9. BIOGRAPHICAL DESCRIPTION:

As writer, speaker, and minister, Chris Glaser has been an activist for Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, and Transgender (LGBT) rights on many fronts, but especially within the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.).

Glaser was born in 1950 to Wayne and Mildred Glaser in North Hollywood, California, where he grew up with an older sister and brother. He received his B.A. in English Honors and Religious Studies from California State University Northridge 1973 and the Master of Divinity from Yale University Divinity School 1977.

Though reared and baptized in an American Baptist congregation in North Hollywood, drawn by its social activism Glaser joined the Presbyterian Church in 1970. While in college he served as Director of Youth Ministry of the Congregational Church of Northridge (UCC) and was ordained an elder of his home congregation, First Presbyterian Church of Van Nuys.

In 1974 Glaser founded a predecessor group of what became in 1979 the Gay/Lesbian/Straight Coalition at Yale Divinity School. While a campus ministry intern for the Christian Association, 1975-1976, at the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia, he founded the Gay/Lesbian Peer Counseling Service. 1977 – 1987, he served as the founding Director of the Lazarus Project, a ministry of reconciliation between the church and the LGBT community in Los Angeles, funded by the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) and located at the West Hollywood Presbyterian Church. Shortly thereafter he served a year as an interim campus chaplain at the United Campus Ministry of the University of Southern California. Glaser moved to Atlanta where he was for four years the Spiritual Leader of Midtown Spiritual Community, a contemplative interfaith community. He served as the interim pastor of Christ Covenant Metropolitan Community Church (MCC) in Decatur, Georgia, June 2005 – October 2006.

After 30 years of struggling with the Presbyterian Church for the right to ordination as an openly gay person, Glaser was ordained to the ministry in the Metropolitan Community Church on October 2, 2005. November 2006 – December 2007, Rev. Glaser served as Interim Senior Pastor of Metropolitan Community Church San Francisco. With a return to Georgia he served as interim pastor of Virginia Highland Church, a United Church of Christ (UCC) and progressive Baptist congregation in Atlanta January 2009 – June 2010.

Glaser has traveled widely as a speaker, preacher, and retreat leader to a variety of religious and secular groups. He has led workshops and made presentations at hundreds of college and seminary campuses, churches, retreat centers, and meeting halls. He has addressed city councils and groups such as Parents and Friends of Lesbians and Gays (PFLAG), appeared often on television and radio, and published in magazines and newspapers. His subject matter has included the church and/or the Bible and homosexuality, the spiritual gifts of the LGBT community, same-gender marriage, and more generally, spiritual life, men's spirituality, the Bible, Henri Nouwen (with whom he studied), and more.

Glaser began his life of activism coming out as a gay man during his senior year of college in 1972, then after his first year of seminary, in 1974, to the presbytery committee charged with the care and oversight of candidates for ordained ministry. As a volunteer with the organization which became More Light Presbyterians, he was among a group of openly gay activists who helped shape the Presbyterian 1976 General Assembly's decision to study homosexuality, particularly as it related to ordination. Glaser then served as the openly gay member of the Presbyterian Task Force to Study Homosexuality, which met 1976 – 1978. When the denomination rejected the task force's favorable recommendation and in 1978 established a policy forbidding the ordination of gays and lesbians, Glaser was refused ordination.

Despite the refusal, Glaser remained as the Lazarus Project Director at the West Hollywood Presbyterian Church through 1987. He has also served as the second national coordinator and treasurer of Presbyterians for Lesbian & Gay Concerns (PLGC). As editor of the newsletter for three years, he named the publication More Light (now the More Light Update). It is from this the More Light churches get their name, those churches which are welcoming of LGBT people. He continued to serve the More Light Update as columnist and guest editor also writing semi-annual prayer books and collections of resource materials. Glaser has been an active member of a wide variety of church committees and boards, including the national board of the Presbyterian Health Education and Welfare Association (PHEWA). For two years he chaired the Spiritual Advisory Committee of AIDS Project Los Angeles (APLA). Currently, 2011, he serves on the board of the Southern Association for Gender Education, Inc. as an ally of transgender people.

Glaser has published 12 books, many manuscripts of which are included in this collection. His most popular include Uncommon Calling (1988, 1996); Come Home! (1990, 1998); Coming Out as Sacrament (1998); Coming Out to God (1991); The Word Is Out (1994, 1998 with a Spanish language version online, 2008); Communion of Life—Meditations for the New Millennium (1999); Reformation of the Heart (2001); Unleashed—The Wit and Wisdom of Calvin the Dog (1998); and Henri's Mantle—100 Meditations on Nouwen's Life and Writings (2002; Spanish language version Meditando con Henri Nouwen, 2004). In 2005, Glaser edited Troy Perry: Pastor and Prophet, a book published by the Metropolitan Community Churches, honoring its retiring founder. Most recently, Glaser wrote and published As My Own Soul: The Blessing of Same-Gender Marriage (2009), and The Final Deadline: What Death Has Taught Me about Life (2010).

Glaser has contributed chapters and essays to many other books, written and edited church curricula, and authored many articles and other pieces for publications including Newsweek, The Los Angeles Times, The Atlanta Journal-Constitution, The Advocate, Frontiers, Christianity and Crisis (for which he was a columnist), The Christian Century, and a range of church periodicals, including Church and Society, and Presbyterians Today. 1998 – 2002, Glaser was editor of Open Hands, a U.S./Canadian ecumenical quarterly magazine for LGBT-welcoming congregations. Glaser was also a news reporter and editor of Frontiers, a gay newsmagazine out of Los Angeles.
