PUBLISHED MONTHLY FOR PERSONNEL OF TUDOR ENGINEERING COMPANY SAN FRANCISCO

JUNE, 1966

It has been a long time since publishing a Newsletter--like September--so shall try to bring you up-to-date on what has happened around the Tudor offices. If anything is missed, please forgive me since it is not intentional, but most difficult to remember everything that has happened since then.

The Editor

NEWS FROM LISBON

Jim Holden was kind enough to send much news on December 17, but it is all quite old now and we're sorry about that, Jim!

The Tudor employees had their Christmas party and reported that it was a fun and successful one. There were 29 in attendance.

Tim Saddington went to Lisbon to help on the job there, via Australia (for a vacation), and has been enjoying the Portuguese way of life.

Opening ceremonies for the Tagus River Bridge are scheduled for August 6. Mrs. Tudor, Louis and Pat Riggs are planning to be there for this big event and know it will be a memorable one.

NEWS FROM CALAVERAS

Bill McNerney has gone back to the wilds of Ebbetts Pass--at least he was headed that way--but he must have broken his writing hand--do we need to say more, Bill? ? ? ?

NEWS FROM ECUADOR

Andy Lamore and Jim Albert left for Guayaquil in February (with their respective families, including one feline) and arrived almost in the middle of a revolt. Jim's report of how they left the office to go to the bank and return in the middle of rioting sounds like a James Bond thriller.

Andy reports that thieves in Venezuela stole 150 kilometers (90 miles) of railroad track including the spikes. The line was not in use, but nevertheless it was quite a haul.

Jim is a little miffed at the editor since some time back, he wrote a long and most interesting article about the Palm Springs Aerial Tramway which never made it to print. But it is promised that most anything he sends from Ecuador will be printed if a special issue must go out.

Bill Gray left San Francisco for Guayaquil in April and we are quite anxious to hear what he has to say about his new domicile.

NEWS FROM MERCED

In March, the main rockfill dam at Exchequer was completed to within 30 feet of the crest and water has been impounded from the spring snow melt. Lining of the power tunnel has been completed and work is in progress to divert irrigation releases around the powerhouse area during the summer construction period. Construction has begun at the powerhouse area and will soon become the principal activity on the site. All but a few items of minor equipment have been installed at the gated spillway and completion works are proceeding on the dikes, either side of the structure, and the paving downstream of the main spillway.

Congratulations to Bob and Linda Halk who welcomed a boy baby, James Robert, on December 6.

Bob and Charlotte Jenkinson spent the Christmas Holidays vacationing in Fort Myers, Florida. They said the weather was perfect and Bob spent most of his daytime hours playing golf.

Congratulations to Lin and Judith Wilson who were married in North Wales on February 12. They returned to Merced after two weeks honeymooning in Mexico City, Taxco and Acapulco.

Mike Mellor (who has moved to the San Francisco office) and Sandra Labyorteaux announced their engagement on January 1. The wedding is to be in August. Congratulations to Mike and Sandra.

An article appeared in the San Francisco Chronicle on April 24 as follows: "Destined to disappear by the weekend was the 310-foot high concrete arch dam Old Exchequer, built 34 years ago near Merced and no longer able to impound enough Merced River water for San Joaquin Valley irrigation. Its successor is 170 feet higher, 800 feet thick at the bottom and cost $32 million."

Well, to check on the above and to see if we could understand everything we have been reading and working on for years, on May 7, a group from the San Francisco office traveled to Snelling to make a tour of the new dam.

The old dam was completely covered and the new dam was most impressive and absolutely unbelievable (to a few). The trip was very interesting--thanks to Med and Mary Theibaud and Alice Weller. Med and Alice spent their Saturday on a "busman's holiday" explaining everything and it was most certainly appreciated.

Those who took the tour and who posed for the above picture were: Yin, Theresa and Lillian Howan; Francois, Sylvie, Olivier and Eric Martin; Denis O'Connor; Hugh Brown; Leone Morris; Lyn Ward; Elaine Jones and Alyce Keast.

