B-3	146.01	San Francisco	LONG WHARF May, 49, Alcalde Leavenworth projected Central of Long wharf, along Commercial st., which before end of year extended 800 feet and became noisy resort of pedlers and cheap john shops. Steamers and seagoing vessels began to unload at it and buildings sprang up rapidly along the new avenue. Its successful progress started number of rival enterprises along front, from Market to California sts to Broadway and beyond; they added nearly two miles to the roadway of the city, at an outlay of more than million dollars. (In 1848 two short wharves had been built at Clay and Broadway; apparently the first). Central wharf, owned by a joint stock company, of which most prominent members were Mellus &amp; Howard; Cross, Hobson &amp; Co.; James C. Ward; J. L. Folsom; DeWitt &amp; Harrison; Sam Brannan; Theo. Shillaber, etc. C. V. Gillispie was president. The wharf began at (over) [continued on Card #146.2]

B-3	322	Saw Mills	J. E. CHASE' Sawmill (Soquel - 1888) New mill, started in June 1888, in Cahoon gulch, two miles above Soquel. Emp. 30 men. Output 15,000 of lumber a day.
B-3	323.01	Saw Mills	SAWMILLS Soquel Daubenbiss &amp; Hames. In litigation (I haven't the date because TLM dug it up and gave it to me) John Hames complained, in suit of Hames vs. Lodge, that Lodge owed him $5000 in 1846 on a sawmill he had built for the latter. Lodge promised to pay Hames in one inch boards. In '48 Hames obtained a mortgage on the property which promised Hames the mill, together with Lodge's cattle and sheep and the increase thereof over a four year period, if Lodge were given that time to pay and failed. Apparently the mill had been built by Hames and for a time operated by Lodge and Hill (Gilt), and later by Guadalupe Castro. The mill was washed away in December, 1846 (?) but before that time Hill, as sawyer, had taken out 12,000 feet of lumber. [continued on Card #323.2]
B-3	323.02	Saw Mills	[continued from Card #323.1][continued on Card #323.3] Immediately after the sale (?) of the mill to Lodge, Hames and Daubenbis built their own mill half a mile above. From April to August, 1847, A. A. Hecox, ___ Imus, and ___ Shaw rebuilt the mill on "this" (Santa Cruz?) side of the Soquel river. John Gilmore was in charge of the mill for Lodge after it had been built in '46, coming apparently in October of that year and remaining, off and on, for two years. Lodge with Hecox went to the mines in '48 and remained there 15 months. H. P. McCall was at Caleveras[sic] and Stockton with Lodge in 48-49 and after November 1, 49, ran the mill for two months, when lumber sold for $90 per M. Lumber value in '47 had been $30.

B-3	326	Saw Mills	Most of its lumber shipped to L.A. SAWMILLS WADDELL CREEK 1868  Titus Fey Cronise in "The Natural Wealth of California" in 1868 wrote: "At New Years point there is a break in the coast line and a small indentation affords a harbor for quite a fleet of vessels engaged in the lumber trade. Here a wharf, 700 feet long, has been constructed on piles, sufficiently high to be above the surf, which occasionally breaks with great fury. Upwards of two million feet of lumber are annually shipped from this wharf. Waddell's mills, an extensive lumbering establishment, five miles distant among the redwoods, are connected with this wharf by a railroad.
B-3	327	Saw Mills	WADDELL's mill burned Aug. 9, 1864. Had been established 2-1/2 years; steam. Effort at wharf abandoned after it was found ledge of rock prevented driving piles out to vessel depth. He had gone 2-1/2 miles up coast and built 700 foot wharf.

B-3	589.01	Shipping	SHIPWRECK - "North Star" Corrected name: Star of the West. July 1990 Loretta Vann The good ship "North Star" arrived on the coast heavily laden with cargo intended to be carried inland from Mazatlan. The duties on the cargo, Mrs. Morgan remembers, were said to have been estimated to about equal its invoice value of $120,000, making its total value $240,000. Its consignees sailed for Monterey with the idea of avoiding excess duties. Just before reaching Monterey, the North Star went ashore at Punta de los Lobos, and became a total wreck. The goods had been packed in England in small bundles encased in waterproof wrappings, which could easily be transported by mules into the interior of Mexico, so when salvaged from the water the goods was not in the least injured. [continued on Card #589.2]
B-3	589.02	Shipping	[continued from Card #589.1] Captain J. B. R. Cooper was successful in securing a large amount of these goods. He took down from Monterey a number of old-fashioned, solid wheeled wagons, drawn by oxen, the creaking and the screeching of the vehicles could be heard for miles. With the aid of sailors he secured many wagon loads, took them to Monterey, and made a small fortune out of the proceeds. Cooper was an old sea captain and understood the business. Others saved smaller quantities. The Custom House permitted them to be taken as "damaged goods" without paying duty, although, no damage was apparent on opening the packages.

B-3	669	Soquel	Sugar factory: In June, 1874, Str. Salinas unloaded 50 tons of machinery at the Soquel wharf for the beet sugar factory "in course of construction". SUGAR FACTORY The plant was originally at Fond du Lac, Wis. It was brought round Horn to Alvarado, Cal., stayed there three or four years and then a Major Flint spent $150,000 bringing it to Soquel. Hihn donated (leased) 10 acres for it and 20 acres were bought. When the factory stopped all the land reverted to Hihn. The machinery was stored in a big barn or warehouse which stood until world war I when the old metal went for junk in the high prices of that time.

B-3	672	Soquel	SUGAR MILL 1875 Paulsen's handbook and directory, 1875, said: The California Beet Sugar Co. plants each year 1000 acres of beets. The factory works seven to eight months each year, the daily consumption of stock amounting to from 50 to 60 tons. The product per year amounts to approximately 800 tons of sugar. The company has a paid up capital of $250,000 and holds a lease of its present premises for 10 years. For the proper performance of their work, they have two engines of a capacity of 40 horsepower each, four eight-horsepower engines and five steam boilers. They consume 5000 cords of redwood per year, have a blacksmith shop and cooper shop, a gas house and a stable which will accomodate 20 horses, besides dwellings for their employes. About 80 men are employed and the article mostly made is that known as cube sugar.

B-3	769.01	Sports: Football	FOOTBALL: First football game in SC was Oct. 28, 1894, when the Stanford squad came down. Apparently Fred Swanton promoted it. H. S. Hicks was manager and referee. Walter Camp, the trainer, came along. The Hastings band met the squad at the depot and escorted it to the Pacific Ocean House. The squad "gave the university cry of 'Rah, Rah, Rah, Stanford'." They were, said the Sentinel, "Thick-haired footballists, wearing chrysanthemums and black eyes." At Vue de l'Eau a grand stand was especially erected, the fences white-washed and the running track smoothed. Two picked teams played to a 14 to 4 score. A team was to be picked from the squad to play Berkeley. The game was already being experimented with at the high school. Billing and his wife had spent 18 years in Utah where he was official of a smelter concern. Low score was 61 by Paul Jarboe. (See Sentinel, Sept. 19, 1899.) In June, 1902, Paul R. Jarboe ran notices in the Sentinel of the Santa Cruz golf club; $10 initiation fee; $1 a month dues; visitors $3.50 a month, $1 a week, 25 cents a day. A meeting was called at the St. George hotel at which ____ Melville, pro. (probably from Del Monte) would explain the game and sign up pupils. Mabel Chace Hale says that about 1898 she, with Charlie and Helen Younger, used to go out to Bay and Mission with an instruction book. B-3	790	Sports: Golf	First Golfer Was Tossed in Hoosegow Just so you may remember that there still is a game called golf, I will now answer today's $64 question: Who introduced golf to the United States? Well, it seems a Scotsman named Robert Lockhart, a linen merchant, came to New York on a business visit in 1887 with a set of clubs and a dozen or so gutta-percha balls. To his surprise there were no golf courses to be found. So Mr. Lockhart went out to Central Park and followed by a lot of inquisitive small boys started to knock balls across the meadows. This frightened a number of old ladies, who got a policeman to come and arrest "that crazy man." Mr. Lockhart had quite a time of it at the police station but he was released when they could not find a charge on which to detain him. The newspapers were full of the human interest story and some other Scotsmen sought out Lockhart and organized the first club on 36 acres of land in the great open spaces of Yonkers. They became known as the Apple Tree Gang, because, lacking a clubhouse, they met under an apple tree near the first tee. [from an unknown newspaper clipping attached to the card. Ed.]

B-3	862.01	Tanneries	TANNING Titus Fey Cronise in "The Natural Wealth of California" in 1868 wrote: "Among the valuable natural products of Santa Cruz county may be mentioned the chestnut oak (quercus densiflora) which grows abundantly in the mountain ranges. The bark of this tree contains more tannic acid than any other that grows on the American continent. It is this peculiarity that causes the California leather to be so much tougher than most other kinds. There are at present seven tanneries in Santa Cruz which consume monthly about 300 tons of this bark in making 55,000 sides of sole, upper and harness leather annually, valued at $225,000, about 60 pct. of which is sole leather. The best portion of the trees, after the bark has been removed, is converted into staves for flour and lime barrels, of which a large number are made (over) [continued on Card #862.2]

The powder company uses 1,700,000 and the lime works 300,000 of these hoops annually and large quantities are exported to other places, without any apparent decrease in the supply. These hoop poles sell at $5 to $10 per thousand when split and give employment to a large number of laborers. This adaptation of materials to appropriate purposes is illustrative of the spirit of the people who inhabit this county".

B-3	947	Telegraph-Telephone	TELEGRAPH  Atlantic & Pacific Telegraph Co. line from SF completed to San Juan in Aug. 59, en route to LA. -- Oct. 61, telegraph wires reached Monterey from Wats and San Juan.
B-3	948	Telegraph-Telephone	TELEGRAPH  The original telegraph line between Santa Cruz and Watsonville was taken down in 1889 by George Pratchner. The poles were moss covered and the wires, long disused, had in many places been stolen to mend fences.
B-3	949	Telegraph-Telephone	TELEPHONE In June, 1879, O. J. Lincoln, brother of Charlie, bought county right to install telephones and planned to connect hotels, residences and beach with San Lorenzo stables. ----- June, 1880, line connected the Pac. Oc. Hs, Scotts stables and beach. ----- May, 1882, Santa Cruz Telephone Co. formed. Office to be in Tanner's drug store. To use Bell phones.
B-3	950	Telegraph-Telephone	TELEPHONE HISTORY. 1882 - Fred Swanton installed 30 acoustic phones. 1883 - First exchange switchboard installed by J. R. Chace in a small room in Hugo Hihn bldg. Chace sold to Sunset Tel. & Tel. Co. which later was absorbed by Pacific T. & T. Co. 1893 - 32 phones in SC; office moved to Mann bldg. next to Masonic hall. Harvey Mead was manager and Hattie Snedecor operator. 1894 - Leo Goodman succeeded Mead. 1895 - Hattie Snedecor succeeded Goodman. 1898 - Three girls, Hattie Snedecor, Nellie and Clara Huntington. 1909 - Hattie res. to marry Peter Robinson; Ralph Waldo Putske made manager; he stayed until George Huntoon took over in 1911. 1900 - moved to I.O.O.F. bldg.
B-3	951	Telegraph-Telephone	TELEPHONE In fall of 1893 G. W. Van Alstine bought out Fred Parshley. Firm became Van Alstine & Swanton. They planned promotions all over the state.

B-3	952	Telegraph-Telephone	TELEPHONES In Spring of 1883 Fred Parshley of Dexter, Me., came to visit his sister, Mrs. Fred Swanton; J. R. Chace and J. G. Tanner were operating a system will[sic] Bell phones and had just added 20 instruments. Parshley & Swanton began selling rival instruments. The Sentinel put one in, with two connections, each more than half a mile away and declared that as editor became accustomed to using telephone he became more convinced of its practicability. Parshley & Swanton found Bell line between Soquel and Capitola and induced its owners to replace it with Parshley & Swanton instruments.
B-3	953	Telegraph-Telephone	TELEPHONE Company. In May, 1889, Jennie Chace res. as manager of telephone company.
B-3	954	Telegraph-Telephone	TELEPHONE In March, 1884, first telephone connection to Wats.
B-3	955	Telegraph-Telephone	TELEPHONE  Switchboard moved from Flatiron bldg to upstairs in Mann Bldg (over Racket store, next Masonic temple) after April 1894 fire.
B-3	956	Temperance Orgs.	TEMERANCE ORGANIZATIONS  A. A. Hecox arrived in Santa Cruz (Soquel?) in March, 1847, and began signing up toppers. He found "drunkenness[sic] exceedingly prevalent." In July, 1847, he secured the signatures of five "hard cases" and in August one or two more. In the spring of 1848 he organized a temperance society, with 20 names. B. A. Case was president; James G. T. Dunleavy, secretary. When gold was discovered the society was discontinued in January, 48, but in the fall of 49 was reformed and new officers chosen.
B-3	957	Temperance Orgs.	GOOD TEMPLARS. Charter for Good Templar Lodge brought from Conn. by Richard Williams, who came in 1852, but in 1855 organized in S. C. Pacific Lodge No. 1. He was a tinsmith. Died in 1887.

B-3	1036	Trade	EARLY TRADING: Hide droghers (small coastwise sailing vessels) from Boston brought ride[sic], sugar, tobacco, silks, satins, knives, handkershie[sic] and beads. In the closing years of the 18th century American smugglers began to visit the coast. Fast sailing vessels from Boston, armed, brought Yankee notions which they traded for pelts, giving better prices than the padres, who gave the soldiers and natives $2.50 to $10 for sea otter pelts. One cargo went yearly to Callao in a Spanish ship, carrying tallow which brought $1.50 in silver or $2 in trade. Cattle hides, tallow and otter skins formed nearly the whole basis of trade in 1822. The missions handled the hides and tallow and the Russians had almost all of the otter skin business. [continued on Card #1036.2]
B-3	1036	Trade	[continued from Card #1036.1][continued on Card #1036.3] [EARLY TRADING cont'] Arguello bargained that the Russians were to give the government half of the skins procured. Mexico edicted that California might conduct no trade at all with foreigners. In 1823 several English and American vessels were in San Francisco harbor. Fr. Payeras contracted to sell to the Englishman, William E. P. Hartnell, hides and other products for three years. A short time after this John Rogers and Cooper, arrived at Monterey, presented himself to Arguella[sic], who decided to ignore the anti-trading law and permitted Cooper to dispose of his cargo by sale or trade, after paying a reasonable customs duty. (over)
B-3	1036	Trade	[continued from Card #1036.1][EARLY TRADING cont'] (-2-) Afterwards Arguello entered into an agreement with Cooper by which the latter was to take a cargo of otter skins to China. The missions loaned money to Arguello. The voyage did not make enough to pay the debt and the missions cancelled the remainder. In 1824 Hartnell and William A. Gale, an American, each established places of business at Monterey which they conducted successfully for many years.

B-3	1039	Trolleys	STREET RAILROADS Gauge  Pacific Avenue RR Co. - 3 foot gauge. Ely line out Soquel avenue 42 inch gauge.
B-3	1040	Trolleys	STREET RAILROAD April 8, 1872, meeting called in back parlor of S.C. Land Office to discuss and form S.C. Street Railroad Co. which proposed to built a street carline from lower plaza down Pacific ave to Bay st., out it[sic] to Mission and back on Mission to lower plaza. The S.C. Land Office was agency for South Western addition.
B-3	1041	Trolleys	HORSE CARS About 1873, at time of the South Western addition boom, franchise was procured for street railroad from beach (at railroad wharf) up Pacific avenue and to Pope house on Mission street. A belt line to Bayview and down Bay street to the beach was the original plan. In latter seventies James P. Pierce of Santa Clara bought an interest. About 1880 the line was put under the management of Christian Hoffman and the track extended along the beach for half a mile. It was the Pacific Avenue Street Railroad Co. By 1885 it owned nine cars, seven of the observation type (open) and 16 to 20 horses. In 1885 Pierce sold to C. T. Ryland of San Jose. Hoffman was a quarter owner and retained presidency. (over)
B-3	1041	Trolleys	[continued from Card #1041.1] [Horse Cars, cont']  May, 1891, 3/8 of stock of Pac. Ave. St. Ry. Co. was sold at auction of the estate of E. J. Swift to A. P. Hotaling of S. F.
B-3	1042	Trolleys	STREET RAILWAYS 1875  About 1875 the first horse car line was built, from the Beach to the Pope House. The franchise contemplated an extension on Mission st to Bay View, but was never built.  In July, 1877, the Pacific Ave. St. Railroad extended its tracks to the Pope House.
B-3	1043	Trolleys	FRONT ST. RRD CO. Inc. in August, 1877, for $10,000. 10,000 shares of $1 each. F. A. Hihn, E. Anthony, Amasa Pray, Frank Cooper, H. E. Makinney. Designed to run from Liebbrandt's bath house along base of hill and little west of San Lorenzo river.

