Workmen's Compensation

The various Assembly subcommittees to which unemployment insurance, workmen's compensation and disability bills have been referred are beginning to function.

This Monday the Workmen's Compensation Subcommittee held hearings on seven Federation-sponsored bills, three of which were approved and sent back to the parent Finance and Insurance committee for action. The remaining four were held in subcommittee.

Passing their first hurdle were:

*AB 319 (Waldie), providing that temporary disability awards shall carry interest of 7% when payable, but not paid.

*AB 378 (Waldie), requiring payment of attorney's fee when an employ petition to reduce a permanent disability rating is denied.

*AB 380 (Waldie), applying 50% penalty currently in the law when, at the time of injury, a minor under 16 years of age is illegally employed in agriculture.

Bills that did not fare as well include measures requiring the addition of attorney's fees to an award; increasing

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL PRESSES 8-POINT ANTI-RECESSION ACTION

Emergency action to relieve unemployment described as "the worst in 25 years in some areas of the state" was urged this weekend by the Executive Council of the California Labor Federation, AFL-CIO.

Lengthy review and discussion of the growing plight of jobless workers highlighted a two-day meeting of the 36-member council at the Sheraton-Palace Hotel in San Francisco, Saturday and Sunday, March 4-5, 1961.

Vice presidents from areas, industries and crafts throughout the state reported almost uniformly that the combination of automation, business decline, and labor force growth had added a new dimension to the seriousness of the recession.

Reports of near-starvation conditions in hard hit areas of the State confirmed recent findings reported to Governor

Brown by his State Director of Social Welfare.

Representatives of various industries and crafts, including basic industries such as steel and the building trades, reported jobless rates from 20 to 50 percent of their membership, far exceeding the official statewide figure of 8 percent as last reported by the State Department of Employment.

"These reports received today," Secretary-Treasurer Pitts said, "demonstrate that the benefits of automation and rising productive efficiency in the state and nation are not being shared in proper balance with workers and the general consumer. This explains why organized workers in basic trades and manufacturing industries are experiencing unemployment exceeding the levels for the economy as a whole and in some areas of white collar employment."

The Council advanced the following action program:

(1) Mobilization of local labor movements to maintain continuous contact with Congressmen in order to provide effective support of the Kennedy Administration program to stem the rising tide of unemployment.

(2) Full support of the National AFL-CIO in pressing for immediate income tax relief for the working man to inject a substantial increase in purchasing power into the economy.

(3) Full speed ahead with Government programs designed to satisfy the unmet social needs of the nation, state and local communities in resources development, urban renewal and redevelopment, and the provision of health, education and welfare facilities commensurate with the needs of the 60's.

PUSH FOR $1 BILLION PENSION INVESTMENT PROGRAM IN HOUSING

The AFL-CIO is now pushing vigorously a billion dollar program of investment of union welfare and pension funds in the government mortgage protected housing field.

The program which was first approved last August is designed specifically to encourage the use of union investment funds in sound government housing programs at somewhat higher interest rates than government bonds; to help encourage housing construction so sorely needed in many fields, and to help the construction industry itself in the creation of desperately needed jobs.

One of the most important aspects of the program from the viewpoint of the prospective home buyer is the determination of the AFL-CIO to hit hard at the widespread banking and real estate practice of "discounting" mortgages through "points" which may increase anywhere from 5 to 10 percent the cost of a home.

AFL-CIO President George Meany cited a case in which a home buyer took out a $16,000 mortgage, received only $14,800 in cash after the "points" had been deducted yet must pay back

CIVIL RIGHTS CONFERENCE CALL

The California Committee for Fair Practices (CCFP) has issued a call for a legislative conference in Sacramento, April 15-17.

Following on the heels of last week's approval of the Hawkin's Fair Housing Act, AB 801, the call declares:

"Community leaders are being summoned from throughout California for a dramatic show of strength in Sacramento at a crucial point in the processing of AB 801."

Some 31 additional bills affecting equal rights will also be on the agenda. All AFL-CIO organizations in the state will be receiving the conference call within the coming week.

Aged Housing

Assemblyman Ronald Cameron (D, Los Angeles) won committee approval of *AB 721 this Tuesday before Social Welfare. This is a Federation-sponsored measure which would require redevelopment agencies to provide for housing for the aged in their planning.

First Test Roll Call

The first "test" roll call of the session on a Federation bill came last Thursday when the Assembly approved the probationary teacher protection bill (AB 337-Elliott) by vote of 46 to 24. Here it is:

Relative's Responsibility

With Federation support this week, Assemblyman Phil Burton (D, San Francisco) pushed a bill out of committee which all but repeals the archaic "relative's responsibility" provisions of the old age security program (AB 96).

It was a heated session, with charges by the Bay Area Assemblyman that the Department of Social Welfare was distorting cost figures on his bill in order to secure passage of a considerably less liberal measure advanced by the Administration. Several Social Welfare committee members voted against AB 96 because of declared support for the milder measure.

