

Rowland Card Collection Database

Through the course of their research, the Rowlands created over nine thousand index cards that capture their notes on the history prominent figures and locales of Santa Cruz County. This set of 9,327 index cards has been transcribed and indexed. This document contains the transcriptions of these cards.

This document contains harmful language which was used by either the original creators or the prior stewards of the materials in this collection. Library staff made the decision to retain and repurpose this description because it may provide important context about its creators, custodial history, and/or source. We are committed to describing materials in a manner that respects those who create, are represented in, and interact with the collections we steward, as well as preserving the original context of collection materials. Ethically managing archival description is an ongoing and iterative practice, and we welcome your feedback and questions at speccoll@library.ucsc.edu.

A-1	97.01	People- Alzina to Amos	ALZINA Francisco. Born at Port Majon in the island of Minorca on Nov. 31, 1821. His boyhood was spent on this island and on the adjacent coast of Spain near the port of Barcelona. When he was 18 years old Spain was torn by insurrectionary wars and conscription was general. He was one of the victims of conscription [sic], compelled to enter the army and fight without pay. At that time there lay in the harbor of Barcelona the old United States frigate "Constitution" under command of Commodore Elliott, bound for Norfolk, Va. To young Alzina it seemed to offer an escape from a hated bondage and he stole away one night and boarded the vessel and was soon out to sea. The voyage was uneventful, the Constitution only touching at Madeira until they reached Norfolk, where they [continued on card 97.2]

Here Alzina came [sic] acquainted with Commodore Chauncey, who was president of the naval board of officers for the marine hospital and had a handsome residence in Washington. He kept Alzina constantly with him with great consideration and affection. After the death of Commodore Chauncey, Commodore Morris, another officer of the board, took Alzina under his charge. Morris was soon ordered to Naples, with frigate "Delaware" to bring out the bronze statue of Christopher Columbus designed for the city of Washington and cast in Italy. Alzina accompanied him in this trip and leaving the vessel at Gibraltar went to visit his mother at his old home near Barcelona. He remained at home a short time and then rejoined the Delaware which soon started to the United States with the statue as her cargo. They had a very rough voyage and finally arrived at Norfolk minus the sails and masts.
A-1	97.03	People- Alzina to Amos	[ALZINA - continued from card 97.2] Soon after this Commodore C.C. Turner, an old friend, was ordered to Mazatlan and the California coast in command of the sloop-of-war Ada as rumormongers [sic] of trouble with Mexico began to fill the air. Alzina accompanied him on this trip and they arrived at Monterey in 1846. Alzina soon went to Santa Cruz where he accepted a position as clerk for Judge Blackburn. On May 29, 1848, he was married to Mary Charlotte Gonzales. The marriage service was performed by Father Anza and Carmen Doacy supported the bride while Thomas Fallon was best man. Alzina was first sheriff of Santa Cruz county and held his office at a time when its history was full of adventure. He died at Santa Cruz April 29, 1887, after a long and severe illness of abscess on the liver.

A-1	156.01	People- Anthony to Aram	ELIHU ANTHONY In an interview in 1884 said: I arrived in San Jose in October, 1847, and came to Santa Cruz by horseback by way of Zayante the day before Christmas of the same year. The flat on which the principal part of Santa Cruz now stands was a field or pasture. The mission was here then. The only American who lived in that locality was James Dunleavy and he had a cabin where Simpson's mill is. Dunleavy was in possession of all the land west of Pacific avenue, beginning at the foot of Mission hill and extending as far down as Maple street. The land consisted of about 60 acres and was unfenced. All the farming he did was to raise a patch of potatoes on the spot where the Pacific Ocean House now is. The clover and grain were up when I arrived and high enough to mow. Dunleavy said to me: "Tomorrow is Christmas. Suppose [continued on 156.2]

He had no bullets but used slugs with which to kill the geese, which we found in large numbers on Locust street where James King now lives. All you could see of the geese was their heads, their bodies being hidden by the clover and grass. We succeeded in killing two of them. Branciforte town was along the ridge. Over here lived the native families and here also was the Spanish court house or juzgado. This was the alcalde's headquarters and was situated on the upper plaza. The long low adobe house on School street has deep recesses in the windows and you can see the holes in which were iron bars. These bars were used as a protection from the wild indians. The first hotel built here was erected by Tom Fallon in 1851. It was afterward used as the court house. The Santa Cruz house was built of split timber the first year.

A-1	156.03	People- Anthony to Aram	[ELIHU ANTHONY - continued from 156.2; continued on 156.4] I built a blacksmith shop on the corner of Water street and the lower plaza and bought some goods which I put into the shop. I made bridle bits, spurs, etc., and when gold was discovered I made seven and a quarter dozen picks and sent them to the mines to be sold. This was in 1848. I made them of ships bolts which I flattened. They were the first picks to be taken to the mines. I sent them to Tom Fallon who took them to the Georgetown diggings. They realized three ounces of gold apiece. The first church was built by the Methodists. It was afterward converted into a school house. The road in the rear of the present Methodist church is the one that was used in going down to what we call town. The original church building was moved to Green street and made into a residence on land owned by W. W. Reynolds.
A-1	156.04	People- Anthony to Aram	[ELIHU ANTHONY - continued from 156.3] There was great opposition to having the town located where it is now. I purchased the tract extending from Neary's lot on Mission street to Foster & Lake's blacksmith shop. The residents of the upper plaza thought the bottom land was worthless and I secured it for a mere song -- in fact, I think just by paying $3.62 1/2 for filing the papers with Alcalde Blackburn. I divided the tract into lots of 60 by 200 feet and sold them for $100 apiece. After the mining excitement had somewhat cooled the country began to fill up and I readily disposed of the lots. The ones on the upper plaza were held at a much higher figure than mine, some of them going for twice the amount. Of course, as a consequence, a boom set in on the bottom lands and the hum of the axe and the buzz of the saw ere heard. Buildings began to be erected, much to the surprise of the property holders on the upper plaza. From that time dates the progress of Santa Cruz. --- 0 ---

A-1	418	People- Beck to Belcher	BELCHER Lewis F. Lewis F. Belcher, who figured so prominently in the Sanchez buried treasure, about which we have been writing for several days, was in the early 1850s, called "The Big Eagle of Monterey." He was born in New York state and as soon as he could carry a gun, he headed for the wide open spaces. According to the Weekly Index of December 26th, 1878, Belcher joined an emigrant caravan and arrived in Monterey early in 1847. He was then 22. He soon made friends with Captain of Volunteers Joseph Aram and entered into an agreement to furnish meat to the U.S. Army and Navy. Bancroft mentions Belcher and Aram as doing business in Monterey in 1847. It was while carrying out this contract that he met Sgt. William Roach. Belcher had never attended school, but he was smart, which coupled with a capacity for hard work, enabled him to get large land grants in the Carmel Valley, and in Santa Clara and Stanislaus counties. His holdings, according to Paul Parker's article in the California Historical Quarterly, included San Carlos and San Francisquito ranchos in Carmel Valley; a portion of Sur Chiquito below Monterey; portion of Natividad in Salinas Valley; a fourth interest in 50,000 acres at the junction of the Stanislaus and San Joaquin Rivers; 500 acres of San Jose pueblo lands.
A-1	419	People- Belden to Benjamin	[Possibly from Sentinel article by Leon Rowland] BELDEN, Josiah. Isaac Graham, bill to him Sept. 24, 1846, put before Colton, said he owed Larkin $296 of which $200 was due Larkin's store in Santa Cruz with interest $72. $8.55 was "paid Messrs Little and Watson account sugar and tea, cash at time of Micheltorena's going to pueblo". Monterey, Feb. 25, 1847, Josiah Belden, before Wm. C. Garner, clerk certified that when he resigned the business of Thomas O. Larkin in SC in November, 1843, the balance due from Graham was $200.50, of which $82.50 was a former account from Monterey, forwarded for collection. Graham refused, he said to pay on the plea it had been paid before. Belden also certified that before leaving S.C. he notified all creditors payment would be demanded in cash or bullock hides. A-1	420	People- Belden to Benjamin	BELDEN Josiah - when he first arrived at Zayante he found Graham, Weare and others preparing to come to his rescue, as seized by San Jose authorities, and discussing establishing a fort on the San Joaquin river which would be a refuge for newly arrived Americans.
A-1	421.01	People- Belden to Benjamin	BELDEN, Josiah. His statement: Brolasky and I rode from San Jose to Capt. Graham's place at Zayante. (in 1841). We found excitement among the Americans, who had heard of the arrival of our party and our having been made prisoners at San Jose. Daniel Majors was in the neighborhood, also William Weare. At Monterey I made arrangements with Thomas Larkin to go to Santa Cruz and take charge of a store he intended to establish there. We carried on the usual business, general merchandise, selling goods and taking pay in hides and tallow. A hide was generally worth $2 and a bota of tallow about $1.50. We also bought lumber. Graham and Neil had their mill at Zayante and there were a number of men in the mountains out of Santa Cruz sawing lumber in saw pits by hand. I bought the lumber [continued on 421.2] [Thomas Oliver Larkin was a Monterey merchant -Ed.]

Sometimes we delivered some of it to ships in exchange for goods. In taking hides from the country people in exchange for goods we had a rule that all hides must be branded before they were sold, with the Owners' brand, to show they had not been stolen. After gathering a quantity of hides when I wanted to deliver them to a ship the alcalde would always come and overhaul them and see if they were properly branded.

A-1	421.03	People- Belden to Benjamin	[BELDEN, Josiah - continued from 421.2; continued on 421.4] If not they were confiscated. I recollect that in one case I had considerable trouble with the alcalde. Sometimes a man would bring in a hide and had perhaps forgotten to brand it. There might be several hides collected in that way. The owners would promise to come in and brand them afterwards but would perhaps neglect to do it. I had considerable number without brands and I was expecting to make a shipment which I did not care to have the alcalde overhaul. I made arrangement with the ship to have the hides taken away very early one morning. I locked up the store and went away away so that alcalde should not come and inspect them that afternoon. I made arrangements to get the hides down to the beach in carts about daylight the next morning. When I got them down there I found there was no boat to take them off. I did not know what to do but having a lot of lumber there I had the hides placed in a pile under a bank

In the meantime the alcalde got wind of the hides having gone down and came charging down to the beach, mad as could be. He wanted to know where the hides were. I told him he was too late; that I had to send them down to the ship early as she wanted to leave. After he had stormed about for some time I got the supercargo of the vessel to take the alcalde off to the mission on some pretense and while he had him up there I got the men to haul the hides out from under the lumber and put them aboard the ship. There was no penalty for shipping without his supervision if we cold manage to do it. I rented the store of the priest. It was a part of the mission buildings. It opened on the rear of the court yard, on which his office also opened. One day on returning from the country I found the store had been broken open in the rear and considerable goods of var-

I had some suspicion of the priest and put myself on watch to see if I could find anything to prove it. After a while the woman at the house where he lived came into the store and asked how I came to sell rotten calico to the padre. I told her I did not know I had sold him any rotten calico. She said, Yes, I had, a whole piece of it and it was very rotten and bad. I told her I would exchange it for another that was not rotten and she went away very pleased but after she saw the padre she never came back. The padre was held to be above the law under Mexican government and If I had brought the charge of robbery against him he might have made me a great deal of trouble and done me much injury, as he had a good deal of influence with the people.

Finally, after accumulating quite a large quantity of lumber that I had no sale for, some 150,000 feet, at the beach, I stopped buying. The sawyers, I suppose, to make a new market for lumber, when I was going into Monterey on one occasion, set fire to the lumber and burned it up. This disgusted Mr. Larkin, so much that he closed the business and I went to Monterey. While I was living at Santa Cruz, in 1842 I think it was, Com. Ap Catesby Jones came into the harbor in the flag-ship and under a report he had of approaching war between the United States and Mexico, landed his marines and took possession of Monterey and raised the American flag there. He sent an officer out to Santa Cruz and raised the flag there under proclamation and appointed me alcalde under the American government to exercise the office there. In a day or two, however, news was received that it was all a mistake and Jones had given up the possession of Monterey and retired to the ship and

The Californians did not attempt to make any opposition. They talked a good deal and blowed around but made no real trouble. A man by the name of Dawson who came in the company I did opened a little store at Santa Cruz while I was there and presently closed it and went away. There was an Englishman, William Thompson, living at the Mission, married to a California woman. He was the only foreigner there. At Zayante there were Graham and Majors. in the hills around there were a number of men sawing lumber, mainly sailors who had drifted in from vessels. There was a man by the name of Michael Lodge a little ways from town, on a ranch, who was the father of Mrs. Fallon.

