COPYRIGHT AND RESTRICTIONS

The copyright law of the United States (Title 17, United States Code) governs the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted materials. The various state privacy acts govern the use of materials that document private individuals, groups, and corporations.

Under certain conditions specified in the law, libraries and archives are authorized to furnish a reproduction if the document does not infringe the privacy rights of an individual, group, or corporation. These specified conditions of authorized use include:

- non-commercial and non-profit study, scholarship, or research, or teaching
- criticism, commentary, or news reporting
- as a NPS preservation or security copy
- as a research copy for deposit in another institution

If a user later uses a copy or reproduction for purposes in excess of "fair use," the user may be personally liable for copyright, privacy, or publicity infringement. This institution's permission to obtain a photographic, xerographic, digital, or other copy of a document doesn't indicate permission to publish, exhibit, perform, reproduce, sell, distribute, or prepare derivative works from this document without first obtaining permission from the copyright holder and from any private individual, group, or corporation shown or otherwise recorded.

Permission to publish, exhibit, perform, reproduce, prepare derivative works from, sell, or otherwise distribute the item must be obtained by the user separately in writing from the holder of the original copyright (or if the creator is dead from his/her heirs) as well as from any individual(s), groups, or corporations whose name, image, recorded words, or private information (e.g., employment information) may be reproduced in the source material. The holder of the original copyright isn't necessarily the National Park Service. The National Park Service is not legally liable for copyright, privacy, or publicity infringement when materials are wrongfully used after being provided to researchers for "fair use."

This institution reserves the right to refuse to accept a copying order if fulfillment of the order is judged in violation of copyright or federal or state privacy or publicity law.

HISTORY

Frank Forest Latta was born in Orestimba, California, in September 18, 1892, to Presbyterian minister Eli C. Latta and teacher Harmonia Campbell. Latta married Jeanette “Jean” Allen in 1919, and eventually had four children together. From 1915-1945 Latta worked as a teacher in the southern San Joaquin Valley, teaching mechanical drawing and agriculture. However, his true passion lay in the study of California history, a curiosity which was ignited when he interviewed early pioneers in 1906 for a school project. Latta continued interviewing and researching the history of the San Joaquin Valley even as he was teaching, which led him to stumble on to the story of an old white pioneer who had been raised by the Yokuts, an Indian tribe of central California. This man was Thomas Jefferson Mayfield, and his experience, which Latta published first as a series of newspaper articles, became the basis of Latta’s first book Uncle Jeff’s Story: A tale of a San Joaquin Valley pioneer and his life with the Yokuts Indians (1929).

Latta’s interviews with Mayfield led to a lifelong interest in the Indian people of the central and southern San Joaquin Valley, particularly the Yokuts and the Miwok. In order to better understand Yokuts culture, Latta studied different dialects and supplemented his knowledge by corresponding with anthropologists of his day, like linguist and ethnologist John P. Harrington, with whom he formed a close friendship. Latta also interviewed many members of the Yokuts and Miwok tribes, taking meticulous notes and eventually developing his own system to record the particular speech and memory of his subject. The interviews were so essential to his research that Latta would spend years tracking down individuals with first-hand knowledge of important events and stories. Some of his most important books, like California Indian Folklore (1936) and Handbook of Yokuts Indians (1949), drew from his research on California Indians.

Latta also contextualized his interviews with local Indians by continuing his research of early California and San Joaquin Valley history. He sought information anywhere he could find it, including personal and corporate papers, and more notably, newspapers. Latta would search for old newspapers and index and sort the relevant information, allowing him to publish well-research historical accounts of the area like El Camino Viejo a Los Angeles and Black Gold in the Joaquin, also published in 1936 and 1949, respectively.

