Acquisition Information:

For this material's acquisition information, please contact the GLBT Historical Society archives.

Processing Information:

Inventory created by Isaac Fellman in 2020, based on undated earlier finding aid by Willie Walker and an initial inventory by Lynn Pruzan.

This inventory uses terminology for LGBTQ people that was in current use at the time of its creation. Descriptive language for queer identities evolves quickly and some of these terms may now be dated or even offensive. Finding aids are themselves historical documents; they reflect the moment in which they were written and often reflect the terms that subjects used for themselves. Please contact the GLBT Historical Society Archivist with questions or comments.

Biographical/Organizational History Note: Robert Pruzan (1946-1992) was a photojournalist, horticulturist, and mime whose vast library of photographs documented the queer history of San Francisco throughout the 1970s and 1980s. His work was published in Drummer, Manifest, Sports Illustrated, and the San Francisco Examiner's Image magazine, as well as in Geoff Mains' book Urban Aborigines; it also ran regularly in the Bay Area Reporter.

Pruzan was born in Seattle. After graduating from Roosevelt High School, he went to New York for college at Columbia University. While in New York, he began studying the art of mime, first at Sterling Jensen's Ecole de Mime of New York and then with Étienne Decroux at his Ecole de Mime de Paris. Pruzan taught mime under Decroux and became his assistant and occasional translator. He moved back to New York in 1967, returned to classes at Columbia, studied ikebana floral arrangement, and worked as a florist while teaching at the Ecole de Mime of New York. He also acted, playing the Duke of Burgundy and later the Fool in a Roundabout Theatre production of King Lear. It was at about this time that Pruzan began to pursue photography seriously.

In 1973, Pruzan moved to San Francisco, where he began working as a horticulturist and photographer. He photographed the first Haight Street Fair in May of 1978, and continued to document it, the Castro Street Fair, early Pride Parades, and the Folsom and Up Your Alley Fairs through 1991. He also began to exhibit his work, first in small cafes and then in the Involution Gallery.

The majority of his photography after 1980 centered on friends and gay events, especially cultural programs, street fairs and celebrations, and the leather world. Other favorite subjects were famous people visiting San Francisco, local politicians, drag queens, sailors, leather title contests, cityscapes, clouds, sunsets, and fireworks displays. Pruzan died of AIDS complications in 1992.

Scope and Content: The Robert Pruzan Papers are arranged in two groups, Papers and Photographs. The Papers include all documents that are not photographic images.

Papers

The first series of papers is a small set of biographical documents. Included here is a one-page chronology by Pruzan of his activities and places of residence during the first twenty-five years of his life. This is particularly helpful for following his activities during the later half of the 1960s.

The next series is composed of Pruzan's writings, including a series of journals and notebooks covering the years 1965-1985, primarily from the period 1968 through 1973. A small set of writings from high school days, and undated poetry, notes, and drafts of letters entail much of the remaining writings. Significant dated writings include his professional correspondence, opera reviews, and compositions related to Buena Vista Park. Also included are a number of notes from his readings of the I Ching.

The Buena Vista Park (BVP) files document Pruzan's efforts to oppose "thinning" of BVP flora by the city in order to prevent sexual contact from taking place there. This was a major neighborhood controversy in the 1980s, with both gay and straight residents split on the issue. Despite all efforts to prevent what Pruzan thought of as a desecration to the natural park environment, a good deal of the park was pruned and even denuded over time. Pruzan's photographs document these changes.

The series titled "Mime-Related Records" holds several significant items, including Pruzan's notes from classes at the Ecole de Mime, Pruzan's translations of Decroux's Etienne Decroux Speaks With You, and his annotated copy of Paroles sur le Mime. There is also a sub-series of black and white prints of Decroux, his classes, student rehearsals, and performances taken by Pruzan that reside in the Photograph Section. Some of Pruzan's photos, two audiotapes, and other materials have been sent to Europe to provide better access to Decroux's European followers (see Materials Removed from the Collection below).

Under Professional Photography Records are correspondence from other photographers and exhibit notices, and copies of published photos (see especially Geoff Mains' book Urban Aborigines, the Logan's Run feature from Drummer, and the two Bare Chest Calendars). Also under this section are an assortment of professional correspondence and legal records. These include correspondence with publishers, orders for prints from a few individuals, model releases, contracts, and publishing permits. Among his many photographer friends, Rink Foto and Jan Uribe were the only ones who left many letters, and Uribe mostly wrote after leaving San Francisco. Foto sent numerous notes, often with prints or photocopies of prints.

Those papers listed under Subject Files are generally self-explanatory.

Negatives and Contact Prints

The following pages list subjects of the 35 mm photo negatives which form the backbone of the collection. These were shot by Pruzan in the course of his daily work as a photojournalist, documentarian and artist. While some of the earliest of these negatives may have been developed by Pruzan, the vast majority of negatives were processed by commercial photo labs.

They were kept by Pruzan in large manila envelopes which were loosely marked with the subject(s) and sometimes dates of the enclosed negatives. Probably 98% of these were accompanied by contact prints. Upon removal of the collection from Pruzan's apartment following his death, all envelopes were placed in a series of cartons, which were labeled M through U during Lynn Pruzan's initial inventory. Each envelope was then numbered sequentially within these individual cartons, providing the outline to the system of arrangement described below.

During archival arrangement, the negatives of each set were placed in polypropylene negative preservers, held in non-acidic file folders. Pruzan's original subject heading or description of each set were used to label each folder. In addition, subject listings and other annotations made by Pruzan on the original envelopes were photocopied, and these copies were placed into the corresponding new folders to preserve whatever additional clues they might contain.

All negatives and their corresponding contact prints were numbered before being segregated into two series. The contact prints, along with copies of Pruzan's annotations and occasional information-bearing ephemera, are housed in titled folders. These provide the primary access to Pruzan's photographs. The negatives make up a complimentary series; these negatives are commonly held in groupings of 3-5 subjects per folder.

Except for sets that were split or purposefully re-arranged (such as the chronological runs of Street Fairs, the Gay Day Parades, and the Gay Games), there is no particular order to these series. Researchers should note that particular events, individuals, and other subjects were often shot on two or more rolls of film. Therefore, photos from a single event may be found in more than one envelope, which may or may not be in close proximity. A keyword search of the inventory of this series should be considered when trying to locate or identify shots from a particular subject.

U-90 Larger Negatives (from 3x5 to 8x10)

Negatives

These are Pruzan's master negatives; they match the proof sheets that are described above and refer to their arrangement. Since the negative pages are marked to indicate what precise contact print they match, they have been grouped here in larger lots. Most of the following folders contain negatives matching 2-5 folders of contact sheets.

The last box (M) contains negatives for sets of 3½ x 5 and 4 x 6 color snapshots developed and printed by commercial photo labs. These prints are arranged by topic; proof sheets were not made.