A-1	451.01	People- Bennett	BENNETT, Jackson. (Daniel Jackson) Case of Willard Buzzell vs. Jackson Bennett, tried in Santa Cruz county in 1850. Harry Speele and C.P.Stevenson were bondsmen for Buzzell in his suit. James D. Taber, witness, living at Stockton in 1850, said he was a friend of Dennis Bennett, Jackson Bennett and Willard Buzzell; knew the Bennetts at Santa Clara, at the mines and in Stockton for four years. Knew Buzzell at Stockton and the mines for two years. Buzzell lived in Stockton and conducted a grocery in 1849. Buzzell in 1849 loaned $400 in gold to the Bennetts on condition they would pay him back in dust in the morning and at the customary rate of interest from five to ten per cent a month. Gold was then valued at $12 to $13 an ounce. Taber said he was conducting a store in Stockton at the time and happened into Buzzell's [continued on 451.2]

The Bennetts had lost their money playing monte and borrowed from Buzzell to return to the game being played in Buzzell's place. The money loaned was nearly all in doubloons. Taber said he remonstrated with Buzzell for loaning them the money. Buzzell claimed the Bennetts had agreed to pay interest of $4 a day until the money was paid, but that he lost the note. Jackson Bennett said he was under age at the time of the alleged transaction. Fred H. Sanford and Durrell S. Gregory were his attorneys. William H. Fairchild, a liveryman in Stockton in 1850, said he had known Buzzell and the Bennetts in Santa Cruz, Stockton and the mines for a little more than three years. In the summer of 1849 Buzzell gave him an order on Bennett for 24 ounces of gold and $15;

Nov.14,1900, in S.F.; Christian Hoffman both of S.C., at res. of Mrs. Kate Schleicher,sister of groom. Charles Birn sought naturalization in 1853; was naturalized in 1859. Saddletree maker through 59's; in 1859 partner with Hugo Hihn. Started nursery at his home on Church st.in 1861; continued it until few years before his death.
A-1	480	People- Benson to Bernard	BERN, Charles O. Native of Saxony, b. '30, cabinet maker by trade, not content in his home land. The Hamburg ship Gianette und Bertha being in port, taking on merchandise for SF, B___ and others talked the capt. into opening a passenger list. Left home early in '50 and for almost a full year a man without a country. No long stops appear to have been made. The ship was the victim of contrary winds and tides. Even after reaching SF the discontented crew was forced to lay off the coast for six weeks before coming through Golden Gate because of a lack of a pilot familiar with the waters, fog and extremely rough weather. Not admitted to the pioneer society because of the fact that the boat did not dock before '51, B___ didn't go to the mines, but commenced making saddletrees at S Jose. Here he met John Werner. Together they came to Sta Cruz. Bern first set himself up as a saddletree maker, then cabinet maker, butcher and finally nurseryman; each venture being profitable. His wife m '61 was Miss Caroline Marwede, b '40, sister of Mrs. Finkeldey, Mrs. Parsons and Mrs. Kunitz. Bern died July 27 '93, leaving a vbaluable estate and the widow.

Jan 23 '93, he was the operator of a Mississippi flatboat when he heard of the gold strike and came overland with Wm. Finley (q. v.) and two brothers, working for a time in the Yuba region before coming to Sta Cruz to winter. Jacob ran his brother's sawmill for a time before setting up a general merchant partnership in Watsonville with Lazzarre Godchaux '52. Profits the first year amounted to $20,000. The next year everyone in the Pajaro valley planted potatoes, the market broke and B____, who had loaned money on the crops, lost all but his pants and vest. Sold his interest in the bus. to bro. James '55 and returned to Sta Cruz to farm, his being the first such venture in Blackburn gulch, which takes its name from him. The school warrants he laid on the land proved profitable. [clipping from the Riptide]

Blackburn to Colton. Dear Sir: I have been induced to write to you from having since my arrival heard of your appointing an administrator on the estate of Mr. Nail. It is true it is customary in the states, but consider the unsettled state of this country now. Graham has by some means in this neighborhood rendered himself unpopular amongst men that are permanently settled near Santa Cruz -- men who have taken no part for our flag in this controversy they are at home now and have been during the whole affair, while there are others and all of them are yet with Fremont with the exception of myself, who have been out with Capt. Fontleroy, who are residents here who would not like to see our countryman wronged. All I ask is for you to defer the matter until we all get home.

A-1	613	People- Blackman to Bowden	BOFFMAN David, the negro died from rattlesnake bite.
A-1	614.01	People- Blackman to Bowden	BOFFMAN (Nigger Dave) (Bofman) David - in 1852 left his family in Clinton County, Mo. (wife and five children). He came to California as cook in emigrant party in 1852. When Civil war came his master, Newton Bofman, sold three of the children to a dealer in New Orleans. Others moved to Kansas. A son, Henry, died at Atchison, Kas., in 1888. Daughter, Matilda, married twice. Her children, Anna Drisdon and Jason Harris, were given David's $600 estate in Santa Cruz county. Dave died Sept. 22, 1893, in Agnew. After he was committed his dog "Watch", being cared for by Elihu Anthony, found his way 10 miles to Dave's empty cabin on Branciforte creek. Sentinel said he had bought his freedom for $1000. He came to Santa Cruz in 1853, helped Weeks brothers plant potatoes on Blackburn flat.
A-1	614.02	People- Blackman to Bowden	[continued on 614.2] [BOFFMAN (Nigger Dave) - continued from 614.2] Dave was at Soquel in 1854; in 1862 evicted as squatter on Soquel Rancho. In his late years owner of small tract in Happy Valley adjoining ranch of Matias Lorenzana, whose life Dave saved in 1870 by cutting Lorenzana down from a tree to which he had been hanged by a sheriff's posse. He was a favorite with school children of that section who played about his farm and to whom he related plantation tales. He was huge, powerful, kind-hearted, gray haired. He was thought past middle age when he came in 1853. He could lift a plow and carry it for miles almost to the time of his death. He always went barefooted.

A-1	718.03	People- Bradley	[BRADLEY, O. I. - continued from 718.2] The youngest child, Ralph, was born in Sta Cruz after the father reached here to enter business with Edward Foster. He lost an eye at the forge here. Going north, he lost the other in an identical accident. Back in Sta Cruz, he joined the Pioneer society April 27 '86, giving his occupation as that of confectioner. But he devoted most of his life to his garden, stringing wires around the premises to guide him in his work, depending on no one else to do the orchard pruning. He was a man with an inexhaustable supply of fun-provoking ideas, extremely popular with all with whom he came in contact. The daughter, Mrs. Etha Rostron, a leader in Rebekah circles for many years, still lives on Ocean street; and there are several descendants in SF to carry on the name

Y. in 1866 to stay and bought sawmill and 960 acres from his nephew, Benjamin Cahoon Nichols. His sister, Polly Cahoon Nichols, was mother of Ben, Mett [sic] and U.S. Nichols. Ben wore a silk hat and drove a barouche into Soquel from his home place, where he built the big house in 1874, calling it Pinos Altos. The mill ended its operations that year and was taken by Chase who had it in 1885. Later Chase's son, Oscar, and H. A. Peterson (husband of Alice Cahoon) ran it. Ben led in organizing the Santa Cruz grange and was first master of it.
A-2	5.02	Cahoon to Canepa	[continued on card 5.2] CAHOON, Benjamin [continued from card 5.2; continued on card 5.3] On Soquel poll list in 1868, aged 65. Died June 30, 1874, near Soquel. Note says his wife died about July, 1873. Date of Benjamin's death may be questionable as other notes say his son, Edwin B., talked his father into leasing Capitola in 1882.  CAHOON, Edwin Benjamin (son of above) Came, probably with father, from Utica. On 1868 Soquel poll list, aged 36. (Ran old house as summer resort) Died May 21, 1909, at Soquel; aged 79; native of Utica.  His widow, Mrs. Charlotte (Kingsbury) Born at Utica, N.Y., came with husband by Isthmus in 1866.

A-2	16	Cahoon to Canepa	CALDERWOOD, Ambrose  Sixth sheriff of Sta Cruz co., included here because of an obscure reference. The name is of Scotch origin, among other members of this family said to have been brought to California from Vermont; but I have no accurate information concerning the date of this man's birth, arrival in California, or death. Nor do I know anything about his family. He was a member of the local militia during the civil war, served as sheriff from Oct. 5 '63 to Oct. 2 '65; joined the Sons of Temperance Jun 11 '64, but was expelled as a backslider because of his activities on the following Saturday night; built the San Lorenzo canyon road between Santa Cruz and Felton by swinging branch to branch among the redwoods, oaks and madrones (nevertheless wielding an accurate ax in this posture), took a series of years at the task before completing the job during the winter of '68-9. He was in some sort of legal tangle growing out of politics, but seems to have lived it down. He died, perhaps, in the Ventura region to which he removed shortly after completing his road contract.

A-2	19.02	Cahoon to Canepa	[continued on card 19.2] CALDWELL, Leander Gilham [continued from 19.1; continued on 19.3] Overland '49 with Morgan (?) from Mo. with wife, Eliza Jane, and a family; second sheriff serving Oct. 3 '53 to Oct. 5 '55; owner of Soquel's first hotel, possessed of a large herd of cattle grazing at will on unfenced lands. The family home on Soquel creek was destroyed by the floods of '62; the hotel, across from present Cits. bank by fire in later years, heirs rebuilding only to the extent of maintaining a stage stop and livery. He was, I believe, b in Penn., about '09. Caldwell died in Soquel Oct. 10 '59. By Sept. 1 '60 his widow was dead. Mary E., daughter, aged 20 years and 1 mo. died July 9 '60 (wife of Stephen D. Breeze, Soq. jp who previously had served as constable and joined the county militia '61, prob. to Arizona in later years). Cynthia H., the baby, was dead by May 12 '62. Maggie B. died Dec. 17 '66, aged 21 years, 2 mos. and 4 days.
A-2	19.03	Cahoon to Canepa	CALDWELL, Leander Gilham [continued from 19.2; continued on 19.4]  Thomas A., perhaps the eldest of the family, was in the hotel business in Wat. but seems to have died or disappeared before Jan. 9 '68 when Marquis Lafayette, just turned 21, became the guardian of his younger brothers and a sister. He died Oct. 6 '70. Richard Caldwell is ment. '68, not around six years later. Augusta C. is the little mother of the remainder of the brood '74 when she petitioned for permission to sell the livery, rapidly sinking into depreciation, to J. E. West for $800; all that could be salvaged from her father's estgate. The remaining child. were Adolphus, aged 19 years, 'physically weak and daily sinking from pulmonary disease' in need of a change of climate, and August L., aged 18. So went a family of parents and nine. What happened to the last three I have never been able to discover. I have never met or heard of one who claimed to have met or known this once extremely prominent family.

His parents died when he was quite young and he was left under the care of a guardian in Bremerhaven. From letters received from his two older brothers, who were settled in New York, he resolved to come to the United States. In the early part of 1846 he left Bremerhaven in the vessel "Republic". After a voyage of 48 days he landed in New York. On Christmas day, 1849, he left New York on the ship "Bellington", Capt. Cook. After a very rough voyage he reached San Francisco on June 29, 1850. Remaining in the city but a very short time he went to the northern mines, working in Shasta, Yreka and other camps. Abandoning mining he drove stage from Shasta to Cloverdale. Afterwards in partnership with Ex-Governor Irwin he engaged in the butcher business in Yreka. [continued on card 62.2]

-----	-------	--------------	--

B June 10 '14 in Sumner co., Tenn., working on the farm 9 months of the year getting his schooling in three months of winter until age 16 when he began on his own as a clerk in a Cairo store. From '32 to '38 clerking in Nashville. With savings of $1,000 he went into Memphis, made an important trading center where the Five Nations were moved off their old reservation into Arkansas and thrifty farmers settled that land. Here in '40 he built the first brick house, despite the embarrassment of finding himself heavilyobligated by the acts of his partner who suddenly lost his mind. C--- was able to pay off the creditors and show a large saving whenin '43 he settled at N Orleans as a cotton merchant with little success. Hoping to retrieve his fortune he obtained an appointment as sutler in the army, sunk everything he had in supplies and tagged along with Gen. (afterward Pres.) Taylor.