Latta’s interest in history and California Indians extended far beyond academic research. In 1952, for example, he learned that allotments of some of his Yokuts friends were about to be sold by the Bureau of Indian Affairs, which prompted him to organize people to stop the sale. He felt deeply that the problems faced by Indian people in the 20th century were directly related to the 1815 treaties and reservation system in the southern San Joaquin Valley, and thought that greater understanding of the causes of these problems would lead to possible solutions. This belief led him to help found the Kern County Museum in Bakersfield in 1941; he wanted people to know their own history and understand the history of the place in which they lived. Latta retired from teaching and worked as the museum curator and director from 1945-1956, allowing him to focus on history full time. While at the Kern County Museum Latta also established the Bear State Museum and Bear State Books, the one to house his collections and the other to publish his work.

In 1946, Latta and his family moved to Santa Cruz, where he established the Rancho Gazos Historical Indian and Early Californian Museum. He continued to write and publish books about the San Joaquin Valley, early Californian settlers and Californian Indians. Towards the end of his life, Latta wrote prolifically, publishing Dalton Gang Days, Saga of El Rancho Tejon, and Tailholt Trails in 1976, Death Valley '49ers in 1979, and Joaquin Murrieta and His Horse Gangs in 1980. Even with all these publications, Latta left behind a wealth of unpublished information when he died in 1983. Fortunately his papers have been housed and protected at several institutions. In 1987, with the financial assistance of the Yosemite Fund, the ethnographic papers of Frank Latta came to the Yosemite National Park Archives. These papers, inventoried below, are only a piece of Latta's incredible legacy.

DESCRIPTION

Index of Indian Names

Latta tends to refer to Native Americans by their anglicized names in his notes, but to their Indian names in his books. A cross-index may be helpful to correlate the two. Indian and anglicized names appear especially in Latta's field notes but also figure prominently on the notes for photographs. This list is alphabetical by Indian name, using Latta's orthography with anglicized name and tribe following when known.

Ah-kah-kih-nim Blind Molly [Lawrence],
Wukchumne Yokuts

Ah-shah'-co-lit Mary Garcia, Yokuts

Cha-ahm-sah Dick Francisco, Koyeti Yokuts

Chapulin Martin Estrada

Es'-tik Lucy Dick, Entimbits Yokuts

Hay'-cow Sam Osborne, Wuksache Yokuts

Hih'-lah-loo Wilson Lewis, Patwin

I'-chow Henry Icho, Wukchumne Yokuts

Lah-wan-nil George Garcia, Tache Yokuts

Las'-yeh Mrs. Dick Francisco, Bancalache Yokuts
Law-naw'-see Joe Vera, from Tule River
Lee'-mee Chris Brown, Miwok
Loi-eh-yets Dan Williams, Koyeti Yokuts

 Yow-wis'-nut Julia Davis, Choinimnee Yokuts.

ORGANIZATION

The ethnographic papers of Frank Latta fall into seven groups: Field Notes, Correspondence, Manuscripts, Sources, Land Grants, Essays and Notecards and Research. Within those groups, Latta's filing system has been maintained for the most part. Field Notes and Correspondence are organized alphabetically by the name of the person or organization generating the material. Manuscripts are organized alphabetically by title. Sources are organized by author, title, or subject, as Latta filed them. In the course of his work, Latta amassed a large amount of material which he had some trouble keeping organized. He often developed duplicate files of the same name; these have been combined in the records here. Only in the Manuscripts group has that consolidation been difficult because Latta reused so much of his material several times in different publications or in different versions of the same publications. As much as possible, the manuscripts are organized in chronological sequence within each title.

PROVENANCE

Collection was offered by Mona (Frank Latta's daughter), and purchased by the Yosemite Association, which donated the collection to the park.

RESTRICTIONS

NO

ASSOCIATED MATERIALS

Associated materials include YOSE-04937 about 100 photographs which were cataloged by Latta's system, organized alphabetically by person, place, or subject name and are located in the museum collection. Uncataloged negatives (including nitrates, currently in freezers in El Portal); ethnographic pieces (baskets, basket material); ethnobotanical specimens (jars of seeds, etc.);

newspapers (in valley storage, also bound volumes in El Portal); a few maps or drawings in collections room;
some archeological material; books in the Research Library collection; sound recordings (vinyl and perhaps tape) and film footage.

