COPYRIGHT AND RESTRICTIONS

The copyright law of the United States (Title 17, United States Code) governs the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted materials. The various state privacy acts govern the use of materials that document private individuals, groups, and corporations.

Under certain conditions specified in the law, libraries and archives are authorized to furnish a reproduction if the document does not infringe the privacy rights of an individual, group, or corporation. These specified conditions of authorized use include:

- non-commercial and non-profit study, scholarship, or research, or teaching
- criticism, commentary, or news reporting
- as a NPS preservation or security copy
- as a research copy for deposit in another institution

If a user later uses a copy or reproduction for purposes in excess of "fair use," the user may be personally liable for copyright, privacy, or publicity infringement. This institution's permission to obtain a photographic, xerographic, digital, or other copy of a document doesn't indicate permission to publish, exhibit, perform, reproduce, sell, distribute, or prepare derivative works from this document without first obtaining permission from the copyright holder and from any private individual, group, or corporation shown or otherwise recorded.

Permission to publish, exhibit, perform, reproduce, prepare derivative works from, sell, or otherwise distribute the item must be obtained by the user separately in writing from the holder of the original copyright (or if the creator is dead from his/her heirs) as well as from any individual(s), groups, or corporations whose name, image, recorded words, or private information (e.g., employment information) may be reproduced in the source material. The holder of the original copyright isn't necessarily the National Park Service. The National Park Service is not legally liable for copyright, privacy, or publicity infringement when materials are wrongfully used after being provided to researchers for "fair use."

This institution reserves the right to refuse to accept a copying order if fulfillment of the order is judged in violation of copyright or federal or state privacy or publicity law.

HISTORY

Authorities trace the beginnings of the Yosemite Association (YA) to the creation of the first museum in the national park system. This achievement involved the activities of Ansel Hall, Yosemite's first chief naturalist, who converted six rooms of the former Jorgensen Studio for museum use in 1921. By 1922, 33,000 people had visited the museum, and discussions began regarding a new facility. These deliberations captured the interest of the American Association of Museums Committee on Museums in National Parks (later the Committee on Outdoor Education). Seeing an opportunity for an experiment to equip and build a park museum, committee members facilitated a $50,000 grant from the Laura Spellman Rockefeller Memorial Fund in New York. In 1923, the Yosemite Museum Association was created to secure these funds. Founders included Ansel Hall; Joseph Grinnell, Director of the Museum of Vertebrate Zoology at the University of California, Berkeley; Barton W. Evermann, Director of the California Academy of Science; and William Frederic Badè, President of the Sierra Club. The park installed a cornerstone for the new museum in 1924, and Hall left the National Park Service (NPS) payroll temporarily to be its "executive agent."

The first museum exhibit to be built was the Glacier Point Lookout, or Geology Hut designed by Herbert Maier and completed in 1925. A two-story museum building was completed the same year in Yosemite Valley, and included rooms for a library, classroom, offices, caretaker quarters, and storage. Exhibits were completed in 1926 and the museum opened to the public shortly thereafter.

As plans for the new museum were implemented, the mission of the Yosemite Museum Association was broadened to include gathering and disseminating information on the park, furthering scientific investigation, and maintaining a research library. To reflect these new objectives, the Yosemite Museum Association was renamed the Yosemite Natural History Association (YNHA), and Articles of Incorporation were drafted in 1925, serving as a model for the creation of park cooperative associations decades later.

An illustrious eleven member advisory board of specialists guided the mission of the YNHA. As of 1932, members included Dr. Harold C. Bryant, National Park Service; C.N. Goethe, Capitol National Bank; Chauncey J. Hamlin, Buffalo Museum of Science; Professor Willis L. Jepson, University of California, Berkeley; Dr. A.L. Kroeber, University of California, Berkeley; Professor Joseph N. LeConte, University of California, Berkeley; Dr. Francois E. Matthes, U.S. Geological Survey; Dr. Harvey Monroe Hall, Carnegie Institute Laboratory, Stanford; Dr. Carl P. Russell, Yellowstone National Park; Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, President of Stanford and Secretary of the Interior under President Hoover; and Robert Sterling Yard, Executive Secretary of the National Parks Association.

The Articles of Incorporation also defined a five member board of trustees. Original members included naturalist Bert Harwell, painter and writer Della Taylor (Mrs. Herman H. Hoss), painter Harry C. Best, Yosemite physician Dr. Harley Dewey, and Judge J. M. Oliver. Originally, terms of service lasted until death or resignation at which time replacements were appointed. YNHA activities were directed by the chief naturalist, who during the earliest years included Ansel Hall (1922-1923) and Carl P. Russell (1923-1929).