Army, dispatched to Buena Vista to support Santa Ana, took time out to capture Mr. Carr's train under the impression that it contained half a million dollars for paying off American troops. Taylor, in a rage, called Carr before him. The train had lost half its complement of 180 men, but after a study of the circumstances Gen. Taylor concluded that fortuity had saved his command at Buena Vista. Urea didn't reach the field because of his attack on Carr and the Americans won that battle, went on to win the war. Carr managed to recuperate his losses in Mex. after war; returned to N Or. A-2	100.02	Carr to Cass	CARVER, Isaac S. [continued from card 100.1;continued on 100.3] A hard-scrabble farmer from New England who came to Calif. and made a fortune during the gold rush, according to legend in the Martin family of Glenwood. The name rings a bell in the back of my mind, but I cannot place the cause. The first contemporary record I possess is in '57, about which time he had gone east for a visit with his family and returned to California with a brother, Jason, and a niece, Hannah, who became mrs. Charles C. Martin of Glenwood. But Carver apparently had a claim adjoining that of Martin before going east. He married a Spanish lady "born to the manor" in one of the South American countries, had several children by her and in despite of his wealth demanded that they work as he had as a boy amid the rocky pastures of his native Maine.

He returned to his native heath, for the remainder of his life adding to an already large estate which his widow did not live long to enjoy. Jason Carver, who had come here in '57 with his daughter and brother, continued to reside here for several years, but found the climate not conducive to his health; so also returned to New England. Native of Me., b. '18, he farmed in Sta Cruz for ten years; but went to Point New Years about '68.

A-2	125.01	Castro	CASTRO Antonio Antonio Castro, in the Bolsa del Pajaro litigation, in his deposition taken at Monterey in 1851, said he was then 63 years old, a ranchero who knew that the Bolsa del Pajaro had been in the possession of Sebastian Rodriguez since 1823; he said he was present when possession was given by Jose Mariano Estrada in that year. He did not know where Alexander Rodriguez lived in '31-2-3; he did not know that Alexander had any share in the ranch, al- though he was intimate with him. Alexander told him that Sebastian had invited him to live on the ranch; also Brigido had been asked to do the same. Joaquin Castro, Francisco de Aro, Dolores Pico, witnesses and others were present when the grant was made. After- wards, he said, the group went to Amesti's rancho and the witnesses separated from them.
A-2	125.02	Castro	[continued on card 125.2] CASTRO, Antonio [continued from card 125.1]  He had never heard before '51 that Alexander and Sebastian had had a quarrel. The boundaries to the rancho were the river, the rancho of Francisco de Aro, Amesti's ranch running to the old corral where the padres kept sheep and the rest by Joaquin Castro's ranch and the sea. The lines were fixed by Estrada in 1823, he said.

In the name of the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost, I, Inez Robles, a loyal Christian prompted by the blood of Jesus Christ, protest before the Almighty God in which I believe and before the native land which I love, that I wish to die in the Catholic faith and under the Holy Roman Catholic church. I protest that I wish to die animated with a strong spirit, hope and longing for the piety and charity and strong love for God. And if I should say or will something that is contrary to the will of God, perhaps through sickness or thought being possessed of the devil, I declare this to be null and void, and I hope that I shall have the satisfaction of knowing that I have done rightly and by the will and faith in God. [continued on card 128.2]

Figueroa, in which the interested parties were subject to the paying of a fee because of the common ownership of lands by communities. It was intended that Villa Branciforte measure off for its commons four leagues square in conformity with the law of the Indies, tome II, lines 88 to 149, in which it is provided that new communities shall measure off for themselves this area. In compliance with this it will be proper for you to appoint two persons in whom you have confidence, to join with the juez of the villa to make the survey indicated and set aside as commons for the communities the four leagues square, establishing the conditions to which grantees may be subject. Your superior discernment will decide on what steps are proper. Monterey, Feb. 8, 1844. Manuel Jimeno.

A-2	277.02	Clement to Colby	[CLEMENTS - continued from Card 276.1; continued on Card 276.3] B in Phila., July 16, '23, said to be a direct descendant of the Irish earl of Leitrum; left NY City aboard the American bark Toulon, Jan. 10, '45 for two years in the Pacific trade mostly between Portland and SF. Disembarked at SF April 23, '47, soon settling in Sta Cruz. This gentleman started out as a country squire, possessor of a stable and home in the potrero, in business with Asa P. Sanford in the mission; but living above his means, perhaps. Interest rates in those days were high. On July 20 '49 he signed a note for $2,000 with Palmer, Cook &amp; Co., of SF commission house an equivalent of the first bank in the state. On August 21, '50 with int. this note amounted to $5,293.22, an amount Lambert simply couldn't pay. His horses and stables were sold to Moses A. Meder and Rafael Castro to satisfy the debt and Clement went to live on the ranch of his wife, Maria Josefa Lodge, whom he had married this year.
A-2	277.03	Clement to Colby	[CLEMENTS - continued from Card 276.2] Disappointment may have influenced him; his later activities consisted mostly of being a justice of the peace, occasionally associated on the county court or court of sessions bench, with the name of being a "souse," somewhat prominent because of his political affiliation, but never fulfilling the promise of leadership that marked his early endeavors. He was the father of five child.: Robert, Tobias, Mary and Albert by '69 and Mary, born later. Mrs. Geraldine Moor of New Brighton Park reports the death of the latter within the last few weeks at Grass Valley, wife of a doctor there, who leaves a family of three child.

A-2	379.02	Cole to Coope	[COOL, Peter Yawger - continued from 379.1; continued to 379.3]  A native of Cayuga county, N. Y., born May 20, 1830, he was converted to the Methodist Episcopal faith in '49 and in '50 came to California to accept a job as teacher in Amador county. His license to preach, given him by Dr. Isaac Owen, was signed in '53 and he entered the ministry at Volcano the following year. At San Jose in '55 he married a daughter of Captain Joseph Aram. Seven years later he was serving the church in Santa Cruz. Here, when Dr. W. C. Bartlett resigned that post to become a noted SF editor, Cool in '64 was appointed by the board of supervisors as the superintendent of public instruction for this county, retaining the post in '65 when he was called to fill the pulpit in the Watsonville Methodist Episcopal church. he was frequently afflicted with a form of paralysis of one leg, said to have been the cause of his death Nov. 6, '82;

A-2	405.01	Cooper to Cowden	COOPER John B. R. In litigation over Bolsa del Pajaro in 1850, Cooper said in his deposition that he was, in 1851, 59 years old; a sailor who had arrived at Monterey in 1827. He had in 1828 contracted with Sebastian Rodriguez to place his (Cooper's) cattle on Rancho Trinidad (in Monterey county) and apparently, too, on Bolsa del Pajaro. He said Sebastian lived on the rancho from about 1832 or 1833, but he did not know when Alexander went there except by report. He said his contract was verbal with Sebastian, no written agreement then being necessary. Concerning the archives at Monterey he said they were carefully kept until the revolutions commenced. After the revolutions the records were carelessly kept. He had seen titles and papers scattered about the floor.
A-2	405.02	Cooper to Cowden	[continued on Card 405.2] [COOPER - Continued from Card 405.1] The revolution started about 1828 or 1829 against Echeandia by soldiers but the first was settled in a few months and Victoria succeeded him as governor and continued in command for 12 months until residents of Los Angeles revolted against him. Cooper then discussed the revolutions leading up to the Bear Flag revolt. Returning to the archives he said they had been taken from Monterey, he thought, during Echeandia's time, as he resided in San Diego during the first part of his tenure and later in Monterey.

A-2	424.02	Cooper to Cowden	[CORCORAN, James - continued from Card 424.1; continued on 424.3]  The man who gave his name to Corcoran's lagoon in the Twin lakes area, born in Ireland, reached this country just in time to get married in New Orleans and participate in the gold rush of '49. Apparently he did not anticipate settlement in this state for he left his wife in Louisiana and here their first child was born. By '56, however, he was well established on a large farm embracing virtually all the area lying between Schwan's and Corcoran's lagoons and 17th avenue to the lower Capitola road; being naturalized this year and one of the company who with Hiram Scott was diligently developing the Pioneer ditch and mining company on the divide between Hoy creek and Gold gulch.
A-2	424.03	Cooper to Cowden	[CORCORAN, James - continued from Card 424.1; continued on 424.3] Nothing seems to have come of their golden expectations, but their work laid the foundation for the later success of the Santa Cruz petroleum company which gave this community paved streets ahead of any other in the state. His children were James, John, Daniel, Maryann (who became Mrs. Mangels and sister-in-law of Mrs. Claud Spreckles) and Michael, all of whom were dead by 1934, and Jennie, who still lives at the age of 85 years in the family home at the corner of 17th avenue and East Cliff drive. At least two grandsons survive to carry on the family name.

A-2	458	Cooper to Cowden	COVELL, W. A. A man living in Santa Cruz '50 long enough to be called for jury service. The name is spelled Coville, Coval and Covile; unless there was a number of this name, which doesn't seem likely. John Q. A. Covil who reached California in '47 as a member of Co. C. Mormon bat., may have been one of this family; tho' there is little reason to suppose this other than that a number of this military unit were afterward resident here. From civil war days a large family of this name, all lumbermen and all natives of Pennsylvania, pursued their avocation at various parts of the country. The elder member is listed as Morgan Covell, born in '27, in which W. A. may, in reality, have been M. A. Covell. Newspaper accounts of recent years indicate remnants of this family are living in the East Bay area.

A-2	496.01	Cox to Croughell	CRANE, George W. A Virginian said to have arrived in California in May '46 just in time to take part in the Mexican war with Fremont's California battalion. In the mines in '48, when winter came he repaired to Jonas Spect's tent city, Fremont, on the Sacramento river and from a natural bent became candidate for a variety of offices from that of county attorney to that of United States senator from California. He was elected to the state assembly in '49 on the strength of 102 votes cast for him in nine precincts of the "upper country" extending from Suisun bay to the Oregon line. Next closest was J. S. Bradford of Benicia who had received 199 votes. Crane repaired to San Jose and served six days, casting but one vote, for adjournment on the opening day, December 15 '49 when it was discovered that the severity of the early winter rains were such as to prevent most representatives from reaching San Jose in time to enable a quorum to meet at the time scheduled. [Continued on Card 496.2]
A-2	496.02	Cox to Croughell	[CRANE, George W. - Continued from Card 496.1; continued on 496.3] By the time the legislature did convene Bradford was on hand with 81 votes alleged to have been cast for him in the Trinity region, not counted among those which Crane's supporters thought had given him the election. It was afterward claimed that Trinity had not bothered to vote and that this was the first case of ballot-box stuffing in the state. Crane remained in San Jose long enough to submit his name as a candidate for the United States senate; but was defeated by John B. Weller and John C. Fremont, the latter drawing the short term. Back in Yolo county he was district attorney for a while and a candidate again for the assembly in the election of '50. Again he received a certificate of election to represent the counties of Yolo, Colusa and Trinity, Colusa at the time being unorganized and declining to vote. But Crane served only one month and two days of his second term. At the end of that time Hiram P. Osgood was in San Jose with a sufficient number of claimed votes from Trinity county to give him twice as many votes as the total that had been cast for Crane.

A-2	496.03	Cox to Croughell	[CRANE, George W. - Continued from Card 496.2] With these lessons behind him, Crane came over the hill to Santa Cruz to enter into a law partnership with R. F. Peckham and Pacificus Ord. In this capacity he maintained an office in the courthouse building on the upper plaza, in '53 was selected to fill out the unexpired term of Joseph L. Majors as county treasurer and quickly worked his way into a position of prominence. In the troubled times growing out of land squabbles he became a first sergeant of the Monterey guards, named by the governor to detect and apprehend bandits in this and adjoining counties. He was elected in '57 to represent this district in the state legislature, married a sister of Quentin Orgega and a sister-in-law of John Gilroy, a widow of incomparable wealth, and became the ostensible head of an empire embracing much of southern Santa Clara and northern San Benito counties. He died in the smallpox epidemic of '68, aged 41 years, leaving a widow who survived him by 40 years in squalid poverty.

DABADIE, Jean Baptiste

B in Bordeaux, France, '15; learned the trade of a ship's carpenter, shipped at sea and eventually became capt. of his own ship. In Sta Cruz '45, with William Hardy (q.v.) constructing a vessel on the Sta Cruz beach. This, the Sta Cruz, was not completed for nearly a year. Three years later he helped construct the Creole. There seems to be a blank of three years, for possibilities of which see Jean Baptiste.

Dabadie is said to have been capt of the first vessel that ever sailed in the port of Sta Cruz. I assume this means the first to pass to and draw from Elihu anthony's "wharf."

W. Hastings as captain, J. M. Hudsworth, Dr. White and about 60 others including women and children and arrived in Oregon in November, 1842. He left Oregon in May, 1843, for California; arrived at Sacramento about July 1, 1843; then went to San Francisco and from there to Bodega where he helped to get out the timber for a mill for Capt. Smith.

