Your Social Security Account Card...

Your Social Security Account Card

WHY YOU HAVE A CARD

YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY ACCOUNT CARD shows that the Social Security Board has set up an account for you—an account with the U. S. Government. This account will be used to figure the amount of insurance benefits you and your family may receive under the Federal Old-Age and Survivors Insurance system. As those benefits are based on the pay you receive on jobs covered by the system, the Board must have a record of the amount of your pay. Your employer reports this to the Government every three months, and the Social Security Board credits it to your account.

YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY ACCOUNT, in other words, is a record of the pay you receive which counts toward insurance benefits. It is kept by the Social Security Board under your name and a number. This is your Social Security Account Number, and it appears on your Social Security Account Card.

YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY ACCOUNT NUMBER identifies your account because no two numbers are alike, and the same number will never be used for any account but yours, no matter how many people have names like yours.

YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY ACCOUNT CARD is your key to your Social Security Account.

WHAT YOU DO WITH YOUR CARD

YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY ACCOUNT CARD is in two parts which can be separated easily. Your name and your Social Security Account Number are printed on both parts. There is also a line marked "Worker's signature." Write your name on that line—your signature in your own handwriting—on both parts of your card.

KEEP THE UPPER PART of the card in a card holder, or a tough envelope of some sort. If you carry it with you, keep it in the card pocket of your wallet or billfold. Show your card to your employer. Be sure to have it with you when you start a new job. Most employers will insist upon seeing your Social Security Card before they hire you.

MAKE SURE your employer, or some one acting for him, takes down your name and your Social Security Account Number exactly as they are shown on your card. Every employer you work for, whether he pays you by the hour, day, week, month, or by the job, must have your account number, along with your name, when he reports your wages to the Government.

PUT AWAY THE LOWER PART of the card, the stub, for safekeeping, but put it where you or your family can find it easily in an emergency. This stub, which shows your name, your signature, and your Social Security Account Number, will help you to get a duplicate card if you should lose the one you carry. In case of your death, it may be useful to your family in filing a claim for survivors' insurance benefits.

CAUTIONS

TAKE CARE OF YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY ACCOUNT CARD. Protect it from wear or damage. DON'T LOSE IT.

BUT—if your card should be lost or destroyed, ask the nearest field office of the Social Security Board for a duplicate; that is, a new card with the same name and number. To get the duplicate, show the stub, or lower part, of your original card, which you put away for safekeeping when you first got it. That stub gives your name and account number just as they will be found in the records of the Social Security Board. Unless you present the stub, you may have to wait several days for your duplicate.

IF YOU SHOULD CHANGE YOUR NAME in any way—either your first name, your middle name, or your last name—be sure to notify the Social Security Board. To do this, get the blank form which is provided for this purpose (you can get it at any field office of the Social Security Board), fill in the blanks and return it to the field office, so that a new card may be furnished you. The name on the new card will be your new name, but the number will be the same number you had.

DON'T ASK FOR MORE THAN ONE ACCOUNT NUMBER. If you should get more than one number, whether you get it under the same or another name, the wages reported for you would be credited to more than one account. There would then be no complete record of your wages, and it might be hard for you to get all the benefits due you. It might also be hard for your family to get all theirs.

ANYBODY WHO HAS more than one account number should notify the nearest Social Security Board field office now, and find out which number to use. Keep the card with that number and use that same number always, no matter how many times you change your employer or your name. Return the other card to the Social Security Board.

YOUR UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE ACCOUNT, also, if you come under your State unemployment insurance law, is identified by the number that appears on your Social Security Account Card. Your employer uses this number when he reports your wages to the State employment security agency, and that agency uses the same number on the wage records it keeps for you. Therefore you show your Social Security Account Card when you file a claim for out-of-work benefits, so the State agency can locate your wage records at once.

TAKE CARE OF YOUR CARD
DON'T LOSE IT

FOR MORE INFORMATION about your Social Security Account, or about insurance benefits under the Social Security Act, ask any field office of the Social Security Board. If you don't know where to find a field office, inquire at your post office or look in the telephone directory under "Social Security Board Field Office."

ANY FIELD OFFICE OF THE SOCIAL SECURITY BOARD will—

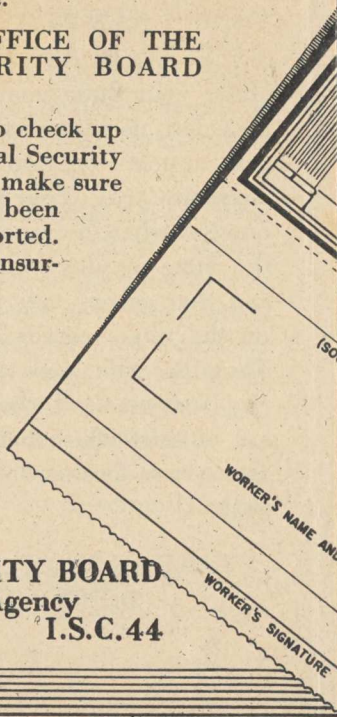

Tell you how to check up on your Social Security Account and make sure your pay has been properly reported.

Explain the insurance benefits provided for you and your family.

Help you file your claim for benefits when you retire.