1925 also marked the beginning of YNHA's support of the Yosemite School of Field Natural History, established by the National Park Service and California Fish and Game. Based on studies of outdoor education in Europe, this innovative program brought students out of labs and into the park for seven weeks during the summer to learn observational techniques in the field. In 1930, under the direction of C.A. Harwell (1929-1940), YNHA supported the creation of another educational program, the Junior Nature School, precursor of the Junior Ranger program.

The first printed version of Yosemite Nature Notes also appeared 1925. Having begun in 1922 as a series of mimeographs, it was written by park naturalists and printed by naturalist staff. The newsletter documented Yosemite activities and presented this information to the public.

By 1935, YNHA received memoranda from the National Park Service confirming its approval as a cooperative association. However, attempts to incorporate the organization before World War II fell short, and under the directorship of C.A. Harwell or C. Frank Brockman (1941-1946), programs such as the Yosemite School of Field Natural History went on hiatus during the war.

YNHA consolidated and grew during the post war era. Articles of incorporation were filed with the state of California in 1947, and Fresno's Crown Printing and Engraving Company began printing Yosemite Nature Notes, having already produced special issues. YNHA also assumed responsibility for the Yosemite School of Field Natural History from 1951 until 1954. During the same period, it created a revolving fund for land acquisition, purchasing 25 lots in Foresta and others in El Portal for the National Park Service. Book publishing also surged with the production of such works as Miwok Material Culture by S. A. Barrett and E.W. Gifford and One Hundred Years in Yosemite by C. P. Russell. YNHA directors during the post war period were Donald Edward McHenry, serving from 1947 to 1956, and Douglass H. Hubbard serving from 1956 to 1966.

Momentum slackened for YNHA in the 1960s. Yosemite Nature Notes ceased publication in 1961 (with final issues dated 1962) due to increasing production costs as well as increasing responsibilities of park naturalists. Since membership was directly tied to newsletter subscriptions, YNHA also lost its membership base. Lack of staff support also contributed to a slowing pace, since the organization's only employees other than park naturalists were seasonal and part-time sales clerks.

In 1969, Edwin C. Alberts, NPS Western Regional Cooperative Association Coordinator, visited Yosemite and made several suggestions in a report. One recommendation was for YNHA to amend its by-laws by broadening the membership of the Board of Trustees to include a mix of NPS staff, concessioners, and friends of the park, as was currently common with other cooperative associations. He also advised the organization to broaden its membership with dues paying members including park employees, concessioners, and visitors. Alberts also noted that YNHA's Articles of Incorporation were unique in stating that the organization's purpose was to aid the national park system, not only Yosemite National Park. This allowed YNHA to aid other organizations in California while most other West Coast societies restricted themselves from doing so.

Chief Naturalist William Jones directed YNHA operations from 1969-1972, and during this time the organization was revitalized. Henry Berrey began as managing editor in 1971, having left his position as publicist with the Yosemite Park and Curry Company when it was sold. Berrey expanded the publications program and reinstated a membership program. He was also involved in the development of the Field Seminars Program (forerunner of Outdoor Adventures), the first program of outdoor education courses for the public in the national park system. A precursor program began in 1971 as "Discovery Weeks" with Naturalist William Neeley as instructor. Drawing upon the School of Field Natural History as a model, Berrey established an agreement with the Extension Program at University of California, Davis for students to receive course credit for seminars. The first summer pilot program was undertaken in 1972, during the directorship David Karraker (1972-1974). Two instructors conducted four courses attended by 75 participants.

In 1973, YNHA's Board of Trustees grew from five to seven members, and the organization also moved to new quarters. Having previously shared space with each chief naturalist, separate office space was created for YNHA by enclosing an open area under a roof overhang on the north side of the Yosemite Valley Museum building.

Along with office space, existing programs began to grow. By 1975, The Field Seminar Program offered 18 courses taught by 9 instructors with 299 participants, and in 1977, the Extension Program of the University of California Berkeley began offering college credits. In 1979, YNHA and the National Park Service signed a cooperative agreement stipulating operations, functions, and restrictions.

Several new programs began in the early 1980s. In 1981, support began for the Art Activity Center, where visiting artists conducted classes at no charge from June to October. The same year, an in-park program for naturalist interns began through the University of California Davis. Interns served in Yosemite Valley, Wawona, and Tuolumne, supplementing the work of summer interpretive staff.