In 1846 he built a saw mill on Soquel creek which was sold afterwards to Michael Lodge. In 1847 on account of the Mexican war outbreak they were compelled to leave the rancho and go to San Jose where he joined Fremont's Battalion, remaining with him until they disbanded in 1847. While with him they went to San Diego on the "Sienne", an American sloop of war. The battalion consisted of about 150 men. Stayed there about a week and came back by land to Los Angeles and took possession of it without resistance. While there Commodore Stockton with 400 marines and sailors arrived. Great rejoicing.

They then proceeded northward and in about a month being joined by Fremont they went to San Francisco. Soon again however they were recalled to the south and Fremont had to reorganize at Monterey where Daubenbiss rejoined him. They went south by land to Los Angeles but were not needed as that place had been recaptured by Commodore Stockton and General Kearny. Daubenbiss therefore received his discharge and left about April, 1847, and went hom to San Jose where he was married to Miss Sarah Lard on December 3, 1847. He soon afterward moved onto his rancho at Soquel and has lived there ever since.

His will left to the county and city of Santa Cruz 568 acres along Blackburn Drive known as De Laveaga Heights, including 50 acres to be used for a hospital (for deaf of blind) but the provisions in his will for its maintenance were too vague. DeLaveaga delighted in his estate here and spent much time and money laying out and constructing roads, bridle paths and foot trails. He did an immense amount of planting and the tract at his death included orchards, vineyards and tropical gardens. There was litigation over his will, his collateral heirs asserting the bequest to Santa Cruz was void because it was to "charity" within 30 days of his death.

A-2	742.02	Dennison to Dockery	[DIESING - continued from Card 742.1; continued on Card 742.3] Sentinel, Feb. 5, 1868, said: "Otto Diesing has concluded to manufacture his lager beer kegs in Santa Cruz from fir timber growing so abundantly in our mountains, only using one oak stave (for the bung hole) in the keg. Eastern oak staves cost from $300 to $400 per thousand and kegs made from them cost in San Francisco from $4 to $4.50 each, while the home made kegs cost only about $2. The new kegs are only an experiment but should they succeed it will save thousands of dollars to Santa Cruz and millions to California in the branch of cooperage alone, as larger kegs and small casks for wines, liquors, pickles, etc., are in great demand. Mr. Diesing's lager is in such demand that he is forced to double the number of his casks. We learn he will soon have arrangements to furnish genuine lager by steamer to Monterey, San Simeon and San Luis Obispo."
A-2	742.03	Dennison to Dockery	[DIESING - continued from Card 742.2; continued on Card 742.4] Seven weeks later the Sentinel said: "Mr. G. W. Ellingwood of Water street is turning out some of the finest beer kegs we have ever seen, manufactured entirely from Santa Cruz material. They are made of black (or Spanish) oak, a wood of so close a grain as not to allow a particle of gas to escape, a feature that makes the material extremely desirable and besides being found in great abundance in the hills about Santa Cruz. He expects in a short time to turn out about 30 kegs per diem." May 30, 1868, the Sentinel said: "Our enterprising townsman, Otto Diesing, has been making extensive improvements in his already mammoth brewery buildings. He has erected a new malt house, thus enlarging his brewing capacity 100 per cent; a new fermenting tub capable of holding two tons of barley; and many other features peculiar to the business"
A-2	742.04	Dennison to Dockery	[DIESING - continued from Card 742.3] The capacity of Diesing's brewery will now be about 200 barrels a week. The works are almost entirely underground, occupying we should judge a greater part of the interior of Mission hill. He also has engaged a new cooper and is now manufacturing his kegs from eastern oak, it having been ascertained that those from California wood will not answer the purpose as well as was expected."

			DOCKERY John A. - d. August 24, 1914, at San Andreas; aged 84; native of England.
A-2	768	Dennison to Dockery	DOCKERY John - Crossed plains in 1849 with James L. Prewett. Came to Santa Cruz late that year or 1850. In 1854 owned 40 acres about where Phelan Park is. About 1859 Bob Dockery (probably son) attempted to shoot William B. Greenleaf in a Santa Cruz saloon. The next day (Sunday) he twice rode horseback across the lower plaza brandishing a cocked pistol and daring officers and people to arrest him. He was allowed to ride out of town and never returned. DOCKERY Jesse (said son of John, who once had a blacksmith shop at Soquel, and was in 1884 at Lompoc) in 1884 was tried at Felton on rape charge.

A-3	56.02	People- Ely to Ewing	[ELY,William - continued from Card 56.1; continued on Card 56.3] Grandson of John Ely, a veteran of Bunker Hill, William was born in Rome, NY, Sept. 21, '28. By age 14 he was an orphan. An uncle in Buffalo provided him with the trade of machinist. He was employed in a woolen factory in Joliet, Ill., when he heard of the gold strike. With another his age he left March 27, '50, from which time for a series of years his life was made up of odd adventures. Ely reached Hangtown July 27. By late '51 when he quit the mines, he was possessed of a small fortune which he invested in the potato speculation in Sonoma C. When the potato market broke he went down with it; being able to salvage only several thousand sacks which he sold for ten cents each, just what they cost.
A-3	56.03	People- Ely to Ewing	[ELY,William - continued from Card 56.2] On his way back to the mines Ely chanced to meet Capt. J. B. R. Cooper, one of the old settlers under Mexican times and a large land owner in need of help. The Capt. invited him to go into the cattle business on shares. Ely accepted. From this time forward his luck was good. He participated in the Indian war of the Tulare region in '52, roamed widely and by '56 had acquired enough to enable him to go east and marry the girl he left behind, Miss Mary Catherine Usher. Brought his family to Sta Cruz '69; from this time until his death being one of the leading businessmen of the community, conducting a furniture business, hay, grain and feed mill and constructing the east Sta Cruz horsecar lines. Father of eight child., none now living. A grandson, Howard A. Wright, last of the family here, died a year ago.

He said: "It was in the spring of 1846, just 21 years ago, I was here. We had an inkling of war up north and Foster -- one of God's noblemen -- came to me and said, 'Let us raise a party and go and assist them.' Billy Weare and John Daubenbiss went with us. I was captain. We took possession of San Jose and turned out the old alcalde and secured the archives on the 11th day of July, 1846. I told the alcalde, 'Git. Vamos', and he looked glum as blazes. I told him not to be discouraged as we would not harm him; that we were Santa Cruz boys and we intended to do what we commenced, and the citizens hurraed for the Santa Cruz boys."

Leaving his wife at home he started from Beloit, Wis., April 8 '50. He and a single companion crossed on horseback carrying their effects on three pack animals. He afterwards recalled that he saw many Indians in warpaint, but despite the fact that they were virtually unable to protect themselves from any number, neither he nor his companion were in any way molested. Perhaps the Indians thought them crazy!

He reached Sacramento July 16, only 99 days from the time he left home. Instead of going to the mines, he established a general merchandising store at John Sutter's embaradero. Pleasantly surprised by the money-making possibilities of merchandising he concluded to make his home here and went east for Mrs. Fargo. In company with 50 others going east, he chartered a vessel for the trip, intending to cross at Panama; but the going was so rough that after 42 days they were forced to put in at Acapulco in distress. The company walked across Mexico, suffering such hardships that three died. He got through all right, and returned with Mrs. Fargo without difficulty. He moved about the state extensively, his wife's health having failed her in what afterwards was the state's capital, and went east again in '53.

A-3	156.01	People- Farnham to Fickas	FARNHAM, Thomas. "Travels in California and Scenes in the Pacific Ocean" published in 1844 in New York City by Saxton & Miles, 205 Broadway.  April 18, 1840. - The land, the glorious old land, is near us on our left, five miles away. The cattle of the Mission Santa Cruz are grazing on the hills. The matin bells ringing from its tower. a breeze from the west drove us slowly down the bay, so near the shore that we had a clear view of it. At the northeast corner of the bay is a green gorge down which flows a small stream of pure water. Near its mouth, on a snug little plain, stands the mission of Santa Cruz with its chapel and adobie (sic) Indian huts. Around it are some fields on which the Indians raise grains, vegetables and grapes. [continued on Card 156.2]

A-3	156.02	People- Farnham to Fickas	[FARNHAM, Thomas - continued from Card 156.1] Beyond this, to the northward, the country swells away into lofty hills, covered with grass and sprinkled with copses of pine and oak. From Santa Cruz down the bay to Monterey the land is broken by low hills, too rough for general cultivation, upon which grow a few trees of a soft and worthless character. But the greenness of the whole surface in the spring of the year and the absence of any abode of man make it a very appropriate pasture ground for the wild horses, cattle, mules and the brisly[sic] bears, lion and elk that herd upon it. (He devoted a page to elaborate praise of Isaac Graham, "stout sturdy backwoodsman" and "cavalier of the wilderness".

A-3	270	People- Foerster to Forbes	FOERSTER [Albert -Ed.] WANDERBOOK: In Germany, 142 years ago the working man couldn't move without consulting the local Guelph, who was a combination politician, warrior and labor leader, equivalent of the guildmaster of England. If he wanted to go to the next town he had to get the permission of the mayor of the village of which he waas resident; but he couldn't locate without permission of the political head of the village in which he aspired to locate. Alfred Foerster, one of the territorial pioneers of Santa Cruz, a shoemaker by trade, was one of these. Hence, his descendants still residing in this locality know quite a bit about him. Most of his old world experience is recorder[sic] in the Wanderbook which his grandsons, William, of Salinas, and Alfred, of 220 Pacheco avenue, are pictured examining. The old gentleman tired of the European conception of man's divine rights and settled in Illinois in 1840, married there and started to raise a family. When gold was discovered he brought his family, including a three-year-old son, John, to Santa Cruz and preempted a 160 acre farm which included what is today the eastern edge of DeLaveaga park (Trevethan street originally was the lane leading to the farmhouse). John was the only one of the three Foerster children who remained in Santa Cruz. He raised a large family. [probably an article in the Riptide]

The funeral will take place tomorrow from the chapel at 8:45 a.m., with requiem mass at 9 o'clock in Star of the Sea Catholic church. Interment will follow at Holy Cross cemetery. A native of Santa Cruz, Foerster was born on what is now part of DeLaveaga park. Trevethan avenue was formerly a lane leading to the Foerster ranch. In 1889 Foerster went to work for the old California powder works in what now is Paradise Park, continuing with the Hercules Powder company until his retirement in 1935. Two miniature models of the powder works made during the early days of his retirement earned him great praise: one was operated by water power, the other by electricity. He was a devout Catholic and a member of the Native Sons of the Golden West. Surviving him are his sister, Mrs. Charles More of Santa Cruz, and his brothers, Timothy M., Foerster of Santa Cruz, John J. A-3	291.01	People- Foerster to Forbes	[no title or headline to this unidentified, undated newspaper article; apparently the subject is James Alexander Forbes] According to the records passed on to Mrs. Siebold, Forbes, in 1828 shipped on a vessel bound from Chile to Vancouver, B.C. and the ship was wrecked on the Galapagos Islands. He was picked up by another whaling vessel, the Captain Young and brought to San Francisco. The Captain Young, under Captain Batichee, had evidently done more than look for whales for it was said when it reached the islands it had in its hold the great treasure worth sixty millions. While in the islands Forbes, being one of the few educated men there, or perhaps the only one, was forced to draw a map of the hiding place and take part in the interment. It has been said he kept the original map or a copy. Where is it? "Treasure maps," existing or not, have an ever-present allure. At any rate, he did nothing about it and turned to pursuits more to his liking. Stout Pioneer Forbes, according to the family history, traveled north to become an agent for the Hudson Bay Company and then went to what is now Stockton when the area was a wilderness. In 1934, he married Anna Maria Galindo of Spanish family related to the Bernals, Castros, Sanches, Berryessas, Picos, Sunols, Pachecos and Peraltas. [continued on Card 291.2]

He also became British vice consul for California and San Francisco agent for the Hudson's Bay Co. He held both posts for about 30 years. Forbes had 12 children, one of whom, Martha, married Alfred Royce Tomkin, a Santa Clara druggist, who became coroner and public administrator for Santa Clara County in 1887. Their son was Charles H. Tomkin, Mrs. Seibold's father. The Treasure map must have been passed down along that line, Mrs. Seibold says, although there is a possibility her father got it from some other member of the family. "My father was the collector and historian of the family," she tells me, "and I suppose that's how he collected so much history--not only of our family but of the whole state as well. Tomkin, incidentally, found that his grandmother (Anna Galindo) traced its family in Spain back to the time of Columbus. James Alexander Forbes died in Oakland in 1881 after living in California for more than 50 years. Why he never did anything about the buried treasure and why he never said or wrote anything about it is a mystery to Mrs. Seibold.