B-3	1076	Vigilantes & Hangings	VIGILANTES: In the spring of 1850 Mariano Hernandez, Mexican horse thief and highwayman, was captured and confined in the San Jose jail. His arrest was on suspicion he had murdered a man named John Foster, who had lived in one of the upper counties, and robbed him of $20,000. A Mr. Savage had come to San Jose to have Hernandez taken for trial to the county where the murder had been committed. Savage had been a neighbor of Foster and had deposited money with him which was lost by the robbery. Before Hernandez could be removed he had to be taken taken[sic] before a judge; on the way he escaped. Savage openly accused the sheriff and judge of having accepted money from the prisoner as a bribe to release him. The people talked of hanging the officials. [continued on Card #1076.2]

B-3	1090	Water Systems	WATER WORKS A. W. Bowman, Oakland capitalist who had been a summer visitor to Santa Cruz, in 1879 invested in a water works in opposition to the system owned by F. A. Hihn. Water was taken from Branciforte creek and also pumped from the San Lorenzo. The pump was not a success so water rights were bought on Majors creek and a line of pipe laid from it to the reservoir. W. H. Duke was superintendent. When Bowman failed about 1884 the system was thrown on the market. A proposal for the city to purchase it started the "seven years war" in Santa Cruz on the water question.

C	139	Court of Sessions	COURT OF SESSIONS -2- Sept. 13, 1850: G. Hammond appointed county supervisor; with the county surveyor to lay off roads around the mission "so that there shall be good and roomy roads by which teams may enter and leave"; it was declared their duty to see that no public road or square be built on or otherwise obstructed. Appointed E. B. Kellogg, F. Alzina, Eli Moore to report on a petition for a road through the lands of Messrs. Case, Moore, Imus and Speale. Resolved that the county surveyor should survey the town of Santa Cruz and lay out the same and leave streets and alleys of proper width; surveyor with King and Alzina appointed commissioners for said object. A jury list was named. Road tax voted of five days each able bodied man "for repair and construction of roads and bridges." Sept. 17, 1850: Licenses granted to Daniel Blackburn, George Chappel, John Wilson, Thomas Fallon, Cooper &amp; Co.; William Thompson, J. Harrison, W. Hardy, A. P. Sanford, Joseph Bacon, Anthony &amp; McLean, Dr. Parsons. Sept. 19, 1850: The surveyor, Alzina and Moore reported on the road asked by Cooper, Stevenson and others, for construction through the lands of Case, Moore, Imus and Speale, which they said would be "easy"; commencing at the corner of Imus and Case land near Anthony's store and following the line of the ditch southerly, making it the center of a road 50 feet wide until said ditch intersects the NW corner of Harry Speale's land, thence laying the entire road 50 feet wide on said Speale's land, running southerly along his west line until it intersects Blackburn's land at the foot of the bluff. They recommended trimming the willows instead of cutting them down.
C	140	Court of Sessions	COURT OF SESSIONS -3- Sept. 20, 1850: County surveyor, Alzina and King reported on the road to the Russians: "the old road through McLean's, Major's and Castro's lands, although a trifle shorter, lies on low, wet ground" and recommended going by Hecox and Clements, with a bridge over the brook at Clements land. The same men were ordered to report on a road from the town to the rincon through the lands of Baldwin and Arana. Also on the road to Sayant through Branciforte. Tracy and Parsons were ordered to pick a site for a jail. Sept. 21, 1850: Voted that all licenses should be paid quarterly; bowling alley tax cut to $16 a month; they must close at 10 p.m.; penalty for staying open late $5 first time, $10 thereafter. To this proposal I, in the absence of Mr. Castanos, have readily agreed; and which I hope will meet your approval. I have not yet had the honor of receiving a reply to the letter forwarded to you on the 23rd ultimo relating to this occurrence. I have the honor to be your most humble and obedient servant. C	161	Exiles of 1840	Tepic oaths -3- Tepic, May 29, 1840. Isaac Graham, citizen of the United States of North America, captain of a militia company in the State of Tennessee in the 65th regiment, left the United States in the year 1829, came to the Rocky Mountains trapping and trading. I went from there to Santa Fe in the same year; from there to the State of Chihuahua, where I obtained a proper passport to go to the state of California. On my arrival in California I presented my passport to Gen. Butares, who was governor in California in the year 1836. I then obtained license from the alcalde to put on a still house for eight years, which business I followed until the sixth of April, 1840. On that date Jose Castro, Besente Castro, Angel Castro and a man by the name of Garner, who was set ashore at Santa Barbara for mutiny on board an English ship, were passing and repassing my premises several times in the course of the day. I asked Jose Castro what was the matter? He said that he was a-going to march against Gen. Vallejo; Besente Castro also said the same. Mr. Garner called at my house in the afternoon of the same day. He drank several glasses of whisky. I asked him what was going on? He said that Jose Castro had received orders from the Governor to drive the foreigners out of the country, and that he had a hand in the affair also; but he did not say when they intended to drive the foreigners out, not what means they intended to take to expel us from the country.
C	162	Exiles of 1840	Tepic oaths -4- [Testimony of Isaac Graham, continued] I paid no attention to what he said, havin heard the same report many times before; and on one occasion a man called at my house and told me that Gen. Vallejo was agoing to fall upon the foreigners and murder them all. This he said in the presence of Mr. Naile and Mr. Morris and said I had better keep a sharp lookout and not sleep in my house, but as nothing of consequence transpired, I considered the news to be without foundation. About 10 o'clock at night two people called and said that they had lost a bundle and asked me if I would allow them to stop over night, for it was so dark they were not able to find the bundle, but intended to set out early in the morning to find it. I told them that they were welcome to stop as long as they liked - that they could go down to the still house and sleep with Mr. Morris and Mr. Barton. There were also two foreigners, travelers going to San Francisco, who stopped with Mr. Morris at the still house also. I went to rest as usual in my dwelling house with Mr. Naile, a young man that I have brought up from a child and had given him a share in my distillery. Being guilty of no crime I apprehended no danger. About 3 o'clock in the morning I was awakened by the discharge of a pistol, the ball of which passed through my neckcloth. I sprang out of bed, when they discharged six postols at me; they were so near to me that the blaze of their pistols set fire to my shirt. They then fell back to load their arms.

I then attempted to make my escape. I had not run above four or five yards when they overhauled me with drawn swords and leveled most deadly and heavy blows at me which I had the good fortune to evade. They then grappled me and threw me to the ground. Koaquin[sic] Torres then drew his dirk and uttering an oath, said he wanted to kill me. He then made a pass at my breast, but the weapon passed between my body and left arm and went into the ground. They then let me up, and carried me up the hill in the rear of my home where Jose Castro was standing to view the battle.

They then called out to him, saying, "Here he is." Jose Castro then came up to me and with the back of his sword gave me several blows over the head, which brought me to the ground. He then ordered four balls to be shot through me, but was prevented from doing so by an Indian who continually placed himself as a barrier before me. Thinking they were going to kill me, I asked liberty to recommend my soul to the care and custody of Almighty God. They said I should never pray but over my grave.

They then made a rope fast to my left arm and passed the other end to a man on horseback, who took a turn around the head of his saddle; the men holding onto my right arm, they endeavored to haul my limbs out of joint; but the rope breaking prevented their design.

Mr. Garner then rode up and said to Jose Castro, "This is not what you pro-

[you pro-]...mised me." Jose Castro then said, "You will turn your coat" and knocked him off his horse and they ordered him to be bound, which was accordingly done, but in a few minutes they released him. They then carried me down to my house. They then gave me liberty to put on my pantaloons. They then searched me, and seeing that I had one buckshot in my left arm, which had penetrated to the brone[sic], they said, "It was a pity that it did not kill me." While I was in conversation with them Mr. Neile[sic] came out of the bushes, pale and languid with the loss of blood and vomiting with the sickness which wounds occasioned, having had a lance thrust through his thigh, and a deep wound he had received in his leg.

At the sight of my youthful partner, who had stood by me in the mountains and braved so many dangers at my side, my heart bled at every pore and I forgot my own misfortunes when I beheld him in such a barbarous condition.

They then brought me a pair of irons and told me to receive them in the name of the Mexican nation. They then put them on my legs. They then carried me and Mr. Naile with his wounds undressed to the house of Mr. Nicholas Alviso, about half a mile distant, where they left me under guard. They then returned to my house and robbed me of three thousand seven hundred dollars in specie and many articles of great value. They then returned to Nicholas Alviso's[sic] and conducted my[sic] back to mt[sic] premises, leaving Mr. Neile[sic] behind.

A man by the name of Manuel Lares came up to me with drawn sword, and demanded my ounces of gold. I told him I had none. Had I told him of what I had, or even of what they had taken from me, they would have murdered me on the spot, but thinking that I had no more money than what they had already taken, they spared my life. While I was at Mr. Nicholas Slviso's[sic] he told me that Mr. Garner left particular orders to have Mr. Naile murdered; that he was the worst of all. About 12 o'clock they took off my irons and conducted me to Monterey with a guard of thirty men, will armed, who rode on my right and left flank, constantly keeping me between the two files. In this manner I was carried to Monterey. On my arrival there I found the town full of soldiers and armed men, and many foreigners in a prison under a strong guard. They put me in a prison also under a strong guard - not allowed to speak to anybody or anybody to speak to me. I kept there seven days. They then carried me before four men who pretended to be officers of Justice, with a man by the name of Moreago[sic], whom they had chosen for an interpreter, who was by no means capable of such an office, and did by no means understand the English language sufficiently for an interpreter.
C	166	Exiles of 1840	Tepic oaths -8- [Testimony of Isaac Graham, continued] I suggested that Mr. Spence, the alcalde, might be brought in to interpret for me. They told me my request would not be complied with. The interpreter then asked me if I had ever heard any person speak against the governor. I told him I never had. He then asked me if I had ever heard any person say that they would go to the governor for justice? I told him that I had and that every man was bound to look to him for justice. They then handled me an instrument of writing and compelled me to sign it. They said, "For this you are a prisoner and for this you are condemned." I then asked permission to prove my character and innocence. They said that it would be going decidedly against the governor and that no man should be allowed to speak in my favor. They then conducted me back to prison, giving the guard strict orders not to let me speak to any person but a man by the name of Simeon Castro, who had been alcalde the year before, and had taken from me fifth bullock hides in an unlawful and unjust manner - always seizing my hides that I had bought lawfully from the people of the country who had commerce and traffic with me. (I previously had orders from the governor with his leave and license to buy any hides that were brought to my house to sell. A foreigner by the name of Walter Duckworth requested liberty to carry me in his cart down to the boat, but they would not allow him to do so; but compelled an Indian to carry me on his back, so that I might be made a scorn and ridicule of the people, who mocked and derided me as I was carried through the streets to the boat. I was then conducted aboard of the vessel with the rest of the prisoners, where we were all cramped down in the hold of the vessel. All my fellow passengers were shackled to long bars of iron in such a way that they were not able to move about, but were compelled to lay in the position they were placed in, flat on their backs. Myself and Mr. Morris were separated from them by a bulthead[sic] made of single strips of board; neither of us were allowed to speak to our fellow prisoners.

On our passage the soldiers were ordered to examine our irons every day with drawn butcher knives in their hand, and with strict orders from Joaquin Torres to stab the first man that opened his mouth. On our arrival at Santa Barbara we were set on shore and marched up to the mission. Mr. Morris and me were put in a room in the mission under strong guard. The rest of the prisoners were crammed into a small room, where they were so crowded that they were in danger of suffocation, and where they were kept two days. On the second day they brought a prisoner into the room where Mr. Morris and me were confined, speechless and in a very haggard condition. Me and Mr. Morris then told them that if they did not put the prisoners into a more commodious apartment, where they could have fresh air and the free use of their limbs, they would all certainly die. The next day they were all taken out and allowed to wash at a large reservoir in front of the mission. During our stay in prison Mr. Chard told us that they had offered to let him go while he was in prison in Monterey for ten horses; that while there he had an opportunity to speak to his wife, who told him that she had been treated in a most brutal and indecent manner by an officer of the government; that the said officer asked her if she was not sorry she had married a foreigner, and promised if she would cohabit with him that he would set her husband at liberty. She told him she loved her husband and would part with her life rather than disgrace her husband by parting with her fidelity to him. In a few days Mr. Chard was set at liberty. On the seventh of May me and Mr. Morris with the rest of the prisoners were again set on board of the vessel. Me and Mr. Morris were put in the cabin and confined in a small stateroom with a curtain hung up for a door. We frequently removed the curtain to obtain the fresh air and it was as often closed by the officers, who seemed to try to excell each other in trying to keep us from having a breath of air or even looking out of our stateroom. I then requested the owner of the vessel and Capt. On our arrival at San Blas we were landed and marched up to the fort where we were confined for two days. Myself and Mr. Morris and several others had the good fortune to fire[sic] animals to take us to Tepic, but the rest of the prisoners were obliged to march on foot, harried, kicked, cuffed and beat with the breech of muskets by our merciless enemies, their feet blistered and streaming with blood from the cuts they received on the sharp stones. In this situation we were harried and driven on until we arrived at Tepic. N.B. I saw the governor's brother, about a month before I was taken prisoner. He told me I had better get married, that all the single men were agoing to be sent out of the country. If I did not the horses that I had won would cry (?) I wish to state the circumstances as near as I can, but feel myself inadequate to the task. I hope there will be an excuse for my errors, as I am sorely wounded in body and mind, while now I write my hand nearly refuses its office. But still we rest in hope that our innocence will be made known, not only to our enemy's confusion[sic] but to our country's satisfaction. Under these impositions I now write. For myself I have to say that I was torn from my hut and dragged to the guard house. At the time I was hard at work at my labors and clearing my land. I had five houses and three yoke of oxen, which I lost after I arrived at the guard house. I was not permitted to return. I expostulated but in vain, for liberty to get my clothing. Mr. Pope, my employer, offered security for me to any amount, but was refused. With a heavy heart I mixed myself with my unfortunate countrymen prisoners, and from them learnt that we were taken on suspicion of being concerned in a revolution. Knowing that I was innocent, I submitted, but to my utter mortification was on the next day sent to Santa Barbara under a strong guard, and there put in prison. I received several wounds by falling from my horse, and have been treated in the most contemptuous manner.

They, however, permitted us to come on deck and remain a short time each day; but at night we were sent below, and then the soldiers would begin dancing and jumping on deck so that we could not sleep, and if we began to sing and make merry they would come down with their knives and threaten to stab us, and the officer, to his shame, be it spoken, stood at the hatchway and sanctioned the orders, and said that he would shoot us if we were not silent. During the passage Castro observed that he would be the first to be imprisoned, and perhaps lose his life, but still persevered in his cruelty toward us; and our sufferings were not mitigated, although he was conscious that we were innocent. He said that he must do his duty, although contrary to every principle of humanity. Not wishing to intrude upon your time, I wish to state that I have an only brother attached to the American navy. EXILES OF 1840 [Testimony of Robert King]

This is to certify that I, Robert King, a native of London, came to California in the year 1835 and was following a lawfull occupation untill the 12th of April, 1840, when I was taken prisoner by the authorities of Santa Cruz and from thence sent as such to Monterey & put in prison along with several other foreigners where there was scarcely room to lie down and remained there untill I was put on board the Barque Rodger[sic] Williams (in irons) and taken to Santa Barbara. I was then sent to the Mission, from my being chained to a bar of iron with six of my countrymen and forced to lay on my back caused a severe pain in my breat[sic]; I was put into a room along with the rest of the prisoners, where we were nearly suffocated and a hole dug in the same for to relieve the necessities of nature, owing to ill health and the noisome smell, I asked liberty of an officer to be bled, he drew his sword & replied that he would bleed me through the heart with his sword. I was taken so ill the ensuing day that I was speechless, then through the interference of Captn Isaac Graham I was removed to his room and there baptized in the Catholic faith in great haste and left in the care of Captn Graham and William Chard, who took care of me four days and then carried from the Mission to Santa Barbara. I there remained three months in my bed & for the space of one year afterwards I was not able to follow any business for my support. The British prisoners have been allowed three dollars per day for their lost time, the same sum I naturally claim & with regard to remuneration for false imprisonment, I leave to the British Government to decide upon hoping through your means that this may be forwarded to the British Minister in Mexico.

