

Seven Weeks To Go

The 1961 session of the California legislature will come to an end on June 16th, leaving only seven weeks to enact any substantial portion of labor's legislative program. As of this date here's a brief run-down on some major Federation-sponsored legislation:

Social insurance programs — Workmen's compensation, unemployment insurance, and disability compensation bills are still bottled up in subcommittees on the Assembly side. Nothing has moved out of committee in either house.

Retraining benefits — It's the same story, despite the urgency of retaining programs in the current recession.

Labor legislation — Bills to establish representation procedures in intrastate commerce and extend organization rights to public employees are on deck this Thursday in the Assembly committee on Industrial Relations as we go to press. The professional strikebreaker bill, *AB 428 in an amended version, is still in subcommittee of Industrial Relations in the lower house. On the Assembly floor at the moment and up for consideration is *AB 425, curbing the use of the injunction as an anti-labor weapon, and repealing both the so-called jurisdictional strike act and the unconstitutional "hot cargo" law.

Minimum wages — Both AB 682 and AB 684 have been reported out favorably by the lower house Industrial Relations committee. The latter, establishing a straight $1.25 minimum with-

URGENT! CONTACT YOUR CONGRESSMAN ON MINIMUM WAGE BILL

An urgent communication has been received from Andrew J. Biemiller, Director of the AFL-CIO Legislative Department, requesting mobilization of local movements behind efforts of the AFL-CIO to secure the strongest possible minimum wage bill out of Congress.

Last week, by vote of 56 to 28, the U.S. Senate passed a minimum wage bill almost exactly like the one which President Kennedy requested, raising the minimum wage, in steps, to $1.25 and extending wage-hour protection to an estimated 4.1 million additional workers.

The vote came after liberal forces, by a 56 to 39 margin turned back the key Monroney amendment which would have exempted from coverage 1.1 million retail workers. Both California Senators Engle and Kuchel voted against the weakening amendment.

The bill now goes to a Senate-House conference to iron out differences between a pitifully weak House-passed bill and the stronger Senate version. According to Biemiller, "it is anticipated that the conference committee will

GROUP LEGAL PRACTICES BAR SETS HEARINGS

May 24th in Los Angeles and June 21st in San Francisco are the dates set by the State Bar of California for hearings on a proposed new Rule 20 which would prohibit group legal practices.

Interested affiliates desiring to make appearances at either hearing through appropriate legal representation should write Jack A. Hayes, State Bar secretary, 601 McAllister, San Francisco at least 10 days before the time of the hearing.

State AFL-CIO Secretary-Treasurer Thos. L. Pitts, in Sacramento, said that the California Labor Federation will appear in opposition to the proposed rule at the June 21st hearing in San Francisco.

All affiliates requesting time before State Bar Board of Governors are urged to send advance copies of their presentations to the Federation office at 995 Market Street, San Francisco 3.

The Federation's opposition to Rule 20 is based on Executive Council action taken at its March meeting in San Francisco. The council pointed out that the rule is "aimed at prohibiting the continued representation of members of labor organizations by labor attorneys representing such organizations, even to the extent of prohibiting members from being represented by such attorneys in workmen's compensation cases.

"DO NOTHING" SESSION LINKED TO MONOPOLY GRIP ON STATE'S CREDIT

The California Labor Federation warned this week that the 1961 session of the state legislature may be forced to go down in history as a "do nothing" session because of the grip of landed monopolists on the state's credit.

As the legislature plunged into its final seven weeks of session with virtually nothing of major importance accomplished, State AFL-CIO Secretary-Treasurer Thos. L. Pitts called upon the State Department of Water Resources to "help make it possible for the legislature to use some of the state's credit to meet pressing social needs by taking the landed monopolists off the backs of California's taxpayers."

In a public statement Pitts asserted that the Department of Water Resources has full authority under the state water program approved by the voters last year to move in this direction by accepting the invitation of the Kennedy administration to enter a federal-state cooperative program. Under such a program features of the Central Valley Project which have been included in the state program would be turned over to the federal government as originally planned before the Eisenhower administration played into the hands of the landed monopolists seeking to use the state for their private profits.

Warning that "the state cannot afford the luxury of bowing to the demands of the great land holders" at the expense of denying use of the state's credits for many pressing social out the fair labor standards act provisions of the former, is on the Assembly inactive file waiting floor consideration. The broader measure, AB 682, is waiting clearance in the Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

State Mortgage Authority — Dead and buried. (State's credit needed for housing and many other liberal programs is reserved for the landed monopolists — see story, page 1).

