UCHIDA, YOSHIKO

THE BEST BAD THING

"When her parents ask her to spend a month helping Mrs. Hata . . . Rinko is sure her summer vacation will be ruined. One disaster follows another during her visit, but Rinko discovers that things are not always as bad as they seem. Set in California in the 1930s, the details of Rinko's Japanese-American family life make fascinating reading and Rinko's occasional references to the prejudice she encounters provide some gentle messages. Style and characterization are both excellent." —School Library Journal.

A JAR OF DREAMS

"An ingenuous simplicity and grace mark the first-person telling of the story of eleven-year-old Rinko and her Japanese family in Berkeley, California. Times are hard for everyone in 1935, but being Japanese is for Rinko an added burden. Ridiculed or simply ignored at school, she feels different and left out—'a big nothing.' . . . Compared with many worldly-wise contemporary book heroines, Rinko in her guilelessness is genuine and refreshing, and her worries seem wholly natural, honest and convincing." —The Horn Book.

JOURNEY HOME

ILLUSTRATED BY CHARLES ROBINSON.

"Upon her family's release from Topaz Concentration Camp, Yuki tries to adjust to a new home, first in Salt Lake City, and finally back in Berkeley. She must fight poor living conditions, prejudice, and the fact that her family has lost almost all its earthly possessions, and her separation from friends and relatives . . . This book fills a great need in describing the cruel treatment inflicted upon Japanese-Americans during World War II by their fellow Americans." —School Library Journal.

VIORST, JUDITH

IF I WERE IN CHARGE OF THE WORLD . . . AND OTHER WORRIES

ILLUSTRATED BY LYNNE CHERRY.

Forty-one poems that look at ordinary things in unusual ways. "Viorst takes everyday situations that frustrate, bewilder, or bemuse and turns them into fodder for her audience's personal laugh tracks . . . [she] succeeds in bringing out the fun in human foibles, and her poems that twist traditional fairy-tale endings are positively inspired." —Booklist.
