Scope and Content:

Account books, ledgers, deeds, certificates of title, stock certificates, stock lists, photographs, hardware catalogs and other material pertaining to the history of the Ducommun store and its subsequent business entities. The Ducommun Corporation is Los Angeles' oldest continuously operating business dating from 1849. There are a few personal items from Ducommun and his family, including Ducommun's passports and certificate of citizenship and family photographs. Among the family papers are those of his wife (listed as Z. Leonide Ducommun, Leonide Petitpierre Ducommun and Leonide Ducommun.) There are a few short histories of Charles Ducommun and the Ducommun business, including one written by Charles E. Ducommun. Some of the items are photo prints, rather than originals.

Biographical Note:

Charles Louis Ducommun (b. 1820?) was a Swiss born businessman who arrived in Los Angeles in 1849 from Locle, Switzerland as a young man. He established a watch repair shop on Commercial Street which grew into a flourishing general merchandising store. Ducommun was a director of the Los Angeles water company, the Main and Agricultural Park Railway, the Pioneer Oil Company, and a founder of the Farmers and Merchants Bank. He passed away on April 3, 1896 at the age of 76.

In 1907 Ducommun Hardware Company was incorporated. After his death, control of the business went to his sons. In later years, Ducommun Incorporated became a giant international firm specializing in electronics for the aerospace industry.