Monterey, 22 of Nov-r. 1842.

EXILES OF '40 (Meadows)

James Meadows came to Monterey from London in a whale ship, arriving in September, 1837.[sic]

Meadows was in the company which went to Las Florez, commanded by Lt. John Coppinger, once a lieutenant in the British navy. (In 1838)

Alvarado's and Jose Castro's army surrounded the enemy at Las Fores, on the seacoast this side of San Luis Rey. The war ended with a ball at Santa Barbara.

The foreign country members were paid in scrip which was cashed by Larkin at a big discount.[Thomas O. Larkin, a Monterey merchant -Ed.]

In the company, said Meadows, were Bill Anerson, Thomas Cole.

Bob King.

_____ McFarland.

Mountain Bill.

Negro Black Jack.

Bill Warren.

Hopping Jack.

James Meadows.

Meadows and William Anderson were sawing lumber in a canyon near Carmel on April 6, 1840, when Meadows was taken to Monterey by a military force of Californians. Anderson had gone to town the Sunday before and was already in custody.

At Monterey, according to Meadows, he found 110 prisoners, all in a room 18 by 20 or 24, except Graham, Shard[sic], Majors, Morris and 14 others who were kept in another room.

They were all sent to Santa Barbara in the Guipuzcoana (previously the John Rogers of Boston).

Tom the Napper (Tomlinson) husband of Jesus Bernal.

The guard on the ship was 24 men commanded by Jose Castro.

Three weeks elapsed from the arrests until the arrival in Santa Barbara, during which time they

I went along with him and when I got there, I saw one named Anto Builnes, who told me to come the next morning early, which I did. On going to him he wished me good morning and shook hands with me, telling me at the same time to wait a little. Afterward he called me in the justice room and asked my name and nation, and what property I had. He told me Jose Castro wanted me at St. Johns. He then called a great number more in and after we were all inside, there came a quantity of armed men on horseback, and surrounded the place we was in. The officers of the party dismounted and came inside of the justice room where he (A. Builnes) gave us all in charge of them as prisoners. They then marched us into prison, where we remained about four hours - was then marched out and ordered to mount our horses, which being complied with, we went towards St. Johns. It being late we stopped at a farm belonging to Wallope Castro, and let our horses go. The next morning brought out horses, again, saddled them and went on to St. Johns.

Farming, sawing, etc, until April 10 alcalde of Sta Cruz sent me and several others word to hide ourselves away as the soldiers was acoming to take all of us prisoners. We took no notice of it whatsoever. The next day I went on a visit to see a friend, and on my return fell in with two men on the road, one named Dye, the other Builnea, who told me that I must go to the mission next morning early; which I did not taking my clothers, more than I had on my back. When at the mission I saw the above Builnea, who shook hands with me, and asking me in the justice room. He then asked me my name, country, and if I had papers from the governor. I made him satisfactory replies. There then came a great number of men on horses, armed with rifles, guns, pistols, swords, etc. when the officers dismounted and came in, the above Builnea gave us all in charge to them, telling us at the same time not to be frightened as we were only going to St. Johns to see Jose Castro. That we would not be gone more than two days. They then put us in prison. In the course of an hour they sent for a man out, named William Thompson, and set him free. We were kept in about four hours, then marched out and ordered to mount our horses.

C	237	Mining in S.C. County	GOLD RUSH IN SANTA CRUZ On Dec. 30, 1848, A. A. Hecox and 11 others petitioned the alcalde for an extension of a year in complying with conditions of grants of land.
C	238	Mining in S.C. County	GOLD RUSH On Dec. 30, 1848, A. A. Hecox and 11 others were granted by the town council a year's respite to take necessary improvements on land granted them by the council because of the difficulties due to the gold rush, of getting lumber for houses and fencing.
C	239	Mining in S.C. County	GOLD RUSH In S.C. county. On Oct. 30, 1855, the San Jose Telegraph said: GOLD EXCITEMENT IN SANTA CRUZ - A rich quartz lead has been discovered on the ranch not long since purchased by our fellow citizens, Dr. Van Caneghen and Major Hensley from Don Pedro Sansevain. The quartz is very rotten and being crushed it seems full of specks of the yellow dust. The lead extends into the ranch of Mr. Meader adjoining. Major Graham was in this city on Saturday (which would be October 27) with 40 pounds of the quartz, which he has taken to San Francisco to have tested." In the same issue was printed the report of ____ Marlette, surveyor general, who had just completed designating the lines of San Francisco, Santa Clara and Santa Cruz counties, who said: "I can not state correctly the extent of mineral lands in Santa Cruz county. Gold is known to exist throughout an area of at least 20 square miles. The placer or surface diggings have as yet given but a very small yield; not more than an average of $2 a day per hand. One quartz vein has been discovered and opened and is perhaps equal in richness to the best in the state. The vein lies about three miles southwest of Santa Cruz -- runs nearly north and south and has a dip of 30 degrees to the west. The quartz is rotten and easily worked and the gold very fine and disseminated through the rock."
C	240	Mining in S.C. County	LIME Lime kilns mentioned in the Sentinel of 1868 were: ____ Adams. Isaac Davis and Henry Cowell. Thomas Bull at Felton. ____ Bennett at Felton. On May 30, 1868, the Sentinel said - "Recently Fitzhugh, Adams &amp; Co. purchased the Glassell rancho and commenced manufacture of lime on a larger scale than heretofore. During the past year the supt, B. F. Lee, took charge and rapidly completed arrangements to burn and ship lime in larger quantities. A new road three miles long was built and smoothly graded from the kilns to Williams Landing. Two large new kilns with three furnaces in each having a capacity each of 600 barrels were built out of fire rock; also a cooper shop capable of operations sufficient to make all of the barrels; a blacksmith shop; and tenement houses for employes. Thirty-five men are now employed, four of them making barrels. The road is a gradual incline down the hill to the sea and it costs only 7 cents a barrel to deliver the lime to the landing. Already one schooner load of lime has been sent to SF and facilities exist to ship other cargoes as fast as manufactured. In '76 the Sentinel said ____ Kewes, recently of Guadalupe mines in Santa Clara county, had opened lilns 12 miles up the coast, 1/2 mile below Glassell mill, to ship from William Landing.

[SANTA CRUZ MINING DISTRICT 1863.]
MINING DISTRICT REGULATIONS OF 1863 -2-

Article VIII - At the expiration of six months from the time of location unless there are some valuable improvements made or some act being done showing an intention to work a claim it shall be deemed abandoned and terminated.

Article IX - These regulations shall have effect within the following described district; to wit: commencing at the mouth of the San Lorenzo river and following up said river to the summit of the mountains, thence along the summit of the mountains to the head of Laguna creek, and thence down Laguna creek to the sea.

Article X - To be a voter at any miners meeting held to make, alter or amend the rules and regulations of this mining district the person must be an actual interest holder in some claim within this district which shall be a matter of record shown by the books.

Article XI - Any fifteen persons belonging to and representing at least three different claims and who are directly interested in quartz mining in this district may call a meeting to alter or amend these regulations by publishing notice to this effect two weeks previous in the Santa Cruz newspaper or if there be no newspaper published in Santa Cruz then by posting notices in three conspicuous places within the district for two weeks previous to such meeting.

Article XII - There shall be elected on the first Monday in the month of October, 1864, and on the first Monday in October each year thereafter a recorder for the period of one year or until his successor is elected and qualified and who shall have the power to appoint a deputy.

MINING DISTRICT REGULATIONS OF 1863 -3-

Article XIII - Notice of said election shall be given by the recorder at least two weeks prior to said day by publishing the same in some newspaper published in Santa Cruz township, in case there be one; if not then by posting notice in three conspicuous places in said township which notices shall state the day and hour when and the place where the same will be held, which shall be in the most central place in said district.

Article XIV - The voting at said election shall be by ballot and a majority of all the votes cast shall be necessary for a choice.

Article XV - It shall be the duty of the recorder to record in a clear and legible hand in the proper book all notices of claims which may be filed with him for this purpose and he shall be entitled to charge therefore the sum of $1 for each notice, and also at the request of any party requesting his services to measure off or designate any claim that may be located in said district, the price for so doing to be agreed upon by said parties.

Article XVI - Said record shall be kept in a central and convenient place in the town of Santa Cruz and shall be open to inspection at all times (Sundays excepted) between the hours of 9 am and 5 pm free of charge.

Article XVII - All regulations heretofore in force in the district in any way conflicting with these regulations are hereby repealed.

After the adoption of the foregoing articles the following resolutions were [adopted:]

C	280	Mining Districts	[SANTA CRUZ MINING DISTRICT 1863.] MINING DISTRICT REGULATIONS OF 1863 -4- adopted: Resolved that all work which has been done upon any claim within this district prior to this time shall be claimed and held to have been done under the provisions of articles 7 and 8 of the bye-laws and shall be allowed to the persons performing the same as if done subsequent to this date. Whereas the recorder of this district, I. C. Willson, has neglected in the year 1856 to discharge the duties of said office and has this day tendered his resignation of said office, and been accepted, and whereas the record of mining claims in this district since that time has been kept by D. J. Haslam, county recorder, Therefore be it resolved that we adopt the record as kept by said Haslam as a true and correct copy of the claims located in this district and that the same shall have the same force and effect as evidence in any case as if kept by the recorder of said mining district. The meeting proceeded to the election of a recorder to hold the office until the first Monday of October, 1864, and John Hines and Fred W. Willson being placed in nomination, Fred E. Willson was declared duly elected for said office, he having received a majority of all the votes cast. A motion was made to publish the proceedings of this meeting in the Santa Cruz Sentinel and the San Francisco Bulletin; carried.

M. Harwood, John McKune was elected chairman and Ed French secretary of said meeting on motion of Mr. Pore, a mining and petroleum district was formed bounded and described as follows: Beginning at the toll gate of Mountain Charlie on the San Jose and Santa Cruz road; thence northerly along the summit or water divide of the coast range or Santa Cruz mountains, which is also the county line between the counties of Santa Clara and Santa Cruz, ten miles more or less to the "Tin Can Ranch" (so called); thence westerly to the nearest point on the main San Lorenzo creek; thence across said creek running in the same course one half mile to a large redwood tree; thence following along down and parallel with said creek to another redwood tree standing half a mile from the west bank of same; thence easterly crossing the San Lorenzo creek and back to place of beginning at the toll gate. The following by-laws are unanimously adopted at said meeting: Section I - This mining district shall be known as the Summit Mining District with boundaries as before described. Section II - Any number of persons desirous of locating claims in this district may do so by posting notices thereon, which notices shall state the names of said locators and the number of claims located; and the general boundaries of the same; which [continued on card C 283]

The missions were multiplied everywhere the fertility of the soil, a favorable location, or the vicinity of a good anchorage seemed to promise a future. They had generally prospered, but principally in those districts to the north, of which Monterey was the main one, and whose roadstead was so to say the boundary to the south. The largest ones developed on the shore of the ocean: the mission and presidio of San Francisco, both situated on the magnificent bay of the same name; those of Santa Cruz, San Carlos, Santa Barbara, where the travelers, tired from their long voyages, always found a hospitality as generous as insistent, and also provisions in abundance, derived from the towns of San Jose, San Raphael, San Solano, and many others less important, all more or less removed from the shore of the sea.

C	285	Laplace Visit to Santa Cruz 1839	LaPLACE -2- After a very peaceful night, during which we profited by all the little variations of the breeze to skirt the shore at a short distance, the frigate arrived at break of day in the vicinity of the mission of Santa Cruz, only a few leagues distant from Monterey to the north, and we let the anchor drop in the afternoon on a good bottom, near two islets only about a mile from a favorable small cove of white sand, where a small river flowed. This anchorage, which awakened a desire to procure for the crew, for the ship's officers and myself a provision of fresh vegetables, before leaving California for Peru, is frequented during the summer by the merchant ships and coasters. Many famous explorers have put into port here during the last century, along them our illustrious compatriot LaPerouse, who, in the account of his voyage made mention of the reception, equally pressing as generous, which he as well as his companions received from the monks of this mission, then the finest, the richest, the best administered, of all those in California. ----- La Place apparently confuses Monterey and Santa Cruz. LePerouse' visit was in 1786, five years before the founding of Santa Cruz mission.
C	286	Laplace Visit to Santa Cruz 1839	LaPLACE -3- The good priests heaped up their cares and the most delicate attentions (for LaPerouse) and even wanted to furnish gratis all the provisions which they needed to the crews of the two ships of the expedition. It was under the gentle influence of such recollections, the same, however, which had occurred to me when arriving at San Francisco, and which had been so painfully dispelled, that I disembarked on the shore near where the frigate had dropped anchor. I was quite enchanted by the lovely views which we had at intervals of the mission with its little white houses and red tiled roofs, its church surmounted by a little steeple, which seemed to appear suddenly from the bosom of a magnificent stretch of green, at the end of which it arose. At the same first view of the picture, there unrolled before our eyes the fields, which with their color of emerald, one could believe to be cultivated with care, so rich was the vegetation, the charm of which was enhanced anew by the clusters of fruit trees, distributed here and there. Further on and closing the perspective on that side, there arose a ridge of higher elevation, covered from the foot to the summit with a forest of large pines with dark foliage, contrasting in an agreeable manner with the warm colors of the plain, which bordered on the sea. All that was delicious; and yet deceptions awaited me there also and still more painful, for after having completed a walk, quite prolonged under a burning sun, although the afternoon was advanced, a spectacle of misery and desertion offered itself to my eyes.

C	287	Laplace Visit to Santa Cruz 1839	LaPLACE -4- The buildings, which from afar had a good appearance, were in ruin and abandoned by their former inhabitants. In vain I searched for some human being in the courtyards surrounded by walls which we crossed before arriving at the principal part of the lodgings, occupied in former times by Franciscan monks. Everywhere a profound silence reigned, in the very places where some years ago a thousand converted Indians, maintained through their agricultural and manufacturing activities an abundance and life and progress. All of that indiginous population has disappeared, decimated by misery, sickness and desertion. The main building where LaPerouse (again the error in confusion with Monterey) had found such a noble and kindly hospitality, did not show a vestige of its former splendour, if I may so express myself. On every side a picture of disorder; and even the apartment of the administrator of the mission was stripped of necessities bordering on uncleanliness. However, I was agreeably surprised when I discovered in the master of the dwelling manners and a figure prepossessing, even distinguished, which contrasted singularly with the forbidding aspect of everything surrounding him. He made excuses in very good terms for his destitution, which prevented him from receiving us as he would have desired, and he offered in an amiable way, but not without a certain embarrassment, of which I soon understood the cause, to conduct us through the different parts of the establishment.
C	288	Laplace Visit to Santa Cruz 1839	LaPLACE -5- In fact with every step we encountered objects of sadness and disgust; the long rows of little huts made of sundried bricks, lately occupied by the neophytes of the monks, with no doors nor windows, were covered in part by their debris. In a court adjoining the lodging of our guide, contaminated by a thousand sweepings which gave off an abominable odor, we saw several individuals occupied rather in tearing to pieces than in properly cutting up the cadaver of a steer, still palpitant, of which the blood and the entrails laid about upon the ground, and where they would remain until the birds of prey devoured them. The kitchen garden, into which we had entered by a gate half in ruins, the sill of which was covered by rubbish and filth, offered scarcely a space for our feet; it did not have any less repulsive aspect. In a corner were lying several carrion, covered by a multitude of winged insects. The border walks of the sort of a field were encroached upon by weeds to which some cabbages, half nibbled by caterpillars, gave a desperate resistance. The fruit trees, poor exiles of our southern provices, left to themselves, were exhausted by a mass of tall sprouts and bore only poor fruit. But in the midst of that chaos nature, showing itself always beautiful, always disposed to repair the damage caused by the errors of man, endeavored to hide miserable results of California carelessness under a magnificent cover of verdure, which had already invaded almost all of the ruins and the surrounding fields.

That reflection, not flattering to our poor humanity, which I have made too often in my long role as observer, seems to me even more justified, if possible, when walking over all parts of that deserted mission I thought of what it had been and of the state in which I found it. How many mistakes have been committed by the men charged with the destinies of that country before they succeeded in destroying an institution the creation of which had demanded so much care and so many years of work. On which side lies the blame? It is on the side of the founders, or is it necessary to blame only the present masters? The monks without doubt were somewhat to blame, as I stated at the beginning of this chapter. They showed themselves convinced that in their hands the temporal power should be inherent to the spiritual power. They considered their neophytes too much as the instruments of fortune and well-being; as unintelligent beings, big children; and in these diverse convictions, equally unfounded, did not sufficiently exert themselves to develop in these unfortunates the moral feelings and at the same time the taste for work and the love of family. The result was that instead of these Indian converts becoming civilized and better they were completely brutalized, thus justifying the profound contempt in which the whites held them.