SERIES DESCRIPTIONS

I. Series One: Field Notes, 1922-1970

The field notes are organized by the name of the person who was the source of the information. Anglicized names for Indians have been used for the files, but Indian names are presented as well when known. An index of Indian names correlated with anglicized may be found at the end of this inventory. File contents are briefly described and the more extensive files noted.

II. Series Two: Correspondence, 1922-1985

Correspondence is arranged alphabetically by correspondent or by organization, and sometimes by subject, just as Latta arranged it. Both sides of the correspondence are not always present; a file for a particular correspondent may have only Latta's letter(s) to that person, or that persons letters in response. Time periods of coverage for each file are proved in this listing, and important subjects of discussion or extent of correspondence are also noted when pertinent.

While the field notes were based on interviews or excavation reports and contain some correspondence, the correspondence files are just correspondence. There is some duplication between correspondence and field notes files, because Latta carried on correspondence with Indian people and early pioneers apart from his interviews and notes from field trips. For example, there are several files of correspondence with the Barrios family members, who were Yokuts, while the same family is also represented in the field notes files.

Latta and John Harrington carried on a long and close relationship. The Harrington correspondence, which includes the publications he forwarded to Latta, is included in a block at the end of this inventory of correspondence.

Subseries 1: John P Harrington Correspondence

The files are presented here in alphabetical order as Frank Latta titled them, but they have been collected from scattered locations and grouped together in their relation to Harrington.

Sub-Subseries 1: Harrington Related Publications

III Series Three: Manuscripts, 1929, 1936, 1949, 1976, and 1977

Because of Latta's continual reworking of material it is not always clear which version of which draft a particular manuscript might be. As much as possible, the manuscripts are organized by the books or articles they were associated with. The manuscripts are related to the two editions of the Handbook. Files related to each edition are organized alphabetically, as Latta had things filed, with each edition or publication. Those manuscripts not associated with particular books are organized alphabetically by title in a separate group after the manuscripts related to each book.

Subseries 1: Handbook of the Yokut Indians, 1949

Subseries 2: Handbook of the Yokut Indians, 1977

Subseries 3: California Indian Folklore, 1936

Subseries 4: Uncle Jeff's Story and Tailholt Tales, 1929, 1976

Subseries 5: Other Latta Manuscripts and Publications

The files of these manuscripts are listed in alphabetical order by title or sometimes by organization, using the file categories Latta provided.

Subseries 3: California Indian Folklore, 1936

Series III: Subseries III: Box 12

Folder 1. Bound typescript draft of CIF, 1936

This typescript includes some edition; it also includes a few stories not included in the published version. Latta had intended to include far more photographs in the published book than he was actually able to afford when the book was printed. Some of the photographs he intended to use, in effect making CIF a kind of Yokuts ethnogeography, are included in this draft as are captions of other photographs he subsequently removed for other uses.

Folder 2. California Indian Folklore Draft, 1935

An unbound patchwork typescript, dated 1935, for CIF, which includes photographs, captions, and map not printed in the published work.

Folder 3. California Indian Folklore, n.d.

Another folder with incomplete draft typescript of CIF, including some captions as well as opening signatures of the published work.

Folder 4. California Indian Folklore, 1970 circa Xerox copies of large type version of pp. 161-179 of a later typescript of CIF, probably typed in this fashion for Latta's proposed 1970's version of the book.

Folder 5. California Indian Folklore correspondence and typescripts, 1936, 1971

Loose typescripts for consideration in the book, including a few Yosemite items left out in 1936, and correspondence about a new edition.

Folder 6. California Indian Folklore—first edition photos, n.d.

Mounted photographs used in the first edition of CIF.

Folder 7. California Indian Folklore—miscellaneous draft text, maps, n.d.

One photograph with caption, note cards, and two maps.

Folder 8. California Indian Folklore photos, 1936

This file includes several signatures from the printed book as well as galleys of the photographs and of a legend, along with a 1936 letter to Boysen Studio requesting a photo of Maria Lebrado.