Henry Berrey's interest in financial support to expand the intern program and Superintendent Robert Binnewies' concerns for implementing the 1980 General Management Plan led to Board discussions about a fundraising campaign. In 1982, the YNHA Board asked consulting firm McManis and Associates to complete a fundraising feasibility study. The consultants recommended a merger of the YNHA with the Yosemite Institute (YI) to create a foundation. The McManis proposal was dropped when YI declined to consider this option and the NPS Western Regional Office expressed discomfort with cooperating association fundraising.

In 1983, the YNHA Board hired consulting firm Lavendar/Rice to complete another study. These consultants proposed the creation of a select committee specifically for fundraising. Consequently, the Board formed the Superintendent's Special Committee, chaired by Byron Nishkian of San Francisco, a colleague of consultant David Rice. Committee members from Los Angeles and the Central Valley were sought to create a broad base for the solicitation of donations. The fundraising effort was named the “Return to Light Campaign” and its objective was to raise 52 million dollars. It became the first fundraising effort of the national park system.

With the fundraising campaign in motion and the retirement of Business Manager-Editor Henry Berrey imminent, YNHA began a search to fill a new position that would include these responsibilities as well as those previously held by the chief naturalist (retitled chief interpreter in 1972). In May 1985, Steven Medley joined the YNHA as its president. Medley first came to Yosemite as a seasonal employee after graduating from Stanford in 1971. He later became a ranger and naturalist, and with an MLIS from the University of Oregon, served as librarian and museum curator. He returned to Yosemite as YNHA president after receiving a J.D. from the University of California Davis in 1981 and practicing law in Grants Pass Oregon for four years. With Medley’s appointment, the chief interpreter’s role shifted to park liaison. YNHA’s last director from the National Park Service was Leonard W. McKenzie, Chief Interpreter from 1975 to 1984.

Shortly after Medley’s arrival in 1985, the Yosemite Natural History Association was renamed the Yosemite Association, although in legal documents, it remained the Yosemite Natural History Association (d.b.a. the Yosemite Association). In correspondence to Quickenden Lamington of the Natural History Association, Queensland Australia, Medley explained this change as an effort to ease confusion with the general public about the organization’s scope.

In 1986, Yosemite Association offices moved from the Yosemite Valley into a two story building known as Bagby Station in El Portal outside of the park’s boundaries. The station was built in 1907, and until 1945, used as a stop between Merced and El Portal on an 80 mile route along the Merced River. It had also been used for housing by the subsequent owner, Della Gress. In 1973, YNHA purchased the building from the Merced Irrigation District and moved it to El Portal with plans by Director Douglas Hubbard to create a transportation museum. When museum development failed due to lack of funds, the building was reconfigured for office space.

At the same time as these changes, the Board also renamed the Superintendent’s Special Committee as the Yosemite Fund (YF). Steven Medley coordinated operations in the San Francisco office as part-time executive director of the Fund and Mary Lou Edmonson was hired to serve as development officer. Susan Singer, a former fundraiser for the Fine Arts Museum of San Francisco, was brought to the organization as executive director. By 1986, the Fund had awarded its first grants totaling $76,187.

As the Yosemite Fund was gaining momentum, Chairman Byron Nishkian died and his wife Ellie completed his term. The new chair, Richard Peterson, lobbied for independence from YA – a proposal already presented by Nishkian. The National Park Service supported this move, and the YA Board created the Yosemite Foundation (d.b.a. Yosemite Fund). In February 1988, the Fund was incorporated as an independent, non-profit, fundraising and grant-making foundation with its own board council and board of trustees. In July 1989, Board Chairman Peterson replaced Executive Director Susan Singer with President Robert Hanson.

YA expanded its programs during the mid-1980s and 1990s. In 1994, support began for a series of evening programs called Yosemite Theater, and in 1995, the Wilderness Center opened, staffed by Association volunteers. The organization also initiated a campaign to “Keep Bears Wild” by educating the public on methods to discourage scavenging bears. Publishing efforts escalated by placing books with some of the largest distributors in the U.S., creating and distributing book catalogs, and retaining an independent book representative, Wilcher and Associates to promote YA’s publications across the Western states. Medley also entered books in publishing competitions, and from 1994-1995, won 15 Excellence in Interpretation Awards from the National Park Service, including the prestigious Director’s Award twice. YA publications received other awards from the American Association of Museums, and the American Association for State and Local History. The Field Seminar Program was also lauded by the National Park Service in 1994 as the best interpretive program offered by a cooperating association in the national park system. By 1997, a total of 997 participants were enrolled in over 64 seminars.

