Dear Sir or Madam,

I am asking for a review copy of the following book for our newsletter, The Perihelion:
A PIECE OF MINE by J. California Cooper.
ISBN:0-931125-00-6

The Perihelion, which is published twelve times per year, addresses the forefronts of human civilization. Our publication is diverse in content and strives to compile for our readers a scope of the unpredictability of fields of knowledge in general, while zeroing in on new directions of specialized hybrid fields in particular. As a result the list of discrete areas we cover is very extensive, including: computer science, literary commentary and fiction, psychology, technology, philosophy, history, parapsychology, telecommunications, the physical and life sciences, religion, anthropology, the graphic and visual arts, medicine, psychopharmacology, astronomy, mathematics, scientific research and the media.

Since our newsletter is a forum in which our readers can remain connected with the changing interfaces of accelerating disciplines, it is our policy to print one in depth book review in every issue. At least once a year we dedicate the entire newsletter to books.

When we review a book, it automatically becomes a recommendation for purchase. The Perihelion staff will be happy to send you a copy of any issue where a review of any book we receive appears. Whether it be a tradebook or textbook, for technical or general interest, we will print up full order information along with any review, at your request.

Among our readership are computer consultants, authors of nonfiction and fiction, public and academic librarians, university professors and students, information services, physicians, lawyers, psychotherapists, directors of educational organizations, journalists and members of the scientific research community.

We appreciate your interest.

Sincerely,

Vella Bach

Dear Sir or Madam,

As a publisher new to CUMULATIVE BOOK INDEX, you may be interested in getting acquainted with our publication.

CUMULATIVE BOOK INDEX is an international bibliography of new publications in the English language. All the bibliographical information necessary to identify a book is provided in our listing: full name of the author, complete title, date of publication, edition, paging, price, publisher, illustrative material (if any), ISBN and LC card number. Subject headings are also given to bring out the major topics in the book.

The best way to insure a listing is to send one copy of your new publications to CUMULATIVE BOOK INDEX. This will enable us to record accurately the bibliographical data enumerated above. We also send the newly received books daily to other units within our company for possible further listings. By sending us a copy of your publications, you have the possibility, therefore, of other listings besides CBI. We do not include pamphlets under 100 pages, or books which are in a printing of fewer than 500 copies. At present we are listing only books published in 1984.

There is no charge for a listing in CBI.

Yours sincerely,

Thomas E. Sullivan

Dear Publisher:

For the past 4 years, the WLW JOURNAL: News/Views/Reviews for Women and Libraries has provided librarians and interested women throughout the nation with excellent articles and reviews of print and non-print media. These reviews aid librarians in making purchase decisions and in promoting more balanced collections.

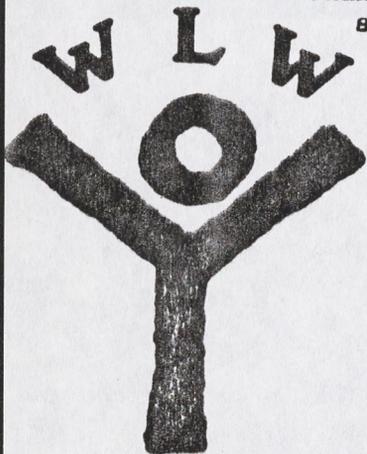

It has been brought to our attention that you have recently published the following book(s): J. California Cooper, A Piece of Mine

We would appreciate receiving a complimentary copy for evaluation and possible review. Copies of reviews that are printed in our journal from your press will be forwarded to you.

We thank you for your help in making our efforts to provide a useful selection tool for librarians a successful one!

Regards,

March 13, 1984

Dear Alice,

I've waited much too long to write and my only excuse is that time passes much too quickly. I look up and suddenly it's the week-end. And I am terribly busy juggling home, and family and a new husband, and job and coping with the many emotional demands of these situations. But by far the most important reason for the delay is that I've been waiting to get a copy of the oratorio to send along with the colon cleansing book you were interested in reading. Both are enclosed. Hope you like the oratorio. It's drawing favorable responses from the Christian community. As for colon cleansing-- I like it so well that I'm on the program again after six months. It's important to read the book carefully--as I know you will. I read it several times and found it fascinating--so much so that Dinanath found it necessary to ban the subject from dinner table conversations. Such a stick in the mud---badd punn!!!

Any way! It was wonderful seeing you and also frustrating. I felt myself wanting to cram all the sharing that typically takes us a leisurely three or four days into two hours. So much has happened in both our lives. Yet when will I realize that the deeper sharing takes place inevitably, vibrationally. One of the things Dinanath keeps pointing out to me. Like the bonding that subtly takes place in a relationship. Suddenly you realize that you are connected to another person on levels that elude discussion/ In any event, my relationship with Dinanath is like that. Or it may be that what's new is that I'm finally able to tune into these other levels. I think what is most important in my life these days is that I'm finally facing up to who I've been, who I still am, and what I'm trying to become. It's often painful, but obviously necessary. What a revelation--how much we fool ourselves.

You seemed well. I hope things have worked out for you to do the script for the movie--It's a wonderful opportunity to get through to the millions who will see the movie--who probably wouldn't read the book. And thank you again for putting us up in such luxury!!. We loved it. Speaking of love...love to Rebecca (what a fine young woman she's becoming!!), Roberto, and Casey.