DR. CHARLES FORD

The leading merchant of the Monterey Bay area in the formative years of this state; lumberman, legislator and farmer. The title "Dr." was an honorary one in allusion to the fact that he was an apothecary.

A-3	294.01	People- Ford to Forsyth	FORD Dr. Charles T. Born on farm near New Brunswick, N. J. in 1823. When 14 was clerk in dry goods store in Newark; then drug clerk, opened own store; went to New York where he had two drug stores, whence the title Dr. Gold fever hit him. Left New York on bark Coroton[sic-possibly Croton] Jan 16, 1849; arrived in San Francisco July 31, 1849; mined; lost his health; returned east; back to California in 1850; ran store in San Francisco until 1852; went to Pajaro valley and with W. W. Stowe rented part of the Amesti rancho where they planted 200 acres of potatoes. In 1853 started a store with Lucius Sanborn, then running a blacksmith shop. With Ford as president they formed the Watsonville Mill & Lumber Co., which at one time had three mills and two shingle mills. About 1834 the company was succeeded by the Loma Prieta Lumber Co. He owned a large home near the beach where he had his wharf and vineyard and although he was said to have consumed a good part of the brandy he made in his cellar and to have been a frequenter of brothels he was also said to have had an excellent mind for business and a keen memory to the time of his death. He was eccentric with strong prejudices. Although he was once a good friend of William Ely, up to 1875, he never spoke to him after a fight they had over some transaction. Ely had been made a trustee of the estate after the death of J. H. Guild, but after their fight Gharkey changed the will replacing Ely by Henry P. Rice.

Blackburn to Colton. "Dear Sir: I have been induced to write you from having since my arrival heard of your appointing an administrator on the estate of Mr. Nail. It is true it is customary in the states, but consider the unsettled state of this country now. Graham has by some means in this neighborhood rendered himself unpopular amongst many that are permanently settled near Santa Cruz - men who have taken no part for our flag in this controversy; they are at home now and have been during the whole affair, while there are others and all of them are yet with Fremont with exception of myself, who have been out with Capt. Fontleroy, who are residents here who would not like to see our countryman wronged. All I ask is for you to defer the matter until we all get home."

Adams, another sister of Dennis Bennett fixed the date as April 22, 1850, saying Dennis had been 24 years old on April 18, 1850. She said the men at the cabin at the Bennett mill were ___ Roberts or Robinson, ___ Connor and Lansing Haight. Elihu Anthony testified he was postmaster for 13 years except for a break of a year and a half in 1852 and 1853. He said Jesse had been bound over under $1000 bond to keep the peace on the day of the shooting. Anthony was alcalde on that date. He said he went to Bennett's after the shooting and aided in a search for Jesse Graham in the sand hills to the north. O. K. Stampley testified that earlier on the day of the shooting he was working for Anthony somewhere along the road between Santa Cruz and Bennett's mill,

He said Graham shot at both and perhaps wounded both. Stamley said he made a trip east in 1852 and that Jesse Graham rode on the same steamer with him from Havana to New Orleans and in the latter city said he was going to Texas. Mrs. Mary A. Woods, in 1888 living beside Woods Lagoon, testified that on April 22, 1850, she was at Pinkham's house; she heard shooting and screaming and saw Jackson Bennett's clothing burning and saw Mary Bennett after she was carried into the house. Captain W. J. Howard of Mariposa testified that he knew Jesse Graham in Washington County, Texas, in 1839.

In 1865 Jesse again came to his house and worked for him in Merced. Captain John Bourland, who had been a leader of the company of Indian fighters to which both Jesse Graham and Howard belonged, testified to coming to the vicinity of Santa Cruz with seven others in the early part of 1851. Jesse Graham was in the party and came here to face trial as he had heard an indictment had been drawn against him. They could not find the alcalde; did not try to turn Graham over to any other civil officers; camped several days near Isaac Graham's home at Zayante. She said she was in the Sandwich Islands when the homicide took place. Jesse Graham testified he was born in Tennessee; moved to Mississippi; then to Texas. Fought in the Mexican war; came to California in 1849; met his father at Santa Clara. It lacked, he said, 11 days of being 20 years since he had last seen him. He came to Santa Cruz from Santa Clara. The shooting affray with Mrs. Mary Bennett and Jackson Bennett was in the early afternoon. Jesse said Mrs. Bennett, using some Indian language, spoke to Dennis, who drew aside, shot with a pistol and Jesse replied with a shotgun.

Palmer died there. A missionary weighed her gold and told her she had $8,000. She returned to Oregon. Isaac found her at Oregon City; she lived with him for a time and a son resulted. On July 11, 1851, she sued to get the children. She married again in 1853 and went to Pajaro. She and Isaac were married in 1845 by contract, written by Henry Ford, an officer in the army, who went through the marriage ceremony. After her return from Oregon with Isaac the son was born. She testified Thomas C. Burton rented her mother's mill and wouldn't give it up until her mother married Capt. Harry Love, who ousted him. She hadn't seen Burton since 1854.

B in Pa., Aug. 11, '21. A brother for whom he had had a strong affinity died '49. Feeling the loss, he accepted a job as driver in exchange for food and transportation; reached Calif. overland Sept. 4, '49. Almost immediately to the mines at Shasta Butte City (now Yreka); shortly one of the leading businessmen of the northeast end of the 'mother lode.'

Frequently required to repair to SF for supplies, he became acquainted with H. Allen Fox, a gunsmith in the metropolis who when he reached Calif. around the Horn about '55 had left a family in the east and Fox brought his family to SF about '57. Hearing that this family included a personable daughter, Green on his next trip to the city inquired of his friend if he (Fox) would object did he (Green) call upon the young lady. The answer was such that two years later in SF Miss Elizabeth Fox became Mrs. Josiah Samuel Green.

Green's bride recalled Yreka as an uncomfortable place in which to live; Inds. were bad, mostly thieves; roads were unknown; it was cold in the winter with considerable snow, hot in the summer with little water.

But she didn't object too strenuously and here her husband as a member of the mercantile firm of (William) King & Green, engaged in a number of enterprises, not the least of which was the proprietorship of a mule caravan, made a handsome competence even when judged by modern standards and a host of friends among the pioneers in all walks of life; noting among others, Gen. George Stoneman, one of the founders of Sta Cruz and later governor of the state.

In '67 wearying of the life of the frontier and desirous of schooling his children in a more equitable climate, Green brought his family, which now included five child., to Sta Cruz where a number of his old companions were living. The family home was on the corner of Maple st. (he cut that portion of the street through to Blackburn and, suffering a tinge of homesickness called it Yreka) and Chestnut ave.

Mary Elizabeth Green (Mrs. J. B. Herron, who for the past 44 years has been living at the corner of Union and Mission sts,) remembers but one incident of that trip. Driving over the mountains (she says at the time the stage road into Scotts Valley was opened) Green complete with spring wagon on which was piled all their belongings, came upon a lumber truck whose "Jehu" lay dead drunk in the road, his team patiently waiting for him to recover his equilibrium.

Sizing up the situation, the emigrant ordered his family from the wagon, kissed his wife goodbye ('I don't know what I'll find down there') and took off over the side of the road to work his team through the timber on an uncharted route. He managed to get through unscathed and struck the road again on the Sta Cruz side of the obstruction.

Although his daughter says he was too much interested in his family for public affairs, Green was, nevertheless, politically prominent at the start: member of the citizens committee to draw up 're-incorporation papers' '68; mayor (meaning chairman of the board of town trustees in those days of political and magisterial innocence) '67-70 and again '73-75.

Indeed, the social side of public affairs seemed to have been part of him; he enjoyed a trip to Sacramento when the legislature was in session as he enjoyed the confidence of many of the leading men of his day. Gov. Stoneman, both before and after his elevation to that office, had many a fishing, hunting and gab session in these parts with Green's blessing and indulgence.

Green, as a 'capitalist' (money-lender) helped found all three banks here.

The child. were:

Josephine b. '60, became Mrs. Joseph Clark and the mother of a son.

Josiah M. (who didn't like that name and called himself 'Joseph' in despite of the baptismal records) followed into his father's footsteps for many years in business here, active in YMCA work during the first world war, died in Oakland.

A-3	673	People - Green to Grogan	GREGORY, Durrell S. '50, first attorney permitted to practice before the district court in this county when state government became an organized reality, law partner of B. C. Whiting to '54, judge of the first election, US agent for the first census of the county '52 about which year he with Judge J. H. Watson took up a lease on Rancho Bolsa del Pajaro of Sebastian Rodriguez and established the town shortly to be designated as Watsonville. He was state senator from Mont. and Sta Cruz counties for several years after '55 being a leader of the democratic party gravitating to the Breckenridge element in the stirring campaign which saw Abraham Lincoln elected president. Resigned as district attorney of Mont. co. '60 in order to participate in the celebrated Charleston convention which threw down the gauntlet that resulted in the civil war. Back to Calif. at war's end, he continued as an attorney in Monterey; but never regained the popularity he had previously enjoyed. I have no record of him after '75 when for a while he supplied the Sentinel with a few recollections brought to his mind by the fate of Tiburcio Vasquez, the native patriot hanged at S Jose that year. [Article in Riptide]
A-3	674	People - Green to Grogan	GREGORY Darrell[sic] S. - Figured with J. H. Watson in buying land in Bolsa del Pajaro. Mentioned in county in 1850. Dec. 8, 1851, appointed by court of sessions on a commission with Henry Richardson and Peter Tracy, with power to purchase a court house site. The order was rescinded when Anthony, Blackburn and Brown offered to sell. Gregory got land in Bolsa del Pajaro partition in 1861. In 1852 was lessee from Depeaux of part of Soquel rancho. Recorded as first attorney admitted to practice in courts of Santa Cruz county. In late 50s went to Monterey county where he was state senator and held other offices. Moved to San Luis Obispo county about 1879. Died June 8, 1889, at San Luis Obispo, superior court judge of that county. [In Riptide article name is given as Durrell]

A-3	741.01	People - Hackett to Haley	HALE, Titus. Born Feb. 2, 1834, in Missouri; probably at Florisant. He was descended from Samuel Hale of Glastonbury, Conn., of 161837, who had eight children, one of whom, Samuel, Jr., was born in 1645. A descendant, Israel Foote Hale, born in 1804 (d.Nov.21,1891) was married in Florisant to Eleanor V. Keepers. They had ten children, including Titus. He was at Soquel 1859-60. Leased timberland on Aptos from Rafael Castro, shipped firewood off wharf. Selling out interests at Aptos in 1868 he went to Monterey county, where he helped promote a railroad from Monterey to Natividad and a wharf at Monterey. In Santa Cruz, probably in the seventies when he helped F. A. Hihn promote the Santa Cruz-Watsonville railroad he lived at Laurel and Center. In 1882 at Dixon, Solano county. In 1907 living in Oakland, prominent in Society of Pioneers. [Continued on Card 741.2]

Bias has her nose close to the grindstone in accomplishing an extraordinarily good job of converting her mother's carriage shed into a beautiful home, we have been unable to secure info on this pioneer, her grandfather; among the leading men of his day. Halstead was a native NY who reached Calif. '49 at the age of 18 years. He settled at Volcano, there met the daughter of Isaiah Brown who consented to become his bride. About '53 the families settled in the Pajaro Valley, Brown Valley taking its name from Halstead's father-in-law; associated in the lumber business with Ford, Sanborn, Williamson and others, assemblyman in the years preceding the civil war; Corralitos jp in later years, giving up the lumber business about '70 in order to practice law. About '86 moved to SF to practice. A leading business figure there until his death, his last years being devoted to school trusteeship. [Article in the Riptide]

A-3	857.01	People - Harris to Henchy	HARTE, Bret The Overland monthly was planned by A. Roman, publisher,          ___ Brooks; W. C. Bartlett and Harte. Harte          was to write a story every other month.          A three months camping trip into the Santa Cruz mountains          saw the magazine planned. At Santa Cruz Harte outlined          the Luck of Roaring Camp for the second issue.          Roman at Santga Cruz received proofs of the story and          liked it. In San Francisco he found Mrs. Sarah B.          Cooper, a reader, arguing it was immoral and would          wreck the magazine.          Harte and Roman lived in the cottage of Church street.          (1862?)          Harte and Stephen W. Leach of San Francisco married          Griswold sisters. The party, which with three wagons with ox teams left Belmont, a small village on the Iowa side of the Mississippi 16 miles south of Galena, consisted of A. A. Hecox and wife and 4 (3?) children; Charles Imus; Charles A. Imus; Edwin Shaw; John Taggart; James Taggart.            [Continued on Card 910.2]
A-3	910.02	People - Harris to Henchy	[HECOX - continued from Card 910.1; continued on Card 910.3]            May 4 they reached St. Joseph, where their train was augmented to 14 wagons, 28 men, 6 married women and 16 children.            May 8 they ferried the Missouri river 4 miles above St. Joe. May 10 the party started west, up the south side of the Platte river. July 3 it was at Independence rock. It crossed the desert to the Truckee river, up it to Truckee (now Donners) lake.            October 1 it entered the Sacramento valley.            Hecox spent the winter of 1846-47 at San Jose, taking part in the fighting against the Californians. He was a private in Capt. Joseph Aram's Co. of the California Volunteers.            In the spring of 1847 he brought his wife and children to Soquel where he rebuilt for Michael Lodge and Martina Castro [the mill] John Hames had built. Hames had sold it in October, 1846, to Lodge for 5000 feet of boards at $70 per thousand.