The achievements of the 1990s were occasionally offset by political and financial tensions during the same time period. YA’s comments in support of a Wild and Scenic designation for the Merced River and the effort to Save Mono Lake were viewed as inappropriate by Superintendent Finley, and this controversy sparked comment in local newspaper articles and editorial pages. After the devastating 1997 flood, tension also existed between YA and YF as both lobbied for donations to aid recovery. To avert any conflicts, YF proposed an agreement with YA focusing on complimentary roles and collaborative fundraising, member solicitation, facility planning, and projects.

By 1999, Beth Pratt was hired as vice-president to help manage YA, but by 2002, the organization was undergoing significant financial stresses. The Board of Trustees, now totaling 16 members, assumed responsibility, and the treasurer and finance committee chair stepped down. The Board expanded Beth Pratt’s position to officially include the responsibilities of chief financial officer, and requested an evaluation of all programs. A business plan sought funds to support the Publication Program.

In October 2006, YA experienced another crisis when President Steven Medley was killed in an automobile accident. Beth Pratt served as interim president until the Board’s selection of David Guy as chief executive officer in June 2007. Under Guy’s leadership, program partnerships were established or confirmed with the YF for the Junior Ranger program, Heyday Books in Berkeley for publishing, and with the National Park Service, as guidebooks were tailored to specific areas of Yosemite. Guy also finalized a new Memorandum of Understanding to operate the reservation systems of the Wilderness Center and Ostrander Ski Hut, initiated a board member evaluation protocol, and continued the annual spring forum for members.

As the Board and new chief executive officer established YA’s future direction, the impact of the nation-wide economic downturn could not be ignored. In 2009, YA submitted a letter to YF suggesting a Joint Sustainability Task Force created from each organization’s board. The Task Force hired consultants from the firm La Piana, who surveyed members, other cooperating associations, and NPS staff. The consultants concluded that a merger of YA and YF would benefit both organizations, and the National Park Service supported the proposal to merge.

In December 2009, both organizations signed a merger agreement, operating on by-laws similar to those of the YF. All YF board members remained board trustees, and all YA board members were invited to join an existing Board Council. Some YA board members also became members of the Board of Trustees, and David Guy was temporarily retained as a consultant. Two new committees were added to existing YF committees -- an Education and Programs Committee, and a Sales and Publications Committee. All YA members and YF donors were retained as "Friends" and offices remained in El Portal and San Francisco. The merged organization, named the Yosemite Conservancy, was formally launched on January 2010.

Information for this summary was gathered from correspondence, reports, and manuscripts in the collection including those of Henry Berry, Steven Medley, David Guy, and former YA Board Chairman Thomas Shephard. Another source was the 1969 report of Edwin C. Alberts, NPS Cooperating Association Coordinator for the Western Regional Office (Series I, Subseries E, Folder 13). Information was also collected from "The Yosemite Association: 80 Years of Support for Yosemite," Yosemite, vol. 65, no. 3, Summer 2003 and the Yosemite Conservancy's web site at www.yosemiteconservancy.org

SCOPE AND CONTENT

Yosemite Association Records 1923-2010 (bulk dates: 1960-2009)

CATALOG NUMBER YOSE 229332

VOLUME 84 LF (161 manuscript boxes, 9 oversized boxes, 1202 prints, 327 negatives, 129 slides, and 41 transparencies)

DESCRIPTION This body of records represents the activities of the Yosemite Association (YA), also known as the Yosemite Natural History Association (YNHA). It also contains records representing the activities of the Yosemite Fund (YF), reflecting its work as a special committee of the YA until its incorporation as an independent entity in 1988. Records reflect the organization's operational policies, governance, management, revenue stream, aid-to-NPS, partnerships, and programs of research, education, publication, outreach, and service.

With a bulk of the records dating between 1960 and 2009, most represent activities under the leadership of Business Manager Henry Berrey, President Steven Medley, and Chief Executive Officer David Guy and their staff members. Although operations of the organization were directed by a series of chief naturalists and chief interpreters, few records from these individuals appear to be incorporated here other than some correspondence. Similarly, Board of Trustee records reflect interaction with various directors rather than in depth documentation of activities. Exceptions are several folders donated by Board Member Ed Hardy, containing many documents stamped "YP&CC."

