Biblical Boomers

One of the oddest, funniest, darkest, smartest and most innovative books to come along in years is "The Boomer Bible: A Testament for Our Times" by R.F. Laird (Workman; 768 pages; $14.95 paper).

This takeoff on the Bible uses "the most popular format in the history of Western letters" to explain the world with baby-boomer logic. "The way history works," as Harry, a combined Jesus, chosen one and God explains to the people, "It doesn't matter whether the masses read anything./ Because the college and university professors have read it./ And they're the ones who make up history and philosophy and science./ And eventually their knowledge finds its way into movies and songs and comic books and TV shows and all the things you are familiar with./ Which is how I know that all of you have been exposed./ In one way or another./ To everything I am explaining to you now./ And what's more, you already believe it..."

The book's "Past Testament" explains the history of the world in sections named for the boomers' many forebears: "Krauts," "Spics," "Frogs" and others. "The Book of Damn Yankees" ends sadly with JFK's assassination as the first sign of decline for Americans, who give up their future to the "Brits" (the book ends with a single italicized line, "yeah yeah yeah"). The best and most offensive section is "The Book of Beaks" — "This place was called the near east./ Or the middle east./ And was mostly full of sand./ And people with big noses..."

Laird so perfectly nails boomer stereotypes that we forgive his awful puns ("let us bray") and delight in such accurate reflections of boomer literacy as "The Book of Psomethings," 78 memorable and forgettable quotations, such as: "The boy stood on the burning deck./ Whence all but he had fled./ Something something./ A bullet in his head./ Or something./ And so forth./ And so on."

Patricia Holt is book editor for The Chronicle.

CALENDAR OF EVENTS : : NOVEMBER 1991

- NOVEMBER 1
FRIDAY
7:30 PM
ETHAN CANIN reads from his eagerly awaited first novel, Blue River, the tale of a wounded family and the relationship between brothers Ed, a successful doctor, and Lawrence, mildly handicapped, brilliant but angry, living the life of a vagrant. This tale of a family's pain, childhood secrets, and betrayal is a worthy successor to his dazzling first collection of stories, Emperor of the Air.
- NOVEMBER 2
SATURDAY
7:30 PM
JULIAN BARNES returns to Black Oak to read from Talking It Over, his new novel. The author of Flaubert's Parrot, Staring at the Sun and A History of the World in 10-1/2 Chapters has written a witty, wry, and playful novel of an emotionally haunting and razor-sharp love triangle.
- NOVEMBER 3
SUNDAY
6:00 PM
A. S. BYATT, winner of England's Booker Prize, joins us to read from her beautifully written novel Possession: A Romance, at once an intellectual mystery and a triumphant love story, creating a rich and poignant counterpoint of passions and ideas. This work has been compared to the works of Stendahl and Joyce.
- AND
- NOVEMBER 3
SUNDAY
8:00 PM
SARAH LEVI CALDERÓN will join us to celebrate the publication of the English translation of her best-selling Mexican novel Dos Mujeres which enjoyed unprecedented attention upon its 1990 publication by Diana Press, the largest publishing house in Mexico. One of only three openly lesbian and Mexican works in existence, the novel explores the romance between two divorced Jewish-Mexican women and the constraints of family and society through the specificity of an upper-middle class Mexican-Jewish culture. This new English translation by Gina Kaufer opens Calderon's groundbreaking work to a new range of readers.
- NOVEMBER 5
TUESDAY
7:30 PM
URSULA K. LE GUIN will read from her new book Searoad: The Chronicles of Klatsand. The author of Always Coming Home, The Left-Hand of Darkness, and other novels tells the story of Klatsand, a primitive settlement on the Oregon coast and the people who inhabit this American beachside community. "Various private lives in an Oregon seaside village are pried open for inspection in this winning example of Le Guin's best writing--meditative, perceptive and dead-on in its characterizations . . . another triumph." (Kirkus Review)
- NOVEMBER 6
WEDNESDAY
7:30 PM
MICHAEL LEWIS, author of Liar's Poker, stakes a further claim to being the wittiest critic of private enterprise with The Money Culture, a collection of 30-odd pieces of deliciously wicked profiles of contemporary Wall Streeters, their offshore counterparts, and other predatory notables whose status is dollar dependent. He will discuss his provocative record of the recent past's megabuck madness.
- NOVEMBER 7
THURSDAY
7:30 PM
MARILYN WALLACE will read from her latest mystery novel, A Single Stone. Oakland police detectives Carlos Cruz and Jay Goldstein who were featured in A Case of Loyalties, again join forces to solve the killings of young girls. Wallace cleverly builds a plot with breathlessly mounting suspense towards a chilling denouement.
- NOVEMBER 8
FRIDAY
7:30 PM
LESLIE SILKO, author of Ceremony and Storyteller, will read from her new novel, Almanac of the Dead. "Fantastic and colorful in the fine details . . . a chillingly dark vision of corruption, despair and chaos in the Americas, where a native new world order appears ready to begin." (Kirkus Review)
- NOVEMBER 9
SATURDAY
11:00 AM
TO 1:00 PM
YOSHIKO UCHIDA, author of The Dancing Tea Kettle, Journey to Topaz, A Jar of Dreams, and many other books for adults and children, will join us to sign copies of her memoir, The Invisible Thread. Growing up in California during the 1930s, Uchida endured the alienation and rejection felt by many young Japanese Americans. During this time, she slowly came to acknowledge the invisible thread that linked her to her Japanese heritage.