The weather was really hot--like 110° in the shade, with no shade--but finally made it to the field office, with tongues hanging out, where there were refreshments and everyone revived enough to make the trip to the powerhouse and to McSwain Dam.

The cofferdams have been removed around McSwain Dam which is now holding water and releases of irrigation water are being made through the powerhouse bypass. In the powerhouse, concrete is about to be placed around the turbine and will be followed by installations of the turbine machinery and electrical equipment in the next few months.

NEWS FROM PERU

Carl Otto was in San Francisco in December and we were all pleased that he was able to attend our first Dinner-Dance. It is always good to see Carl. He and his family came to the United States in February and were in the Bay Area for a short time visiting friends and relatives.

Steve Stevlingson has rejoined Tudor Engineering Company and is working in the Lima office.

Henry Pedraza left here in November to go to the Lima office. It seems that once these "bachelors" leave San Francisco, they forget to write their old friends--or maybe they're so busy, they don't have time to correspond!!!

Hugh Brown left May 22 to work in the Lima office for about a month--we miss his smiling face.

BART

Gene Altshuler has the Berkeley Alternative in pretty good order. He did his good deed by managing to put a very complicated subject in a readable form (hopefully) for all parties concerned. His next expected big event will be July 7 when they open the bids. So that's why Gene decided he had best take his vacation while things are a little slow for him.

Frank Lerchen is taking Spanish lessons so that he can understand the new BART design car literature which is being distributed. He wants to be certain he conforms to published criteria. Incidentally, Frank was stuck in the elevator for about 45 minutes one day while enroute to the third floor at 525 for a conference and everyone was looking for him.

Wedding Bells

Congratulations and Best Wishes to:

Ming Lin and Patricia Brown who were married October 16. They had a week's honeymoon in Hawaii.

Dick Waissar and Lilliam Ramirez who were married November 6. They had a month honeymooning in Puerto Rico, Jamaica, Panama, Costa Rica, Nicaragua and El Salvador.

Becky Liang and Matt Hsaio who were married November 14. They spent a two-week honeymoon traveling to Yosemite, Death Valley, Las Vegas, Grand Canyon and Palm Springs. While in Palm Springs, they took a ride on the Tramway and Becky said it was a breathtaking experience.

Tamea Conyers, daughter of Oral and Julia Conyers, and Lt. Arthur D. Isham who were married December 18 at Fort Benning, Georgia.

Jean Tudor and Capt. James M. Kennedy, Jr. who were married December 26 at Menlo Park Presbyterian Church. Tom Mackenzie gave the bride away and Jim's father was best man. There was a reception at the University Club following the wedding. The newlyweds honeymooned in New York City.

Julia Seville and Marius Bejan who were married March 25. Gloria and Julio Pinell were the couple's attendants. Julia decided to stop trying to be a career girl and become a full time homemaker.

Gisela Korbmacher and Bill Humphrey who were married April 2. The pictures of the wedding were beautiful and Gisela was a lovely bride. They took a delayed honeymoon the first of May to Hawaii, and Gisela says they must go again for a longer stay.

On December 4, the company held their first Christmas Dinner-Dance at the Hotel Mark Hopkins. There were 320 in attendance which included several people from Merced. Everyone said they had a wonderful time and are looking forward to next December.

Adolph Sandner was awarded a Certificate of Merit in recognition of his long and faithful service to the Corporation. Mr. Helgesson is shown giving the certificate to Adolph.

Admiral and Mrs. Trexel were unable to attend the Dinner-Dance, so the officers of the company presented a Certificate of Merit to him at a luncheon on January 3.