Few records predate 1960. A 1969 report by Edwin C. Alberts, Cooperating Association Coordinator for the Western Region, noted that files were "voluminous and in some disorder," perhaps an indication of shifting terms of leadership by chief naturalists. Evidence also exists for the periodic destruction of records as projects ended or employees departed. Alberts noted that when Nature Notes ceased, its subscription and membership list was destroyed.

A 1987 letter from a former business manager to Steven Medley also mentions that several boxes of papers were discarded. In 2008, a record retention policy was also instituted by David Guy following National Park Service guidelines.

ORGANIZATION

In general, the arrangement of records proceeds from documents generated by and about the organization's governing leadership to papers reflecting daily operational activities. The original organization of the records has, for the most part, been maintained in two series -- Series I: Director's Office Records, and Series II: Business Office Records.

The Yosemite Association files also included several types of loose items appearing to be unassociated with specific records. These have been arranged by material type into three series -- Series III: Yosemite Association Publications; Series IV: Ephemera; and Series V: Photographic Material. With the exception of Series IV, all series are subdivided further into subseries.

Slides, transparencies, nitrate and acetate negatives, polaroid prints, magnetic and electronic media, and oversized materials were separated from the collection and stored according to special needs for preservation. Separation sheets note storage location and original context. Duplicates were removed from the collection and held for return to the donor.

PROVENANCE

Yosemite Association Records constitute at least two donations. Accession 5648 contains 12 folders of Board meeting materials donated by former Board Member Ed Hardy covering the period 1985-1988. These records came to the Research Library and Archives on May 2, 1989. They were accessioned by Yosemite Museum staff and stored in the museum attic. Under the direction of Archivist Paul Rogers, these and other Yosemite Association records from the attic were transferred to the El Portal Storage Building. Records were later integrated and inventoried by an archive technician in October 2011. The museum attic records totaled 8.5 LF and included 5 record storage boxes, 5 manuscript boxes, and 2 oversized boxes.

Accession 07145 was donated to the archives by the Yosemite Conservancy after its creation from the merger of the Yosemite Association with the Yosemite Fund in January 2010. Archive staff transferred files and associated materials from filing cabinets and storage areas of the Conservancy office into record storage boxes and created a transfer inventory. The donation totaled 55 LF and included 53 record storage boxes and 2 oversized boxes. Fifteen of the record storage boxes were labeled "Steve Medley's Office."

RESTRICTIONS

Although this collection is open to the general public, many files contain personal or sensitive information and are therefore restricted at the discretion of the Archivist. This includes some individual documents within files and a few entire folders within some subseries.

ASSOCIATED MATERIALS

Researchers may find two closely associated collections of further interest; the Yosemite Nature Notes Collection (Catalog Number 109205), and Records of the Yosemite School of Field Natural History, composed of several accessions of yearbooks and other documents. Interpretation Branch records within various accessions (as yet unconsolidated) also contain records of the chief naturalists.

SERIES DESCRIPTIONS

SERIES I: DIRECTOR'S OFFICE RECORDS, 1928-2010

(bulk dates: 1978-2005) 32.5 LF

Series I reflects activities of Yosemite Association leadership. Administration, governance, strategic planning, policy making, and fundraising are documented within eight subseries. Subseries A: Annual Reports provides an overview of the organization through reports prepared for advisory bodies and the National Park Service. Activities of YA's governing body, its Board of Trustees, are reflected in Subseries B: Board Committees, C: Board Correspondence, D: Board Meeting Minutes, E: Board Meetings, and F: Board Members. Subseries G: Subject Files and Correspondence documents actions of individuals directing YA's staff and programs including directors, business manager-editors, the president, vice president, and chief executive officer. Fundraising activities are represented separately in Subseries H: Yosemite Fund, reflecting the Fund's beginnings as a special committee operating under the direction of YA President Steven Medley.

Subseries are arranged alphabetically by subseries name.

Subseries A: Annual Reports and Financial Statements, 1934-2009

(bulk dates: 1943-2009) 4 LF

This subseries includes documents prepared by board members, directors, and business managers on programs and activities undertaken each fiscal or calendar year. Reports contain revenue and expense summaries, auditor's statements, Aid-to-NPS totals, charts, ledger sheets, tax documents, and inventory lists. Documents used to compile these reports can be found in files of the Business Office within Series II, Subseries E: Subject Files.

Folders are arranged alphabetically by report type, then chronologically.