When Hames sued Lodge and Martina in 1851 Hecox testified he had built the new mill across the stream from the old one. Henry Hill testified Lodge had put him in charge of the new mill. John Gilmore, who had helped run the mill, testified that after the sale of the first mill by Hames the latter had gone half a mile upstream and put in a flour mill. Hames lost his suit in district court and an appeal to the state supreme court. At Soquel was born Matilda, who became Mrs. Otils Longley. At Soquel Hecox also built a billiard table of redwood, which was set up and used at Monterey, the first made in California. Mrs. Margaret Hecox deposed in the Martina Castro sanity hearing in 1896 that when she and her husband came from Santa Clara to Soquel in 1847 she and Martina acted as nurses for sick people, meeting in that way.

She said Martina came to trade in both stores. In the spring of 1848 Hecox had rented from Lodge the mill he had built the preceding year but when reports of the gold discovery came he left for the Sacramento valley. He was one of the party which discovered the rich diggings at Hangtown, which is now Placerville. He spent two months in the late summer in Santa Cruz again, returned to Mokelumne in September and back to Santa Cruz later in the fall. In June, 1849, he opened a store with Anthony. Hecox was alcalde 1848-49-50. Later justice of peace, Republican nominee for coroner in 1856, for district attorney in 1859, named justice of peace in 1860.

Isbel must have been living at Santa Clara then for in the spring of 1847 his wife, Olive Mann, taught the first English school in Santa Clara, while immigrant families were gathered there awaiting the close of the war. Another note says the school was started in the middle of December, 1846, and lasted two months. She probably had been a teacher in Ohio for a year or two before their marriage. In March, 1847, they went to Monerey and Olive taught in Colton Hall. They went to French Camp, near Stockton, and were there when gold was discovered. Chauncey Isbel was in the Santa Cruz poll list of 1850.

A-4	298.01	People - Kirby to Kyle	KIRBY, Richard C.  Born in Staffordshire, England, in 1817. He learned the trade of tanner and currier. He left England in 1842 and three years later was on board a whaler off the coast of Oregon, entering through the Straits of San Juan de Fuca, when he and five companions agreed they had had enough of seafaring life and pulled for the shore in an open boat. In Oregon City he met Alfred Baldwin and the two were in a party which made a five weeks journey to Sutter's Fort. Ill, Kirby was taken to Yerba Buena [i.e. San Francisco]. Later he returned to Sutter's Fort to dress out some hides for Sutter. A few months later he was back in Yerba Buena where he bought a lot in a valley off North Beach and, with Philip Pell, put in a small tannery. [Continued on Card 298.2]

A-4	298.02	People - Kirby to Kyle	[KIRBY, Richard C. - continued from Card 298.1; continued on Card 298.3] Having met Judge William Blackburn of Santa Cruz, who said he had a small yard with stock waiting to be dressed out. Kirby sold his interest in his San Francisco tannery to ___ Atherton for $1 and in the winter of 1847-48 came to Santa Cruz, to get $75 a month and his board from Blackburn. The Blackburn tannery was one which Paul Sweet had been operating until he joined Fremont's California Battalion and went south in 1846. Weaver and St. Clair had taken it over and in 1847 Blackburn had become interested. Kirby dressed out the hides he found in stock and in 1848 went to the mines with Baldwin. They cleaned up $3,000 in gold in three weeks. Kirby laid in a stock of merchandise at Sutter's Fort and tripled his fortune. After spending the winter in San Francisco he went in the spring of 1849 to the southern diggings where he again cleaned up. Back in San Francisco that winter he lost his small fortune in, it is said, a theatrical enterprise.

The hides cost 50 cents and dressed leather sold for $8 to $10 each. In 1855 he came into Santa Cruz and joined Edmund Jones and Joseph Boston in Kirby, Jones &amp; Co., with a tannery on Majors creek, at Mission and Laurel and down the hill. Its capacity was 1500 hides a month and it employed about 15 men. Kirby was naturalized in 1856. On June 22, 1852, he married Georgina [sic] Bruce. The ceremony was by Justice of the Peace George Parsons. (The Sentinel in 1888 said George Brown was the original builder of the Kirby tannery.) The Kirby tannery quit business in 1893. The buildings at the upper end were demolished and 4 1/2 acres subdivided by Kirby. The lower end with its water power was held for later sale.

A-4	570.01	People - Lewis to Lockhart	ROBERT LIVERMORE Baptised June 20, 1823, at Santa Clara mission as Juan Bautista Roberto Jose Livermore; aged 18; ymgles; natural de Pueblo de Sprinfield, Prov. de Essex. Parents: Robert Livermore and Maria Caduar. Godparents were Juan Alvirez and his wife, Lugarda Briones. M. W. Wood, publisher of a History of Alameda County in 1883, said Livermore was born in Bethnal Green, London in 1799. (All apparently in error.) Wood said Livermore stayed in London until 1823 when he entered the British naval service, taking part in several notable sea fights, being for some time on the South American coast under Lord Cochrane, afterward Earl of Dundonald, when that famous admiral was in command of the Peruvian fleets. While serving in that branch of the marine service he came to Monterey in 1820 (?); worked on the ranch of Juan Alvirez, where his fair hair and captivating manners made him a favorite, especially with the fair sex. [Continued on Card 570.2]
A-4	570.02	People - Lewis to Lockhart	[ROBERT LIVERMORE - continued from Card 570.1; continued on 570.3] The Centennial book of Alameda county, 1876, says Livermore was born in Bethal sic] Green, London, 1799. In 1823 entered the naval service of England, subsequently went into Merchant service and in 1829 found his way to Monterey. In 1830 at San Jose. Worked for Juan Alveriz. Went to Rancho Agua Caliente, lived with the Higuera family; married one of the daughters. Settled in Sunol valley. With his old friend Noriega he got a grant in Livermore valley. Settled at Las Pocitas in 1835 and got the grant in 1839. He bought Noriega's interest. He died 1858, leaving the land grant to eight children. A writer in the Knave about 1936 said Livermore was born in Nottingham, Engl, and came in the merchant service to Monterey in 1822. The original post office at Livermore was named Nottingham.
A-4	570.03	People - Lewis to Lockhart	[ROBERT LIVERMORE - continued from Card 570.2; continued on 570.4] Bancroft puts his arrival in California in 1822. Says Livermore served in the U.S. navy before joining the allied fleet of Lord Cochrane, taking part on the Esmeralda in the naval operations at Callao (1820-21). Leaving the naval service he shipped on the Col. Young, which he deserted in California about 1822. He lived some time at Laguna or the Alvirez rancho; spent some time at San Gabriel in the south; worked in the Santa Clara redwoods, although this was probably later as George Frazer of 1833 is named as comrade. Bancroft says the earliest original record of Livermore was in 1829 when, majordomo on the rancho of Torre and Mulligan, he claimed to be 23 years old, to have come in 1819. Another record of 1829 Roberto said he was a resident of San Jose; that he deserted from Conoliango about 1821, was 22 years old and had been baptised at Santa Clara as Juan Bautista Robert.

A-4	570.04	People - Lewis to Lockhart	[ROBERT LIVERMORE - continued from Card 570.3; continued on 570.5] Bancroft had a receipt for money of Livermore, dated at Los Pozitos in 1825, but thinks this may have been an error for 1835. Bancroft has: Livermore was mentioned at San Jose in 1830 and 1831, but as intending to quit the place. In 1842 he wrote of a cattle brand he had used for 15 years. Soon after 1830 he went to Tularcitos rancho where he married Josefa Higuera as early as 1834, if we follow the padron of 1841 which makes his daughter, Casimira, six years old, although the date is generally given as later. Before 1837 when Edwards visited him he established himself on Pozitos rancho, in what is now Livermore valley. In 1839 he was apparently granted the rancho on April 8, but two days later it was granted to Salvio Pacheco, probably as a formality, Livermore not being a citizen. He at once bought the property, in partnership with Jose Noriega, whose interest he bought later.
A-4	570.05	People - Lewis to Lockhart	[ROBERT LIVERMORE - continued from Card 570.4; continued on 570.6] In a list of 1840, when Livermore was arrested with the others, his age was given as 36, and he was said to have come to Mancidor on the Coronel Yon twenty years before. In 1840-41 he had dealings with Sutter being called 39 years old in a padron. In all these years he had trouble with the Indians, being wounded in one of his expeditions. In 1844 he was naturalized, being called a resident "for over 20 years". In 1846 he rendered service, carrying dispatches. About this time he bought the Canada de los Vaqueros of the Alvisos. His place was a well known station on the route from Monterey and San Jose to Sacramento. The two ranchos were later confirmed to him and the former sailor became a rich man. His reputation, says Bancroft, was that of a hospitable and honest man, a good representative of his class. In 1851 through the medium of a neighbor named Strickland, who had a sister living in England, Livermore resumed communication with his relatives after 25 years.
A-4	570.06	People - Lewis to Lockhart	[ROBERT LIVERMORE - continued from Card 570.5] He corresponded with a brother, William C. (See Bancroft for additional details). Livermore died 1858, leaving a widow and eight children. His son Roberto lived in the Livermore valley until his death in 1886, with his wife, Teresa Bernal, and six children. One of Livermore's daughters was the wife of Valentin Alviso. In the Santa Clara mission records was the burial on Nov. 11, 1849, of a son, Tomas, parvulo.

Litigation in 1851 brought out that Martina Castro and Michael Lodge in October, 1846, bought a steam saw mill from John Hames, promising to pay 5000 feet of one inch boards, valued at about $70 per M. The mill was washed out in December, 1846. In 1848, Hames alleged, Lodge gave him a mortgage of a second mill which had been constructed plus all his sheep and cattle and their increase, in four years. Martina Castro Lodge, in her answer, said that under Mexican law she could not be held for her husband's debts; that she owned all the cattle, sheep and land mortgaged; that she (sued as administrator of the estate of Michael Lodge, with Louis Depeaux as co-administrator) never administered her husband's estate that denied that her former husband was dead. Hecox] testified that in 1847 he was employed by Lodge to build a new saw mill across the stream from the old mill and about two miles from the mouth of the creek. Henry Hill said he went to work for Lodge in 1833 and was put in charge of the mill obtained from Hames and that John Gilmore helped run it. Before it was washed out in December, 1846, they had produced 12 M of lumber. Gilmore testified that after Hames sold the mill to Lodge, Hames moved up the creek and built his flouring mill about half a mile from the sawmill site. The second sawmill was built, from April to August, 1847, by Hecox, Imus and Edwin Shaw on "this" (the Santa Cruz side) of the river. Hugh Pablo McCall testified that Lodge, with Hecox, went to the mines in 1848 and remained there for 15 months. McCall was at Calaveras and Stockton with Lodge in 1848-49 but returned and ran the saw mill for two months after November 1, 1849. Lumber sold for $90 per M.