All of these events are free, and you are warmly invited.

- NOVEMBER 10
SUNDAY
7:30 PM ALICE ADAMS will read from Mexico: Some Travels and Some Travelers There. As is evident in her fiction, Adams brings her keen perception and humane social portraitist's skills to this elegant recounting of her thirty year love affair with Mexico. With her vivid traveler's view of Mexican life, she introduces the reader to Mexico's many sides, changeable character, and infinite mysteries.
- NOVEMBER 11
MONDAY
7:30 PM ANNE LAMOTT will read from All New People, her latest novel just released in paperback. The author of Hard Laughter, Rosie, and Joe Jones tells the story of one small girl, Nanny Goodman, with generosity, humor, and pathos as the 60s descend on Marin County and the fabric of that charmed locale changes forever.
- NOVEMBER 13
WEDNESDAY
7:30 PM BAPSI SIDHWA will read from her third novel, Cracking India, written from the point of view of a young girl who is surrounded by the personal and political violence that accompanied the partitioning of India in 1947. "Richly layered, both realistic and magically evocative as well as topical: a novel that brings triumphant life to an India that has less to do with fate than with the will of men." (Kirkus Review)
- NOVEMBER 14
THURSDAY
7:30 PM We are pleased to celebrate the publication of Beneath a Single Moon: Buddhism in Contemporary American Poetry, a collection of the work of 45 contemporary American poets with over 250 poems and 30 essays on the influence of spiritual practice on the practice of poetry. Joining us for this evening will be contributors DIANE DI PRIMA, JANE HIRSHFIELD, STEVE SANFIELD, LESLIE SCALAPINO, STEVE BENSON, DALE PENDELL, and PATRICIA DONEGAN.
- NOVEMBER 17
SUNDAY
7:30 PM KAREN JOY FOWLER will read from her first novel, Sarah Canary. "Fowler's remarkable debut recounts the 19th-century adventures of a mysterious wild woman and of the Chinese railway worker, insane-asylum escapee, suffragette, and exhibitor of circus freaks who pursue her through the Washington Territory, in this baroque tale of mystery, cruelty, and wonder as bombastically excessive as Barnum and Bailey itself . . . a fascinating romp in which actual events are so cleverly intertwined with the author's fanciful inventions that the reader grows unsure which to disbelieve." (Kirkus Review)
- NOVEMBER 19
TUESDAY
7:30 PM MARTIN AMIS joins us again to read from his latest new novel, Time's Arrow. His earlier novel, London Fields, established him as a major author on both sides of the Atlantic as well as one of our most daring and adventurous contemporary writers. With Time's Arrow, Amis delivers a technically dazzling, emotionally wrenching fictional consideration of the 20th century's most troubling collective memory: the Holocaust.
- NOVEMBER 21
THURSDAY
7:30 PM ZYZZVA Magazine Editor, HOWARD JUNKER, will host an evening to celebrate the publication of Roots and Branches: Contemporary Essays by West Coast Writers which he edited. Joining him will be contributors DAVID RAINS WALLACE, BILL BERKSON, and ALEV LYTLE CROUTIER. Join us for a lively look at the West Coast's short, but fertile literary history and the roots from which some of our writers have grown.
- NOVEMBER 22
FRIDAY
7:30 PM JANE SMILEY, the author of The Age of Grief and Ordinary Love and Good Will reads from her new novel, A Thousand Acres. When tyrannical, successful Iowa farmer Larry Cook decides to divide his vast acres of some of the most fertile land on earth among his three daughters, a tale of family rage and buried secrets emerges that has been compared to Lear. ". . . a potent tragedy immaculate in characters, stately pace, and lowering ambiance." (Kirkus Review)
- NOVEMBER 24
SUNDAY
7:30 PM GEORGE BARAMKI AZAR who has worked in the Middle East for the past decade, will discuss Palestine: A Photographic Journey, his unforgettable photographic journal of the "shadows" of the Arab world. This work gathers images of the people of Palestine during the first few months of 1988 when the Intifada was beginning to gain momentum. The texts that accompany the photographs are taken from eyewitness testimonies, open letters, news clippings, interviews, and Arabic poetry.
MONDAY
7:30 PM Join us tonight to hear a discussion by WOMEN IN BLACK, marking the third anniversary of its founding. Women in Black began on January 8, 1988 when seven Israeli women stood silently in Jerusalem to protest the Israeli occupation of the West Bank and Gaza Strip. Today, hundreds of women gather weekly throughout Israel and around the world, in silent vigil, mourning and denouncing the killings and human rights violations that occur daily in the occupied territories.