Subseries B: Board Committees, 1978-2008 1.5 LF

This subseries contains records resulting from the work of standing and ad-hoc committees created to form policy, plan strategies, review and award grants-in-aid, guide publication and education projects, amend by-laws, oversee finances, and broaden the membership base. Of particular interest are documents created by committees to comment on the General Management and Concession Services Plans as requested by the National Park Service.

Folders are arranged alphabetically by committee name, then date. An exception is Folder Number 1, which contains general committee information. Where committee names changed over time, folders are titled with the last form of the committee name used in the collection. For instance, Seminar Committee records can be found in Publications and Education Committee folders.

Subseries C: Board Correspondence and Activities, 1932-2009
(bulk dates: 1975-2000) 1.5 LF

This subseries contains correspondence between Board members and YA directors and business managers. In general, it represents formal and informal Board activities other than regularly scheduled meetings. Similar topics are addressed more formally in Subseries E: Board Meetings. Files on Board nominations and elections include information on prospective Board members. Of particular interest in this subseries are files on loans to and from other cooperative associations and discussion of changes to By-laws and the Articles of Incorporation Folders are arranged alphabetically by subject, then by date.

Subseries D: Board Meeting Minutes, 1946-2006 1 LF

Although Board meeting minutes originally appeared with documents in other subseries, copies of minutes were also originally housed separately. Therefore this arrangement has been maintained through a separate subseries. Minutes may also be found in Series I, Subseries A: Annual Reports and Subseries E: Board Meetings.

Folders are arranged chronologically.

Subseries E: Board Meetings, 1949-2010 7 LF

This subseries contains materials distributed at regularly scheduled Board meetings and includes reports, financial statements, charts and graphs, minutes from previous meetings and inventory lists. Folder titles reflect meeting materials gathered for a specific meeting date, and in one instance, a folder of materials exists for a meeting that was planned but not held (July 26, 1985). Meeting materials often include significant information covering previous or projected time periods, and where this is the case, date ranges reflect time periods covered. Of particular interest is a report on the status of YNHA as of 1969 by Edwin C. Alberts, Cooperating Association Coordinator for the Western Region (Folder 13). Materials gathered for Board meetings may also be found in Series II, Subseries E: Subject Files.

Folders are arranged chronologically.

Subseries F: Board Members, 1928-2010 (bulk dates: 1978-2005) 1.5 LF

This subseries contains documents for and about Board members including correspondence, news clippings, resumes, biographical material, and portrait photographs. Since all names have not yet been researched, files may contain documents for and about potential board members or nominated individuals who did not serve. Documents about Board nominations and elections can also be found in Series I, Subseries B: Board Committees, Nominating Committee folders, and Subseries C: Board Correspondence and Activities.

Folders are arranged alphabetically by last name.

Subseries G: Subject Files and Correspondence, 1931-2003
(bulk dates: 1978-2000) 12 LF

This is the largest subseries in Series I, representing for the most part, leadership activities of Business Manager Henry Berrey and President Steven Medley. The subseries contains formal and informal letters and cards, memoranda, handwritten notes, reports, project proposals, contracts, floor plans for reconstruction projects, photographic material, booklets, invoices, receipts, newsletters from other organizations, and catalogs of merchandise. Of particular interest are construction specifications for the visitor center (Folder 58) and early drafts of written testimony before Congress of a statement in support of creating Mono Lake as a National Monument (Folder 106).

Following their original organization, folders are arranged alphabetically by subject, then chronologically. Correspondence is grouped in separate folders by the author's last name with a separate folder for each letter of the alphabet. Correspondence folders are interfiled alphabetically with subject folders. Oversize documents, some photographic material, and magnetic media have been stored separately with location noted on separation sheets.

Subseries H: Yosemite Fund , 1985-2010 4 LF

This subseries documents the planning and implementation of YA fundraising activities from the creation of the Superintendent's Special Committee, to the creation of the YF as an independent entity, and the merger the Yosemite Fund (YF) with YA. Types of materials include reports, correspondence, meeting minutes, grant proposals, and power point presentation print-outs. Of particular significance are files concerning merger studies and agreements between YF and YA to form the Yosemite Conservancy. Documents regarding the precursor project, the "Return to Light Campaign" managed by the Superintendent's Special Committee, can be found in Series I and Series II. For items on planning and decision making see Series I, Subseries G: Subject Files and Correspondence. Documents addressing donation operations can be found in Series II, Subseries E: Subject Files.

