into the name of the newly merged organization. The present executive officers, the present members of the Executive Council of the CLLPE and the present executive officers, the present members of the Executive Council or the General Board of California CIO COPE, shall be empowered and required to and shall from time to time after the effective date of the merger, execute and deliver or cause to be executed and delivered, upon request of the merged organization, all such authorizations or other instruments as the combined organization may deem necessary or desirable in order to confirm the right and title of the merged organization to the property, rights and privileges referred to in paragraph (2) of this Article, and shall take such further and other action as may be requested for such purpose.

(4) An audit of a reputable certified public accountant shall be transmitted covering a period from the end of the preceding fiscal year of each organization to the closest possible date feasible prior to the convening of the merger convention, indicating the condition of the respective organizations.

(5) Such audit shall be accompanied by a certificate indicating the absence of any unrevealed or undisclosed liabilities of any type insofar as either of these organizations are concerned, and shall be accompanied by an appropriate undertaking in an appropriate amount guaranteeing the correctness of the certificate.

(6) In the event that the merger convention shall not agree upon a merger, then all of the above steps shall have been conditional and there shall not be any transfer of assets or properties to the merged organization until it is established as a matter of law.

Initial Convention of California Labor COPE

(1) The provisions of the proposed Constitution and Convention Rules and Order of Business of California Labor COPE shall govern the initial convention except as otherwise provided in this Agreement.

(2) The initial convention shall be called, and the time and place determined by the Joint California Labor COPE Merger Committee, subject to the approval of the executive bodies of the two state organizations.

(3) There shall be a Joint California Labor COPE Merger Committee consisting of ten (10) members each from the California LLPE and the California CIO COPE.

(4) The Joint California Labor COPE Merger Committee shall be empowered to designate a Credentials Committee which shall have authority to accredit as delegates to such convention, all of the delegates who have been duly accredited to the conventions of the two state organizations which approved the merged constitution. Where the total number of such delegates is less than the number of delegates the organization is entitled to under the merged constitution, the Credentials Committee shall be authorized to accredit additional delegates from such organization up to such number.

(5) Delegations representing unions shall be entitled to a total number of per capita votes based upon the membership represented by such delegation at the conventions of the two state organizations approving the Constitution of California Labor COPE. Delegates from state and local central bodies shall be entitled to one (1) vote.

(6) The Joint California Labor COPE Merger Committee shall report to the convention, designate temporary officers for the convention, appoint all convention committees and take such other action as may be necessary by virtue of the fact that it is an initial convention.

VI

Method of Merger of California LLPE and California CIO COPE

(1) This Merger Agreement shall be submitted for approval to the Executive Council of the California LLPE and to the General Board of California CIO COPE.

(2) The proposed attached Constitution and Convention Rules and Order of Business for California Labor COPE shall be submitted for approval to the Executive Council of California LLPE and the General Board of California CIO COPE.

(3) Upon approval by the respective state executive bodies, the Merger Agreement, the proposed California Labor COPE Constitution and Rules and Order of Business and such other agreements as are necessary to accomplish the merger shall be submitted to separate conventions of the California LLPE and the California CIO COPE.

(4) Upon approval by the separate conventions of the California LLPE and the California CIO COPE, a joint convention shall be held immediately, providing that the Merger Agreement, Constitution and Rules and Order of Business establishing the California Labor Federation, AFL-CIO, have been approved by the separate conventions of the CSFL and the CIUC.

(5) The initial convention shall be called for the City of San Francisco, commencing at 8 p.m. on the evening of the first day of the merger convention of the California Labor Federation, AFL-CIO.

(6) If the Merger Agreement, Constitution and Rules and Order of Business are approved by the respective conventions, all resolutions submitted to each convention shall be referred for disposition to the merged convention of the California Labor COPE.