Civil Rights — The single most important piece of civil rights legislation supported by labor and minority groups, the Hawkins fair housing bill (AB 801), is still bottled up in the Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

This story could go on and on. A few Federation bills originating in the Assembly have crossed over to the Senate. These have been fully reported in this column in previous issues of Newsletter, but none fall in the category of major legislation. Only one Federation bill thus far has been escorted safely through the legislature. It's *AB 432 (Davis), strengthening the bond and security requirements for the payment of wages in lumber and sawmill operations, which is on the Governor's desk for signature as of this week.

Progress

Needless to say, progress has been slow on labor-sponsored measures, but not totally lacking.

This Wednesday, the AFL-CIO teachers won a big one with Senate committee approval of Federation-sponsored *AB 337 (Elliott), providing protections for probationary teachers against arbitrary dismissal. This should be the next Federation bill before the Governor if all goes well on the Senate floor. School administrators will press Brown for a veto of this one.

Other areas of progress include: *AB 336 (Elliott) liberalizing income ceilings for admissions to child centers, which has been favorably recommended by subcommittee to the Assembly Education committee along with a number of other child care center liberalization bills; AB 873 (Bone) providing OASDI coordination for state employees, which has been given initial policy approval in Assembly Committee and sent to Ways and Means for financing.

Farm Workers

There won't be much in this session for farm workers, but Senator Virgil O'Sullivan (D. Williams) is determined to get at least a couple of modest proposals through the legislature. His SB 282, providing for a pilot health care program for migrants, is on its last leg

COMMITTEE HEARINGS

Within the limits of this weekly publication, Newsletter will attempt to inform affiliates of important measures scheduled for hearing under a three-day "hearing notice" required by the legislature.

To be on the safe side, as bill digests are carried in Newsletter, affiliates should drop a note to committee chairmen requesting notice of hearings on bills of interest. Write the committee chairmen, c/o State Capitol, Sacramento. Bill digests carry the committee to which a bill has been referred.

LEGISLATIVE NOTES

on the Assembly floor, having received Ways and Means clearance this Monday. In Senate Agriculture, on the same day, over grower opposition, O'Sullivan also pushed out SB 993, giving the Governor legislative authority to appoint a five-man commission to study agricultural labor-management problems. The Commission would make recommendations for action to both the Governor and legislature.

Aged Discrimination

A "mild" bill to help stop employment discrimination against older workers started moving last week when the Assembly Industrial Relations Committee sent AB 1976 (Unruh) to Ways and Means with a "do pass" recommendation. Rather than placing this kind of discrimination under the state FEP commission, the bill would authorize the Department of Employment to develop older worker programs with emphasis on community education and improvement of job placement services.

Special Funds

There have been rumblings in the legislature about budgetary controls over special funds. Their transfer to the state "general fund" is the subject of AB 1879 (Unruh). As amended recently, this bill includes some 60 funds in Schedule 4 of the Governor's budget. Among these are the Employment and Contingent Fund and all business and professions funds, including the barbers examining fund, the contractors licensing fund, the cosmetology fund, the nurses examiner's fund and others.

8-Hour Law

The state Senate this Thursday dumped SB 807 (Fisher) which would have emasculated the women's eight-hour law. The measure was sent to the floor two weeks ago by the upper house Labor Committee.

STATE CONCILIATOR EXAM

The state Personnel Board has announced that an examination will be held on June 3rd to develop a new employment list for the position of state conciliator in the Department of Industrial Relations.

The final filing date for qualified, interested persons is May 12th. For copies of the announcement bulletin and applications, write California State Personnel Board, 801 Capitol Ave., Sacramento 14.

The announcement contains all the pertinent information on the position, educational requirements and experience needed in the field of labor-management relations.

report a reasonably good bill, one that the AFL-CIO will support."

Because of the close vote by which the Administration bill was defeated in the House of Representatives, Biemiller notes "that much work must be done with House members to assure adoption of a strong conference report."

In his communication received this week, Biemiller adds:

"I therefore urge top priority be given to a letter-writing campaign to House members, asking them to vote FOR the conference report on minimum wages.

"Letters and wires should be addressed to Representatives at the House Office Building, Washington, D.C. Ask your Congressman to vote for the conference report on minimum wages. Encourage as many AFL-CIO members and other sympathetic people as possible to write their Congressman immediately on this issue."

Hopes in the conference report are pinned on retaining the essential provisions of the Senate-passed bill. They are as follows:

- Raise the minimum from its present level of $1 to $1.15 four months after enactment, and to $1.25 two years after that.