The adversaries of the Friars have equal wrongs with which to reproach themselves on this account. They should be taxed with injustice, even ingratitude, not only because of the prompt forgetfulness with which they have repaid the eminent services rendered to the country by the Franciscans, but even with having made the latter miserable by persecution, by abandonment of the establishments which gave them a living, as well as a prosperity which they enjoyed. Nevertheless let us admit that the Mexican government has, as far as it was able on account of the incessant revolutions with which it has had to battle since the commencement of the century, made efforts to pull the converted indigines[sic] out of the profound degradation in which they were.

For a long it it [sic] has shown itself their protectors. By its orders the Indians of the missions, who conducted themselves well and who showed some aptitude for agriculture or the mechanical arts, obtained concessions of land, cattle, implements of irrigation, assistance of all kinds, to exercise their industry. Where more of their kind were aggregated they were aided to form villages under the direction of curates and magistrates. Other advantages were accorded them by the same government, which unfortunately had no more favorable results than the first ones.

The new citizens gave themselves up to idleness and debauchery despite all that could be done to restrain them. Some returned to the forests, their primitive residence. Others retired to the little villages along the sea where they found more opportunity to follow their evil inclinations. It is for this that the severe judgment held against them by their former pastors and adopted a little blindly by the white populations should be considered as just and as applying to the whole race? I do not think so. In the first place I have heard it said generally that the Indians once converted showed much less cleverness than their free compatriots belonging to the same tribes, who proved in the chase, in war, even in their relations with the colonists, as well as in their industries, coarse as they were, to have a skill, an intelligence, one would almost say a spirit,

The men, seeing themselves so raised in their own eyes, entrusted to carry arms and wear a respected uniform, well nourished, cared for when ill, in fact loved by their chiefs, have given incontestable proofs of courage, moral capacity and devotion. I confess that, seeing in that desolate place which I traversed those few neophytes who were still confined there, so ugly, so dirty, so badly dressed, with such a brutal air, I felt myself quite disposed to range myself among their detractors. They resembled beasts more than human beings. If the women, instead of the chemise of thick cotton cloth and the covering of wool which composed the clothing of the men, had not worn a camisole and a short petticoat of a course kind of flannel of reddish color, I would have found it impossible to distinguish between the individuals of the two sexes. Still it was said that occasionally some rather pretty girls were found among the families of the indigines, either among the Christians or the independents; but I am forced to confess that, despite my most determined researches to verify such assertions, I did not find anything to justify this contention. I have reason to believe, on the contrary, that the complaints were well founded, which the ships' captains expressed generally when putting into ports
C	292	Laplace Visit to Santa Cruz 1839	LaPLACE -9- of California regarding the fatal consequences of the debauches of the sailors with these ugly creatures, many of them being prey to shameful diseases developed to a frightful point. No wonder many of the individuals belonging to that unhappy race died from it; and when abortion was added to these guilty and destructive practices, which caused inflammatory fevers, lung and bowel infections, misery naturally followed such misconduct. In fact such frightful deprivation preyed upon the former subjects of the monks that one is not astonished that they diminished so rapidly after the destruction of the missions. As the administrator at Santa Cruz mission, knowing that I desired to buy fresh vegetables and fruits for our crew, had warned the proprietors of neighboring farms, we found when we came back to the house several of them awaiting our return. Among them was a signora who by her fine features, dignified air and gracious figure attracted my attention immediately although she was no longer young. As the merchants showed too exaggerated pretentions we soon left them, but not without our having sworn many times that in no part of the country, not even at Monterey, had we found any better conditions. Nevertheless we did not fail to remain to talk to our pretty farmerette and, to speak truthfully, we showed ourselves generally willing to make to her better terms than to her competitors. Unfortunately she was able to satisfy only a small part of our needs. It is easy to believe she promised more than her resources permitted, for on the morrow, at the time fixed for the delivery of the commodities, she did not put in an appearance. Notwithstanding we parted on the best possible terms and the meeting was an agreeable diversion to the painful impressions which I had experienced shortly before, by

C	293	Laplace Visit to Santa Cruz 1839	LaPLACE -10- that certain attraction which women, if gracious and good, always spread about them and which makes men gentle, influences them, subdues them even often in spite of themselves. What an immense power, what a source of great benefit to society, when exercised with gentleness, good will and chastity! At the moment when we were leaving the enchantress the monk of the mission arrived, whom we had seen on landing crouching close to the earth, hunting in the fields, and whose presence, I think, hastened the departure of our California dove. Really it was no wonder that she was frightened because it would be difficult to find any one with a more cynical expression, with a more brutal appearance, than this unkempt Mexican priest with his burned face, great black eyes, the whites yellowed, his head covered with a large wide brimmed hat with the crown dented in the center, his Franciscan robes, formerly white, now covered with a thousand spots, and without a cowl, but raised almost as high as his waist to give sufficient liberty to his lower limbs; and finally with a carabine and shoulder strap which contrived to make his costume somewhat picturesque, recalling to my mind the tableaux in which modern painters have retraced some of the episodes of the Spanish war, where monks escaped from the monestaries took up the calling of brigands and guerilla soldiers. Such a one had replaced the last Spanish padre, an old man much venerated, loved in the countryside; and who having founded this mission was able to raise it to remarkable prosperity which it enjoyed before the several revolutions commenced of which Mexico had been the theater for so long a time. Instead of this prosperity I found ruins, the most profound misery, a priest unworthy from all reports to fill the noble and impor-

How could a society so unique, so little advanced in civilization be able to progress under the direction of such ministers of religion, men as generally disreputable as their predecessors were respectable! Otherwise our new acquaintance soon made himself at home with us and acted as a good companion. Having taken us to his abode, the same which had been occupied by his venerable predecessor, which we found abandoned to disorder and sordid uncleanness, our host took from the cupboards and placed on the dirty, wobbly table, nearly the only piece of furniture in the apartment, a demijohn of native wine, bread and fruit, and then invited us to partake of his improvised meal. Upon our refusal he took long drafts without his head seeming in the least affected. The sun had set and as such society did not attract us sufficiently for us to remain longer, I made my adieus to the two authorities of the establishment, thanking the administrator for his friendly reception, and retraced the route which led us to the place on the shore where my captain's gig awaited me. The evening was lovely; the moon gently lighted the countryside; the heavens scintillated with stars; a light breeze from the land refreshed the atmosphere still warm from the heat of the day and brought to us the distant sound of the bells of the mission sounding the Angelus. The path which we followed wound sometimes across a cluster of large trees under which a superb greensward unrolled, sometimes in the midst of fields covered with a rich vegetation from which we exhaled sweet aromatic odors. -Ir-

There has not been a time that we have had as we desired the promise of the Padre Presidente. Only when we are near death will be administer the Holy Beatific. It will be done for all who have died in this town by desiring to make the necessary arrangements for the time of death; and how in salvation we must desire to live, so in death we must prepare ourselves now.

For that reason we are obliged to humble ourselves at the feet of Yours Respectively without doubting the piety and hospitable purposes of Yours Respectively, he will confer to us this favor which all of the inhabitants of this pueblo should rejoice in. To fulfill the end of our promise, another thing is necessary, besides what is contained in our esteemed chapel; that is the dedication of the chapel by Yours Respectively, or by the Respected Padre Presidente Proximo, who has given us a rector finally; that all may be facilitated by the gain desired that to the end all of us are promised a chance for happiness in the hereafter.

To the Chief of the Guards, San Jose de Guadalupe.

The enclosed certified copy of three official chapters under the date of June 21 last was handed me by his excellency by senor viceroy, the Marquis de Branciforte, and I am sending them to you for your knowledge of how to govern or treat the foreigners in our ports on the peninsula, and after you have them arranged accordingly, see that the chief who governs the ports, the small bays and the fishing grounds as well as the comandantes, receive a copy of these orders and execute them according to the contents.

You are also instructed that under no circumstances to permit them to congregate within the limits of the foreign water fronts, especially those belonging to the class who travel on ships. Do not permit them to ride horseback, or allow them to know the country, and do not furnish them with livestock to raise. Take account of all those dealing in contraband but treat them moderately and do not abuse them; at the same time also make them obey these orders.

Any official, sergeant, jefe or soldier who disobeys and works against these orders will suffer for his disloyalty so far as to lose his rank and employment. This is a very interesting point that no one should overlook.

May God be with you Many years.

Monterey, Nov. 2, 1791. Diego de Borica.

To the inhabitants of the two Californias:
I come with armed forces as well as a representation of a powerful nation against the Central Government of Mexico which has caused this war. I am not coming to spread terrorism among the peaceful population of the Californias, but against the united forces of the enemy of my country, who are under the flag of Mexico, that the war and its destructive results are cited for its violence.

Inhabitants of the Californias: You have only to remain in your homes peacefully to insure your lives and your valuables against the consequences of an unjust war in which Mexico entered suddenly and with poor judgment, and with fearless participation. That the flag of the Stars and Stripes, emblem of civil liberties in speech and the freedom of the press, over all, constitutional equality and legal security for worshipping God supreme in the manner most suited and understood. No. 5

Considering how much the colonists suffer from excessive cold and wet weather, being without habitation in which to take refuge, I spoke about it this morning to his excellency, the governor, and there will be sent to each by Machuca six yards of stuff to make ponchos of.

You have forgotten to send me the receipt that I have spoken of, for $11.25, that I have paid from the fund for the year 1797, and I wish to charge it to the account of Lt. Josef Perez. I must have a satisfactory voucher and wish you would have it reach me within eight days at the latest.

It is necessary that you now commence to make up the account of things distributed among the colonists, such as articles of wear and use, arms, munitions and also rations, remitting me as well a separate inventory of stock on hand of each kind: munitions and arms in one inventory; another of articles of wear or use; and another of cigaritos. As soon as you have all made out send them to me without delay for I have to render my accounts in a few days.

The bearer of this takes you four dollars worth of soap, two dollars worth of sugar and four dollars worth of chocolate and soap go 30 cakes to the dollar. My our Savior protect you many years.

I am returning to you my letter of Feb. 7. I am told in yours of the 8th of the current month that it is well understood what its charges are and that you have a balance in your favor of eleven pesos two reales which you received from the Poblador Barbosa.

I give you in demonstration the partition in this form:

Eleven pesos 5-1/2 reales belong to you as honorarium on tobacco which you have sold at this place, and 18 reales from hides; which is 13 pesos 7-1/2 reales que results to your credit. (The last word is jabon - soap - but the meaning is clear).

I deduct 4 reales which is what you advised me was lacking on cigarros and 2 pesos 1-1/2 reales which is the honorarium deducted during the past year in the pueblo. These make 2 pesos 5-1/2 reales which, taken away from the 13 pesos 7-1/2 reales, leaves 11 pesos and 2 reales, which you have received and which is exactly what I have written. For this reason do not mention again the hides, for that is deducted, as I explain above.

Two soldier, Francisco Soto, brings 12 pesos for the Invalido Juan Villela. Tell him to use it little by little for the year is long.

The Poblador Narvaez Narvaez is, by the governor's instruction, to be given an advance on his account of 25 pesos, and no more, which disposes of that.

Last year I sent you various letters for Pablo Bejar, with an order for the collection of the cost of carriage. He tells me he has paid and you have not report it to me.

I remit to you a quire of paper for official occurrences of this year, both for official communications and for accounts. Indeed I have not enough for the needs of this office.

The Poblador Barbosa asked me for 26 varas of cotton cloth and some silk. Tell him that I have not even enough for my troops. I can not send him what which he asks for it is much needed in this military store house.

God be with you.

I charge you with four reales, being the amount that you advised me was short from sale of cigaritos, and two dollars and one and a half reales that you deducted the past year at San Jose, as commissions, makes two dollars and five and a half reales, which, deducted from the thirteen dollars and seven and a half reales, leaves due you eleven dollars and two reales, which is the amount sent you and exactly as I have the account. Say no more about the hides, for you are paid for them, as I have explained. The soldier named Francisco Soto takes with him twelve dollars for the pensioner Juan Villela. Tell him to spend slowly for it is a long time before another year is ended. His excellency the governor sends word to give the colonist Narvaez in advance twenty-five dollars, but only as a charge to his account. Prefecture of the Second district.

By your communications dated the 11th and 24th of last month I am informed that the first alcalde of your community, Citizen Ramon Buelna, has been accused criminally by the Colonist Juan Perez. The common practice of this court in such affairs is that they should be remitted to the court of the first instance in this capital.

This has not been done but nevertheless the inhabitants of your jurisdiction should know that if the said alcalde is found guilty he will be inhibited from his functions. Awaiting this finding of justice it is commanded that should the juez of the first instance have appear before him two litigants he shall give you charge of that court, to the end that the case may be handled in conformity with the laws and that due punishment may be imposed upon those who merit it. God and Liberty.

Monterey, Sept. 2, 1845. Manuel Castro.

Senor Alcalde Constitutional of Santa Cruz.
Citizen Francisco Soria.

Prefecture of the First District.

By the documents which I remit to you that court is notified that Don Juan Antonio Vallejo, who possesses unbranded cattle in consequence of the damage occasioned by the barbaros Indians, has delivered to Don Isaac Graham ten skins of cattle without brands, because of which you may confiscate provisionally may in excess of that number which may lack the same requisite, until the original vendor may justify having acquired them legally, the idea being that hereafter it will compel the said Vallejo to brand those which he possesses and which he may sell.

I tell you this in answer to your communication of the 6th.

What is more, the invalidos collect pay on which to subsist and for that reason should not have preference in regard to lands over those who depend upon the yield of their seeds for maintenance during the year. I am informed that the inhabitants there have concluded the sowing of wheat and are preparing for maize. It appears to me that God visibly protects that new establishment and that with so much superiority is its superiority charged. With your activity and zeal its progress will be assured. Does it not seem true to you that Pablo Vejar should stay there with the others? In time I will let you know the disposition of him which I have proposed to the governor.
As to the Invalido Toribia do not permit him to excuse himself from labor. He should remain in your villa. I understand he does not desire anything except to travel around. You will assign him lands and a home place and see that he leads a regular life like the others, without permitting him to travel to the presidios or to the pueblo except when it may seem to you an urgent necessity. By the official communication which you send me by the Poblador Robles of the 20th of this month I see that the Invalido Juan Maria Pinto, notwithstanding the probity with which I have credited him, has been wanting in the purity of truth in causing me to believe that the Colonist Francisco Corona was indebted to him for a certain amount. His interest may have been entirely his desire that the latter remain in the province and make tiles for his house, as you suggest in your communication, or he may have been foolish enough to think so.
Accordingly I have judged that Pinto should suffer eight days more in prison, counting from the day you receive this.
Concerning Francisco Corona you will send him to me, with leg irons on, under guard of two Invalidos, as I have no soldiers to send for him as all are employed in the necessary duties of the presidio.

C	428	Santa Cruz Archives: Numbered	[ARCHIVES No. 45 - apparently a 2d translation by Rowland]  Sal to Vallejo, March 17, 1800.  Narvaez has returned here. As usual, with all assurance, he denies to me having asked you for a license to do so. He says, however, that you and he had a conversation about his leaving there. Do not grant any of the colonists liberty to come here, in order that they may not neglect their duties. I understand they are not working as they ought to, but are passing the time in diversions.
C	429	Santa Cruz Archives: Numbered	ARCHIVES No. 46 On the 19th of February last the governor addressed to me the following: "The same which I advised you on the 16th of this month, I repeat, as to my proposal for electing justices in Villa Branciforte. There are no doubt among the invalidos some men who are sufficiently knowing to maintain their authority and administer the laws, but this is not sufficient. It is indispensable that they realize the boon which is thus to be given them; that they should live in quiet and tranquility by virtue of their previous services, and thus a like burden fall upon each. Notwithstanding that one or another may refuse it, the one who receives the command will not be inconvenienced by it. This you should make known that there may be no further opposition. You should also inform the comisionados of the pueblos whose duty it is not only to watch the conduct of the invalidos and pobladores but to administer justice to them." Which I transmit to you for your information, that you may have the invalidos know that this command is from the higher authority. You will carry it out by nominating for the places as justices by vote among the pobladores, in case they do not permit any invalido to be given the position, remitting to me the election of that one chosen for confirmation in the name of the king. Our Lord be with you always. Monterey, April 3, 1802. Raymundo Carrillo. Senor Comisionado of Villa Branciforte. -lr-
C	430	Santa Cruz Archives: Numbered	[ARCHIVES No. 46 - apparently a 2d translation by Rowland]  Carillo to comisionado, April 3, 1802.  On the 18th of Feb. last his excellency the governor advised me as follows: "I repeat to you now the same matter as contained in my letter of the 16th about the consulation had concerning the election of juez de paz in Villa Branciforte. Without doubt there is among the soldiers some one who is capable enough to see that the laws are complied with, and to administer justice, but these qualifications are not enough. "It is indispensable that the soldiers should view in its proper light this great boon about to be conceded to them and they should live quietly and with tranquility. They will not require again another admonition if they do so. "There will be some one of the colonists who will have ability and the one selected will not be inconvenienced in any way. This should be made known to them in order that there be no misunderstanding. You should also fully inform the comisionados of the towns, whose duty it is to give information, not only concerning the conduct of soldier and colonist, but also to administer the laws." All of which I remit to you that you may be informed and have the soldiers know this command from their superior officers. You will observe it by nominating from among the colonists for juez de paz to be voted for by them, unless they prefer to have one of the soldiers elected juez. Send me the name of the one elected that such election may be confirmed by and in the name of the king.