Superintendent of Public Instruction

Section 2. It shall be the exclusive right of the political organizations, duly established for specified areas by the various central labor bodies of the AFL-CIO in accordance with the rules governing such political organizations adopted by the Executive Council of California Labor COPE to recommend to the Executive Council for endorsement by the convention, candidates for the Congress of the United States, the State Board of Equalization, and for the State Senate and State Assembly in such area; provided, however, if any such candidate is running for office from an area embracing at least in part an area covered by more than one political organization, it shall be the exclusive right of the area or district political organization in such area, as the case may be, to recommend to the Executive Council for endorsement by the convention, and no recommendation as to any such candidate may be made to the Executive Council in such case by any of the other political organizations involved.

Any recommendation as to any such candidate shall be concurred in by the Executive Council and recommended to the convention for endorsement, unless two-thirds of the membership of said Executive Council reject such recommendation. In the event of such rejection, the Executive Council shall have the exclusive right to recommend a candidate for endorsement for such office to the convention.

Section 3. No affiliated organization may endorse any candidate for any of the offices mentioned in Section 1 of this Article prior to the convention of the California Labor COPE. If any such organization violates this section, it shall be subject to discipline by the Executive Council, including possible expulsion from the California Labor COPE. Any of the organizations mentioned above may, however, recommend to the Executive Council any candidate for endorsement for any of the offices mentioned in Section 1 of this Article; provided, such recommendation is not publicized or capable of use as campaign material prior to favorable endorsement by the convention; and provided, each of the above-mentioned organizations pledges itself to be bound by and to support all endorsements made by the convention of the California Labor COPE.

Section 4. No recommendation may be presented from the floor of the convention for the endorsement of any candidate unless the recommended candidate for such office has already been rejected by convention action.

Section 5. With respect to convention action, all endorsements shall be by at least a 60 per cent majority vote of the delegates present and voting, in accordance with the per capita formula specified in this Constitution.

Section 6. The President and the Secretary-Treasurer jointly shall designate an advisory group, composed of not more than eighteen individuals, to sit with the Executive Council as an interviewing committee for the purpose of recommending to the Executive Council.

ARTICLE XII Conventions

A. General

Section 1. The convention shall be the supreme governing body of the California Labor COPE.

Section 2. The California Labor COPE shall meet in convention in advance of each primary statewide election (the time and place of which shall be determined by the Executive Council), and at such other times as the Executive Council of California Labor COPE deems it necessary or desirable.

Section 3. (a) Notice of the convention shall be issued by the Secretary-Treasurer in the form of a "convention call" to all affiliates at least 60 days prior to the opening date of the pre-primary convention and within the time fixed by the Executive Council for any other convention. If after the issuance of the convention call the site and/or date of the convention is changed, a mere notice of such change to all affiliates shall be deemed sufficient to meet the requirement of this Section.

(b) At the time the convention call is issued by the Secretary-Treasurer, he shall also send to each affiliated organization which is in good standing with California Labor COPE a supply of official delegates' credentials. The number of such credentials furnished to each organization shall be equal to the number of delegates which the organization is entitled to send to the convention, as shown by the membership records of the Secretary-Treasurer's office at the time the credentials are issued.

Section 4. The conventions of the California Labor COPE shall be composed of duly accredited delegates from affiliated organizations, together with the incumbent officers of California Labor COPE.

Section 5. None other than accredited delegates shall be permitted to address the convention unless accorded the privilege by a two-thirds vote; provided, that the Secretary-Treasurer shall have the authority to permit guest speakers to address the convention, subject to the supervision and control of the number of guest speakers by the Executive Council.

Section 6. Local committees on arrangements for the convention shall not use the name of California Labor COPE in the public solicitation of any funds, the sale of tickets, or the sale of advertising space in souvenir programs, etc., nor shall such committee be permitted to solicit funds, the sale of tickets, or the sale of advertising space in souvenir programs, etc., in the territory of the labor movement in any other city. Upon infraction of this rule, it shall be mandatory upon the Executive Council to select another convention city.

Section 7. The rules and order of business governing the preceding convention shall be in force from the opening of any convention until new rules have been adopted.