Folder 9. Correspondence on printing CIF, 1970

Brief correspondence on a new printing of the book.

Folder 10. Pahmit's Account of the Pliades, n.d.

Typescript with photos taken from the Handbook to be used in the new edition of CIF.

Folder 11. Wukchumne Myths, 1st copy, 1934

Lightly edited typescripts of "Wukchumne Indian Stories," undated.

Folder 12. Wukchumne Myths, 2nd copy, 1934

1934 typescripts for "Folklore of the Yokuts."

Folder 13. Wukchumne Myths, 3rd copy, 1934

Title page for "Yokuts Indian Folklore" and some typescripts of "Wukchumne Indian Stories."

Folder 14. Yokuts Indian Folklore 1934, 1934

Thick file of typescripts of 1934 stories of the Yokuts.

Folder 15. Yokuts Indian Folklore, 1934

This file includes illustrations for Yokuts Indian Folklore not included in CIF along with mounted clippings of "Yokuts Indian Folklore" in the Tulare Daily Times in 1934, a precursor of CIF.

Folder 16. Yokuts Indian Folklore, 1934

1934 typescripts to be used for the book published two years later, along with maps and captions for photographs.

Folder 17. California Indian Folklore, 1936

Unedited copy of the 1936 publication in light brown cloth.

Folder 18. California Indian Folklore, 1936 [inscribed]

Unedited copies of the 1936 publication in light brown cloth, inscribed June 12, 1936, for M. C. Zumwalt.

Folder 19. California Indian Folklore, 1936, 1939

One unedited copy of the 1936 publication in red cloth, a later binding of the original printing, this copy inscribed by Latta in 1939 "For one of the tribe I will never know."

Series III: Subseries III: Box 13Folder 20. California Indian Folklore, 1939, 1979

One edited copy of the 1936 printing in a red binding marked "Revised and Corrected Copy to be used in publishing a new edition." The endsheets contain printing notes for the new edition; most of the editorial changes are spelling and grammar. The typescript of the 1939 story of Henry Lawrence is laid in to be included in the new edition. In 1971, Latta wrote Charles Clough (see file above: CIF, correspondence and typescripts) that the manuscript for a new edition of CIF was "in the hands of the printer... In it I am using a number of Miwok photos. It is the Miwok data that has held back this new edition. It has taken years for me to satisfy myself that the Ethnographers have understood all they wrote about the Miwok. I have been unable to use much it." This edited copy does not appear to be the new manuscript mentioned here, nor does that manuscript appear to be present in this collection of material.

Folder 21. California Indian Folklore, 1939 [1 of 2]

Two copies of California Indian Folklore with no covers.

Folder 22. California Indian Folklore, 1939 [2 of 2]

Subseries 4: Uncle Jeff's Story and Tailholt Tales, 1929, 1976

Series III: Subseries IV: Box 14Folder 1. Dunlap, Bill, 1948

1948 ms. and typescript notes about Mayfield from W. T. Dunlap.

Folder 2. Mayfield, Jeff original letter, 1894

The July 28, 1894, Mayfield letter selling a mine at Woody shown in Tailholt Tales, p. 176.

Folder 3. Mayfield, Jeff trial data, 1866

Folder 4. Mayfield, Jeff Vocabulary, n.d.

Ms. notes from typed questionnaire on vocabulary and Yokuts culture.

Folder 5. Tailholt Tales typescript, first draft, 1960

A thick, heavily edited typescript, apparently mixing typescripts from earlier version of related work.

Folder 6. Tailholt Tales notes, captions, map, 1960

Typescript notes for Uncle Jeff and a map with key, showing the places in the southern San Joaquin a part of Uncle Jeff's life and recollections, not used in either publication.

Folder 7. Tailholt Tales, ms. fragment and reviews, 1939, 1974

Edited ms typescript fragment from 1974 with 1939 correspondence about Uncle Jeff's Story.

Folder 8. Tailholt Tales, 1944

A 1944 edited typescript with this title, one of the earliest full reworkings of Uncle Jeff's Story.