From this mission of San Juan Bautista there has departed upon his discharge from service the artisan Jose Maria Franco on the 7th. Knowing me to be here he did not present himself to ask for a ticket of leave nor to the commander of the mission guard here, but said he was going there. Supposing that if he has presented himself without any ticket of leave you have, complying with your orders, arrested him I give you the information so that you can put him at liberty, admonishing him with severity that he may take care not to commit a like fault on other occasions. C	434	Santa Cruz Archives: Numbered	[ARCHIVES No. 49]  Jose M. Estudillo, sec. to Arrillaga, to comisionado. San Juan B., May 10, 1803.  I have received your favor of the 8th inst. enclosing two documents pertaining to Villa Branciforte, one showing how affairs are and the other concerning the tithing of last year. Juan Banutista, the mechanic, left this mission, discharged from service, on the 7th. He did not apply to me for a ticket or leave, although knowing me to be here. Neither did he apply to the commanding officer of the company here, but told that he was going to Branciforte. Supposing as I do that he has arrived at your place without the necessary ticket, it is presumed you, in compliance with orders, have put him under arrest. I acquaint you with the fact of his having been discharged here that if put under arrest he may be set at liberty with a severe admonition[sic] that he takes care not again to commit a like fault. You will notify me of what you do.

Senor Juez de Paz of Villa Santa Cruz and Branciforte:

William Barton, a resident of the place, before you with proper respect, declared that on the 27th of this month I was invited to assist Senors Weeks and Morris for the purpose of erecting a _____ (aruscancon) at his mill, during which I took a little more aguardiente than was necessary. After it was completed I went to the mission to get together with some of my neighbors and had some more to drink there, passing the limit where one knows what he is saying and doing. Senors Weeks and Morris mounted me on my horse and took me to their house, where there arrived the Senor MacViger also, who there struck me in a violent manner, Weeks and Morris being absent.

Because of which I beg that you enforce the law to the end that one may not be trampled and abused in a strange house and that his own home may be sacred.

Santa Cruz, June 29, 1843.

William Barton.

Prefecture of the First District.

The secretary of the government of this department on the 16th of this month issued to me that which I copy:

"By the minister of the interior there is issued to the government of this department under date of Sept. 23 last, the following: The president of the republic has given most careful instructions in communications to you of April 22 last relative to the occurrences in your department in consequence of a revolt attempted by various foreigners living in it.

"In view of the circumstances shown in the report it is disposed that of the prisoners now at Tepic who were conducted there by Captain Jose Castro in the bark Guipuzcoana in May of the present year, those named Isaac Graham, Albert Morris, William Chard and George Jose Bonis shall remain there in custody under the knowledge of its court; that of the others those not naturalized and who have not been married to Mexicans shall be expelled from the republic and care taken that they shall not return to California; that those married to Mexicans shall be placed at liberty, giving assurances that they will await the results of processes (of law) put in effect in Tepic.

"I give you advice of this for your knowledge and the vigilance which must be kept that those individuals indicated do not return to your department and that the government will hold the chief citizen (responsible) that no foreigners shall be introduced without the requisites of the law, deporting promptly those of contrary case. Senor Prefect of the First District:

We, the below signed, being credibly informed that Captain Graham has taken on himself the liberty not only of offering his services to the most excellent Don Manuel Micheltorena, but of 40 men living at this place of Santa Cruz; which was done without the consent of us, who never have offered to Captain Graham or any person or persons our services on any occasion or pretext. Captain Graham in offering the services of 40 men had no other object in view than to deceive the Senor General and involve us in travail and difficulty.

We who are signed below are known not only to the Most Excellent Commander General but to all the officials who are employed in the government of the department and to the inhabitants in general; we place ourselves in no faction which may arise in this Mexican dominion and take no part, direct or indirect, in them, but on the contrary live in the greatest tranquility, following out peaceful vocations, always making it our effort and duty not to offend the laws or disturb the good order which prevails in the community, and making it our interest and desire to procure the goodwill of the nation, holding to that course of conduct which will cause no complaint.

Speaking in respect to Capt. Graham: We renounce and disclaim him as a seditious evil-doer who is constantly disturbing the peace and precipitating other persons into travail and difficulties which have no good cause, and we call upon all Mexican persons not to listen to his insidious disturber of the peace.

There is in my possession the diary of the work done by the pobladores there in the month of December. You will continue giving one man to help the troops in their guard of the coast. This provision is most important.

I have ordered made the iron work for the stocks which you have built and will sent it that you may put it on.

When you are ready to send to the rancho for the herds of swine of the pobladores which are there; an order is attached that that place shall help to recover them and make delivery.

God be with you many years.

Borica to comisionado, Feb. 4, 1799.

There remains in my charge your report of the work done by the colonists during December. You will have them continue their labors and lend a man to assist the soldiers in doing guard duty along the coast. This precaution is extremely important. I have ordered to be made the iron work for the stocks you have constructed and will send it that you may put it on.

Send some one to the rancho for the cattle that have strayed away from the colonists and order him to help to recover them and drive them back. The order for their delivery is inclosed.

With your letter of the 6th I have received the account of corn and beans which have been harvested by the new pobladores and invalidos of your villa. Considering that the quantity is short for a first crop it is necessitated and indispensable that I warn you that, taking consideration of the traits of character of the pobladores, you might give care that there is no lack of sustenance for either married or single, for if it is contrary the results will be bad.

They say there are provisions at the pueblo of San Jose but I give this little credit.

You are at the head in such matters and have the means of knowing beforehand if there is to be lack of sufficient supplies. You can give them pro rata those belonging to the invalidos. You and I will be held responsible, being in charge for the government, in case a representation is made they are without provisions, a point to which you should give great attention.

The pobladores Robles and Narvaez have asked me for a permit to go to the pueblo of San Jose, the first to grind wheat and the other to seek maize. If you have no superior order to procure other things which are in view you may give them the permit they ask, fixing the day for their return and, if they fail in that point, punishing them with eight days in the stocks.

By your communication of the 22nd of this month I am informed that in consequence of my ordes there has been delivered to Corporal Ignacio Vallejo the commission which puts him in charge of the pueblo of San Jose; and by the accounts which include the signatires of both it is shown that Vallejo has received to his satisfaction the archives, stores of munitions and other effects.

When there is built at Santa Cruz a building for temporary occupation you can send for your family. To the end that the buildings may progress you will, with the aid of the mission guard there, have built near their houses a general shelter large enough for 15 or 20 families, even if all together, so that they may be sheltered until they can be better accomodated.

If the new pobladores arrive before the general shelter is finished you will put them at work on it. In the meantime they will accomodate themselves with the families of the troops, or the latter can occupy one or two less houses, giving them to the others.

While this work is being done there are being gathered and manufactured the tools and the required ironwork which wil be sent to you by Lieut. Hermenegildo Sal, with whom you will treat directly concerning their receipt, custody and distribution. The same is true of the rations which you will have to distribute to the new pobladores.

Opportunely there will be sent you some tamed oxen, some breeding cows and all farm tools.

Upon the arrival of the Engineer Don Alberto Cordoba you will obey his ordenes in everything he may require. You will make it a particular merit to carry out the orders and instructions which he may send for the founding of the villa of Branciforte, which may serve for its betterment.

Our Lord be with you many years. Monterey, May 26, 1797.

The general shelters to which I refer in this communication are such as should be used temporarily for the families which may occupy them. Those on the plaza of the villa may be used thus temporarily but should be more permanent and one house for each poblador.

The enclosed letter for Vallejo I am sending with those which go to San Francisco, and the corporal of the mission guard there will deliver them immediately.

Borica to comisionado, March 6, 1799.

With your official communication of Feb. 28th last I have received the report of the labor performed by the colonists during that month.

Apolenarío[sic] Bernal should remain at your village. He can drive there the cattle and sheep belonging to his father so that he can take care of them. There is an abundance of land (at Branciforte) with plenty of grass and water for the cattle of the place.

Inform me what place near the populated center of your Villa would be best, where the colonists could establish a rancho for cattle and horses upon which they could put their own herds, taking turn in looking out for them or arranging between themselves by any such method as they may adopt.

I note that you propose to assist Billela[sic] by giving him such grain as he needs for his subsistence.

In consideration that the new pobladores of your villa, with their accounts balanced for the end of December last past, show a debt of 998 pesos 7 reales, and that which will be advanced to them for rations in the year 1800 will be 840 pesos, as a consequence of which, even though nothing else is given them in the whole year, they will be unable to pay the debt.

It is thus. Various ones receive rations as is decided by the government, but there has been suspended the supplying of cigarros and other small things from the warehouse, as they are not rations nor tools for labor in the field. This is explained to you for your information.

It appears to me excessive, the freight of six reales for each fanega of maize from the pueblo to your villa. The retired sergeant, Macario Castro, tells me that he has been paid the 14 pesos which were sent by the Invalido Buelna. It seems to me that when provisions are necessary from the pueblo of San Jose, either maize or beans, you should send two men and make arrangements about the freight, writing to the comisionado there, and that which is determined pay from your funds.

God be with you many years.

Monterey, Feb. 10, 1800. Hermenegildo Sal.

Sal to Vallejo, Feb. 10, 1800.

In consideration that the new colonists of your Villa Branciforte were owing at the end of December of last year a debt of 998 dollars and seven reales, according to the balance struck, and what will be advanced them in the way of rations this year will be 940 dollars, therefore, even though nothing more should be given to them, they will still be unable to pay what is owing.

It is this way: A number of persons receive rations as it is allowed by the government, because there has been suspended the traffic in cigaritos and other small matters of consupcion[sic], such as are not rations nor articles for the use of the laborer in the field. This I explained to you that you may understand how it is.

It appears to me excessive, the charge of six reales per fanego of corn as freight money to bring it from San Jose to your place.

The retired Sergeant, Marcario Castro[sic], tells me he has received the 14 dollars that were sent by the pensioner Buelna. I think when you are in want of provisions, whether it be corn or beans, it would be well to send two men to San Jose for a quantity, and have an arrangements about freight, which you can do by writing to the comisionado there, and as is determined upon, will be paid from the treasury.

By your official communication of March 31 last, I have received the account of the work at which the residents of your vicinity were employed in that month. With it were the certificates of having complied with the rites of the church, with the exception of that of the family of Bravo, but as it is manifest to you that they have complied with them, it is sufficient to me.

I agree that there should be made a division of the seed for crops among the pobladores, that each one may be obliged to take care of his part, but I charge upon you zeal and vigilance that each one without exception shall exercise the greatest care with it, being responsible for any loss which may result from negligence or carelessness of any of them.

Say to Pinto that on this date I have notified the comisionado of the pueblo (of San Jose) to permit the Carpenter Leocadio to go to the villa (of Branciforte) to make the wagons which you ask recommended.

God be with you many years.

Monterey, April 3, 1799. Diego de Borica.

With your favor of March 31 I have received a report of the labors in which the colonists have been employed during the month and their certificates of communion and confession, with the exception of the Brabo[sic] family, but as it is manifest to you that they have done both, it is sufficient to me.

I concur that there be division made of seed for crops between colonists, that each may be obliged to take care of his part. But I recommend you to be zealous and vigilant that each, without any exception, shall do his part with perfection, holding them responsible for any loss that may occur through negligence or lack of care.

Say to Pinto that at this date I notify the comisionado at San Jose to permit the carpenter Leocadio to be transferred to your place to make the wagons you want.

If the vecinos of your center of population do not arrange for the establishment of a rancho somewhat distant from them for the increase in their herds of cattle and shiip [i.e., sheep -Ed.] gave it no steps in particular. My only purpose was directed to furnishing them a benefit. As Apolinario Bernal does not have the rating of an invalido and has his poor old father needing him so greatly to care for the cattle he has at the pueblo (of San Jose) you may permit him to transfer there to avoid the loss which might result. Narvaez was paid 25 pesos and sent to San Jose to be married. Take notice of my order of Feb. 13 last which treats with the manner and circumstances with which you should concede permits (to travel) to the pobladores who labor in unity. As Barboza complains at putting Matias in his place do not consent to it. You will proceed to carry out that which is outlined in your communication of the 17th of this month. Borica to Moraga. March 27, 1799.

If the colonists of your place do not care to establish a rancho some distance from them on which their cattle and sheep may increase do not give the matter any care. My only object was to promote their interests. As Apolenario[sic] Bernal is not retired from the military service and his poor old father needs him at San Jose to take care of his cattle there, you may permit him to be transferred to that place, that no loss may occur to his father by reason of his absence. Narvaez was paid on account $25 and has gone to San Jose to be married. Please recur to my order of Feb. 13 that speaks of the method and under what circumstances favor may be granted to the colonists who labor in unity. Barboza complains and does not consent that Mattias shall have his place. You should proceed to execute your authority in compliance with your official order of the 17th of this month.

First Constitutional Court.

Under date of the 27th of this month the secretary of the governor directed to me that which I copy verbatim:

Because of the most serious damages which originate in this department by the robbery which occurs commonly of (cueviadera - not in the dictionaries but presumably "place of hides" or perhaps tannery), obliging the governor to order published the edict of Dec. 31 last, observed by the majority of the municipalities, giving them choice at the same time of the practices they should follow under its provisions; the government has decided that from this day the said edict of Dec. 31 last past shall be of no effect; and that the agents of police and the obligation of half a real which had been established shall be done away with.

His excellency will depend upon the vigilance and obligation which the illustrious ayuntamientos may take, to assure in proper manner individual property rights and to end the pernicious robbery of hides which is so much experienced. He will expect observance of the old edict in that there will be no cessation of seeking out means for bettering conditions.

All steps decided upon for handling this matter should be given account of to the government for its approbation.

This order of his excellency is sent to you to the end that it may be made known to the ayuntamiento of this capital, for the carrying-out of that part which concerns it. Protesting to you my consideration.

God and Liberty,

Monterey, May 27, 1844. Manuel Jimeno.

The ayuntamiento of the capital, in session yesterday, ordered transcribed to you the said note for your carrying-out of that part which concerns you and for its due publication.

God and Liberty, Monterey, May 29, 1844.

Florencio Serrano.

His excellency the governor has deigned to honor me with the office ad interim of prefect of this district. In communicating it to you it gives me satisfaction to announce that my vigilance will be for public order for the protection of honorable and industrious men and the punishment of all who depart from those principles of law which this prefecture will follow with constancy and energy.

I count upon the patriotic sentiment of your court to bring this about, and also that you will continue as until now giving proof of its good disposition, which will help this prefecture in the attainment of a serene mind.

I accompany to you a proclamation which has been for this reason directed to the inhabitants of this district, which you will please publish and receive in turn my just appreciation and consideration.

God and Liberty. Monterey, July 30, 1841.

Ignacio Esquer, first constitutional alcalde of the Port of Monterey.

This is to certify: That Don Jose Jose Maria Castro, having presented himself before me soliciting a deposition from Don Martin Aragon relative to accusations of great fault made against him by Don Vincent Avila, the latter appeared as a witness, and after having been sworn in due form and under this gravity promising to speak the truth in any quantity desired, and being questioned, deposed:

That the witness finding himself on the rancho de la Trinidad, in his presence Senor Avila said to Castro that he was a robber, of which assertion he had the means of proving.

Whereupon he agreed to a verbal demand by the said Castro to be present in the port of Monterey on Dec. 14, 1849, to testify with the declarant before my associates of the court, that they might have their statements to the receptor recorded in writing.

Ygnacio Esquer, alcalde. Martin Aragon.

Associates of the court:

Secretary of the Most Excellent Diputacion of Alta California.