This was only a preliminary, as the crucial cost battle will take place in the Committee on Ways and Means, to which the Burton bill was referred.

Employment Agencies

The private employment agencies took a dumping this week when a key measure of their's was sent to interim committee for study. The Federation was on hand to give the Assembly Committee on Government Efficiency

COMMITTEE HEARINGS

Within the limits of this weekly publication, Newsletter will attempt to inform affiliates of important measures scheduled for hearing under a three-day "hearing notice" required by the legislature.

To be on the safe side, as bill digests are carried in Newsletter, affiliates should drop a note to committee chairmen requesting notice of hearings on bills of interest. Write the committee chairmen, c/o State Capitol, Sacramento. Bill digests carry the committee to which a bill has been referred.

GROWERS OPPOSE FARM LABOR STUDY

Governor Brown's limited proposal for creation of a "study commission" on labor-management relations in agriculture is too liberal for California's dominant grower groups.

After meeting with the corporate farm interests in Sacramento this week, Brown announced that the growers are adamant and "will not sit down with any labor organization."

AB 915 (House), introduced at the Governor's request, makes provision for both organized labor and grower representation on the proposed study commission. In the minds of the corporate growers, this is tantamount to union recognition.

The House measure, although concerned exclusively with labor relations, provides for the establishment of the study commission in the Agriculture Code. It has been referred to the lower house Committee on Agriculture, instead of the Industrial Relations Committee, where it belongs.

UNION MEMBERSHIP TOPS 1¾ MILLION IN STATE

California union membership passed the 1¾ million mark in 1960, John F. Henning, Director of the State's Department of Industrial Relations, reported recently.

Unions had an estimated 1,756,000 California members in July 1960, about 15,000 more than in the preceding July, but the membership gain from mid-59 to mid-60 was less than 1 percent, while nonfarm employment rose by nearly 3 percent.

Union membership in the Los Angeles-Long Beach Metropolitan Area reached 760,400 in July 1960, a gain of ½ of 1 percent over July 1959. However, the net addition of 3,600 members was not enough to bring the area's total back up to the July 1957 peak of 763,500.

A year-to-year drop of 5,300 union members was reported in the six-county San Francisco-Oakland Metropolitan Area, bringing the total down to 463,400 in July 1960, compared with the peak of 479,000 reached in July 1957. The 1 percent drop in membership from 1959 coincided with a rise of over 2 percent in employment.

Union membership continued to climb in the San Diego Metropolitan Area, as it has since 1956. With 1,000 members added in the past year the total reached a record high of 90,700 in July 1960. The 1 percent rise between July 1959 and July 1960, a period when nonfarm employment in the area was practically unchanged, was the smallest recorded in five years.

DEFEND GROUP LEGAL PRACTICES

The Executive Council of the California Labor Federation, AFL-CIO; meeting in San Francisco March 4th and 5th, directed a two-pronged action to preserve group legal services for union members.

Currently pending before the Board of Governors of the State Bar is a recommendation from one of its committees proposing the establishment of a new Rule 20 aimed at prohibiting group legal services.

According to the State AFL-CIO, "the committee report would in fact prohibit any referral by a group of its members to an attorney who is handling legal business for the group.

"Although there are several general references in the report, it appears obvious that the proposed Rule is aimed at prohibiting the continued representation of members of labor organizations by labor attorneys representing such organizations, even to the extent of prohibiting members from being represented by such attorneys in Workmen's Compensation cases," the Executive Council said.

In defense of group practices, the 36-member State AFL-CIO group:

(1) Directed Secretary-Treasurer Thomas L. Pitts to communicate immediately with central labor and building trades councils throughout the state, urging that letters of protest be directed to the Board of Directors of the State Bar, and to advise them on the protest procedures which should be followed. (Follow-up action was taken by Pitts this Monday).

(2) Instructed Pitts to secure immediately the introduction of state legislation which would specifically approve prepaid group legal practices and remove any implied authority of the State Bar to declare such practices unethical and grounds for disbarment.

The Executive Council also commended the Federation's Secretary-Treasurer, Thos. L. Pitts, for having instructed the State AFL-CIO general counsel to file a protest with the Board of Governors of the State Bar in which it was noted that the action of the committee was taken not only without proper notice and hearing procedures, but also without any opportunity for labor groups to present their views.

This protest specifically requested the Board of Governors to reject the recommendation.

erate union membership changes in the State's three largest metropolitan areas, large relative gains between July 1959 and July 1960 were reported in some other localities.

Push For $1 Billion Pension Investment Program in Housing

the original $16,000 plus interest on the $16,000

"We are determined to fight that sort of thing which penalizes the home buyer by adding greatly to the cost of a home and is a drag on the whole industry," said Meany.

At its recent meeting, the Executive Council heard a report from Alexander Bookstaver, formerly of the staff of the International Ladies Garment Workers, who is the newly-appointed director of the AFL-CIO Investment Counselling Department which is offering the housing investment service.