Section 8. A quorum shall consist of delegates from twenty-five affiliated local unions.

Section 9. All votes shall be voice votes or by a division, unless a roll call is requested by at least seventy-five delegates.

Section 10. Any action taken by the convention, except an amendment to the Constitution other than one specified in Article XVI, Section 2, shall be effective immediately unless timely notice of reconsideration or other effective action to rescind is taken pursuant to the rules of parliamentary procedure applicable to the convention.

Section 11. The Secretary-Treasurer shall prepare and submit to the convention:

(a) A list of average per capita paid membership for the fiscal year of each affiliated local union.

(b) A list of the estimated average dues paying membership of each affiliated local union, based upon whatever information, if any, which is made available to the Secretary-Treasurer in this respect.

B. Representation

Section 1. Only organizations in good standing with California Labor COPE, whose per capita tax (including approved exonerations) is paid in full up to the third month prior to the month in which the convention is held shall be entitled to representation by delegates to the convention.

Section 2. No organization shall be entitled to representation unless such organization has applied for affiliation at least three months prior to the first day of the month of the opening date of the convention and no person shall be recognized as a delegate who is not a member in good standing of at least one of the organizations issuing the credentials to him at the time he receives credentials from the secretary of the affiliate; provided, that organizations chartered within three months of the opening date of the convention shall be eligible to representation.

Section 3. Representation at the convention shall be governed as follows:

(a) Each regularly affiliated union shall be entitled to representation as follows: two delegates for the first 500 members or less; one delegate for the next succeeding 250 members or major fraction thereof; and one delegate for each succeeding 500 members or major fraction thereof. In no event, however, shall any union be entitled to more than ten delegates.

On all questions where a roll call vote is taken, each delegate shall vote an equal percentage of the membership of the union he or she represents; provided, that all fractional votes shall be eliminated. For the purpose of selecting delegates and for roll call votes of the convention, the number of members of each union shall be the average monthly number on which per capita tax is paid into the California Labor COPE during the twenty-four month period ending on the last day of the third month immediately preceding the month of the opening date of the convention, as determined by dividing the total amount paid during each period by seventy-two cents.

However, an organization exonerated from payment pursuant to the provisions of Article XIV, Section 1 or Section 2, hereof, shall be entitled to representation and vote as determined by the Executive Council as therein provided.

(b) Central bodies and other similar bodies and councils eligible for affiliation under subsections (b), (c) and (d) of Section 1, Article III, shall be entitled to two delegates. Each delegate shall be entitled to one vote.

Section 4. Each incumbent officer of the California Labor COPE may participate in the convention with voice and one vote even though he is not a delegate.

Section 5. No proxies shall be allowed, but on roll call or per capita vote, one delegate, upon prior written approval of all co-delegates, may vote for the entire delegation.

Section 6. No delegate shall be permitted to represent more than one organization, but a delegate from a central labor body or other similar body or council eligible for affiliation under subsections (b), (c) and (d) of Section 1, Article III, may also represent the affiliated local union in which he holds membership in good standing, if he has credentials from such local union; provided, further, a delegate may represent up to three affiliated local unions, affiliated with the same National or International Union, with a combined vote of not more than 1200, if the delegate is a member in good standing in at least one of such locals from which he has received credentials.

C. Certification of Delegates

Section 1. Delegates and alternates to the convention of the California Labor COPE shall be elected or otherwise designated by the affiliate and shall receive credentials from the secretary of such affiliate. A duplicate of same shall be forwarded by such secretary to the Secretary-Treasurer of California Labor COPE at least two weeks prior to the convention.

Section 2. If any alternate presents credentials and is seated in place of the delegate-elect, he or she shall be the recognized representative throughout the remaining sessions of the convention.

Section 3. The Secretary-Treasurer shall prepare a preliminary roll of delegates where no contest is filed, from duplicates in his possession, and such delegates so returned by the Secretary-Treasurer shall have the power to transact business until a report of the Committee on Credentials is received and adopted.