To the Reverend Fathers Narciso Duran and Francisco Garcia Diego, prelates of the missions here, I communicate as of this date the following order:

The numerous slaughterings of cattle which are being committed at the various misions and the ruinous manner of carrying them out, with public scandal, has attracted the attention of the Most Excellent Diputacion territorial, and to avoid the great losses in the holdings it has been decided on the 12th of this month on the following preventive measures:

1- The uncultivated lands of the missions shall be partitioned in conformity with the colonization laws.

2- The political head (of California) shall order stopped the numerous slaughterings of cattle which are being done in the missions and only permit those authorized by urgent need.

3- In the case of those permitted it is prohibited that the Reverend Fathers shall contract for their killing by persons who do not belong to the community.

This order of the diputacion I communicate to you that it may be duly complied with in the misiones in your charge, with the provision that it shall be communicated directly to the padres of San Luis Rey, San Gabriel and Purisima, that they shall stop the slaughtering actually under way.

I enclose it to you for your knowledge and that you may observe it, giving a report to this government without fail.

CITIZEN JOAQUIN BUELNA, ALCALDE CONSTITUTIONAL OF VILLA BRANCIFORTE ON THE 14th DAY OF THE MONTH OF DECEMBER 1832.

Having been denounced by the document which appears at the head of this summary information, the Vecino Gervasio Soto is charged with having stolen a cow, for which it is disposed to place him on trial; to take the declarations against the accused Gervasio Soto I name as associate of the court the Citizen Joaquin Castro.

Jose Joaquin Buelna.

Associated at the request of those interested.

Joaquin Castro.

J. Aguila.

In the same day, month and year I had appear to testify to his statement the Citizen Miguel Villa Gran before the associates of the court.

ASKED to swear to God and promise to the nation of the United States of Mexico to speak the truth on the point concerning which I might interrogate him he answered surely.

ASKED his name and position he replied that he is called Miguel Villagrana and his position is that of regidor of this villa.

ASKED how he said that Gervasio Soto had killed a cow of Martin Vela's he said that on the third day of August of this year the alcalde of this villa had summoned him to be present when the said Gervasio, having been accused, told to the alcalde that if he would keep it secret he would tell where he had taken the cow, at which time the alcalde told him yes, to which the accused answered that it was true he had taken

To the alcalde constitutional of Branciforte:

Diego Weeks, before you with proper respect, states that on the 31st of the past month I was at Zayante rancho in proper dealings and while I was engaged in them with Senor William Ware there arrived Captain Graham with his firearm. When he saw me he pointed his gun at the door of the house and when I reached it he began insulting me and asking if I had read the memorial which the Senor General had ordered published.

At the same time he was abusing me and challenging me to fight, to which I responded that he was to keep his distance and that I sought neither to speak nor to have communication with him. He replied with an attack, treating me with offensive words and striking me with the most vicious blows of which he was capable.

Seizing an opportunity to spring to one side I did it and picked up a piece of cut wood two feet long in my defense. Seeing this he made to draw his rifle, but as he thought I had arrived at the door of the house he put it back. I saw then that he had grabbed a stick also but fortunately it was a large one and he missed me.

When he had taken two or three swings at me he let go of the stick and struck me two or three times in the face with his fist. Seeing that he was unable to accomplish anything this way he clinched with me and tried to gouge my eyes out, leaving me as you see entirely disfigured with scratches on the face and with kicks in the side which caused blood to flow from my mouth.

Senor Justice of the Peace of Villa Branciforte and Santa Cruz.

James William Weeks before you declares that on the 27th day of June of this year, being ready to erect the framework of our mill we invited our neighbors to help us, and that while it was in the process of being erected Senor MacViger arrived but did not help, like most of the neighbors, but seated himself, making impertinent observations concerning our labors.

After we finished erecting the framework our neighbors retired to their respective domiciles and some to the Mission Santa Cruz, after which I and my companion, Senor Alberto Moris, having made secure our work, went to the mission.

When we arrived we saw one of our neighbors who had been helping us, vastly drunk and clamorous. As there was present Don Jose Majors, the landlord of the vecino ^molino^ referred to, who was William Barton, we decided it would be well to put Barton in the charge of Senor William Buckle until evening or until he got over his drunkenness.

In the evening my companion helped the said Barton to mount his horse and mounted with him, for the purpose of transporting him to my home. I also mounted a horse with Senor MacViger and went with him. Immediately that we arrived I dismounted and went to work in my field. In a brief moment there arrived my companion with Senor MacViger and while he was securing his horse Senor Barton began a dispute with Senor MacViger without knowing what he was saying, being so drunk.

My companion, hearing the controversy, told Senor MacViger that he had no consideration for a drunk man and tried to separate them, when Senor MacViger struck most cruelly Senor

Barton on the face and body. I went immediately to stop these outrages at my house and when I arrived I asked Senor MacViger how he cam to commit these disorders.

He immediately began to rain kicks and blows upon me and when my companion arrived and commanded him to desist Senor MacViger put his hand in his pocket to draw a weapon (arma de cundo -- I can't find it in the dictionary) with which to cut me and challenged me to mortal combat with him in the presence of my companion, all the while using much offensive and indecorous language. I went promptly into my house, having no desire to place myself on a plane with a lawbreaker. At the same time I sought to secure a (dentro) _____ but was prevented by my companion.

At this time Senor Moris asked him why he had acted up and talked intemperately at my house and struck the vecino in the manner so brutal and scandalous, to which he responded that he was likewise his enemy and that from this time hence forth he should count himself among his enemies, for the reason that he was an enemy of Captain Graham, and that for that reason he had committed these offenses, whereupon he attempted again to strike Senor Barton.

He was not permitted to do so by my companion, who said that the man was under his protection. Then Senor MacViger mounted on his horse and as he retired said that when he encountered us alone he would take satisfaction upon us.

Proceedings of the trial of Francisco Pinto on May 14, 1838, for failing to keep his promise to marry Margarita Castro. The trial was before Joaquin Buelna, alcalde auxiliar of Branciforte, with Feliciano Soberanes, alcalde of Monterey, and Jose Antonio Robles as associates.

Margarita's story, which she signed with a cross, was that Francisco deceived her with promises of marriage and told her after she became pregnant that he would not keep them.

Francisco replied with testimony that Margarita had been indiscreet with Francisco the Italian, Jose Antonio Bazquez, Pablo Salazar, Juan Bojorges, Dionicio Salazar and Francisco Soria.

Macedonio Lorenzana, a regidor, appeared as a witness.

Mentioned but not apparently implicated were Josefa Perez and Clementina Montero.

A faded document attached is a letter from Buelna to Soberanes apparently informing him that Pinto had left Santa Cruz.

Jose Antonio Bolcoff, constitutional alcalde of the jurisdiction of the ayuntamiento lays down these rules for the juez de campo.

Article 1 - It is charged that the juez de campo be vigilant concerning the stock of the vecinos that no one take them who is not the owner, giving satisfaction and confidence.

2 - It is obligatory that the juez de campo in whatever part of his jurisdiction he finds a horse belonging to another remove the saddle and give notice to the alcalde that he may proceed against it.

3 - If in the rodeos he finds cattle branded over other brands he will ascertain who is the evildoer, arrest him and notify the alcalde.

4- If in the fields he finds any stock slaughtered he shall apply to the nearest vecinos for aid that he may seize the delinquents, taking them to the guard room of the consistorial house, giving notice thereof.

5 - If the alcalde encounters in the fields any dead animal, which has been killed by any one who is not its owner, and the animal has young, he will take one part and the juez de campo the other; this will not apply to unclipped mares outside the known corrals not to colts particularly of the herds of others.

(No number 6)

7 - If in the rodeos occurs any dissension over an animal the juez de campo shall calm the parties, giving notification to the alcalde that he may adjudicate the dispute.

First District; court of the First Instance.

There having presented himself in judicial writ the Citizen Nicholas Dodero demanding that Don William Ware complete the contract entered into by both; you will please have appear the said Ware in your court on next Wednesday, of the week of the Passover, bringing with him the contract entered into by the company which labors in Zayante Rancho, as well as the decree of conciliation which was arrived at before me in this pueblo, and also whatever documents he may believe suitable to clear up this affair; with the idea that if the nullification of the contract is not accredited it will remain in prejudice of the rights of the place.

I protest you my consideration and appreciation.

The intent and purpose with which I present this to you is that in my house yesterday, the 12th of this month, there presented themselves the Vecino Nicolas Robles and Secundino of the same name (both brothers) petitioning a passport to present themselves in the mission of San Francisco (account of Jose Castro).

With few words Nicolas said that he was a man indeed of malice and that I was likewise so in my house, and that the passport he asked of me should be given. In the ensuing argument he admitted they continually planned vengeance for the death of their brother, Fulgencio Robles, and declared that my administration of justice I favored my own benefit and person.

I took my rifle in my hand, as they carried similar arms, to avoid the evil which threatened me.

I may cite the Vecinos Francisco Soria, who opposed the impulse which possessed me to take a shot at Nicolas, the one who insulted me, and Nicolas Doderro, who listened from outside to the greater part of the disputing.

I, sir, place this in your consideration as one living in the midst of so great evil would place it before his father. Or perchance this may operate to free me? I beg that I may see my enemies brought to the bar of justice.

The result of the death of Fulgencio, with everything complicated by the affairs of the deceased, is to make my lot an unhappy one, and, on the contrary, compel me to defend myself many times, both with authority as juez and also as an individual who defends his life like every one.

That it may come to no unfortunate conclusion I hope that you will find it well to grant what I have petitioned, giving consideration that I seek to be saved from the perils which threaten. In proportion as the occasion demands for meeting these considerations, I proffer my appreciation and respect.

(No heading or introduction. Apparently the second half of the record o an interrogation concerning the stabbing of Ramon Robles by Eugenio Soto. Francisco Juarez is on the stand.)

And asked if he would speak the truth under oath in the things which might be asked he said he would so speak. Asked what occurred between Ramon Robles and Hujenio Soto on the morning of the 17th of August in the house of Juan Pinto he said that he was behind some trees and heard Ramon Robles say to Hujenio do not slap me in the face and that Hujenio said you are trying to pick a fight and Ramon Robles said he was not trying to pick a fight but you can't slap me in the face and Hujenio said he was a billy goat and Ramon Robles said no son of a harlot can call me a billy goat and Ramon Robles came up to Hujenio and thereupon Hujenio drew his knife and we separated them and I know nothing more.

Asked if he knew of their having a quarrel at any other time he said that he did not know.

Asked if Ramon Robles was the provocateur of the affair he said no or if Hujenio Soto was he said that according to what he had heard and seen yes.

By birtue[sic] of having received a power of attorney from Juan Gonzales conferred upon Joaquin Gutierrez, referring to some horses which Anastacio Garcia took from the herd of the said Gonzales, the latter says that he took charge of it but declares that it was a failure, because of which you will take such declarations as are fitting.

Please answer as quickly as possible.

Monterey, April 1, 1844.

Having received from you a communication in which you direct me to send you a report of the customary diligent practices of this court of my charge in regard to the Vecino Juan Perez, with a statement of the necessary investigations made respecting the robbery of Don Pedro Richards, which are as follows:

On the 2nd of September at sunset I was at my home when there arrived an individual from the residence of the said (Richards) to report a robbery which had occurred there. Immediately responding to the summons I found Senor Juan Perez within the shop, by having entered through the loft, having removed some (tallos — woodwork or reeds) to facilitate his entrance.

Having viewed the establishment I immediately sent him to jail and placed on him a pair of handcuffs to hold him until the said (Richards) could lodge any charges against the offender, which he gave me on the 17th of the past month, in the sum of 150 pesos, according to the list which he gave me, which I remit with this.

During this time the said (Richards) had reached an agreement that the offender might be punished here in this jurisdiction, as penalty for the whole offense, if he paid to Richards according to the value of articles missing from his shop.

Court of the first instance.

There has presented himself in this court of my charge the Citizen Pedro Richar with an obligation in which it is alleged that you are guarantor to pay a certain sum, in virtue[sic] of which you will present yourself as quickly as possible to give him an end to this affair.

This same individual likewise has a demand against the Vecino Francisco Alviso whom also you will give an order to present himself as quickly as possible for the same purpose.

August 21, 1845. (no place given) Francisco Araisa.

Second constitutional court.

Answering your communication of the 9th of April which I have before me I would say that it seems strange to me that you should reproach me for the rectitude with which I manage in carrying out my duties. In the first place you are neither my superior nor a tribunal competent to judge me and in the second place if I conduct myself with rectitude it is because the obligation is thus given me that I should administer justice promptly and completely in all the ways imposed upon me, and as one of those is that I should apply to all the local authorities demanding or asking the prompt appearance of those persons who are wanted, just as you should act with those vecinos who belong to your jurisdiction. If this has been done with urgency it is because the communication which you received was the second one, after you had not deigned to answer the first one, directed to you in the month which has passed.

If it is true that it is well always to use suave methods with the citizens, nevertheless it should not be permitted that they mock the acts of the jueces, refusing to obey them, in which case it is necessary to act with energy.

Therefore I say to you that when the presence of any individual is needed you have not deigned to reply as to the cause for his not appearing, and as I do not possess the gift of divination, it seems to me proper to repeat my notices with some urgency, for the conduct of the authorities should be such as to uphold one another in their acts.

When the presence of Don Guadalupe Castro was desired I sent three notices, at the end of which this individual made the pretext that he was sick, although he was walking the streets, according to information given me by various persons of your jurisdiction. You should have asked the general command for the aid of soldiers and this individual should have been finally made prisoner, but respecting his class as a citizen you avoided this step in order not to injure him.

I hope that this exposition will convince you that you have been in error and that in the future we will walk in accord, after which I will try to prove that as well as demanding exactitude I can likewise afford it when it is called for.

Monterey, April 12, 1844.

It is understood that my complaint was placed before the justice of the demarcation of Santa Cruz and he replied that it was not within his jurisdiction to take cognizance of this affair as it exceeded the limit of his authority. Maritime and land customs house and interim sub-comisariat of this port.

On the 22 of last February you directed to me an insolent note designed more to insult than anything else. By it I see that you have resolved not to collect the tithes, notwithstanding that in my previous communication I had directed you to undertake it.

This was provisional, or more properly, conditional. Senor Castro had agreed to gather them but as he had not found it possible to do so, as his business affairs did not permit, the duty should devolve upon you, for no other individual is more concerned with this than the constitutional alcalde.

This is a case in which a call is made upon you in the name of the great nation to which I have the honor to belong, holding you responsible for losses and payments of small garden crops.

Wherefore I hope that in the absence of more weighty reasons you will hold it well to make your collections, and impost[sic] tithes at Santa Cruz, gathering them as you have been instructed for the transportation to said mission. It is understood that the Senor General should be there within four days and if you do not carry out the collection you will give an account to your superior.

Rafael Castro, vecino of this demarcation, appears and states that on the 29th of last July of 1846, his majordomo, Ysidro Salazar, had been discovered and accused by Jose Jesus Lorenzana, in charge during the absence of the said Salazar, declaring that the little bull which Ysidro alleged was eaten by wolves was really killed by him, he giving me account of it that I might hold everything all right. Lorenzana, however, asserted that Ysidro Salazar had killed a young beef of two or three years bearing no mark.

Wherefore I accuse him of evildoing as I had not given him authority to kill my cattle for himself and because a young beef has disappeared each month.

At that time I suspended him from his position as majordomo until an investigation could be made of the actions of the said Salazar.

Before the other justice on the third of March I secured judgment on one of my sons, Jose Maria Castro, the said judgment being for disobedience, in that he came to my rancho and spoke with the said Ysidro, asking the old chap for a horse, and the latter gave it to him and he left promptly with it. The said horse was of four white feet, of my brand.

In the margin I show the order which the mentioned Majordomo Salazar had, which was that without my signature he was to deliver none of my goods which he had in his charge, to deliver nothing to any one, in which he failed me.

In proof of what I have set forth I have the evidence of Jose Jesus Lorenzana and many other little things which I do not state.

I pray for your good justice, affirming that my complaint is without malice.