Frits Fenger was honored by CIVIL ENGINEERING in February for an article he wrote, "The Metric System Now." Mr. Hunt, Editor of CIVIL ENGINEERING, wrote: "Each month the editors ask a random selected group of members of ASCE to make comments on the various elements of CIVIL ENGINEERING. Your article rated highest in this survey. We are pleased to send you the thanks of the American Society of Civil Engineers for a fine contribution to our professional knowledge."

Barbara Rivas spent her vacation in the Islands in January, visiting Kauai and Honolulu. She said you could certainly get used to the Island life.

Mary and Nick Roberts spent the Christmas Holidays visiting her parents in Wanatchee, Washington.

Barbara and Bert LaVigne, with Beth, Barry and Bruce, took an extended vacation in July and August--of 1965, that is--traveling 9,180 miles and were in 27 states. They visited many places and saw many interesting sights.

On the weekend of February 22, Leone Morris and three other females went deep-sea fishing and caught eleven salmon--they had a marvelous time and are planning to go again soon.

Gene and Joyce Altshuler decided to try a different type of vacation this year. Gene took their young son to visit his parents in the East, and Joyce took their daughter to visit her parents in Michigan.

Dudley Auger and spouse departed for the Islands of Oahu, Hawaii, Kauai and Maui on May 21. We hope that Dudley will give us a report on his travels when he returns to the office.

It was so good to see Ray O'Neil in the office again although for such a short time. He was enroute to Atlanta, Georgia (which will be his home for a couple of years) from Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. Let us hear from you, Ray.

Tudor Engineering Company and PBQ&D, Inc. have merged (insofar as having a bowling league). The teams perform each Tuesday evening. There have been three games at this writing and it is a rather close race so far. Everyone is enjoying and having much fun each week. The regular TEC bowlers are: Doug Mansfield, Ervin Poka, Jose Puente, Wil Pacheco, Bob Myrdal, Ken Heilig, Barbara Rivas, Dixie Tomlin, Leone Morris, Beatrice Deres, Elaine Jones and Alyce Keast. You are all invited to come to the "Downtown Bowl" any Tuesday evening at 5:15 to help cheer your favorite team.

Irene and Lew Workman spent their vacation first driving to Palm Springs then to Arizona. They went on a guided tour of Monument Valley in a 4-wheel drive which was quite interesting and a bit exciting. On their way home, they visited the Grand Canyon and Hoover Dam.

Mrs. Tudor spent the last two weeks of April visiting Jean and Jim in Virginia. She had a delightful time, and reports that the newlyweds will be returning to California soon since Jim is going to work on his Masters in nuclear physics.

We hate to see Dick Waissar leave TEC, but he has a wonderful offer in Mexico. Dick will be leaving San Francisco on June 20 to accept a position as manager of a small silver mine in a remote section of Southern Mexico--which is approximately 90 miles from Mexico City. Lots of luck, Dick.

And, bon voyage to Jose Puente who is taking his family and returning to their native Lima, Peru.

Future Engineers and Engineeresses???

Congratulations to the following who welcomed new additions to this world since the last Newsletter:

Ruth and Paul McCandless--Allan James--November 21.

Mr. and Mrs. Helgesson became grandparents for the second time when Linda Lee arrived on December 5 to join her two-year-old brother, Eric Alan.

John and Vivian Joseph--Christine--December 6.

Gloria and Julio Pinell--Roger Javier--December 26.

Lou and Phyllis Salaber--Ralph Christopher--February 22.

Heinz and Bergit Mueller--Andrea--March 3.

NEWS FROM LISBON

We imagine that everything is probably quite maddening in Lisbon at the present time and shall excuse the lack of news. However, Santos Pereira was kind enough to send a snapshot to prove that Tim Saddington was indeed enjoying the Portuguese way of life.

The above picture was taken after a farewell luncheon for Tim during which he was decorated as "Gran-Duque da Meretissima Ordem dos Gloriosos Edificadores da Ponte Sobre o Tejo." Those in the picture are: Fonseca, Marcelli, Dulce, Lena, Tim (between two girls, of course), Mourao, Natalia, Castel-Branco, Zelia, Santos Pereira, Valadas and Marques.