THE BIG BOOK FOR PEACE

Children's authors THACHER HURD, MARILYN SACHS, YOSHIKO UCHIDA and illustrator TERI SLOAT will sign and discuss THE BIG BOOK FOR PEACE. This landmark work presents an anthology of original stories, poems, and songs designed to help children explore the concept of peace. How do wars start? How can people (or birds or "Wild Things") resolve conflicts? Here is a much-needed counterpoint to the books, toys, and cartoons which glorify war and violence. Royalties will be matched by the publisher and donated to peace organizations.

Other books from these authors will be available.

I sent a notice to the Berkeley
Jpnse Am. Citizen's League
Newsletter, mentioning that
BBT was a sequel to JAR of DREAMS, and that ~~ixmax~~ the book party was a celebration of the publication of my 24th book. BBT is also a Jr. Lit. Selection.
You might want to mention some of this in the news release especially to the 2 SF Japanese newspapers.
They usually give us good publicity.

Washington—REP. ROBERT MATSUI (D-Sacramento) WITH-DRAWS FROM SENATE RACE. Matsui's decision to drop out of the campaign for the Senate seat to be vacated by California Democrat Alan Cranston in 1992 is primarily due to his father's deteriorating health. The only surviving child, Matsui, who recently lost his mother, will instead seek re-election to the seat in the House of Representatives that he has held for the past 13 years. As of his announcement on May 23, Matsui had raised about $1.2 million in campaign funds.

Washington—HOUSE APPROVES INTERNMENT CAMP BILLS. The U.S. House of Representatives approved two bills on June 24 to preserve an important part of Japanese American history. H.R. 2351, introduced by Rep. George Miller (D-Pleasant Hill, Calif.), authorizes the study of a number of key sites that highlight the internment period from 1941 to 1946 for possible designation as National Historic Landmarks.