Santa Cruz, August 20, 1846. Rafael Castro. -lr-

The only tax which might be collected is a levy of 40 pesos owing to the municipal treasury since the time of Senor Bolcoff. It is certain that Bolcoff passed on to Don Juan Gonzales the said charge due to the treasury as tithes on 103 trees felled, which should have been collected in his time. It does not appear except as a debit in a list of those who were his debtors from whom he was not able to collect, so that he was not in a position to make it good (until the year 21 when he might claim said debt (?)). The only tax which might be collected is that on the store of the referred to employe, but if he refused to pay it might be claimed that the said 40 pesos are recoverable by presentation of the signature of Bolcoff in proof in this court. This fund has never been investigated and in my opinion Bolcoff should satisfy the claim, either principal or interest, and thus the said store tax which the employe, Josiah Belden, owes might be credited to the municipal funds. I am sending to you the official communication and the proclamation which his excellency, the Senor Viceroy of the New Spains, has directed and circulated in all his dominions which tells of the unhappy state in which our beloved monarch and natural lord, King of the Spains and Indies, Don Fernando VII, finds himself by the perfidy of the major traitor of the universe who seeks to place himself in power uninvited over his most intimate friend and ally, His Royal Highness.

This is Napoleon I, intrusive emperor of the French, who, finding himself empowered over our beloved sovereign, kings, padres and other royal persons, forces them to renounce the crown of Spaid and the Indies in his favor.

However, knowledge has come to our nation and the vile nature of the information is known.

Emperor Napoleon has sent powerful armies to drag our adored Fernando from power by force of arms, swearing not to delay until this is accomplished.

God and the Holy Mother, patron of the Spains and the Indies, have protected so far our holy aims, as has been demonstrated. Already has our army destroyed 160,000 Frenchmen who, under cloak of alliance, were in Spain. We have received this information, if not word of our army entering France, although we hope for that result.

As his excellency the senor viceroy says, we are not able to aid our brothers with arms because of the great distance, but with a small donation we may help to pay the troops who are giving their blood.

That this should be done to aid our forces, in love for mother country, religion and sovereign we assert, for which purpose our alcalde and regidores met and read this communication, that of his excellency and the proclamation. Immeidately an order was issued to the guard and there were summoned to meet all the people of this vicinity, including the militiamen and invalidos, to whom the same documents were read and an exhortation made.

Most of them appeared, to contribute what they pleased, of money, meal, maize or beans, saying they would pay from their crops in time, and giving orders that the value of what they offered be supplied by this community.

I am subscribing a list specifying what donation each individual offered and a duplicate is being sent to you for you to remit to his excellency according to order.

Of this communication, of that of his excellency and of the proclamation you should make a copy for your archives, and at the continuation of each year after this you should return these to me with the greatest promptitude.

God be with you many years. Monterey, Feb. 26, 1809.

Filed in the archives.

This copy is made from the original and made public in this Villa de Branciforte on March 3, 1809.

Referring to your majesty's official letter and the proclamation which you have addressed to us. In all your dominions[sic] will represent the unhappy state in which our beloved monarch, Don Ferdinand VII, King of Spain and the Indies, now finds himself through the perfidy of that traitor who is capable of betraying his most intimate friend and who invited himself to become allied with your royal highness.

This is Napoleon I, intrusive emperor of the French, who, finding our beloved sovereign, priests and other royal persons very powerful, now forces them to renounce the crown of Spain and the Indies in his own favor.

But notice of this having reached our territory we know your cautious mode of proceeding; that powerful armies are ordered to take our beloved Ferdinand from power by force of arms, swearing not to halt until attaining their purpose.

God and the Holy Mother, patron saint of Spain and the Indies, has protected our royal purpose, as will be demonstrated. Already our Spanish army has destroyed 170,000 French who, under pretext of alliance, were within Spain. We hope to be advised that our armies have entered France.

As your majesty says, we are unable to aid our brothers with arms, on account of the great distance, but it may be that we may, with a free will contribution, help to pay the troops who are giving their blood.

So, for the love of our mother country, religion and sovereign, there met in my office the alcalde and regidores, who issued a proclamation and ordered out all the army, including the militia and reserves, publishing it for the purpose of getting them to contribute.

I rely upon your spending the money well. They will, in time, pay from their crops.

Your majesty will receive a list specifying each individual who offers a contribution. Signed duplicates will be remitted to your majesty. Your majesty will make a copy for your own files.

Your majesty may have confidence in those whose names are published. The lists will be forwarded to me by the commissioner of Villa Branciforte with the greatest promptness.

May God give your majesty many years.

In consequence of the notice which you gave me on the 13th of the present month of the death of the alcalde in this port, Juan Jose Soria, it is ordered that the second regidor and the secretary of the ayuntamiento in your villa should prepare an exact inventory of the known property interests of the deceased, all of his possessions in the field such as instruments and tools for farming, furnishings in his house and all those things known to belong to him. To accomplish this you will secure the help necessary to comply with this commission.

Regarding the villa Branciforte in the jurisdiction of my charge:

It is needful to give due compliance to the order which the Com. General Jose M. Echeandia has directed to me, in which it is commanded that there be elected a diputado and an alternate to the sovereign congress, by a popular vote.

Holding this a matter of major importance, I hope that you will order gathered together all residents who may be in your villa and direct them to come with the greatest brevity to this presidio, to join with all other vecinos who should meet together.

I hope that you will give due compliance to this superior order.

South Sub. comisariat of Monterey of Alta California:

The maize, wheat and beans which you have in your possession from the past year you will deposit in the mission of Santa Cruz that they be embarked on the Catalina, which should arrive within two or three days. With reference to the tithes on cattle, you will also hold them for the commissioner who will present himself to you, that you may meet his demand without excuse or pretext, with all classes of animals which pay tithes, such as beef cattle, horses and sheep.

With regard to the crops of this year you are charged to collect the tithes as they are harvested, placing them in Santa Cruz mission the same as the others which you now have.

In reply to the two official notes from you and the private letter of the 13th of this month, which I received, I would say for myself and in the name of the first alcalde, that with respect to the abuses of which are complained, I send you a bando which you will publish and give careful observance to remedy all such things. If any one should commit the same offenses against Rodriguez you need only send them to this court if you have means to do so, and if not give me notice and troops will be sent for them.

You will send me Gervasio Soto and Francisco Soto and all those who may be able to clear up the matter, in order to bring it to an end.

In regard to all the other individuals, as there was no complaint on the part of Rodriguez at the proper time, that which you should do is to hold them there and be vigilant concerning their conduct, and the first time that they do anything punish them.

That your court may have funds, you will collect from all those who sell aguardiente four reales a month, as is the established rule, and the fines which may be imposed for carrying edged weapons, together with those which are imposed for scandals.

Approval is given to the nomination of regidor and juez de campo, to which end I send you the official document which will authorize them to carry on their functions.

You will require that Gervasio Soto pay that which he owes, which is most just, but it would not be so to oblige that he pay with money which he does not have. You will receive from him crops or horses, or if it is possible he may pay with personal work in case he has nothing else, and it will be understood by the creditor thus, because there is no law which obliges Gervasio to pay precisely in cash.

As to Gervasio, you will require that he make amends to Soria for the credit which he took from his family, and as to Francisco Soria because he did not likewise give satisfaction for the same reason. Both were heated and shouting and said things which they did not intend, and, as is the case in a situation of this kind, lost their reason. You will see that Soria likewise makes amends to Soto and that the affair is not brought up again.

If by the month of September, in the time of the harvests, Soto has not satisfied the debt from Thomas, you will decide it as seems best to you, without need of referring the matter here. This settles the matter of Gervasio Soto.

To the minister general of San Blas I have directed of this date an official communication of the following tenor:

In conformity with the ruling of the royal tribunal of accounts, at the request of the fiscal of the royal treasury, and with the advice of the assessor general, there has been resolved a decree of this date, that there shall be admitted in this department, without serving as a precedent, the 25 pounds of hemp which the governor of California remitted in the past year. That he may give greater application to the matter he will be notified of his shortage with the purpose that he will make up his beneficios, paying for them at the price of 3 5/8 pounds for each one, and increasing his shipments so that by his methods the interests of both parties may be served.

Likewise it has been resolved that the proper course, following the information from you on January 10, 1799, it is that because of the knowledge he has as to the matter of growing of the crop and the benefits of the said production, the Condestable Joaquin Sanchez will be transferred on the first opportunity to the Californias and placed at the disposition of the governor of that peninsula, in order that he may employ his knowledge of the matter to perfect as much as possible this branch of industry, with the idea that you should propose the proper time and advise opportunity the departure of the condestable.

Memorias to California will receive at the waters edge all the hemp which may be offered them, to take it to San Blas, paying its value in cash, which the paymasters of the Presidios will facilitate. The quality of the shipments will be determined by this treasurer's office, although, to avoid claims, it will give notice before the admission by them by the pursers of the said barques, who will judge if it is in good condition and of the kind which should be to answer the use for which it is intended.

All of which I advise you for your information and compliance as to those parts which concern you, notifying you for your information and compliance as to those parts which concern you, notifying you for your observance of that which pertains to you, that this same resolution has been communicated to the commander of this same port and to the governor interim of the Californias.

Don Diego Borica, held on Oct. 3, 1798, No. 618, with the reason for the said remittance. I transmit it to you for your information and compliance in that part which concerns you, notifying you that as soon as the Condestable Sanchez arrives he should be sent to the most appropriate places, where he will establish the cultivation of hemp. You will give successive reports of what is grown.

Court of peace of the Pueblo of San Jose.

Sebastian Rodriguez, retired sergeant of the Monterey company, has a horse (saino - perhaps sane, sound) Zaino (chestnut) branded and vented as of the mission of San Antonio, which he says is his and showed here by documents, one given by Don Jose Abrego and the other by Juan Rios, which were given him at the death of Unuro (?) Soto. I hope you will find it well to make known to the said Senor Rodriguez the contrary claims to the said horse. I also hope that you will serve justice by devising means to establish to whom the horse belongs.

San Jose, May 21, 1842. Antonino Buelna.

Court of the first instance:

On the 21st of last month I directed to you a notice advising you that Don Sebastian Rodriguez had been named as depository of the goods of the deceased Juan Romero. I received today, however, a note from him excusing himself from this duty and giving his reasons. You will see that the said goods are received by Senor Ancelmo Garcia, although with oversight by Rodriguez, whose original inventory, signed by you and attested by witnesses, you will send me with the greatest dispatch.

In my notice I ordered you to send immediately the class of prisoner which is Senora Juana Hernandez, preventing her from having communication or relation with any person, to fit into the sequel-summary which I am drawing up in the investigation of the death of Juan Romero. Already eight days have passed without you having done so, and without this the court of my charge has had not the least notice of what has happened. For this I hold you responsible for the delay which may result to the said summary, unless you send as quickly as possible the said Senora Juana under custody of two vecinos of your community.

Dios --- (signature and date on another sheet which is missing)

The hand writing is that of Florencio Serrano and the subject matter puts it around May, 1844.

You will appear with all possible brevity in this court, ordering Don Jose Bolcoff to do the same, bringing with you a document made by you, signed with authority, warning the said Bolcoff that for the least delay in complying with this determination he will be held culpable for lack of obedience and subject to that which has place in the laws.

Monterey, Oct. 4, 1842.

The captain of the Frigate Correo has represented to me that in virtue of his having a permit in San Francisco to sell his rum, paying duty, he had negotiated to do the same in your jurisdiction; that he had never intended to evade the duty not to land contraband and therefore the buyer of the said rum would be blameless.

Because of this instruction from the Gefee Superior Politico you may deliver to the interested Guillermo Boda Bocle the two seized barrels. You should make known, however to the people of your vicinity that the rum is prohibited and that none which may be smuggled should be bought, for the prohibition in your vicinity is not relinquished, notwithstanding the fact that in San Francisco the permit to sell was abused.

But your predecessor having failed ceased to function as alcalde and the Padre Real having been released from the duty of collection, it is necessary that you charge yourself with it, as was the former practice, for which purpose the sub commissario of this port, to whom is assigned the collection of the products of the tithes, will send you the orders and proper instructions for this particular.[sic]

The law purposes to separate the three powers which govern the Mexican nation so that there shall not be confusion in the functions of one or the turn for negotiations by the others. Therefore when complaint was made against the foreigner Santiago Bocla you should have directed it to the court of my charge which is that which takes exclusive cognizance of civil and criminal suits in the primary instance. Bearing this in mind you will in the future distinguish between various matters which belong to each functionary, to avoid duplicating work in offices and delay in affairs. Monterey, Aug. 4, 1842. His excellency the minister of war and marine, in a circular of June 1 last, stated to me that which I copy:

"The attached exposition which in the number of 11 copies I have the honor to enclose to you; in the meantime with authentic and indubitable information I seek other means most extensive and circumstantial, having for object preventing the sinister impressions which the enemies of order endeavor to have conceived from the present steps which this government has found itself necessitated to take to guard against the revolts which some individuals, abusing his high character and attitude, purpose to disturb the public tranquility, deferring their exalted sessions from the date firmly fixed by the constitution.

"His excellency, the president, who in the delicate circumstances which the disturbers of the public repose have artfully brought about, flatters himself that he has acted on the one basis by which he might assure the stability of our institutions. I hope that in your good judgment and discernment you will give all zeal to the indicated measures, without regard to suggestions actuated by the spirit of factionalism."

This I convey to you for your information, accompanying it with one of the copies of the exposition to which he refers.

To the alcalde constitutional of Monterey:

Seeking to give due compliance to your orders that Senora Rosalia Vasquez be presented with the testament of the deceased, his wife has given her consent and accepted as well done that which you well disposed.

I inform you when the principal of this property, commenced with three varras of hers and one of her son, from them they have produced the holdings which to date exist from their goods. The said Senora said that (she) found proper and gave her consent to the partition of it all between her and her son, without prejudice between them, so that with the greatest harmony it may be divided by the justice.

The said senora did not present herself because she said that she was entirely poor and not able to present herself for that reason.

The Senora Clementina Montero has presented herself to me complaining that you have not desired to grant her a hearing on her complaint against Senora Rosalia Vasquez for having announced in a public place that which redounded to the injury of her credit and dishonor to her marriage. Said Senora Clementina complains that you gave as the only reason for not granting her a hearing the bad conduct which she may have had in other times, a thing which certainly is most improper in a juez and contrary to the impartiality which should be observed in the administration of justice. You are informed that you are not to judge of other times when she was a wife, even though she was not in that day satisfactory to her husband, and you should give hearing to her petition, citing the other party to it, and asking what she has to say, to the end that you may carry out the legal proceedings necessary for the clearing up of the truth and the punishment of those found delinquent, or demand satisfaction as public as the insult.

I order that you (and I hope that you will comply with the exactitude which you have rendered up to the present) will conduct yourself in all matters with consideration that it is for this purpose that the jueces exist, and that if the citizens do not complain to them the social order will be overthrown and each individual will do as appears best to him.

I also wish that you will have appear in this court Fulgencio Robles.

Don Rafael Castro has presented himself in this court with a writing issued by the prefect of this district to inform me in an action brought against the Senor Gicos (?). As in all suits this should follow the course of the law and you should cite in your court one and the other party with their proper "buenos hombres" to reach a judgment in conciliation, and in case both parties have not agreed you will give the proper certificate of non-agreement to be presented with their witnesses and corroborators to the court of the first instance, which is in my charge, to end the suit. You are notified that none of the parties should be excused from appearing.

Second court of Monterey:

On the 22nd of this month the Citizen Gil Sanches, vecino of your Villa, presented himself to me, setting forth that complete and impartial justice according to his rights had not been administered to him; and that, moreover, the hides which had been seized did not conform to the proclamation which had been made relative to the proceedings and retention of pelts. This I reprimand you not to exercise your office in your residence especially in acts of little importance. You take the necessary steps to deliver the hides to their proprietary and legitimate owner, according to the ruling of the bando which I had the honor to remit to you on August 10 of the past year. At the same time you should take the necessary steps which may be proper for the punishment of whomever may be found criminal, avoiding (exercising you limited authority) that there be sent to this point affairs of little importance, as you were named for that purpose at your place.

There also presented to me the said senor a statement that on divers occasions he had applied to you complaining against Gerbacio Soto over a debt which he owed him and which had not been attended to. Concerning this I instruct you to be rightly just and pacific in carrying out your obligations, as dthe said senor has held that with which to pay this amount according as indicated by his representative.

Jose Figueroa, brigadier general of Mexican troops, commanding general inspector and chief superior politico of the territory of Alta California.

By the secretary of internal relations there has been directed to me on Jan. 4 last the supreme order with the accompanying order received by the last mail from the interior:

First secretary of state, department of the interior -- The supreme government has taken notice that the cholera morbus which has wrought such havoc in the countries where it has struck, has appeared in the state of Chiapas. This situation has come to the attention of the president, who fears that it may extend to all of the republic, and believing that one of his most principal duties is to prevent the evil conditions which occasion this contagion he has ordered me to notify you that there has been held to be one of the best preservatives against the cholera, the cleanliness of the streets as well as of the habitations. You are directed to recapitulate to all the steps concerning the cleanliness and policing of streets, plaza, etc, which have been in effect until now and which you will publish anew, directing the most excellent ayuntamiento of this capital to require the most exact compliance, doing the same with the territory in its vicinity[sic], to the end that each one shall take care that the interior of his house is clean, without permitting the accumulation of filth or other material which may putrify and infect the air.