Bob Wilkinson has had three visitors from the San Francisco office recently--Mr. and Mrs. Helgesson and Berniece Beal--plus several other people from San Francisco who are interested in the Bridge.

NEWS FROM ECUADOR

Bob Janopaul made a quick trip to Guayaquil the week of May 29. He returned with a picture of our "hard working" Tudorites celebrating a double holiday on May 28--"Commonwealth Day" and the "Battle of Pinchincha."

Seated around the table at the Phoenix Club from left to right: Jeannette Albert, Garretta Lamore, Josefina Iniquez, Bob Iniquez, Jim Albert and Andy Lamore. The gentleman in the white coat on the left is Bill Gray lighting a cigarette for some beautiful seniorita. Ah--the gay night life in South America!

The Alberts will probably next be opening a Pet Hospital since they have adopted three dogs plus another cat.

NEWS FROM PERU

You people who think "field trips" might be a little rough around here--take a look at the above snapshot. Louis Riggs made a trip to Lima and he, Carl and Steve went on a field trip at Rio Santa and after much rain, the terrain was nothing but mud, mud, mud. Louis removed his shoes and stockings and when the party came to a city, they had to find water holes in the middle of the street to remove the mud.

Steve Stevlingson returned to San Francisco after working with Carl in Lima for six months. Steve decided to take advantage of his being in South America to see a little more of the country on his return, and visited Fred and Eva Madigan in Santiago, Chile; then to Guayaquil to visit with Jim and Jeannette Albert and Andy and Garetta Lamore.

Henry Padraza is on his way to San Francisco via Bogota and should arrive sometime next month.

NEWS FROM ATLANTA

Okay, Ray O'Neil, you want a Newsletter--how about some news from the "Deep South," ya all?

NEWS FROM MERCED

The activity is centering around the two powerhouses, now that work on the main dam and McSwain have been completed except for final "touching up." The placing of concrete at New Exchequer powerhouse should be completed within the next two months at which time the irrigation season will be over enabling work to proceed on the by-pass which has been used to pass irrigation releases during the summer.

Installation of electrical and mechanical equipment is progressing at McSwain powerhouse and at Exchequer, the turbine spiral case has been concreted in place.

Intending visitors to the project will be encouraged to learn that the roads have now been paved and offer a comfortable ride.

Bob Halk and Dan Simpkins have left the project and are working in the Bay Area on the Trans-Bay Tube for the JVCO.

To look after the electrical installations, Fabian Eschen and Gustavo Cardenas have joined us, and we also see Milt Broderson quite often.

Fred and Alice Weller got away from it all for a week and visited Fred's family in Salt Lake City, Utah.

Med and Mary Thiebaud are spending a week in Santa Barbara.

Bob and Charlotte Jenkinson made a "money-making" weekend trip to Las Vegas.

Fred and Janie Estep enjoyed a leisurely week in Capitola and Fred returned with the usual deep-sea fisherman's tales.

After two solid years of steady work, including many weekends, Red Applegate is planning a week of rest and relaxation at home.

NEWS FROM 525

Bob Myrdal spent a week visiting Chicago, Toronto and Cleveland, checking transit yards and shop facilities in these cities.

Dr. Fujio Matsuda, Director of Department of Transportation for the State of Hawaii, was in San Francisco and visited the office for a few hours.

It is good to see Hugh Brown back in the office. I don't know what he must have done in Buenos Aires, but three days after his departure, there was a revolution!

Mr. and Mrs. Helgesson went to Dublin, Ireland on May 24, 25 and 26 where Mr. Helgesson attended the International Federation of Consulting Engineers Conference. Mr. Helgesson said the conference was a most interesting experience. Three languages were spoken--English, French and German. Each speaker's words were immediately translated into the two other languages so that, wearing earphones and tuning the receivers to the number designated for the particular language, they could readily understand what was being said.