The other bill would further designate Manzanar, which already has historic landmark status, as a National Historic Site. Sponsored by Rep. Mel Levine (D-Los Angeles), H.B. 543 had been delayed because of a feud between the federal government and the Los Angeles Department of Water and Power, which had refused to turn over

REDRESS UPDATE

First round of redress payments nearly completed. According to the Office of Redress Administration (ORA), as of mid-May, payments had been made to 28,841 eligible recipients from the first payment group—those born before July 1, 1920—and the remaining cases in this group were being processed for payment by the end of the month.

Payments for the second group, those born from July 1, 1920 through December 31, 1927, and any cases still remaining from the first payment group, will begin in October 1991. Some 17,000 recipients in the second group have already been verified.

ORA was authorized by the Civil Liberties Act of 1988 to disburse a total of $1.25 billion in payments of $20,000 each to an estimated 60,000 individuals of Japanese ancestry who were evacuated, relocated or interned during World War II.

In the event that an eligible recipient passed away on or after August 10, 1988, the date the law was passed, payment will be made to the surviving spouse, children or parents (in the order listed).

States consider legislation to protect redress payments. In Sacramento, Assembly Bill 61, which exempts interest on redress payments from being used to determine eligibility for Medi-Cal and other state benefits, was passed by the Assembly Ways and Means Committee and will next go to the full Assembly for a vote.

Washington—BLACKS VIEW JAPANESE FAVORABLY. One of the major findings in a national opinion survey is that blacks hold generally favorable attitudes toward the Japanese in this country and in Japan. Conducted in Sept 1990 by Princeton Survey Research Associates, the study found that:

- Blacks' views of Japanese are generally positive, although less so than whites (66 percent: 81 percent)
- Although both groups see the Japanese as a threat to the U.S., blacks see a lesser threat than whites (75 percent: 84 percent) and are less inclined to attribute Japanese economic advantage to unfair trade practices
- Black respondents were thus less likely to favor trade restrictions against Japanese than whites (51 percent: 63 percent)
- However, blacks are more likely than whites (47 percent: 39 percent) to believe that Japanese companies, more than other companies, discriminate against blacks. Although both groups believe Japanese are creative (76 percent) and hardworking (89 percent), a substantial number also believe they are unscrupulous (39 percent).

The survey, which randomly polled 884 black Americans and 881 white Americans, was undertaken for the Joint Center for Political and Economic Studies, and released May 10.

Washington—MIKE MASAOKA, LONG-TIME JACL LEADER AND CIVIL RIGHTS ADVOCATE, dies June 26. Masaoka, who was first ap-

Masaoka also helped organize, and was the first volunteer for, the 442 Regimental Combat Team, the most decorated unit in U.S. military history.

After the war, Masaoka became JACL's first Washington representative, a post which he held until 1972, and is credited with helping to nullify some 500 federal, state and local laws discriminating against Japanese Americans, including the repeal of the Japanese Exclusion Act.

Masaoka, who had been ailing from a heart condition for several years, died in Chevy Chase, Md., at the age of 75. His autobiography, They Call Me Moses Masaoka, was published in 1987.

REDRESS UPDATE

Under a California law enacted in 1989, redress money is not counted against the ability of former internees to qualify for government medical or social assistance programs. However, interest earned on the $20,000 payments is not covered.

Another redress-related bill, S.B. 353, would bar the state from recovering redress money from the estates of Medi-Cal recipients. Passed by the Senate earlier by a 28 to 4 vote, the bill will next be sent to the Assembly Human Services Committee.

Current law allows the state to recover redress money left in the estate of a deceased Medi-Cal recipient, even if it has been willed to a survivor.

Again, in the Illinois Senate, a bill that would make redress recipients eligible for state public aid was passed unanimously on May 22 and is next scheduled to be heard by the House Judiciary Committee. A similar exemption exists for federal public aid.

Washington—ASIAN INFANT MORTALITY RATE LOWEST OF ALL U.S. GROUPS. According to a new report by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services called "Health United States 1990," Asians and Pacific Islanders of all ages have the lowest death rates among all ethnic groups, including the lowest infant mortality rates.