Folder 9. Tailholt Tales—photos, 1976

Mounted photos with captions from the 1976 edition.

Folder 10. Tailholt Tales—photo captions, documents (1956), 1956

Photo captions, documents, notes, and "Data for Mailing List" which explains Latta's involvement with Mayfield.

Folder 11. Tailholt Tales, photographs used in, 1976

Folder 12. Tailholt Tales, sketch of Harrington, n.d.

Copy of the 8 page typescript by Latta on Harrington appended to the back of Tailholt Tales.

Folder 13. Tailholt Tales, typescript edited , n.d.

Thick lightly edited typescript once in two-ring binder as Latta apparently kept his drafts of completed manuscripts.

Folder 14. Tailholt Tales—typescript fragments, captions, correspondence, 1957-1967

1957-67 correspondence with edited typescript fragments, photographs and captions. The typescript fragment are from a 1957 version of the book.

Folder 7. Early American Settlements: The Kaweah Hills, 1931

3 page 1931 typescript

Folder 8. Early California Religious Movements, 1935 [1 of 2]

Apparently an incomplete, though thick file of chapters in this series which included not only Indian religious activities through the Ghost Dance but also organized religious activities among white settlers.

Folder 9. Early California Religious Movements, 1935 [2 of 2]

Folder 10. El Camino Viejo, 1936

Draft typescript and ms. notes and additions along with a copy of Latta's publication El Camino Viejo a Los Angeles (Bakersfield, CA: Kern County Historical Society, May, 1936) which has been marked by Latta "Revised and Corrected Copy to be used in publishing a new edition."

Folder 11. El Camino Viejo, n.d.

Typescript photo captions, lightly edited 19 page typescript, and scrapbook pages with captions but photos removed.

Folder 12. El Camino Viejo, 1931

Bound (33) page typescript.

Folder 13. Fort Miller and Pahmit Documents, 1929

Long edited drafts of "Fort Miller and Pahmit" with ms. notes and additions, photographs, and a 1929 Fresno Bee photo essay on Fort Miller.

Folder 14. Friends of the Indians, clippings, articles, newsletters, 1951-1954 [1 of 2]

This generous file developed as Latta and others tried to help local Yokuts defend their lands against sale by the Bureau of Indian Affairs. Latta wrote most of the literature and news spots for the organization. See also the file on Treaties, Indian, 1851, which includes ms. versions of the newsletters as well as clippings from the issue.

Folder 15. Friends of the Indians, clippings, articles, newsletters, 1951-1954 [2 of 2]

Folder 16. Geology, San Joaquin Valley, n.d.

Typescript for a study of the geology of the San Joaquin, with related notes and an outline for "Yosemite Valley Geology."

Folder 17. Glossary, 1949

An edited typescript glossary of Yokuts words perhaps used in part in the 1949 Handbook.

Folder 18. Gustine Radio Programs, KYOS Merced, 1944, 1934, 1944

Typescripts for radio broadcasts based apparently on Latta's newspaper series "Yokuts Indian Folklore" from 1934 as well as California Indian Folklore.

Folder 19. History and Prehistory of the San Joaquin Valley, 1770

Outlines for lectures, a few typescript and ms fragments for the series, and a copy of University of California Map Series No. 11, "Native Tribes, Groups, Dialects, and Families of California in 1770."

Folder 20. Indians, chapters, 1931

An incomplete file of chapters under this title, nearly half of the 64 chapters missing by Latta's enclosed inventory. Present chapters focus on Yokuts culture and ethnography and were undoubtedly used later in assembling the Handbook.

Folder 21. Indians of California, n.d.

A publication of large cards with photos and text illustrating Yokuts material culture along with a brochure for these teaching aids, films, and recording of Yokuts culture. Latta wrote the text and supplied the photographs for this publication by Arthur Barr Productions, Audio-Visual Section, Los Angeles, California, (no date, but see Arthur Barr Productions correspondence file).

Folder 22. "Indian" Notes, n.d.

Ms. of an article entitled "Indian" with related ms. notes and additions, apparently unpublished.