Prior to the conference, Mr. and Mrs. Helgesson spent two days driving through southern Ireland visiting Limerick, Killarney and Cork, viewing old castles, kissing the Blarney Stone, observing the scenery and people, and comparing their road construction with ours. After the conference, they visited London and checked out the subways; then to Lisbon to see the Tagus River Bridge.

Alice and Fred Weller made a quick visit to the San Francisco office and it was nice to see them.

Vacation Time

Lou and Phyllis Salaber, with the two little ones, spent most of their vacation in Los Angeles visiting Phyllis' parents. They did make a trip to Las Vegas--but Lou won't talk about that--wonder why?

Herman Minkowski and family drove to Omaha, Nebraska to visit relatives. Herman said they had a nice time but the weather was terribly hot and the good old fog felt good when they returned to the Bay Area.

Ed Lai took his family to Lake Tahoe for a vacation. Ed said he won thousands at the Casinos, but made the mistake of going back for more!

Sabine Thureau spent several days in southern California. She drove to Santa Barbara, San Simeon, Knottsberry Farm and Disneyland.

Yin Howan is in Tahiti visiting relatives and friends for a month. His wife and little girl are planning to meet him in Hawaii on his return.

Art Mayhew, wife and two sons flew to New York to visit relatives and friends and made like typical tourists, visiting the Statue of Liberty, Empire State Building, United Nations Building, etc. Art said they did have a delightful three hour circle cruise around Manhattan.

Stanley Froid and family spent two weeks living in the "wide open spaces." They camped out at the North Fork of the Salmon River and swam, fished (the fish always were sleeping when the Froids were after them), hiked and even threw a few snowballs.

Berniece Beal had a marvelous vacation and shall give just a few highlights. She first went to London for three days then to Africa for a safari. She visited Nairobi, Kenya; Samburu Game Park; Mt. Kenya Safari Club; Secret Valley; Masai-Mara Game Reserve; Tanzania; Serengiti Plains; Ngorongora Crater; Oldulvai Gorge; Lake Manyara; Amboseli Game Lodge; and saw Mount Kilimanjaro. She saw many animals and took many pictures. Berniece then flew to Cairo to see the pyramids, Sphinx and museum; then to Athens and Acropolis. She then flew to Lisbon and spent a weekend with Bob and Jeannine Wilkinson, seeing the countryside and driving across the Tagus River Bridge.

Berniece has written up a complete diary of her trip and has some beautiful pictures and if anyone is interested in more detail of her safari, please see her.

Congratulations and Best Wishes to

Mike Mellor and Sandra Labyorteaux who were married on July 17 in Carmel. They spent a week honeymooning in Carmel.

NEWS FROM 515

Don Bruzzone took his family to Clear Lake for a week's vacation and had an exciting time digging septic tanks, distribution boxes and leech fields.

The Dudley Augers spent two delightful weeks visiting Maui, Kauai, Hawaii and Honolulu. Dudley took 360 pictures which must be some kind of a record--hope he will have a showing some day soon. I think he won some kind of prize for doing the best "hula"--but you know how modest Dudley is so couldn't get much out of him!!!!

Congratulations to

Ken and Carolyn Heilig who had a daughter, Tamara Sue, on June 14.

Maxine and Peter Joyce who planned to welcome Alvin, but welcomed Alison on July 13.

Peter and Lolo Frobenius who welcomed a son, Tex, on June 21.

NEWS FROM JWCO

Sam Seifert and family toured the United States from California to New York and visiting many, many states inbetween. He said they had a most interesting vacation.

Keith Bull, Diane and children have been spending most every weekend in the mountains, camping out and hiking. Suppose this is why Keith looks so disgustingly healthy these days.

Oral Conyers and family spent a long weekend at The Dalles, Oregon attending a family reunion.