- Compared to the overall infant mortality rate in the U.S., which dropped to 9.1 deaths per every 1,000 live births in 1990, the rates for Asian American groups were: Japanese Americans, 6; Chinese Americans, 6.9; and Filipino Americans, 7.1 deaths per 1,000. The lower Asian rates are partly due to early prenatal care.
- The death rate for Asian American children up to 14 years old was 24 per 100,000, nearly half the rate of blacks, the highest of all groups. Accidents were the cause of 40 percent of the deaths of all Asian American children.
- Among Asian American youths, the suicide rate, the lowest of all groups, was more than 30 percent lower than whites. The homicide rate was eight times lower than that of black youths, who had a rate of 59 per 100,000.

- Accidents were again the leading cause of death among Asian American adults between the ages of 25 and 44, accounting for 15 per 100,000 deaths. Homicides and heart diseases were second.
- For Asian Americans between 45 and 65 years of age, the leading causes of death were cancer, responsible for close to half the deaths in this age group, and heart diseases, which ranked second. The death rate in this age group is two times lower than that of whites and more than three times less than that of blacks, who have the highest death rate in this age group.
- Heart diseases were the major cause of death among Asian Americans aged 65 or over, killing over a third of the elderly in this age group. However, their death rates from heart diseases and cancer were the lowest of all other ethnic groups.

1990 CENSUS DATA

Preliminary figures released by the U.S. Census Bureau indicate enormous diversity and growth during the 1980s in the nation's Asian and Pacific Islander population, which now numbers over 7.3 million people.

The new figures on Asian Americans indicate a growth in their ranks of 3.5 million, or a 107.8 percent increase, over the past decade. The bulk of this increase came from the more than 2 million new immigrants to the U.S. from countries as culturally diverse as Sri Lanka, the Philippines, India, China, and South Korea.

The fastest-growing ethnic groups include Vietnamese, showing a 134.8 percent growth since 1980; Indians (125.6 percent) and Koreans (125.6 percent). The Hmong population, though smaller in absolute numbers, increased by 1,631 percent; Cambodians, by 819 percent.

Chinese Americans, still the dominant group, accounted for approximately 23 percent of all Asian Americans. According to Ronald Takaki, a professor of ethnic studies at the University of California at Berkeley, more than 60 percent of the 1.6 million Chinese Americans now in this country were born overseas.

The next largest ethnic group, about 19 percent of all Asian Americans, traces its roots to the Philippines.

Ethnic Group	1990 Population

Palauan	1,439
North Mariana Islander	960
Tahitian	944

Total	7.3 million
% of US Population	2.9%
% Increase from 1980	107.8%

Japanese Americans, who 30 years ago represented 52 percent of the Asian American population, now represent 11.7 percent, just ahead of East Indians (11.2) and Koreans (10.9).

Most of the more than 847,000 Japanese Americans are second-, third- and fourth-generation Americans.

Asians, who in 1964 barely numbered one million, accounted for 1.5 percent of all Americans in 1980. In 1990, this figure rose to 2.9 percent.

Takaki predicted that the 1990s will see Asian immigration as large as that of the 1980s, due in part to federal immigration legislation enacted in 1990.

Almost 40 percent, or 2.4 million Asian Americans, live in California. New York and Hawaii each have slightly more than 9 percent.

In California, Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders account for slightly over 29 percent of all San Francisco residents and 10 percent each of all Orange and Los Angeles county residents. There are 12,047 Japanese Americans in San Francisco, 29,704 in Orange and 129,736 in Los Angeles county.

The data, although indicating substantial growth in Asian communities, may still represent as much as a 7 percent undercount. A decision whether or not to adjust the census figures based on a post-enumeration process is expected in mid-July.

Washington—JAPAN 'RACIST,' LACKS SENSE OF GLOBAL RESPONSIBILITY. According to a study by the Rochester Institute of Technology titled "Japan 2000," the Japanese are "racist" against foreigners and "not democratic" because national policy is guided by a tiny bureaucratic and political elite. Still in draft form, the study, funded by the CIA though not officially sanctioned by the agency, further warns that Japan is headed for world economic dominance unless proper action is taken by the West.