Folders are arranged alphabetically by subject, then chronologically.

SERIES II: BUSINESS OFFICE RECORDS, 1931-2009 (bulk dates: 1950-2006) 48 LF

This series represents various activities in support of Yosemite Association operations and programs. Five subseries represent different staff activities. The responsibilities of administrative assistants, bookkeepers, and sales managers are reflected in Subseries A: Chronological Files and Subseries C: Ledgers and Accounting. Responsibilities for educational programs are documented in Subseries B: Courses and Field Seminars. The work of editors, publishers, illustrators, and distributors is represented in Subseries D: Publication Projects. Some overlap in content may exist between subseries, with records relevant to all staff responsibilities found in Subseries E: Subject Files.

Subseries are arranged alphabetically by subseries name.

Subseries A: Chronological Files, 1984 January-1998 December 4.5 LF

Also described as “reading files,” these records document outgoing correspondence primarily from the director’s office, but including the business office as well. Most of the earliest documents are carbon copies. No copies of correspondence on magnetic media are included. Incoming and outgoing correspondence from some of the same correspondents in these files may be found in Series I, Subseries G: Subject Files and Correspondence.

Folders are arranged chronologically.

Subseries B: Courses and Field Seminars, 1971-2001 3 LF

This subseries includes materials gathered to plan, implement, and report on the Field Seminar Program and other courses sponsored or offered by YA. Included are seminar pamphlets, information packages, registration forms, course schedules and descriptions, instructor biographies, and evaluations. Topics of the most commonly offered courses and seminars addressed plant identification, geological history, bird identification, photography, and art. A few were specifically targeted for women. Several courses were multiple-day events, and records include student rosters, daily agendas, and reservation details. Of note are a series of folders titled with the term “History,” possibly representing files gathered in preparation for a report on the program. A few photographs documenting seminar activities are included in this subseries. Other prints, negatives, and slides appearing to document seminar activities can be found in Series V: Photographic Materials.

Folders are arranged alphabetically by instructor if known, then by course title or subject and date.

Subseries C: Ledgers and Accounting, 1946-1995 (bulk dates: 1955-1995) 2 LF

This subseries includes inventories, ledger books containing ledger sheets, loose ledger sheets, and continuously printed computer pages prepared by contracted accountants as well as in-house staff. Continuously printed sheets have been left intact as have ledger books containing ledger sheets with indexes describing account number categories. Of note is a small book with handwritten entries for petty cash transactions from 1946-1977.

Folders are arranged alphabetically by material type, then chronologically. Many of the items in this subseries are oversize and have been housed separately. Where this is the case, separation sheets note storage location. A few folders are restricted.

Subseries D: Publication Projects, 1938-2009 (bulk dates: 1950-2006) 26.5 LF

This is the largest subseries in the collection. Publication projects not only include books and newsletters, but also posters, postcards, catalogs, calendars, booklets, and brochures. Contained here are publication proposals, drafts, proof sheets, samples, illustrations, photographs, transparencies, slides, inventories, agreements, correspondence, catalogs, reports, view master reel cards, and magnetic media. Some files contain marked-up versions of previously published works for revision, and some documents are stored on floppy disks. One reel-to-reel tape contains bird calls (Folder 60). Material documenting the production of special issues of Nature Notes from the 1950s to the 1970s is also present in these records. Of particular interest are several files with material gathered for the production of Nature Notes including annotated loose-leaf pages titled "Illustrations of Yosemite" (Folder 265). Marginalia provide named individuals and events from the 1940s and 1950s.

Folders are arranged alphabetically by the creator's last name if known, then by title or subject and date. Oversize documents, some photographic material, and magnetic media have been stored separately with location noted on separation sheets.

Subseries E: Subject Files, 1931-2003 (bulk dates: 1971-2001) 12 LF

This subseries represents the accumulated activities of business office staff during daily operations, including the administration of grant applications and management of special projects such as the Art Activity Center and the Return of Light Campaign. Of particular interest are 1980 General Management Plan commentaries (Folder 105), audio tapes with transcripts of an oral history by Carl Sharsmith (Folder 117), files documenting the production of the film "Yosemite: Fate of Heaven," and a poster from the 1990 National Park Service Centennial celebration. Materials include donations and donor agreements, grant proposals and applications, correspondence, photographs, drawings, maps, inventories, proposals, reports, contracts, floor plans, convention packets, sales and distribution statistics, publicity and marketing materials, invoices, and receipts.