He also orders me to inform you that it has been observed by some German physicians that the use of a thin plate or medal[sic] of copper which touches immediately the skin will preserve from this contagion, which bit of information the Senor Andres del Suo has (more) communicated. You should give it to the public to instruct the people of this so simple means which presents itself and which offers no one inconvenience, as the public can put it into practice and free itself from this so terrible a disastrous disease. I transcribe this order to you for your information and compliance in that part which concerns you."

In compliance with this superior order and to preserve these inhabitants from the terrible scourge of the epidemic which threatens us, it has been resolved that there be observed the preventions which follow:

1 - There shall be observed most rigorously all the methods of policing which to this date have been dictated by municipalities and government for the cleanliness and healthfulness of the pueblos.

2 - There shall be observed exactly the method, preservative and curative, for colera morbus by the second assistant of the military sanitary body, Don Manuel el Alca, which is circularized in a separate booklet, by the alcaldes where there are no military commandants the circulars shall be sent to the missions, pueblos and ranchos.

3 - Each citizen shall take care that, entirely, the interior of his home, as in the street and his immediate vicinity, shall be maintained clear and cleanly; that the gutters, kitchen garbage receptacles, refuse heaps, latrines and other places which are of bad odor are kept covered and clean on the outside; that in the patios, houses, corrals or streets there be no standing water to corrupt and infect the air; that the manure, excrement and dung of animals and filth in general, all debris and rubbish, be transported to the greatest distance possible from the houses and burned; that the houses be whitewashed within and without and that board floors be laid where feasible. Those who contravene this order shall pay a fine of one peso.

4 - The ayuntamientos and, where there is none, the corresponding authorities shall order laid out burial grounds of sufficient capacity and at a place retired from the population where the winds will not be noxious. Conformity with this is ordered by the law.

5 - It shall be the responsibility of the alcaldes and military commanders to see that the jails, plazas and all places of the interior of the communities are maintained with the cleanliness and cleanness which is ordered in the houses of the citizens.

6 - It shall equally the responsibility of the mission padres that the missions in their charge and the habitations of the neophytes be kept in the same neatness and cleanliness, keeping them so with all the resources at their disposition.

7 - As wet and cold are among the most powerful causes of the spread of this disease it is charged that with specialty shall be protected the lower belly and feet, covering them with cloths of wool which shall be changed when wet or dirty. The feet shall also be washed in hot water and shoes and boots always worn. As staying up late and being exposed to the night air are likewise noxious it is charged that patients should retire early to their homes and guard against the cold and the air of the nights and mornings. Any one found at 8 o'clock at night and thereafter in taverns, public gaming places or balls shall suffer the penalty of four days on the public works.

liquors, except that it shall be permitted from 11 o'clock in the morning until 3 in the afternoon, and in urgent cases as a remedy. This is especially recommended to the vigilance of the police.

9 - As fumigation is one of the preservatives of major efficiency against cholera, it is charged that all vecinos for the benefit of the public shall burn in the streets horn or thick hide or whatever other material is fitted to purify the air; within the houses fumigation shall be used when it is proper.

10 - As unhappily the actual epidemic has a period of asphyxiation in which the cadaverous symptoms have the appearance of death, it may occur that persons may be buried alive, or that death may come in a moment of favorable reaction when the patient is completely shut up in the box in which he is being carried away. Therefore no one shall be buried less than 24 hours after death, nor placed in the boxes in which the bodies are carried away, and the boxes shall not be closed until they are taken to the place of the grave, and at that place they shall be opened by those doing the burying. Any one violating this will be punished according to the judgment of the alcalde.

11 - As experience has shown that excesses in eating and drinking intoxicants aggravate the cholera morbus, sobriety is recommended, and that there be chosen the most nourishing articles, such as meat well broiled or roasted; without much grease; fish; eggs and bread well fermented and baked; potatoes of good quality; garvansos [garbanzos?], lentils, havas [favas?] and peas, and all legumes; but watery salt fish,

12 - To guard the communities from the malign contagios it is warned that the burial of those interred should be deep, at least two and a half varras. The ayuntamiento will name a comisionado who will be responsible for compliance with this order.

13 - For the present and until the disappearance of the epidemic of cholera, there is prohibited the tolling of bells and all that which saddens as is customary to denote the last hour of those stricken ones who are buried.

14 - In Monterey all citizens who find themselves attacked by the cholera shall solicit the joint facilities of this capital at the time of the commencement of the disease. Those who can not be cared for with assistants and medicine in their homes shall be taken to the established hospital where all will be received according to this order and where will be given full ministrations to all classes.

Citizen Jose Bolcoff, juez de paz constitucional of Villa Branciforte and Santa Cruz, for the better order and regulation in the policing of the habitants of the villa, has held it well to dispose the observation of the following articles:

1 - No one may carry forbidden arms within the community nor cause any scandals by reason of intoxication or other cause, under the penalty of five to twenty pesos fine, and in its lack, eight days to one month in prison or on the public works.

2 - No one may sell liquor of any class until after the conclusion of mass; doing so will subject the person who sells it to the penalty given in the preceding article.

3 - No person may open a hole (well?) within the community except in case of necessity and with the knowledge of the authority, and he must enclose it at the time of opening it, and cover it when there is no longer need for it.

4 - All individuals who may have livestock or field cattle shall present within eight days from the publication of this bando the brand of his iron for registration in the proper book and shall receive a ticket of authority to prove it is registered as required. They shall pay at the time of receiving the ticket the sum of 20 reales as municipal taxes which will validate the registration.

5 - No one may hold a matanza nor slaughter a single head of stock within the community except at a distance of at least 125 varras, having care at the time to get rid of the waste portions as far away as possible and to pay at the same time one real to the public funds for each animal slaughtered.

6 - No person may enter upon property which he does not own for any business of the fields, neither to take away or drive about cattle, whether they own it or not, without permit or license from the owner. This ruling covers all lands of the community and anything so done must be with the knowledge of the juez de campoo or in his absence with that of the alcalde. Any person contravening this article shall pay a fine or eight pesos or serve one month in prison.

7 - No one may discharge fire arms in the community, or be abroad at night on the streets after 10 o'clock, unless it is an urgent case and with the knowledge of the authority.

8 - No one may kill or sell cattle, without previous knowledge of the jueces de campo, who shall give the permit. Any one contravening this order shall be punished with a penalty of a fine of five pesos for each animal.

9 - No one of the vicinity shall give a baile [dance] without the knowledge of the juez, and he who does shall be fined eight pesos. The persons who break this bando or any of its articles by infraction of any of the penalties established shall be subject to whatever the authorities may deem proper to apply for all the infractions.

Santa Cruz, Jan. 10, 1846. Jose Bolcoff.

Pio Pico, interim governor of the department of the Californias, be it known:

To avoid the inconveniences which necessarily result from the instructions set forth in article 13 of the law of elections of June 19, 1845, it is decided in accord with the most excellent assembly to decree the following:

1 - In the nomination of primary electors, which by the communities of the department should be done by the second Sunday of next August, the following order should be observed: Nominations shall be by Sonoma and its district, 1; San Francisco and the contra costa, 3; San Jose de Guadalupe, 5; San Juan Bautista, 1; Branciforte, 1; Monterey, 8; San Luis Obispo, 1; Santa Barbara, 8; City of Los Angeles, 12; San Juan Capistrano, 1; San Diego, 3; and the frontier of Bajo California, 2.

2 - The primary electors shall gather in the headquarters places of the partidos, according to article 11 of the aforementioned law of June 19, 1843, to select, each of them, two secondary electors, with the exception of the partido of Los Angeles, which will name 3 and San Diego 1.

3 - All these juntas shall in all matters observe those things set forth by the law of June, 1843, with the exception of those matters set forth in the two preceding articles. The secondary electors shall meet in this city, capital of the department, the last Sunday in September, as provided in article 16 of the same law.

Wherefore I order this published, circulated and given due compliance.

Given in the city of Los Angeles, July 12, 1845.

Pio Pico. Jose Maria Covarrubias, Sec.

To the juez of Santa Cruz:

Jose Arana, vecino of this population, before you with due respect and as one of high place, in rights states that there being no other road by which it is possible to travel with carretas to Monterey except by the rancho of Senora Martina Castro, behind (or beside) the house of Senor Ricardo, where the carretas pass because there is absolutely no other way, and the Senor Folcado came out to me on the highway and stopped me from passing, saying with harsh words that the carretas might not pass there; they they might go over the hills, or to the devil; that if I tried to go by this road it was closed.

I appear to put my complaint in proper form so as not to lose the right which, in my belief, exists; that this is a Camino Real, for the population here, and that no one may impede it, as there is no other way that can be traveled. Any one who accidentally cuts down his crops may pay for the damage he may cause, but Senor Folcado does not seem to me empowered to go out to the road and stop one's passage, much less do so with insults, for each one has his rights and hard words are not necessary.

I humbly beg that you rule the road to be open, that it may be traversed with carretas and that at the same time you charge him with the evil doings and the way he treated me as result of having stopped my passage, and in this you will receive gratitude for adjudicating as necessary.

Jose Arana.

Manuel Rodriguez, First Constitutional Alcalde, to the inhabitants of the Mission of Santa Cruz:
 In order that all may enjoy the benefits of the water, it has been held well that the following be observed:
 1 - On Monday in the morning there may take the water for irrigating, from six in the morning until 12 of the day, Don Nicolas Dodero, and after that until six in the evening, Don Rafael Castro.
 2 - On Tuesday, in the morning, Don Juan Gonzales, and for the afternoon Dona Gracia Rodriguez.
 3 - On Wednesday, in the morning, Don Antonio Rodriguez, and in the afternoon, Don Juan Perez.
 4 - On Thursday, in the morning, Don Guillermo Vocle, and in the afternoon Don Roman Rodriguez.
 5 - On Friday, all day, the gardener of the mission garden may take the water.
 6 - Those individuals of whom the preceding articles speak shall under no pretext take the water more hours than those designated, and those who contravene the order shall be fined that which the alcalde, either first or second, may hold it well to impose.
 To bring this to the notice of the interested persons, it is ordered that it be published as a bando and posted in the accustomed places.
 Santa Cruz, May 11, 1844. Manuel Rodriguez.

Jose Figueroa General de Brigada dela Republica Mejicana Comandante General Ynspector y Gefe Superior Politico del Territorio dela Alta California.

La Ecma Diputacion Territorial en seccion de este dia se sirvio aprovar en todas sus partes el dictamen presentado por su comision de Gobierno cuyo tenor es el siguiente:

"Ecmo Sor: La comision de Gobierno espone: que los inopinados acontecimientos que tan justamente han llamado la atencion publica, fueron presentados en su verdadero punto de vista, y de el ecsamen prolifo quese ha hecho de ellos resulta: que resuelto por el Supremo Gobierno la Separacion del mando politico del Militar nombro para el primer encargo al Sor D. Jose Maria Hajar cuyo personage arrivo a San Diego el primero de desiembre procsimo pasado, conduciendo a demas, una colonia de personas de ambos sexos, con el caracter de director de ella. El mismo supremo Gobierno por causas que no espresa y en vio de sus atribuciones manda, que no se entregue el mando al Sor Hajar, y que el Sor General D. Jose Figueroa continue desempenando aquel encargo. Este indicente seha traslucido al publico de una manera imperfecta; seha tergiversado el sentido de la orden suprema, y seha atribuido a un cammbio de sistema intentado por el Presidente dela Republica: tales especies y otras invectivas sehan hecho valer en publico para estraviar la opinion, harto tiempo manifestada en favor dela separacion delos mandos: Un suceso de tanta importancia, hera preciso que alarmara los animos: se tratan delas livertades patrias y dela suerte de este Territorio, y nadie puede ser indiferente al ventilar el ejercicio

Cumplase pues por ahora la orn suprema en cuestion y habremos llenado nuestro dever dando un testimonio publico, de nuestros amor al orn y ala justicia. Hagase al mismo tiempo una esposicion al supremo Gobierno para que se digne resolver la separacion del mando politico, proponiendole esta corporacion una o mas personas delas que considere aptas para desempenar ese destino y nos atrevemos a promosticar el mejor resultado. El Sor Figueroa impulsado de su Patriotismo ofrece espontaneamente dejar al Gobierno Politico si asi combiene ala tranquilidad del Territorio, sometiendose alos resultados y responsavilidad que pueda sobrevenirle; pero la tranquilidad publica esta asegurada bajo el mando de este senor, y no hay merito para hacer esa variacion. La Diputacion que observa de serca su conducta y que vela por el bien procomunal, save que no ha desmerecido la confianza publica, y apoyada en este concepto deve continuarle el reconocimiento a reserva de llamarlo al orn si llegare a estraviarse. Autorizado el Sor Hijar con la doble investidura de Gefe Politico y director dela colonia que ha traído en su compa, vemos quela superioridad le retira el Poder del primer encargo y se desentiende el segundo. La comision pudiera considerarlo como inherente al primero, y destituido de ambos al mismo tiempo por virtud dela precitada suprema orden; pero atendida altenor dela letra opina que puede continuar enla comision especial de director dela colonia queha traído, como espresa su nombramiento, para lo cual sele ministraran delas Misiones los aucilios aque pueda estenderse el Gefe Politico, sin perjuicio delos indigenas y las demas atenciones anecsas a dichas fundaciones; pues las erogaciones delas colonias deve sufrirlas o el fondo piadozo llamado de California, segun el decreto de (more) [continued on Card #C 1045]

Sentados estos incontestables principios, la comision es de sentir que se suspenda la ejecucion delas Misiones, distribuirlos y realisarlos, y que se represente al supremo Gobierno con insercion de este dictamen, pidiendole quese digne revocar esa providencia; quelos bienes delas Misiones sean distribuidos alos indios, y en obgetos desu aprovechamiento por ser los unicos duenos: que entre tanto se auciliara con parte de dichos bienes alos colonos bajo la condicion de que se reintegren a sus duenos del fondo piadoso de California o de la Hasienda Federal. De estos antecedentes se deduce, que no se deven poner a disposicion del Sor Hijar los bienes delas Misiones, por que no deviendo reasumir el mando de Gefe Politico, tampoco deve entender enla ejecucion dela ley de secularisacion: las instrucciones que presento, espresamente dice su encavezado "instrucciones a que deve arreglar su conducta D. Jose Maria Hijar Gefe Politico dela Alta California y director dela colonizacion de esta y dela baja". El sentido literal de estas prevenciones, no deja duda en que lo autorizavan como Gefe Politico y de ninguna manera como director de colonizacion, cuyo nombramiento no la da jurisdiccion politica: no tiene atribuciones detalladas por ninguna ley y el supremo Gobierno apoyado enlas vigentes sobre colonisacion, solo de ha delegado la facultad de conducir la colonia, establecerla y distribirle terrenos: eso consta enla Suprema orden de 16 de Julio de 1833 y enlas instrucciones de que hemos hecho mencion; pero es necesario repetir que dichas instrucciones le fueron (more) [continued on Card #C 1047]

En resumen su comision especial es de director dela colonia y esta si puede ejercerla poniendose de acuerdo con dicho Gefé Politico dequien deve recibir instrucciones y los auxilios necesarios, en consomancia delas ordenes supremas relativas a este negocio. Los colonos merecen nuestra consideracion y han marchado bajo la proteccion del supremo Gobierno: seran atendidos y distinguidos de total conformidad a las promesas dela superioridad, pues la variacion dela oersona que ejerce la autoridad politico, no deve influir en consta dela suerte de estas familias que apoyadas en lafe publica, han venido a vivir con nosotros; les prodigaremos nuestro aprecio y la confraternidad de hermanos al abrigo dela paz, les hara sobre llevar las privaciones dela soledad: Los Californios Son hospitalarios y partiran con gusto su fortuna entre todas las gentes quese aserguen a sus nogares. The answer with the Padre Antonio Real gives you, according to the note which you will send, asking information according to the official acts sent to you the 25th of last month, should be in writing, and the same is true of the statement from Joaquin Buelna. You will send the demand, as instructed, to both, giving Joaquin Buelna the order of the prefecture. The statement of both should be sworn to and sent here.

I am returning to you your official communication, because it was not accompanied by the information asked, and I expect your compliance, efficacious and exact, with what is ordered, sending with the greatest brevity the statements and documents which are asked of you anew.