Japanese government and media leaders are reportedly upset by the CIA report.

Tokyo—40% IN U.S. DEEM JAPAN 'UNDEPENDABLE.' A public opinion poll conducted by a New Jersey-based Gallup organization for Japan's Foreign Ministry shows that, despite considerable financial aid to allied efforts in the Gulf War, nearly 40 percent of Americans consider Japan "not dependable." This is the third highest disapproval rating since 1960. About 1,500 adults and 600 opinion leaders in the U.S. participated in the survey between January and March of this year.

In a poll conducted for Business Week in early March, most Americans (73%) said Japan "got away without contributing [its] fair share" to the war effort.

Tokyo—ANTI-AMERICAN SENTIMENTS GROWING AMONG JAPANESE. An interim report submitted recently to the Foreign Ministry points out that, while the U.S. is likely to put increasing pressure on Japan to shoulder more responsibility for international security, Japanese nationalism in the form of anti-American sentiment may potentially destabilize the political structure of the Japan-U.S. Security Treaty.

U.S. pressure comes at a time, according to the report, when the Japanese have come to place less importance on the security pact, as military threats from the Soviet Union have decreased. Further, anti-U.S. nationalist sentiment is surfacing across Japan, the report suggests, citing its observation that more people have come to think Japan should not give any further concessions to the U.S. concerning trade issues.

Chicago—MORE AMERICANS STUDYING JAPANESE. According to the Consulate General in Chicago, the total number of students studying Japanese in the Midwest in 1990 rose to 7,324, an increase of 18.8 percent since 1989. The number of institutions and organizations teaching Japanese increased to 111, showing a 40.5 percent increase during the same period.

Nationwide, according to surveys cited in the Chicago Shimpō, the number of Americans learning Japanese, now estimated to total over 20,000, has increased three-fold over the past decade, reflecting Japan's growing economic power. Many New Yorkers even consider interest in Japanese language and culture as "chic," according to the paper.

Tokyo—54% OF JAPANESE FAVOR SENDING ITS MILITARY ABROAD to aid in natural disasters; another 46 percent favor Japan's participating in non-combat peace-keeping operations for the United Nations, according to a recent poll by the Prime Minister's Office.

These findings are based on the responses of 2,156 Japanese surveyed between January 31 and February 10.

Earlier polls, taken while the Diet debated sending non-combat troops to join the multinational forces in the Persian Gulf, showed strong opposition and the idea was dropped.

In other defense-related issues, respondents were generally in favor of maintaining the status quo, with 56 percent saying defense spending should be kept at its present level. Government defense spending in 1990 was approximately one percent of Japan's gross national product, or about $31 billion.

New Name Adopted

THE JAPANESE AMERICAN NATIONAL LIBRARY

The Japanese American National Library was adopted as our new organizational name in order to reflect the national scope of the Library's activities.

The Library collects published materials relating to Japanese in the U.S. and Canada, including books, booklets/pamphlets, magazines/journals, Japanese American vernacular newspapers, and all forms of documents.

The Library is also the national repository for all Japanese American redress materials.

The Library disseminates information throughout the U.S. and Canada by means of publications and on-site use by patrons, and through the Library's information and referral service, which can be reached from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. (Pacific Standard Time) weekdays by calling (415) 567-5006.

In addition to the Bulletin, the Library publishes listings of books-in-print about Japanese Americans; an abstract-index (to Japanese American vernaculars), reports on anti-Asian American activities, a monthly listing of obituaries, and occasional papers.

Currently the Library is developing a national subject data base for information relating to Japanese in the U.S. and Canada. Those using this system will be able to conduct searches by subject, author, title and other categories.

Incorporated in 1985, the Library has been collecting books and materials since 1969 and has been operating a pilot library since 1981.

The Library's collection currently comprises more than 8,000 books, 32 lineal feet of manuscripts, 38 boxes of archival documents, and thousands of periodicals and newspapers.

Members of the Japanese American National Library will receive the Bulletin and the 1991 Books-in-Print. Basic membership dues are $30 per year.