- Give newly covered workers $1 minimum the first year, $1.05 the second, $1.15 the third and $1.25 the fourth.

- Put no ceiling on hours for newly covered workers the first year. In the second year, overtime would be payable after 44 hours, with the ceiling dropped to 42 hours the third year and 40 hours thereafter.

- Extend wage-hour coverage to 2.4 million retail and service workers, 140,000 laundry workers, 30,000 telephone operators and 1 million employees of construction firms.

- Provide minimum wage protection, but not overtime coverage, to 110,000 employees of local transit companies, 100,000 seamen and 33,000 seafood processing workers.

- Set up a new test for coverage under which employees of retail establishments would be brought under the act if the firms do at least $1 million worth of business a year and purchase at least $250,000 worth of goods in interstate commerce. In chain operations, individual stores making less than $250,000 in gross sales would be exempt.

"Do Nothing" Session Linked to Monopoly Grip on State's Credit

needs, Pitts issued the following 5-point statement:

"1. There is no legal reason standing in the way of the Department of Water Resources contracting with the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation to deliver water to valley service areas contemplated in the state water program.

"This was revealed and confirmed at hearings recently before the Senate Water Resources Committee, when two opinions by Legislative Counsel Ralph N. Kleps became public knowledge in an exchange of questions and answers concerning this issue between Senator George Miller, Jr., and Director of Water Resources, Wm. E. Warne, and Special Counsel and Deputy Director B. Abbott Goldberg.

"One of these Legislative Counsel opinions held that the Legislature could enact an acreage limitation patterned after Federal reclamation law either before state bonds are issued or after their issuance. This would remove the loophole in California law which offers the incentive to the big land interests to use the state as a means of supplanting Federal water developing aid.

"The other Legislative Counsel's opinion held that the Department of Water Resources could enter into a contract with the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation for the joint construction and operation of any authorized facilities under the California Water Resources Development Bond Act, including the California Aqueduct to the San Joaquin Valley and Southern California, requiring the imposition of the acreage limitation prescribed in the Federal reclamation laws. Such a contractual requirement would be valid and binding upon all purveyors and users of such water in the lower San Joaquin Valley, where 64 per cent of the lands in the potential service area are held by land barons.

"2. Thus, expanded Federal-State cooperation on water development to relieve the demand upon state bond funds required to deliver water to the central valley is entirely feasible and a matter of urgent necessity.

"It is a well-known fact that the big landholders who insist upon exclusive use of the state's credit to develop and deliver their water supply are motivated by one primary purpose — personal profit.

"3. It is becoming equally apparent to working growers in the valley service area that the scheming of the landed monopolists means higher priced water outside the range for putting it to maximum economic use in many crops, and also, the denial of a potentially cheaper source of water through Federal-State cooperative development under federal reclamation law.

"4. It is also apparent that the state cannot afford the luxury of bowing to the demands of the great land holders. California has many pressing social needs, of which water development is only one. The state must look as well to developing and preserving its human resources by providing for our growing needs in the fields of health, education and welfare. These include, for example, vast programs for expansion of state college and other higher education facilities, planning for our growing recreation needs, removing the cancer of urban blight in our rapidly decaying cities, stimulating urban renewal and redevelopment projects, attending to other growing problems in urban and suburban development including rapid transit, and providing for the housing needs of low- and moderate-income families and the aged. We need state programs also for retraining our growing army of jobless workers who have been displaced by automation. We need these and many other programs, but they all require the expenditure of additional state funds or the use of the state's credit.

"In virtually all of these areas the present legislature may be forced to go down in history as a "do nothing" session because of the present financial position of the state and the denial to legislators of any substantial use of the state's credit.

"5. There is no panacea for this problem, but certainly we should look to every area in which federal assistance may be available to the state to help meet these needs. In water development, the Kennedy administration has pledged itself to reverse the "no starts" policy in western reclamation and water development, looking forward to the completion of the original comprehensively planned Central Valley Project providing for federal development of valley water. We urge California to join the Kennedy administration. We call specifically upon the State Department of Water Resources to help make it possible for the legislature to use some of the state's credit to meet pressing social needs by taking the landed monopolists off the backs of California's taxpayers."

Thus far in 1961 session of the California Legislature there is no indication that the Department of Water Resources will ease this burden that hangs heavy over the heads of liberal legislators.