A-4	690.01	People - Makinney to Manley	MAKINNEY [photo of Hampton Emmett Makinney] But it remained for Hampton Emmet [sic] to consolidate the work of these people. Born in Preble co., Ohio, July 31, 1840, he was the son of a farmer who followed in his father's footsteps during his boyhood. Removal of the family to Keokuk, Iowa, in '54 enabled him to enroll in Ballinger's academy at that place. Within three years he had qualified himself as a teacher, his first assignment being to the school adjoining his father's farm. When on April 15 '62 he married Miss Astoria C. Anderson of New Boston, Iowa, the honeymoon consisted of a toilsome, lengthy and dangerous ox-team trip to Placerville. An acquaintance with the Rev. Charles Fletcher Loop, then rector of Calvary Episcopal church paved the way for his appointment as principal of Santa Cruz schools. He arrived here in December '66 to take over the job. Within 18 months he was county school superintendent, combining this office with that of school principal here until December of 1873 when he became county clerk, auditor and recorder. This combination post he held down for 12 years, in the interim taking up law, occasionally serving the county courts as an arbitor in some important suit. [from the Riptide] [Continued on Card 690.2]

A-4	772.01	People - Martin to Mazon	MATTISON John S. - Born at Hudswell, near Richmond, North Riding, of Berkshire, England, on Jan. 18, 1823. His parents moved to Richmond where they lived until 1839 when they and the rest of the family came to the United States and bought a farm in Yates County, N.Y. After living in Geneva and Canandaigua, N. Y., and visiting his parents in 1846 he started for the so-called west, reaching Chicago in May of that year. In July he went to Michigan City, Indiana, and started a boot and shoe factory, in which business he was engaged when the California gold fever broke out. On March 17, 1849, he started for California, going by stage to Chicago where he joined others about to start for the new eldorado. He traveled with oxen through Illinois, Iowa and Missouri and on May 7 crossed the Missouri river. [Continued on Card 772.2]
A-4	772.02	People - Martin to Mazon	[MATTISON - continued from Card 772.1; continued on Card 772.3] He traveled the old trail until he arrived within 60 miles of the sink of the Humboldt, when he unfortunately followed Hudspeth and Myers on what is called the greenhorn's cutoff so that he did not arrive at Sacramento until October 7, 1849. From Sacramento he went to Auburn on the north fork of the American River where he voted for the first state constitution and state officers. He left soon after that for San Francisco where he was engaged to go to Santa Cruz in which place he arrived Christmas day of 1849 after having been at sea for two weeks. The next spring he went to the mines where he remained during the summer of 1850 and then returned to Santa Cruz where he engaged in making saddles. In 1853 he was elected justice of the peace in Santa Cruz and afterwards in Soquel. Of perhaps 100 cases he tried none was appealed to higher courts. In the fall of 1853 he went back to the state of New York where his father still lived, expecting to return soon but his health becoming poor he was

Going to sea, he sailed to New Zealand and then to San Francisco, reaching there January 15, 1850. That summer he spent eight months at the Yuba mines, taking out $12,000 in dust on Roses Bar. He promptly lost his money in attempting to establish a freight packing business and started for Santa Cruz but, in June, 1851, stopped on the summit and took up a claim, hunting for a living. William Dearing proposed a partnership and they hunted for the San Francisco market. That year (1851 or 1852) they killed 1000 deer, sold them for $5 to $10 each and made $7000. Later McKiernan tried to raise sheep on his place but the mountain lions ate them and he became a notorious lion hunter. His fight with a bear was May 10, 1854. [Continued on Card 893.2]

Built log house on Front street, about court house site, in winter of 1847. Studding was of split stuff; flooring from Graham's Zayante mill. Torn down in 1895. Moore occupied it until the summer of 1848 when he moved to the Bolcoff place which he had bought. The log house had small windows and low ceilings. it was not a hotel but rooms were sometimes rented. Feb. 15, 1848 Eli Alex Moore formed a partnership with John Doak and Jose Bolcoff to build a sawmill. Bolcoff was to own half, furnish half the cost of the building; Moore and Doak were to contribute labor. In the early fifties Moore and Bolcoff operated a flouring mill in Arroyo Matadoro, known as Bolcoff's mill. [Continued on Card 1036.2]

A-4	1051	People - Morgan to Myers	MORGAN John W. - Born Dec. 13, 1829, in Portsmouth, Scioto County, Ohio. He went with his parents when quite young to a place called Wars Run in Ross County, about 14 miles above Chilecothe, at which place his father died in 1837. His mother then moved to Chilecothe where they lived a year or so and then went to Portsmouth where they remained until 1840. His mother remarried and they moved to Amherstburg, Upper Canada, and stayed about a year, moving then to Detroit, Mich. They lived there together for a year when Morgan left home and went back to Canada where he remained until the spring of 1844 and then returned to Detroit to visit his mother. Here he met his brother-in-law, David Gharky, and together they traveled to St. Louis, arriving after 10 days continuous travel by steamboat and stage. Morgan started for House's Springs, about 32 miles southwest of St. Louis, on foot and arrived there after three days of heavy tramping. [Continued on Card 105.2]
A-4	1051	People - Morgan to Myers	[MORGAN - continued from Card 1051.1; continued on Card 1051.3] He stayed there until March 1849, when he went to St. Louis and after laying in a load of supplies he started with his four yoke of oxen for California. He first went to St. Joseph where he joined a party consisting of Titus Hale and his father and about 20 others, all bound for California under Dr. Bassett as captain. They crossed the Missouri and traveled together as a company until they reached Fort Kearny where Morgan and a few others left the company and reached the Trucky [sic] River when Morgan started ahead of his teams to locate a claim. He came on as far as Johnson's Rancho on Bear River where he arrived about July 20, 1849. He then turned back to meet his team and he happened to meet Dr. Caldwell who was going the same way he expected his team to be coming and he therefore accepted an offer of $10 a day to help drive a team.
A-4	1051	People - Morgan to Myers	[MORGAN - continued from Card 1051.2; continued on Card 1051.4] He soon met his teams and started back with them and located their first claim near Barn's Bar on the north fork of the American River where they remained until the rain set in and then went to Sacramento or as it was then called, Sutter's Embardadero, where they remained until the new year and then to Negro Bar, thence to Blue Tent on the Auburn road 10 miles from Sacramento, which Morgan kept for three months for Francis &amp; Fowler of Sacramento. He left there and went to Ecker's Bar on the south fork of the American River where he remained with the exception of a trip to Frisco on October 15, 1850, until he left for a trip back to Missouri in the latter part of February, 1851. After a trip of 49 days from San Francisco in the old brig "Emigrant" he arrived in Panama, crossed the isthmus and landed in New Orleans May 2, 1851. From there he took steamer up the Mississippi River and home.

He cut the lumber for the flume, erecting the "flume mill" on land of M. W. Whittle. When the flume was completed he bought the San Francisco mill, about half a mile above the flume mill. The flume lumber was cut in 1874. He operated the San Francisco mill about two years. In the later seventies he moved to Glenwood and sawed for Mountain Charley. In 1884 he was about to erect a mill on the San Lorenzo about two miles above Boulder Creek. Later he cut timber for Hihn by contract near Laurel. He died July 5, 1903, at Boulder Creek; result of injuries when run down by a Fourth of July horse race on the Main street. He left a widow, a son and a daughter. [Continued on Card 1058.2]

The article below, written by Faye Ellis of Ben Lomond, describes Newell's life and his contributions to the community. She became interested in learning more about Newell through her association with a group formed in 1974 to preserve Evergreen Cemetery in Santa Cruz, located next to Harvey West Park. Newell is buried there and she "adopted" him as part of a program to maintain the grave sites, which have been badly neglected over the years. The group, whis is named HELP (Help Evergreen Live Permanently), is doing everthing it can to complete the histories of those buried at the cemetery. The information obtained about Addison Newell is part of that effort. Persons interested in learning more about HELP can reach the group throught the Santa Cruz Historical Society, P. O. His father was a millwright. Addison grew up and remained in Montville, Maine, farming until he was 40 years old. There he married Sarah Soule, and raised five children. Like so many men, he struck out for California when gold was discovered, arriving in San Francisco by steamer from Panama in June 1852. Addison spent five years in the gold fields, then settled in Santa Cruz with his two brothers, Charles and Milton, and their families, in 1857. Records show Addison was in the San Lorenzo Valley as early as 1866, but it was April of 1870 that he obtained 320 acres in land grants from the federal government, and settled on the banks of Newell Creek, outside of Pacific Mills (now Ben Lomond). There he grew grapes, farmed , and lumbered redwood and pine. In 1877 he added another 160 acres to his property. His land took in parts of Rancho Rio and Quail Hollow, up into lower Iompico. Many landmarks in Ben Lomond bear the name of this early pioneer.

It now is under state protection, as a spawning area for coastal trout, and farther up it still retains its quiet beauty with giant oaks, madrone, and lofty redwoods unperturbed by houses and people. Newell Creek canyon remained untouched until an earth fill dam was added to collect water for Santa Cruz. it was then known as Newell Lake and Newell Dam. The name was changed to Loch Lomond to revitalize the Scottish history of Ben Lomond. In 1876 Newell Creek School and district was formed with 25 students attending school seven months a year. It was located on Glen Arbor road just about at Locust street on the school house section. In those days a male teacher made $84.93, and a female teacher made $68.01 a year. Later Newell Creek School became known as Pacific Mills School in 1881, and Ben Lomond School in 1894. Today there is still a Newell Creek road that runs along Newell Creek, but earlier there was also a Newell avenue off of Glen Arbor road, where Maple and River now meet.

Trees were cut down above the mill, and floated down the creek to the sawmill, where they were cut and loaded on oxen drawn wagons, and hauled down to the train stop where Railroad avenue is today. Addison attended and was active at the Santa Cruz Methodist Church. An article in the November, 1857, Pacific Sentinel tells about A. Newell opening a singing school in the Methodist Church, and charging gentlemen five dollars for 24 nights, with ladies free. Addison was also a member of the Eureka Division No. 4, Sons of Temperence [sic] Society, and helped organize the building of their meeting hall in 1860. Two sons, Nathan and Frank, both served their country in the Civil War. Frank Newell was also one of the first to set up business in the new town of Lorenzo. he opened a blacksmith shop in 1875, and married a Lorenzo girl named Emma Owens that same year. Addison's other children and his brother Milton moved to San Francisco in the 1870's. In 1860, Addison was a candidate for Justice of the Peace in Santa Cruz, and a 1876 marriage record shows that Addison was the local justice, and had married his son, Frank, and Martha Flagler in Felton, that year.
A-4	1075.1	People - Newell to Notley	[Addison Newell - continued from Card 1075.4] On January 30, 1886, Addison and Sarah celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their residence on Newell Creek by giving a dinner for their family and friends. During the afternoon Rev. Askins performed a humorous marriage ceremony with the groom agreeing to keep his wife supplied with kindling, and to obey her, which she promised to sew on his shirt buttons and give him plenty to eat. Both hoped to be able to celebrate their diamond wedding anniversary. Sarah Newell died on September 7, 1890, at the age of 74 and is buried in the family plot at Evergreen Cemetery in Santa Cruz. Less than two years later, on May 3, 1892, as Addison was nearing his 80th year, he died at his home on Newell Creek. His funeral took place from the noon train on the narrow-gauge road. S. Barnet, G. Bowman, E. Anthony, R. Case, F. P. Cooper, and F. D. Bennett, all prominent men of Santa Cruz, acted as pall-bearers. Ten days before his death, Addison sold his remaining 320 acres outside of Ben Lomond Station to Charles Osborn and his wife, with a $1,000 mortgage settlement, and made out his will leaving 1,200 gallons of wine, valued at $100; 80 cords of redwood, valued at $150; 25 cords of pine, valued at $75; five lots in the city of Oakland, valued at @2,500; and 160 acres in Shasta County, valued at $1,600, all to his son Frank. Addison's obituary says he was a man of sterling qualities, and fair ability, and he was active until 10 days before his passing. Maybe that is why so many local scenes retain his name and memory.

A-4	1086	People - Newell to Notley	NOBLE Augustus - Born of English parents in Baltimore, Maryland, Dec. 28, 1823. he went with his parents to Salem, Mass. at an early age; left school at the age of 13 and was in a grocery and crockeryware store for three years, then served an apprenticeship at the cooper's trade. While working at this trade he became acquainted with Capt. Thorp Everett, who had made several voyages to California and from him Noble got his first knowledge of California. Toward the latter part of 1848 there were one or two persons who had returned from California to the towns in the neighborhood. Escitement increased rapidly and and parties commenced to form to go to California. How to get there in the easiest and quickest way was the inquiry. There were many seafaring men in the city who had been on the Pacific coast in whale ships that had sailed from Massachusetts in former times, and their advice was to go around Cape Horn in a ship; so companies began to form to go in that way. [Continued on Card 1086.2]

It was called the Nauskeag Trading &amp; Mining Co., to go to California for the purpose of mining and trading in that country. Noble joined this company. The ship "Capitol" was to sail from Boston to California and they therefore took passage on it, paying $150 for each person, and sailed from "Boston Jan. 23,1848. On board were about 240 passengers and crew. After a pleasant voyage of about 42 days they arrived in Rio Janeiro where they found many vessels with passengers from the United States and Europe bound for California. Among the vessels was the Pacivic Mail Steamer "Panama".