Bookstaver, who is an expert in the housing investment field, will aid unions throughout the country in investing their funds in such government-supported housing programs as slum clearance, low-cost housing, cooperative housing, and middle-income housing. The program does not mean a slackening in traditional union investment in housing developments, but will involve its extension in the strictly government-supported housing field as a safe and rewarding area for union fund investment.

In response to questions, Meany estimated that there was probably $1 billion in union funds that would be available for the program and that the use of these funds in the housing field would be a wide-spread public service.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL POINT ANTI-RECESSIO

(4) Active participation in Governor Brown's forthcoming state-wide recession conference, scheduled for March 13-14, to impress upon the state the necessity for coordinated and supplemental state action in every area where the Kennedy Administration is pressing to curb the recession and to get the American economy moving again.

This includes state housing programs for the low and middle income groups and the aged, state aid for community recreation programs, rapid transit facilities and to meet other pressing urban needs.

(5) Action by the state legislature to affect permanent improvements in unemployment insurance, disability insurance, Workmen's Compensation and other social insurance programs, as contained in the comprehensive proposals advanced by the State AFL-CIO. These are essential to ease much of the recession's impact on individuals.

(6) Enactment of new state programs to provide for re-training of workers displaced by automation and other technological developments.

(7) Comprehensive review and revision of public assistance programs to assure benefit grants in keeping with present day living costs.

(8) Finally recognizing the inability of counties to meet continually growing relief loads, the Council urged full consideration be given to invoking the State Relief Act, which would provide for state participation in caring for unfortunate families who have become indigents in the current recession.

"This program," Pitts said, "is based on the hard, cold facts of the current recession. The conditions which we are facing daily in various parts of the state cannot be dismissed by trying to create an image of false prosperity as some of our industrial and financial leaders would have us do.

"This, in our opinion, is like burying one's head in the sand and playing the old ostrich game with the facts of a pressing situation.

"We share with businessmen the hope that an immediate upturn in the economy will take place, but our experience in the 30's has taught us that 'hope' is no substitute for 'action'."

The Consumers Price Index, the Federal Government's important monthly report on changes in the cost of living, is to be revised to accord with 1960-61 spending patterns. For the past decade information from the 1950 survey has been used.

Dr. Max Kossoris, director of the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics in the West, said his agency has already begun to collect household expenditure information in San Francisco, Los Angeles and other areas.

Interviewers are being hired through local offices of the California Department of Employment to get information from individual families on purchases, incomes and savings. These are household surveys, conducted in a selected sample of homes.

The federal economist said the survey of buying habits is the second step in the revision of the CPI, as the consumers price index is widely known. "Last fall we got housing information," he said. "These facts and figures will be combined with the information taken from current interviews on spending, to give us our new revised index."

Changes in the CPI, one of the government's most important single statistic, are reflected in the pay envelopes of millions of Americans whose collective wage agreements contain so-called "escalator clauses." It has a role in every wage negotiation.

In describing the need for up-to-date information, Kossoris said:

"We must maintain a market-basket of goods and services which accurately represents current expenditure patterns. As new goods become available, they supplant certain items. Long-term changes in the proportion of income devoted to housing or transportation or medical care, for example, need to be measured and included in our calculations of the index. The new study of buying habits is our primary way of taking such changes into account."

A total of 9,899 minors were found employed contrary to the child labor provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1960, the U.S. Labor Department has reported.

and Economy an assist on the bill (AB 509—Hegland).

The measure would have established an advisory committee of agency representatives for the declared purpose of helping the Labor Commissioner regulate the private agencies.

For some time now, the agencies have been trying to get out from under the Labor Commissioner by setting themselves up for self-regulation as a "profession" under a dominated licensing board. AB 509 would have served them well in this effort.

Racial Restrictions

AB 612 (Bradley, R) appears to be on its way to passage without opposition. The measure, approved this week by the lower house, would render void any real property deed containing racial restrictions. Such deeds have already been declared non-enforceable by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Sanitation in the Fields

A limited bill providing for sanitation facilities in the fields for farm workers has been dropped in the Senate hopper. This farm labor bill may have a good chance of passage by the legislature. It's SB 851 (Cobey, D.), introduced at the request of the Senate Fact Finding Committee on Labor and Welfare.

On a related farm labor issue, it appears that the legislature has taken care of the migrant housing problem for the session. This week, the Assembly completed action on a Senate resolution, SCR 27 (Byrne, R.), which calls for — you guessed it — a "study" of migrant family housing needs.

Looking Ahead

Some big ones are on deck. On March 23rd, before Assembly Industrial Relations: AB 428, the professional strikebreaker bill. The week after that on March 30th, before the same committee, its anti-injunction legislation (AB 425-6). Then on April 6th: AB 682 and 684, minimum wages; AB 351, public employee collective bargaining; AB 403 and 406, repeal so-called state jurisdictional strike law and provide representation machinery in intrastate commerce.