Section 4. Delegates from central labor bodies and other similar bodies and councils eligible for affiliation under subsections (b), (c) and (d) of Section 1, Article III, shall not be seated in the convention unless the local union in which they hold membership in good standing is affiliated with the California Labor COPE.

Section 5. In the event credentials are properly presented by any eligible organization for any person who, after a hearing by the Credentials Committee,

(a) is shown to be a member of any organization which is dual to the AFL-CIO, or

(b) is shown to be a member of any Communist, Fascist or other totalitarian group, organization or movement, or is shown to have been a member of any such group, organization or movement, or to have consistently aligned himself with such group, organization or movement in the course of his conduct and has not previously dissociated himself from such group, organization or movement, the Credentials Committee shall reject the credentials of such person in its report to the convention, and upon the adoption of the Credentials Committee's report, such person shall not be seated in the conventions of the California Labor COPE.

D. Resolutions

Section 1. All resolutions to be considered by the convention shall be forwarded in triplicate to the Secretary-Treasurer on or before the fifteenth day immediately preceding the opening day of the convention, except in instances where such resolutions have been acted upon and approved by regularly constituted and affiliated statewide organizations at conventions or conferences held during the 15-day period immediately preceding the opening day of the convention, in which event such resolutions shall be received by the Secretary-Treasurer not later than 9 p.m. on the day immediately preceding the opening day of the convention. The Secretary-Treasurer shall number the resolutions in the order received, and shall refer them to the proper committee.

Section 2. No resolution shall be received unless signed by an Executive Officer of an affiliate of the California Labor COPE or bearing the seal of such affiliate.

Section 3. Nothing which properly can be the subject matter for action by a convention of the California Labor Federation, AFL-CIO may be included within any resolution or proposed constitutional amendment submitted to a convention of the California Labor COPE, nor made the subject matter of discussion or motion from the floor of the convention.

Section 4. Upon submission to him, the Secretary-Treasurer shall determine in each case whether the resolution or proposed constitutional amendment is in conformity with Section 3 of this Article, number such resolutions which are found in conformity in the order received, and, with the consent of the chairman of the convention, shall refer them to the proper committee. In cases where the Secretary-Treasurer makes an adverse determination, he shall notify in writing the Executive Council and the sponsor of the resolution or proposed constitutional amendment. The determination of the Secretary-Treasurer as to the question of conformity shall be conclusive, unless reversed by a vote of at least two-thirds of the Executive Council, if an appeal is taken by the sponsor from the determination of the Secretary-Treasurer within five days after mailing of such notice. If such appeal is sustained by the Executive Council the resolution shall be referred to the appropriate committee.

Section 5. No resolution or constitutional amendment may be submitted after the time specified in Section 1 of this Article, except upon unanimous consent of the delegates in convention assembled.

E. Committees

Section 1. Subject to the provisions of Article VI, Section 1 (i) herein, five days prior to the assembling of a convention, the President shall appoint committees on Credentials, Constitution, Resolutions, and Rules and Order of Business and such other committees as may be required to dispose of the business of the convention, the members of which shall be reimbursed for expenses in an amount determined by the Executive Council. The committees appointed under this section shall consider all resolutions and other matters referred to them by the Secretary-Treasurer and shall report thereon to the convention.

Section 2. The minimum number of members on any committee shall be fifteen.

F. Teller Board

Section 1. Voting shall be in charge of a Teller Board of twelve delegates.

Section 2. There shall not be more than one member of the Teller Board from any one organization.

ARTICLE XIII

Expenses

Section 1. When attending meetings of the Executive Council, members of the Executive Council shall be paid for necessary traveling expenses (if travel is by automobile, payment shall be computed at not less than 10 cents per mile), and not to exceed $35.00 per diem expenses and $15.00 a day for hotel accommodations.

