SEVEN FROM RIVERSIDE RECEIVE CERTIFICATES

The largest number of students from Riverside-San Bernardino ever to receive Certificates from the Institute of Industrial Relations were on hand at the December Award Dinner at Swally's Restaurant. Riverside's Magnolia Center News pointed out that the seven new Certificate holders represent a diverse group.

Peter W. Burk, Jr., a civil engineer with the Riverside Cement Company, was quoted as finding particularly valuable the courses which help students to improve in discussing matters with other people and thus to learn many viewpoints and different phases of problems. Others receiving awards were Joseph Trujillo and James D. Douglas of the Bridgeport Brass Company; Wilbur L. Moorehead, missile engineer at Norton Air Force Base; Joseph Gentile, assistant in industrial relations at Kaiser Steel; F. Langdon T. Whitehouse, classification specialist at Norton; and Michael M. Perpich of San Bernardino. All seven indicated that the "rounded" courses in human relations were particularly helpful.