Folders are arranged alphabetically by subject, then by date. Oversize documents, some photographic material, and magnetic media have been stored separately with location noted on separation sheets. A few folders contain restricted information.

SERIES III: YOSEMITE ASSOCIATION PUBLICATIONS, ca. 1925-ca. 2007 2 LF

This series contains books and newsletters published by the Yosemite Association and housed with the organization's records, possibly as historical references or publication samples. Subseries A contains books and Subseries B contains an incomplete run of the newsletter Yosemite from 1970-2004.

Subseries are arranged alphabetically by subseries name.

Subseries A: Books, ca. 1925-ca. 2007 1 LF

This subseries contains several early books that were later revised. Of note is a series of "Pictorial Guides" in several languages, and "A Complete Guidebook to Steven Medley," written as a tribute after his death in a format matching his own book, "A Complete Guidebook to Yosemite."

Folders in this subseries are arranged by the author's last name, then by title and date.

Subseries B: Yosemite Newsletter, 1970-2004 1 LF

This subseries contains issues of the newsletter Yosemite that were found loosely housed with the collection and not associated with any specific records. Several issues of Yosemite's predecessor, Yosemite Nature Notes, can be found in Series II, Subseries D: Publication Projects.

Folders are arranged by newsletter volume, issue, and date.

SERIES IV: EPHEMERA, 1877-1990 (bulk dates: 1974-1986) 1 LF

This subseries contains posters, flyers, handbills, brochures, publications, and other materials kept with Yosemite Association records that were found loosely housed and unassociated with specific records. Many represent special events and programs funded or sponsored by the organization, or items that may have been used as samples for prospective merchandise. Several publications not produced by YA, but referring to Yosemite National Park are included. Descriptions of these materials appear in summary notes. Of special interest is a register page reproduction from an unknown hotel dated 1877. The page contains lengthy entries, one in Greek.

Folders are arranged alphabetically by material type, then by creator or title and date.

SERIES V: PHOTOGRAPHIC MATERIAL , 1929-2006
(bulk dates: 1986-1998) 1.75 LF

Yosemite Association Records included a large group of loosely housed photographic materials. Many appear to document seminars and special events while others appear to have been used to produce catalogs for seminars and merchandise. Some of this material is annotated with the name of the photographer, subject matter, and reference numbers, and this information has been transferred into descriptive notes. In many instances these prints, slides, and negatives appear to be reproductions of historic photographs. Many of the items in this series are undated without attribution, but where the photographer is known, this has been made explicit to avoid confusing photographers with subjects. Photographic material can also be found throughout the collection in association with specific documents. The location of items removed due to preservation concerns is noted on separation sheets.

Subseries are arranged alphabetically by subseries name, with each subseries containing different material types due to differential housing needs for preservation. An exception is a few contact sheets housed with negatives for the benefit of researchers.

Subseries A: Black and White Prints, 1929-2006 (bulk dates: 1986-1993) .5 LF

This subseries includes final prints, test prints, and contact sheet segments depicting groups, individuals, and landscapes. Some appear to be reproductions of historic prints, and some appear to have been used to produce catalogs of merchandise. Of note are several 8" x 10" reproductions of the work of Ansel Adams which were used to produce one of the Field Seminar Program schedules. Captions, format, and the subject content of prints are described in summary notes where possible.

Folders are arranged alphabetically by the photographer's last name if known, then by subject and date.

Subseries B: Black and White Negatives and Contact Sheets, 1984-1985 .5 LF

This subseries contains polyester negatives with images depicting groups, individuals, and landscapes. Where negatives appear to have been used to make contact sheets, both have been housed together for the benefit of researchers.

Folders are arranged alphabetically by the photographer's last name if known, then by subject and date. Nitrate and acetate negatives have been housed separately, and where this is the case, separation sheets note the storage location.

This subseries includes final prints, test prints, and contact sheet segments depicting groups, individuals, and landscapes. Captions, formats, and content are described in summary notes where possible.

Folders are arranged alphabetically by the photographer's last name if known, then by subject and date.

Subseries D: Color Slides, Transparencies and Negatives, 1977-1995 .25 LF

This subseries includes slides, transparencies, negatives, and color transparencies, some appearing to have been used in publication projects. Of note are several 4 x 5 transparencies of basketry. Captions, formats, and content are described in summary notes.

Folders are arranged alphabetically by the photographer's last name if known, then by subject and date. Transparencies and acetate negatives have been housed separately with separation sheets noting the storage location.