Section 2. When members of the Executive Council are officially authorized to devote their time to the business of the California Labor COPE, they shall be paid the sum of $35.00 per day compensation in addition to necessary traveling expenses (if travel is by automobile, payment shall be computed at not less than 10 cents per mile), and expenses for meals and hotel accommodations.

ARTICLE XIV

Good Standing

Section 1. In the event any organization fails to pay its per capita tax for a period of three months, it shall be notified by the Secretary-Treasurer in writing, not later than the fifteenth day of the fourth month, that it will be suspended at the end of said fourth month, unless all delinquent per capita tax is paid. Any organization so suspended can only be reinstated by a vote of the Executive Council, and upon the tender of payment of the four months' per capita tax owed as herein provided; provided, however, that if a union three months in arrears upon receipt of its notice from the Secretary-Treasurer during the fourth month that it is about to be suspended, shall notify the Executive Council in writing that it is temporarily unable to pay its per capita tax because all of its funds have been expended in a strike, or because of other good cause, then the Executive Council, when such union makes application for reinstatement, and upon proof of the claim that its funds have been expended in a strike or upon demonstration of the existence of good cause to the satisfaction of the Executive Council, may reinstate the union and waive the reinstatement fee. In extreme cases, because of exhaustion of funds in a strike or other good cause, the Executive Council shall have discretionary authority to waive suspension requirements altogether.

In order to be entitled to vote for officers during the conventions, suspended organizations must have been reinstated at least three months prior to the month in which the convention takes place.

However, an organization exonerated from payment pursuant to the provisions of Article XIV, Section 1 or Section 2 hereof, shall be entitled to representation and vote as determined by the Executive Council as therein provided.

Section 2. The Executive Council may, if it is convinced that the request of an affiliated local union involved in a strike or lockout is justified, exonerate the affiliated local union from per capita payment for a specified period, and may also specify the number of delegates and roll call votes which such union will be permitted at the convention following such action.

Section 3. Whenever any affiliated organization is delinquent four months in its per capita payment, the Secretary-Treasurer shall notify the delinquent organization that its affiliation has been suspended. A copy of this notice of loss of affiliation shall be sent the principal officers of the National or International Union to which the delinquent organization is affiliated, if any.

ARTICLE XV

Refund of Revenue

Section 1. Any member who disagrees with California Labor COPE endorsements of state candidates, may make a written request to the Secretary-Treasurer, prior to October 30th of the given election year, to refund to his union his per capita tax, not to exceed the prior 24 months. Upon receipt of such written request, the Secretary-Treasurer shall make such refund.

ARTICLE XVI

Amendment of Constitution

Section 1. This Constitution may be amended or altered by resolution only at a convention of the California Labor COPE, and shall require a two-thirds vote.

Section 2. Those sections of the Constitution pertaining to officers and their duties shall go into effect immediately after their adoption.

Section 3. The Constitution, as amended at each convention, shall be in full force and effect, as a whole, immediately upon the adjournment of the convention.

CONVENTION RULES AND ORDER OF BUSINESS

California Labor Council on Political Education

1. Roberts Rules of Order. The convention shall be governed by Roberts Rules of Order on all matters not provided by the Constitution or specified in these rules.

2. Rules—Adoption of Standing Rules. The adoption of the standing rules shall require an affirmative vote of a majority of the duly qualified delegates to the convention, present and voting. When once adopted, such standing rules shall remain in effect, unless suspended or amended as provided in these rules.

3. Amendment of Standing Rules. No standing rule of the convention shall be amended except by an affirmative vote of a majority of the duly qualified delegates to the convention, present and voting. No such amendment shall be considered until it shall have been referred to and reported by the Committee on Rules.

4. Convening the Convention. The convention shall convene at 8:00 p.m.

5. Resolutions Defined. Whenever the word "resolution" is used in these rules, it shall include constitutional amendments.

6. Committee Reports. All committees shall report on all resolutions submitted to them. Whenever there is majority and minority division on any committee, both the majority and minority shall be entitled to report to the convention. The discussion and vote of concurrence or non-concurrence shall be first on the minority report.