Tom and Barbara Mackenzie just returned from a vacation to the Northwest. They stayed at Cultus Lake and South Twin Lake, both near Bend, Oregon, then visited with their son and daughter-in-law--and more importantly, the grandchildren. Tom said they fished and just rested.

Frank Paul has purchased a mobile home in Concord and is busy gardening in his 10 square foot lot! They are planning a vacation next week to Crater Lake, Bend, Oregon, and looking at the redwoods.

NEWS FROM LISBON

What we in the office have been calling the "Tagus River Bridge" was opened on August 6 and officially named "Ponte Salazar" by the Portuguese Government. Louis and Pat Riggs attended the opening ceremonies which lasted four days and Louis reported there was much excitement and many impressively-dressed diplomats with all their medals, etc.

Jim Holden has finished his work in Lisbon and is headed back for the San Francisco office.

NEWS FROM ECUADOR

Andy Lamore sent the above newspaper picture of Maria Mercedes San Lucas, secretary in the Tudor office in Guayaquil, who is a candidate for queen of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Maria is one of seven candidates and we wish her "muchacha suerte!"

Garretta Lamore is doing a portrait as one of the raffle gifts for Mrs. Salvatierra's American Government Wives functions. It sounds as though everyone in Guayaquil is busy-busy!

NEWS FROM PERU

Carl Otto will be in the office the week of October 17 so we may find out what is going on in Peru!!!

NEWS FROM ATLANTA

Two Tudor expatriates have joined the PBTB team in Atlanta, Georgia. Lou Salaber and Ray O'Neil, native San Franciscans both, find Atlanta a considerable change of pace. They may even become the first pedestrians to be arrested for "speedy and reckless walking."

But speed is appropriate to the Atlanta Rapid Transit project. By April of next year, a report is to be produced updating the 1962 study, and shortly after that, preliminary plans are required for the initial system which is recommended. The principal objectives of the newly formed Metropolitan Atlanta Rapid Transit Authority (MARTA) are:

1. To develop a long-range plan for rapid transit in Atlanta.
2. To define the system sufficiently to protect essential rights-of-way.
3. To present an initial construction and right-of-way program for local approval.

Faced with this work load, Lou and Ray have been getting their sightseeing done early. Ray can usually be found driving at the head of a column of red Georgia dust. This is his way of absorbing local color. Starting with the Battle of Atlanta, he can now relate much of the Civil War, but only backwards-- Kennesaw Mountain, Chattanooga, and Chickamauga.

Lou favors the shotgun approach to tourism. On his first weekend, he and Phyllis saw "all" of Atlanta. On the Labor Day weekend, he and the family covered "all" of Charleston, South Carolina and Savannah, Georgia. For them, the cross-country drive was just a warm up.

So far, Ray reports that Atlanta has proved to be modern and green with friendly people. There is even a growing variety of restaurants shading ever farther from hushpuppies, Kentucky-fried chicken and other traditional Southern fare. On the negative side, Atlanta lacks the bustle of San Francisco and does present a considerable change of climate.

Dave McBrayer, PBQ&D--San Francisco; Leverage Parks, JVCO--San Francisco; John Coil, Resident

Manager, JVCO--San Francisco; Ray O'Neil; Ray Gustafson, Bechtel--San Francisco; and Lou Salaber. As you can see, Lou is a little camera-shy and please note the stately posture! (Sorry, Lou, Just want you to know how much we miss you and your smiling face.)

NEWS FROM 525

In August, Wil Pacheco attended a 5-day conference of the American Institute of Planners in Portland, Oregon.

The American Institute of Steel Construction's 38th Annual Prize Bridge Competition, the only contest which pays tribute to designers for their aesthetic use of structural steel in bridge construction, was held in New York on September 22, 1966. One of our associates, Norman C. Raab, was asked to serve with four other jurors in selecting the prize bridge in each of seven categories. About 130 different types of structures were submitted by the 50 states and territories of this Country. After the meeting ended, Mr. and Mrs. Raab returned via Washington, D. C. where they visited various museums and took in the sights of the Nation's Capital.