Among them were the U. S. sloop-of-war "Dale" and the British ship-of-war "Asia" of 96 guns, one of the largest ships of war afloat in those days. They soon left for California and had a pleasant voyage until off Cape St. Lucas when they experienced the hardest gale of the voyage and the company to which Noble belonged lost a large boat off the vessel. On July 19, 1849, they arrived in San Francisco and came to anchor about dark. There being a great many ships in the harbor they came in collision with one of them but got clear without much damage. The largest sailing ship in the harbor when they arrived was the "Iowa" of Bath, Maine, of about 800 tons burden which they considered quite a large ship.
A-4	1086	People - Newell to Notley	[NOBLE - continued from Card 1086.3; continued on Card 1086.5] The next morning Noble and his party went ashore and landed at Clark's Point near the foot of Vallejo street, going over the hill and pitching their tents there. They stayed in San Francisco for a few days, then started for Sacramento on a schooner, paying an ounce ($16) for each person's passage, finding themselves. After a three day voyage they arrived at Sacramento and tented at the corner of K and 3rd streets under a large oak. Sacramento was a lively place at this time; many vessels were lying at the levee, among them the bark "Eliza" which had left Salem in December, 1848. Early in August, 1849, the company divided and three of them, William Rust, Luther Brooks and Noble, made a party to go to the North Fork of the American River. This party bought lumber at a dollar a foot and made a rocker, then started for their destination; arriving there they went to work but after mining for several weeks they were compelled to return to Sacramento on account of the heat.

The feed was so poor that the oxen were fed on the leaves of oak trees. They passed through where Marysville was afterwards built but at that time there was only one adobe house there. They mined at Foster's Bar nearly two months, making from $10 to $75 a day each and being rained down on without any shelter at all for two nights steady. They walked back to Sacramento and Noble worked at his cooper's trade making five and ten gallon kegs out of whiskey barrels. He did a good business until the flood on January 8, 1850, when they were housed in for several days with Judge Story, Capt. W. L. Duncan, now of San Francisco, E. N. Thayer and others as companions. After the flood business revived and in April he bought a lot and set up a cooper shop.

With an uncle, a ship's master, he left Norway '40 on a three year cruise, but didn't return. In the Mediterranean he shipped with an Americal vessel, Swanton, for N Orleans. In Baltimore when the gold excitement struck, he and a company left for Calif. via the Horn. Lost their bearings on this coast and put in at Mont., believing this to be SF. Here with others of the crew he jumped ship and proceeded to the mines, enjoying little success as a searcher for gold but earning $12 per day building the first suspension bridgte in the state and in construction of flumes to divert water to the mines. In '51 he attempted again to find a fortune in gold, but high water washed away everything he possessed except the clothes on his back. Mostly on foot, he traveled to Sacto expecting to find work as a carpenter. No lumber was available. He walked on to S. Jose in search of work, sleeping on the ground and wading or swimming swollen streams. [Continued on Card 121.2]

To Calif. in a light brig that left Boston in '48 but couldn't get through the straits of Magellan and wintered in Patagonia, reaching SF Aug. 28, '49. He spent some time in the mines, but about '51 appears to have settled at Soquel as a general merchant; perhaps in company with George K. Porter and L. S. Moore. He was for many years among the prominent men of this region, merchant, tanner, lumberman, an equivalent of the community bank; who never married but who was called upon from time to time to take over the affairs of an orphan among his neighbors. In later years a stock raiser at Bradley. A bro., Ben K. Porter came in '53.

'47 poss. with the Hopper party, trying his hand at mining for two years, but hearing of a plan afoot to dam the American river (which, by the way, hasn't yet been accomplished), concluded he would be unable to work here and returned to Mo. Possessed of a feeling for horticulture (in this he claimed to have been the first person to plant peaches in that part of Mo. he, as a lad, called "home"), invested his earnings in land, went into debt for more and soon was a prosperous rancher. Unable to stand the Mo. winteres, he sold out and returned to Calif. '64, settling for one year in Sonoma county before purchasing the Isaac Williams ranch near Watsonville. Within a short while he had 260 acres in orchards and within another short while was able to retire. A-5	195.01	People - Rable to Reynolds	REED, James Frazier Native of Ire., to Ill. in childhood. Here he married Margaret W. (Keys) Blackburn, widow of a member of the family of the judge. Overland '46 with his mother-in-law, aged 90 years who was taken ill and died before reaching the sierra in Oct., her death and the attendant delay awaiting it (despite her pleas that the party proceed without her) was one of the factors responsible for the fate of the Donner party. In the trying experience of breaking a trail over the desert, during which all had to leave their belongings behind, John Snyder, one of his drovers becoming angered by the weakness of some of the oxen and administered a beating to the animals. This Mrs. Reed protested. Snyder struck her with his whip. Reed drove a knife in the heart of his drover and was hailed before the remainder of the company for murder. The company split over this, part holding for capital punishment; but eventually a compromise was reached wherein Reed was allowed to take the horse of his stepdaughter, Virginia Blackburn, and proceed over the mountains without a gun or food. Little Virginia and a man crept out of camp that night to pass him a gun and some crackers. The act perhaps saved those of the Donner party who were saved. For Reed got over the hill to Sutter's Fort ahead of the snow, properly read the weather signs he saw, and commenced immediately a campaign to send relief to those trapped in the mountains. [Article in Riptide] [Continued on Card 195.2]
A-5	195.02	People - Rable to Reynolds	[REED, James Frazier - continued from Card 195.1; con't on 195.3] On Oct. 31 the party was trapped at Donner summit. Reed, struggling up the west side with supplies was forced to turn back, dividing his time that winter between serving as a Lt. of vols. at Sta Clara in the Sanchez campaign and attempting to earn enough money to buy supplies against the day he could get into the hills. In Feb. '47 he went back to the Donner party with the second relief and brought out several of the party, the remainder of those who were saved being rescued by a party whose activities he had inspired. All the family was saved. They settled at S Jose where R--- became a wealthy and respected land owner, holder of much of the property on which the present town is built, obtaining by deed from the owner a mile square at 35 cents an acre. In the squatter troubles of '55 he permitted himself to be dispossessed. A fearless man, rather than hurl the challenge 'come and take me; he had offered to his overland companions, he put his family on horseback and came over to Captain Isaac Graham's Rancho Zayante to ride out the squatter affair. He waited patiently six years at Felton and Santa Cruz before the civil war threat resolved his ownership of the lands. During these years he mined for gold at Gold Gulch, burned lime and made lumber for Maj. S. J. Hensley (q.v.), gave his baby Marth Jane (Patty Reed) in marriage to Frank Lewis.

D, NY vols, county sheriff at Mont. from '50 to '55, but from this time resident of his 159 acre farm cut out of Rancho Corralitos. His wife was Sarah Margarette McMahon m about '52 when he was a resident of Carmel valley. Here the eldest child, Alexander P., was born Dec. 10, '53. Roache became adm. of the estate of Jose Marie Sanchez, who before '50 was undoubtedly the wealthiest man in the state. S--- lost his life over his gold when on the eve of Christmas his 'mule train' from the mines, laden with the precious metal carried him into the quicksands of San Benito creek when he was within calling distance of his home. The fight that swirled around the administration of this estate and the care of the grandee's large family led to no less than a dozen violent deaths, including the friends and enemies of the sheriff. Tiburcio Vasquez commenced his career in crime as a bodyguard of one of the Roache enemies. The murder of the ex-sheriff, bludgeoned and stuffed down the well of a Whisky Hill (Freedom) farm Sept. 2,'66 was the last traceable to the Sanchez gold (see George Crane and James F. Foote). In addition to the widow and a son, Roache left a daughter, Mary J., born the year before her father's murder. Descendants of this family live in the valley.

To SF '48, for a short time in the mines above Sacto, but finding this unprofitable took up a squatter's claim on the Pajaro river '53, but abandoned this in favor of a better claim in the Green Valley region, claiming to have been the first settler in this area. Most of the emigration never expected to make a home in Calif., but intended, rather, to acquire a 'pile' and return to the comforts of the family hearth. Miss McFarland, deprived of a father by the Mexican war and con-fronted with the necessity of attempting to care for a semi-invalid mother possessed of few comforts about the family hearth, conceived the idea of coming west to mine gold and with the dreamed-of profits returning to Missouri to lavish wealth upon her mother. The mother either could not, or would not, make the trip. The daughter talked her into consenting to a 14-year-old son accompanying Rhoda Ann. With this boy and a neighboring family of father, mother and three child. the girl reached Hangtown early in the fall of '50. [Continued on A-5, Card #252.3]
A-5	252.03	People - Rowe	[ROWE — Continued from A-5, Card #252.2] Before fall had run out into winter her brother and the mother and father of the three accompanying children were buried. Left with three hungry mouths to feed,, alone in a wilderness of men not always gentlemen, the 16-year-old girl struggled through the winter as a serving-maid in a boarding house. A subscription eventually was raised to return the child. to relatives in Mo.; but Rhoda Ann stayed on. One day a young man entered the boarding house exhibiting a nugget of rare beauty and value. He got away before Rhoda Ann had a chance to glimpse the exhibit. She used this as an excuse for an introduction to the young man the next day. Two weeks later she led her nugget to the altar and became Mrs. William H. Rowe. By the summer of '53 the Rowe family was settled in the Pajaro valley, 'in debt' for a farm. The old man stayed that way most of his life; going into debt for a new farm each time he and the old one paid off. [Continued on A-5, Card #252.4]
A-5	252.04	People - Rowe	[ROWE — Continued from A-5, Card #252.3] 'Rhoda Ann didn't appreciate the wisdom of this and with each new acquisition spent a portion of her time worrying about it. However, when William Henry died he was able to leave a farm to each of his children and a large farm for all of them in community. Mrs. Rowe was highly regarded by her neighbors. Many a Watsonville girl of the generation immediately succeeding hers [sic] was christened with the name Rhoda Ann. By the time of her death about '71 she was the mother of 11 child.

There is some hint that Russell found occasion to be sorry that he had not been beached at Valparaiso instead of Mrs. Farnham. R---- was not a farmer, nor was he a miller, tho' he tried his hands at this and two or three other endeavors on Rancho Libertad. He did, however, understand the workings of an alembic and by the mid'50s was turning out liquid corn in sufficient quantities to care for the custom with enough left over adequately to supply the household. R. C. Kirby (q. v.) says he was murdered near his alembic in '56. But probate papers of his estate give March 19, '62 as that date. A long search for the perpetrator was without result. His family, consisting of the widow, Esther, Alexander, Margaret June and Robert, reached Sta Cruz March 9, '59; soon became among the community's leading farmers, the tract being what is known today as the Barrett farm in the potrero. None married. All were dead shortly after the turn of the century. These people, early members of Calvary Episcopal church, switched to the Congregational church across the street when the Episcopal minister asked them to follow "high church" ritual. [Article in Riptide]

A-5	283.01	People - Ryder to Ryland	RYDER Charles Henry - Born in Dartmouth, Bristol County, Mass. on March 26, 1826. On a farm until nearly 20 years old and then clerked in a store for about two years. About that time California excitement was strong and he concluded to go there and sailed from New Bedford on August 19, 1849, on the bark "Mary & Martha", Capt. A. J. Beauvais, by way of Cape Horn. They stopped at Valparaiso and arrived at San Francisco on February 6, 1850. He remained in Frisco until the last of April, then went to Sacramento, from there to Hangtown, since named Marysville, mined in that vicinity until July 22. His health failed and he started to the Bay and arrived in about three days; from there went to Monterey, thence to Santa Cruz, which was reached by August 15, 1850. He has remained in this county most of the time since that day. [Continued on Card 283.2]
A-5	283.02	People - Ryder to Ryland	[RYDER - continued from Card 283.1; continued on Card 283.3] He started back to his old home in August, 1852, remained about six weeks, thence back to San Francisco, arriving there on Feb. 31, 1853, and has not been out of the county for two months at any one time since the last date. He married Harriet Lucy Kirby Nov. 23, 1854. In the Martina Castro case in 1896 he deposed he arrived in Santa Cruz county Aug. 14, 1850; went to San Francisco; returned in September; was in Soquel until 1857; at Corralitos for a year; back to Soquel where he bought a ranch north of the highway. In 1887 moved into Santa Cruz. Another statement says he came to Santa Cruz from Monterey on a brig on August 15, 1850; and went to work for Daubenbiss and Hames in their flour mill. Elected Soquel constable in September, 1858.