7. Committee Quorum. A majority of any committee shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of its business. At least a majority of all members present and voting shall be required to adopt a recommendation on a resolution.

8. Passage of Resolutions and Committee Reports by Convention. (a) A majority of the delegates present and voting shall be required to act on a committee report or a resolution, except a constitutional amendment, which shall require a two-thirds vote of the delegates present and voting.

(b) No motion or resolution shall be finally acted upon until an opportunity to speak has been given the delegate making or introducing same, if he so desires.

9. Roll Call Vote. At the request of seventy-five (75) delegates present and voting, any motion shall be voted on by roll call per capita vote of the delegates. When a roll call has been ordered no adjournment shall take place until the result has been announced.

10. Precedence of Motions During Debate. When a question is under debate or before the convention, no motions shall be received but the following, which shall take precedence in the order named:

First—To adjourn;

Second—To recess to a time certain;

Third—For the previous question;

Fourth—To set as a special order of business;

Fifth—To postpone to a stated time;

Sixth—To postpone indefinitely;

Seventh—To refer to, or re-refer to committee;

Eighth—To divide or amend;

Ninth—To lay on the table.

11. Motions in Writing. Upon request of the Chairman, a motion shall be reduced to writing and shall be read to the convention by the Chairman before the same is acted upon.

12. Contents of Motions. No motion, whether oral or written, shall be adopted until the same shall be seconded and distinctly stated to the convention by the Chairman.

13. Motion to Reconsider. A motion to reconsider shall not be entertained unless made by a delegate who voted with the prevailing side; such motion shall require a two-thirds vote to carry.

14. Motion to Table. A motion to lay on the table shall be put without debate.

15. Recognition and Decorum of Delegates. (a) Delegates when arising to speak shall respectfully address the Chair and announce their full name and the identity of the organization which they represent.

(b) In the event two or more delegates arise to speak at the same time, the Chair shall decide which delegate is entitled to the floor.

(c) No delegate shall interrupt any other delegate who is speaking, except for the purpose of raising a point of order or appealing from a ruling of the Chair.

(d) Any delegate may appeal from a decision of the Chairman, without waiting for recognition by the Chairman, even though another delegate has the floor. No appeal is in order when another is pending, or when other business has been transacted by the convention prior to the appeal being taken.

(e) Any delegate who is called to order while speaking shall, at the request of the Chair, be seated while the point of order is decided, after which, if in order, the delegate shall be permitted to proceed. The same shall apply while an appeal from the Chair is being decided.

(f) No delegate shall speak more than once on the same subject until all who desire to speak shall have had an opportunity to do so; nor more than twice on the same subject without permission by a majority vote of the delegates present and voting; nor longer than five minutes at a time without permission by a majority vote of the delegates present and voting.

(g) Any delegate may rise to explain a matter personal to himself, and shall forthwith be recognized by the Chairman, but shall not discuss a question in such explanation. Such matters of personal privilege yield only to a motion to recess or adjournment.

16. Microphones on Convention Floor. There shall be placed in convenient locations on the convention floor an equal number of microphones designated "FOR" and "AGAINST." A delegate wishing to speak on a matter before the convention, shall use the appropriate microphone which designates his position on the subject then pending, but appropriate motions, appeals and inquiries may be made from either. The Chair shall rotate speakers so that speakers on each side of the question shall have equal opportunity to present their views. Should two or more delegates rise to speak on the same side of a question, the Chair shall decide who is entitled to the floor.

17. Voting Not to Be Interrupted. When once begun, voting shall not be interrupted. No delegate shall be allowed to change his vote, or have his vote recorded after the vote is announced.

18. Attendance of Delegates. Each delegate shall report to the Sergeant-at-Arms at the beginning of the session and shall sign the card presented to him; except, if unavoidably absent, he shall have the privilege of reporting to the Secretary.