Louis Riggs and the other members of the Board of Control for BART toured the major cities in Europe and Russia inspecting their subway systems during the month of September. Louis has promised to give us some information on what they saw and the cities visited in the next Newsletter.

Vacation Time

Frits Fenger and family spent a long weekend visiting Disneyland, Death Valley and Solvang.

Bert LaVigne and oldest son, Bruce, had an interesting vacation. They flew to Mexico City and made like tourists then to Acapulco where they met friends who have a schooner and joined them sailing back to San Diego. They were supposed to sail, that is, but the weather was unusually warm and calm that they motored most of the way.

An interesting picture that Berniece Beal took while on her Safari is shown below. The forest in Lake Manyara National Park in Tanzania is famous for its tree climbing lions. The group watched this lioness for nearly an hour. She showed some curiosity while being photographed since they were only 10 feet away. The roof of the mini-bus was open and if the lioness had been hungry or angry, could have jumped right into the car; however, everyone was informed that she would give plenty of notice--like sending wavelengths??? Incidentally, the head in the background belongs to Berniece and luckily, it returned with her to San Francisco.

NEWS FROM 515

Bob Ganse and family spent a week vacationing at Donners Memorial State Park. They camped out, sailed, fished, and Bob said they completely relaxed.

Sara Fina vacationed in the "wide open spaces," namely, Jackson Hole, Wyoming. This is the Grand Tetons country and quite beautiful. She spent one day visiting Yellowstone National Park and another day, following in "Lady Bird's" footsteps (or canoe) by going on the Snake River tour. An interesting side-light--while in Jackson Hole, "The Monroes" (a new TV series) was on location and being filmed. Sara met the assistant director who took her on the set and doesn't it sound intriguing?

After having the chance to go to Hawaii but never getting there, Dan Yavorski took a "big bird" and spent two weeks being a beachcomber. He did manage to get in a few games of golf and returned with a nice tan and looked relaxed. It is rumored that he left a few broken-hearted Wahines in the Islands!!

Congratulations and Best Wishes to

Karin Pedersen and Bert Pfeifer who were married at the San Francisco City Hall on August 26. They will have a second wedding in a church in Karin's home town of Odensee, Denmark on October 15. They plan to spend one week in Odensee then on to Munich for a week to visit Bert's family.

Ines Studhalter and George Horner who were married in the Mission Church at Santa Cruz on September 10. They will take a delayed honeymoon.

On September 6, the joint venture of TEC and PBQ&D Bowling League--The Injuneers--held their first bowling banquet to present trophies to the best bowlers, team, etc. The dinner was held at the Rathskeller and a most delightful time was had by everyone. Chaperones (??) were Stanley and Harriette Froid from Tudor, and Dick and Alice Davis from PBQ&D. Trophies were presented to: 1st place team consisting of Leone Morris, Bryce Tomlin (he was in Caracas so Dixie accepted for him), and Akos Vass; Don Yamagishi for high series; Al Rose for high game with handicap; and Elain Jones for. . . (the reason escapes the editor's mind so if you're really interested, please see Elaine).

If anyone has moved in the past year, please contact Gloria Pinell and give her your new address. We must keep our address list up-to-date and this cannot be done if you don't give us the information. Thanks!

Please keep Saturday evening, December 3, open for Tudor Engineering Company's Annual Dinner-Dance. More about that later.

Congratulations to

Joan and Fathel Al-Kazily who had a son, Riyadhth.

Julia and Marius Bejan who had a girl child, Janine.

Shirley and John Czechowski who welcomed Sabina.

Laila and Keith Sandner who welcomed Kenneth; thereby making Adolph Sandner a great-grandfather for the third time.

A few RESUMES and PERSONAL HISTORY form have not been turned in yet--particularly from down South America way. Mary Roberts asks that you please complete these and send them to her, pronto!