700 to Compete in Fed. Scholarship Competition; Calif. Girl Wins AFL-CIO Award

Some 700 graduating high school seniors will compete in the Federation's 1961 scholarship competition offering five $500 college awards. The application deadline on April 17th produced the largest number of participating students in the 11-year history of the labor-sponsored competition, according to state AFL-CIO Secretary-Treasurer Thos. L. Pitts.

From Washington, D.C. this week, the national AFL-CIO announced also that a California girl from Clayton Valley High School, Concord, is one of six winners of a full four-year merit scholarship award. She is Mary Florence Cogar, daughter of a service station operator and member of Local 1173, International Association of Machinists.

State Competition

Participants in the Federation-sponsored program will compete in a two-hour written examination on May 19th in each high school where applicants have filed. The aim of the examination is to evaluate the student's knowledge and understanding of labor and industrial problems and his ability to present this information. Comprehension of past and present social and economic conditions affecting labor and management is also an important factor in the examination.

Following the examination, the papers will be returned to the Federation office for grading by competent university personnel without knowledge of the student's identity. The five award winners will then be selected from the school records and examination papers of the fifty highest students by a Committee of judges consisting of Benjamin Aaron, L.L.B., Director, Institute of Industrial Relations, UCLA; Frederick A. Breier, Ph.D., Assistant Professor of Economics, University of San Francisco; and Leon F. Lee, Ph.D., Director, Institute of Industrial Relations, San Jose State College.

Senior high school students in public, private or parochial schools in California who are planning to attend a college or university anywhere in the U.S. make up the participants in the competition. The $500 awards may be used to assist the student in any field of knowledge, and is not limited to those interested in labor alone.

Local central labor bodies and unions have been cooperating with the Federation in encouraging student participation in the competition.

National Awards

Announcement this week of the six winners of AFL-CIO merit scholarships brings to 18 those thus honored since the program was inaugurated in 1959. These scholarships are based on tests conducted by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

The AFL-CIO awards, of which Miss Cogar is a winner, range up to $1,500 per year depending on the actual costs involved and the funds available to the student. The awards are subject to change if the family financial circumstances change during the year.

Presentation of Miss Cogar's award will be made at a dinner affair being planned by the Contra Costa Central Labor Council for May 4th at the Concord Inn. It is an open event with broad attendance expected from trade unionists and educators in the area. Requests for tickets should be sent to council secretary Hugh Caudel, 729 Castro St., Martinez.

Federation officials will also be on hand to honor Miss Cogar, who plans to enter the University of California to prepare for a career as an elementary school teacher with a prime objective of teaching math and literature.

In announcing the national award winners AFL-CIO President George Meany said: "The AFL-CIO looks forward to the day when all of America's young people have the opportunity to complete a college education. Federally-financed scholarships for college study would be a long step forward toward a stronger democracy and would show the world that, in America, opportunities are equal. In the meantime, however, the AFL-CIO is happy to prove its interest in furthering educational opportunities by these awards."

LEGISLATIVE AIDS FOR LOCAL UNIONS

The national AFL-CIO has announced the availability of two new leaflets to assist local organizations in communicating with their legislators.

"When you Write your Congressman" (Publication No. 116) is a leaflet designed for use in local union meetings and other meetings of AFL-CIO members during periods which are set aside for writing letters and postcards to their legislative representatives.

The other leaflet, "How Can You Pay Health Bills After 65?", is aimed specifically at mobilizing a letter-writing campaign behind the Anderson-King bill. This is President Kennedy's proposal, backed by labor, to provide health benefits for the aged through social security.

Both leaflets are available through Pamphlet Division of the AFL-CIO Department of Publications, 815 16th Street, N.W., Washington 6, D.C. There is no charge for No. 116, available in limited quantities. The health insurance leaflet is free in single copies for reproduction. In quantities they are 1c each up to 100; 75c per 100; $6.00 for 1,000 copies.

FED SPONSORS HANDICAPPED ESSAY WINNER

The state winner of the 1961 annual essay contest sponsored by the Governor's Committee for the Employment of the Handicapped has been awarded a trip to Washington by the California Labor Federation.

Federation Secretary-Treasurer Thos. L. Pitts last week presented Lisa Levitt of Del Mar High School, San Jose, the award to attend the annual meeting of the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped.

Other state Federations, in cooperation with the national AFL-CIO, have similarly sponsored state winners.

Lisa Levitt was selected from nineteen local winners in California picked by Employ the Physically Handicapped committees in town throughout the State after judging severay hundred essays submitted by public and private high school juniors and seniors, all writing on the theme "Jobs for the Handicapped — A Community Challenge."