CALIFORNIA LABOR LEAGUE FOR POLITICAL EDUCATION

Financial Statement March 1, 1958 to November 30, 1958

December 5, 1958

California Labor League for Political Education
995 Market Street
San Francisco, California

Gentlemen:

We have audited the cash receipts and disbursements of the California Labor League for Political Education for the period March 1, 1958 to November 30, 1958. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records, and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

Cash receipts as recorded, and evidenced by duplicate receipts on file, were found to have been deposited regularly in the bank. Disbursements were evidenced by paid cancelled checks on file which we compared with the cash book entries as to payees and amounts, and scrutinized as to signatures and endorsements. Disbursements were either supported by voucher or approved for payment by Mr. C. J. Haggerty, Secretary-Treasurer.

The commercial bank account maintained with Bank of America N.T. & S.A., Humboldt Branch, San Francisco, was reconciled with the bank's statements on file for the period under review. The balance on deposit as at November 30, 1958, as shown on Exhibit A attached, was confirmed by correspondence with the depository.

An analysis of the balances on deposit in savings accounts with banks, and balances on deposit with Savings and Loan Associations for the period under review follows:

The above balances were traced to passbooks on file and confirmed by correspondence with the depositories as of November 30, 1958.

The segregation of disbursements contained in this report has been compiled from information furnished by employees of the League.

Surety bonds in effect at November 30, 1958, consisted of the following:

Notes to Financial Statements

The California Labor League For Political Education records income when cash is received and expenses when the disbursement is made. No effect has been given in these statements to income accrued but uncollected at November 30, 1958, or to expenses or expense commitments incurred but unpaid at that date.

Based on prior periods experience, it is estimated that approximately $4,000.00 per capita contributions relating to the period prior to November 30, 1958, will be received during December 1958. Officers of the Labor League are of the opinion that expense commitments at November 30, 1958, relating to the forthcoming merger convention together with estimated additional expenses to be incurred in connection therewith will total approximately $10,000.00. There were no other known material liabilities at November 30, 1958.

CALIFORNIA CIO COUNCIL ON POLITICAL EDUCATION
Financial Statements

December 2, 1958

General Board of the California CIO Council on Political Education
 117 West Ninth Street
 Los Angeles 15, California

Gentlemen:

We have examined the cash receipts and disbursements records of the California CIO Council on Political Education for the period from June 1, 1958 through November 30, 1958. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and, accordingly, included such tests of the accounting records, and other auditing procedures, as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

In connection with this examination, we traced recorded receipts to the bank deposits, examined the acknowledgements issued for collections, inspected cancelled checks together with supporting vouchers and invoices, and examined the minutes of the General Board and Committee meetings. Bank balances were confirmed by direct correspondence with the depositaries and reconciled with the amounts reflected in the books. We did not independently communicate with the unions and other groups to confirm the contributions received; however, a summary has been prepared indicating the amounts received from all contributing organizations and the funds to which these amounts apply.

We have prepared, and submit herewith, statements and supporting schedules reflecting receipts and disbursements of the organization for the period under audit. We have also prepared a summary of the various bank accounts to show the net decrease of funds on deposit for each of the three funds maintained:

EXHIBIT I—Summary of Cash Receipts and Disbursements of the Three Funds Maintained as of November 30, 1958

EXHIBIT II—Statement of Cash Receipts and Disbursements of the COPE Three-Cent General Fund for the six months ended November 30, 1958

Schedule A—Campaign Contributions to State Candidates' Committees

Schedule B—Expenses on Ballot Propositions other than No. 18

EXHIBIT III—Statement of Cash Receipts and Disbursements of the State Elections Fund for the six months ended November 30, 1958

EXHIBIT IV—Statement of Cash Receipts and Disbursements of the Federal Elections Fund for the six months ended November 30, 1958.

These statements have been prepared from the books and records without independent audit or verification.

Respectfully submitted,
 TILLES AND GEST
 Certified Public Accountants
